

GEORGE SHELDON FOR GOVERNOR

The Attorney General Slips in on Sixth Ballot for United States Senator.

SEC'Y GALUSHA GETS IT IN THE NECK

Judge Hopewell of Burt County is Nominated for Lieutenant Governor.

Senator—Norris Brown of Buffalo, Governor—George L. Sheldon of Cass, Lieutenant Governor—M. R. Hopewell of Burt.

Secretary of State—George C. Junkin of Gosper.

Auditor—S. A. Searle of Keith.

Treasurer—L. J. Brian of Boone.

Attorney General—W. T. Thompson of Hall.

Railway Commissioners—H. J. Winnett of Lancaster, Robert Cowell of Omaha, J. A. Williams of Pierce.

Land Commissioner—H. M. Eaton of Dodge.

The above is the ticket nominated by the republicans of Nebraska at Lincoln last evening, and it will be seen that Hon. George L. Sheldon, for governor, won out in the second round. Even if the Journal did fail in getting its choice for governor on the democratic ticket, we certainly feel very much gratified to note that our favorite among all the republican candidates for the highest office in the gift of the people of Nebraska won out so easily, much more so, indeed, than Norris Brown for United States senator, who was claimed to be the strong man. There is but little use denying the fact that the republicans demonstrated a great deal of wisdom when they placed the Cass county man at the head of their ticket, for George Sheldon is not of that narrow, contracted stripe who think they know it all and when sifted down they know but precious little more than common people. While the Journal does not affiliate with Senator Sheldon's side of the house, we have always held him in the highest esteem as a gentleman and scholar, and a man with such firmness and ability to make a good governor, not only in spirit, but with determination and inclination to do what he thinks to be just and right.

The candidate for lieutenant governor, Judge M. R. Hopewell, of Tekamah, Burt county, is another of the same stripe as Senator Sheldon, and is a very able and conscientious gentleman. Judge Hopewell, while a resident of Nebraska for many years, was reared in Worth county, Missouri, at the county seat of which the Journal people conducted a newspaper for ten years. He comes of one of the best families in Missouri.

Another candidate in whom we were much interested and that is Secretary of State Galusha, who was up for a re-nomination, but got beautifully sat down upon in the first round. He simply received his just dues, and after his defeat, it is said, he sneaked out of the convention hall to seek a spot wherein he could vent his spleen upon those who could not stand his official record.

The above gentlemen are all that we felt deeply interested in so far as republican nominations are concerned and while this paper will give loyal support to Hon. A. C. Shallenberger, a peer of Senator Sheldon in everything that goes to make up noble manhood, the interests of the people of Nebraska will be well guarded with either of these gentlemen in the chief executive's chair.

Hon. George L. Sheldon.

The republican nominee for governor is thirty-six years of age. He was born on a farm near Nehawka, in Cass county, and grew to manhood on the old farm. Mr. Sheldon is state senator, having been a member of the senate from Cass county for two terms. He attended the University of Nebraska, being prominent in all matters pertaining to the school as a student, taking the degree of B. L. in 1892. Later he attended Harvard university, graduating there with the degree of B. A. He was commissioned captain of Company B, Third Nebraska regiment, in the Spanish-American war and served with his regiment in Cuba. Senator Sheldon has stood for railroad rate legislation, anti-pass legislation, for the direct primary law and other measures endorsed by the last republican state convention.

The Leading Man.

Mr. Albert Morrison, the leading man with the Woodward Stock Company, which plays at the Parmele theatre for one night only, August 24, is a native of New Zealand, having been born and raised there until he was sixteen years of age. He then came to America and located in San Francisco, where he studied for the ministry. But soon left that and entered the theatrical performance at the age of twenty-one.

Mr. Morrison was also at one time the youngest secretary of the Y. M. C. A. He entered this important position when he was but seventeen years of age; and it was in performing these duties that influenced him to study for the ministry.

Since he has been following his present profession he has associated with some of the strongest of traveling organizations, among them being Mr. Nat. C. Goodwin and Sidney Drew. Among the stock companies that he has been playing with are the Frawley Stock Company, which made a complete tour of the world; the Alcazar, of San Francisco, and Keith's of Providence, Rhode Island, from which place Mr. Woodward secured him for his company, then being organized for its season run at the Burwood theatre, Omaha.

