More Railroad Wind.

Again there is talk of abolishing one of the three Iowa divisions on the Burlington, making Chariton the new division point says the Glenwood Tribune. This will help matters at Pacific Junction and restore to it the old-time activity. The Chariton Herald says:

"The Burlington railway has bought seventeen acres more land west of the round house for $3500. It is said that the round house is to be increased, and railroad shops are to be built in the near future. A statement has come from a reliable source that the division headquarters at Creston and Ottumwa are to be concentrated in Chariton, to make one less division, and that shops and extensive yards will soon be located here, and the depot building will be used for offices as soon as the hotel lease expires."

A report came to our ears the other day to the effect that some of the Alvo fellows had said Murdock was too slow to sail in their company when it came to base ball. Well, now, someone had misinformed these fellows, or they were badly mistaken, for our ball team went over there Monday and what they did to those Alvo fellows would make a horse laugh. After the battle was over and the dust had cleared away a more foolish looking bunch you never saw. Our fellows had simply annihilated them to the tune of 4 to 1. There was only about half a dozen true rooters accompanied our team over there or they might have made the score 8 to 1. Ed. and Dave Thimgan did the battery work for Murdock.

Roy Dennis was out to Stephen Joachim's last Thursday, shingling. When it commenced to rain the workmen scrambled to get under cover. Roy slipped on the wet shingles and slid off to the ground below, a fall of twenty feet, striking on his shoulder and one leg. He was picked up and carried into the barn, and for a time it was thought he was over the great divide, but rallied later and got action on his breathing organs. The accident happened the evening before Roy was to leave with Co. D for Fort Riley, and he failed to go.

From the Ledger.

Dick Conrad recently harvested a field of wheat, 29 acres, and the yield thereon was 1,348 bushels, or an average of 46 2/3 bushels per acre, which shows that you need not look outside of Cass county to find a good wheat country.

Yesterday morning when Dr. Walker went out to his barn he found that some midnight prowler had been there Wednesday night and ruined his harness by cutting them to pieces. He is at a loss to know who would stoop to such low and cowardly action, as he knows of no enemy that would be guilty of such villainous trick for sake of revenge. The supposition is that it was the work of some fellow who did it for pure cussedness.

Dr. M. L. Thomas departed on Wednesday for DuBois, Neb., having purchased property and located there for the practice of his profession, and his family will move there in the near future.

FORSTATE SUPERINTENDENT

The Cass County Delegates Will Present the Name of Superintendent Rouse

OF THE PLATTSMOUTH CITY SCHOOLS

For the Nomination of State Superintendent at the Democratic Convention Next Week.

The delegates to the democratic state convention in Lincoln next Wednesday will present the name of Prof. E. L. Rouse, superintendent of the Plattsmouth city schools for state superintendent. Superintendent Rouse is well known to the school workers of the state, and after very many urgent solicitation by his local friends, and many others in various sections of Nebraska, he has consented to the use of his name for this important position.

The Journal is pleased to inform its friends of this fact, not because he is a favorite of this paper for this position, but because we confidently believe he is one of the most competent and reliable school men in Nebraska for the office. His experience in school work is one of many years duration, and his record is one that will bear us out in saying that he is one among the best practical school men in the west.

Professor Rouse never was an aspirant for office, neither is he at this time, but his friends, realizing his excellent qualities for the position mentioned, and knowing his popularity among the educators of the state, believe he is just the man to go on the democratic ticket for this responsible position. He is not a politician, and while affiliating with the democratic party, he does not believe that politics should be associated in connection with school affairs.

The Journal is candid in the belief that when Professor Rouse's name is presented to the convention, that so well he is known by reputation, if not personally, he will be nominated unanimously. The state, of course, is largely republican, but we believe that when the voters become better acquainted with Professor Rouse's excellent standing as an educator, and his true worth as a gentleman and citizen, is known he will secure the votes of every independent voter who believes in a higher standard in the educational affairs of Nebraska, will rally to his support in the general election.

The Cass county delegation feel rejoiced that it will be permitted to present the name of Superintendent E. L. Rouse to the democratic state convention for a position in which every father and mother is more particularly interested in than any other—that of state superintendent of public schools. And when that convention is over and the delegates return home with the Rouse banner unfolded to the breeze, their good work will be hailed with delight by Mr. Rouse's legion of friends in Cass county, of all political parties alike.

Hard to Choose.

Such an enormous number of remedies being advertised for different maladies of the people and all of them promising a certain cure, it is hard to choose the right one. The correct way is to select such a remedy which has been tried by the people and found to correspond with the words of the manufacturer. Triner's Angelica Bitter Tonic has quickly attained the highest position amongst the so-called Stomach Bitters by giving prompt relief in all intestinal diseases. It has never disappointed a sufferer. Being composed of vegetable ingredients and pure wine, it acts as a mild stimulant and a great tonic where the stomach and the intestines refuse to work. It also gives warmth and comfort to all organs and thus prevents many diseases. During summer it should be the foremost family-remedy, because it makes the body to demand food, it brings a good sleep and it strengthens all organs. It quickly relieves pain in the stomach and intestines, cramps and colic. Jos. Triner, 709 So. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.