HON. GEORGE W. BERGE

A Bigger Man in the Hour of Defeat Than on the High Wave of Victory.

The following from the pen of that rock-ribbed democrat, Judge Edgar Howard, reflects the sentiments of the Journal so well that we re-publish the same. The article appeared in the Fremont Daily Herald of Tuesday morning:

"Any man can look large when riding the high wave of victory, but it is only the really large men who can still look large in the public eye when low down in the trough of the sea of defeat.

"George W. Berge was a larger man in the hour when he went down to defeat in the democratic state convention than he had been before. He expected to be nominated. All the signs pointed to his nomination. It had been impossible for anybody to get a satisfactory estimate of the vote which would be polled by the opposing candidates for governor, but nine out of ten delegates honestly believed Berge would win on the first ballot. He believed it, and there was added to the crushing force of defeat in the democratic convention the thought of the humiliation he would suffer when he must stand before the populist convention and make a plea for the support of his successful rival. He faced the situation with a courage and energy beyond compare. He told his populist friends that if he had been nominated he should have expected support from Mr. Shallenberger. He told them how Shallenberger had given him royal support two years ago, at a time when Shallenberger had hoped to receive the democratic nomination. For more than five hours George Berge labored with the populist convention to do the part of honor toward Shallenberger, and at length his efforts were crowned with success. He was asked how he could support such a railroad man as Shallenberger, and he replied that he would not listen to such a charge against Shallenberger without truth behind it. He declared that the record of Shallenberger on the anti-monopoly question was as good as that of any populist, and that he was entitled to the support of every populist who loved his principles more than he loved his party name, because Shallenberger had been as true as steel to all principles advocated by populists.

"As further evidence of his greatness Mr. Berge promised that the supreme effort of his life would be put forth for Mr. Shallenberger in the approaching campaign, and he warned all his friends that the best way for them to prove their friendship for him would be to aid him in carrying the state for Shallenberger. By his attitude in defeat Mr. Berge endeared himself to all democrats and to all populists who are fighting with the democrats for common principles."

MORE ENGINES FOR THE BURLINGTON

A Very Large Order Being Delivered by Eastern Shops.

ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY LARGE ONES

For Its Business in the States of the Middle West.

Reports from headquarters are to effect that the Burlington road is receiving an order of 130 large engines for its business in the states of the middle west. The order is the largest that has ever been placed with the locomotive factories and the new machines will assist wonderfully in simplifying the traction problems that confront the trainmen. If coupled together the engines would make a train one and four-fifths miles long and would weigh 48,020,000 pounds. Of these engines, thirty that have been delivered are of the passenger type from the Baldwin works and 100 are of the freight engine, prairie type, fifty coming from the Baldwin works and fifty from the American shops.

The new freight engines weigh 368,000 pounds and are 73.43 feet long with tender. They carry 8,000 gallons of water and 32,000 pounds of coal. They have six drivers, a single pair of front trucks, and a pair of trailers. They are known technically as R.5.

The new freight engines combine speed with power and are designed for the heavy trains that must be rushed through with perishable freight or stock.

The Way to Get a Crowd.

The Shenandoah (Iowa) Sentinel of a week previous to the fair, contained the following: "The fair association have decided to admit all red-headed girls to the fair free every afternoon. A shock of red hair will be a pass that all gate keepers will honor them all. Wigs will not count. The hair must be genuine." It is said that over one hundred presented themselves at the gate the first day, and the last day over two hundred were admitted. Page county beats the world for red headed girls.

Karvonek—Alden Nuptials.

The proper permit was issued today by County Judge Travis to John A. Karvonek of this city and Miss Mattie Alden of Rock Bluffs. The two hearts were united into one by Judge Archer. The young couple who have been raised in this vicinity, have many friends who will congratulate them when they learn of the happy event. They will make their home in this city, where the groom is employed by Kunsman & Range.

Falls Out of Wagon.

While the family of Joe Peters was getting out of a spring wagon at their home yesterday evening, the team started suddenly and Mrs. Peters, who was standing up in the vehicle, lost her balance and fell over backward to the ground, striking upon her head and shoulders. No bones were broken but several serious bruises were sustained which will compel the patient to remain at home for a few days.

DISCOVER OIL IN OLD WELL

On the Property of E. E. Hilton in the West Part of Town.

WHILE CLEANING OUT SAME YESTERDAY

Large Quantity of Oil in the Water and the Stock Refuses to Drink of the Mixture.

While George Bax was cleaning out and walling up the well on E. E. Hilton's place yesterday large quantities of oil was discovered on the water and buckets. The well has been in use for over five years, is fifty-six feet deep, and this is the first indication of oil being present in the well that has come to Mr. Hilton's notice. The cattle which have been drinking the water in the past, have refused to touch it since yesterday.

At the court house today Mr. Hilton was jollied about his oil well, but he persisted in declaring that it was genuine oil, and that he knew it had not been poured into the well in order to delude people into dreams of a Standard Oil company in this city, for that would render the water unfit for drinking purposes.

Several of Mr. Hilton's friends have signified their intention to investigate the oil problem, and should it prove to be of sufficient quantity, they will organize a stock company for the purpose of promoting the oil industry in this city.

New Express Company.

A new express company has been organized at St. Paul. It is known as the Northern Express company and is a consolidation of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific express companies. It will operate over all the Hill roads including the Burlington. The Burlington has a contract with the Adams Express company which will soon expire after which the new company will succeed to the business of the Burlington.

THE WAUBONSIE CONTRACT

Egenberger & Poissal, of this City, Relinquish Their Contract on the Same.

The following is taken from the Glenwood Semi-Weekly Tribune of the 21st, which explains itself:

"The boards of supervisors of the two counties of Mills and Fremont have been having nearly as much trouble over the Waubonsie drainage ditch as Uncle Sam in the digging of the Panama canal.

"The object of this ditch is to drain Lake Waubonsie and conduct the murky waters of that classic resort through a straight channel running southwesterly into the Missouri river.

"The work began in the spring of 1905, and was to have been completed last November. The contract was awarded to Egenberger & Poissal of Plattsmouth at 11 cents a cubic yard.

"This firm has had numerous extensions of time, but the ditch is still uncompleted, and it is estimated there are about 15,000 cubic yards of dirt yet to be moved.

"The Plattsmouth contractors have at last thrown up the job, declaring that the remainder of the work which is largely in muddy gumbo and water is entirely too difficult and unprofitable to go on with.

"The contract has been assigned to Seth Dean and A. Vanderpool of Glenwood at the same price, the work to be completed before the crop season begins next spring.

"The new contractors begin work this week, and although they have a difficult job before them they will put the ditch through on schedule time."

"Wash Your Face While the Sun Shines."

There is a lesson in the work of a daily farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day and he prepares for the showers which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cholera morbus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal. HITCHCOCK'S EXPLOIT

Secretary Credited With Stopping Spoilation of Oklahoma.

HOW HE SAVED ITS BEST LANDS

Head of Interior Department is Said to Have Caught "Joker" in Statehood Bill and to Have Prevented Speculators From Molesting New State of Valuable Mineral Lands.

Credit is given Secretary Hitchcock in the interior department for saving to Oklahoma thousands of acres of land rich in minerals, oil and other wealth, possession of which, according to a statement issued recently, was sought by a band of land speculators, says a Washington correspondent of the New York Herald. It is estimated there have been saved to Oklahoma holdings of a value between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000.

"Early in March," says the statement, "Secretary Hitchcock learned that an amendment had been slipped into the statehood bill in the senate, known as the Warren amendment, by which alleged mineral locations under the federal mining laws on Oklahoma school lands would be validated and the new state would have to pick out other lands in the place of those thus lost. The secretary reached the conclusion that the claims of the parties who would benefit by the amendment were entirely without merit and that the whole scheme bore some resemblance to a raid upon the treasury."

When the bill, with the Warren amendment, was in conference committee, according to the statement, Secretary Hitchcock sent to the committee a brief declaring the alleged mineral claims of the parties were void; that the parties knew they were void; that their invalidity was not due to any mere technical defect, but to the fact that the claims were set up in violation of the express enactment of congress, and the only reason for making the claims was that the parties had laid plans for slipping into the statehood bill a measure like the Warren amendment.

Representatives of the government told the committee the beneficiaries of the measure were an organized band who had been trying for several years, ever since the first discovery of oil in the Cleveland region, to get the mineral lands without making adequate payment. They had filed alleged claims all over the territory, so that if the measure passed all the mineral wealth of the territory would be acquired by them without compensation.

After detailing the successful substitution of a leasing clause drawn by Secretary Hitchcock for the Warren amendment the statement concludes:

"When the people of Oklahoma were celebrating the passage of the statehood bill it is probable they did not know the new commonwealth came near losing some of its most valuable possessions, besides having a blot on its escutcheon from having been made the victim of unscrupulous speculators on its first entrance into the Union.

"The most valuable mineral lands belonging to the territory are probably those near the town of Cleveland, in Pawnee county. One school section alone, containing oil and gas, is estimated to be worth $500,000, and there are others in the immediate vicinity. It is also reported that an oil and gas field is being developed in Kiowa county, near school lands, and there are also rumors of discoveries in Greene and Comanche counties.

"There are also deposits of cement, gypsum and salt in various parts of the territory, and it has been claimed by prospectors that Beaver contains considerable deposits of lead, copper and silver. All lands known to contain oil or other minerals will probably be leased soon after the creation of the new state."

CONGREGATION IN BOATS.

Highland Lake Preachers and Worshipers All Aboard at Services.

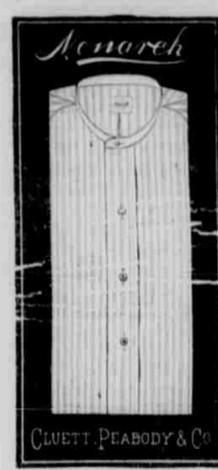

Holding religious service with the congregation in launches, rowboats and canoes is an innovation at Highland Lake, a summer resort at Winsted, Conn., says the New York Times.

Scores of cottagers, in craft of every description, assemble on the waters in the bay in front of Rockmere Lodge, the summer house of Miss Gaylord of Brookline, Mass., every pleasant Sunday evening for an hour's worship, which is generally led by some member of the clergy in the colony. Dr. Strong officiated at the first service.

None in the congregation goes ashore, even the preacher being afloat. Some of the more devout, who would kneel in prayer, dare not for fear of being immersed by the capsizing of their frail craft.

The Water Collector.

In these days it seems almost impossible to have a collection or fund of any kind which is not popular with hundreds of other people, but one young woman who travels a great deal has a fancy that seems unduplicated, says the New York Press. It is that of washing her hands in the waters of every famous "lake, river" or ocean which she visits or crosses, from which she also takes home bottles filled with the waters. Her collection of bottles labeled Jordan, Killarney, Como, Bosphorus and so on, gives a very good idea of the extent of the young woman's travels. The great disadvantage of the waters is the difficulty of getting the waters safely home, and this young woman takes the precaution to invariably take two bottles of the same water and thus insure the safe arrival of one bottle at least.

RAILROAD RACKET

Four car loads of willows and four of stone were taken across the river this morning to be used in the riprap work, which is still in progress.

D. B. Smith, foreman of the coach shop, and Thos. Kempster, who was accompanied by his wife, returned this morning from Chicago, where they were on company business.

A special from Elmwood, this county, says: "A gang of surveyors has been running a line through this county starting from South Bend and paralleling the Rock Island tracks at a distance of about a half a mile. They have run until they are now about four miles west of Murdock. They have answered some questions by stating that they are in the employ of the Union Pacific road, but this is not thought likely. Fifteen are in the party and they are evidently locating a new line. There is a rumor that they may be Northwestern men."

Nervous Worn-Out

If you are in this condition, your nerve force is weak—the power is giving out, the organs of your body have "slowed up," and do their work imperfectly. This failure to do the work required, clogs the system and brings distress and disease. When the nerves are weak the heart is unable to force the life-giving blood through your veins; the stomach fails to digest food; the kidneys lack power to filter impurities from the blood, and the poisonous waste remains in the system to breed disease. Nerve energy must be restored, Dr. Miles' Nervine will do it, because it strengthens the nerves; it is a nerve medicine and tonic; it rebuilds the entire nervous system.

"Several years ago I was all broken down. I was nervous, worn-out, could not sleep, and was in constant pain. I doctored for months, and finally the doctor said he could do nothing for me. I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine, and used altogether eight bottles, and I became strong and healthy, and now weigh 170 pounds."
