MAN KILLED BY THE CARS IN LINCOLN

John McCaughey, the Victim of the Accident, a Cass County Citizen.

WAS A GUARD AT STATE PENITENTIARY

In Which Capacity He Had Been Employed for the Past Several Years.

The Lincoln Journal of this morning gives the following particulars of the killing of John McCaughey, who formerly resided at Nehawka, Cass county, and where he has numerous relatives residing:

"An inquest was held yesterday afternoon at Roberts' undertaking rooms over the body of John McCaughey, the penitentiary guard who was run down and killed in the Burlington yards about ten o'clock Thursday night. The verdict of the jury was that the man came to his death by being struck by a car. Several railroad men who were working in the yards at the time the accident occurred, were present as witnesses. They testified that he had been seen wandering about in the dark with a cigar in his mouth. He had been given a warning to be careful and not get run over by cut-off cars that were being switched about the yards. It was only a few moments until they heard a scream and saw the light of a cigar go to the ground. They ran to him and picked him up. He had been mutilated very slightly, as the car had struck him and not run over him. Death followed in a short time. The coroner was notified and the dead man removed to the morgue. There were no marks of identification except a handkerchief, on the corner of which was 'McCoy.'

"When Warden Beemer of the penitentiary read the description of the dead man in the Journal Friday morning he came to the morgue and identified the body as that of John McCaughey, a guard at the penitentiary. McCaughey had left the penitentiary early in the afternoon, after arranging for another man to fill his place, and announced that he was going to the city, and would probably not return during the night. Up town he was seen by several people, who say he was drinking. Later in the evening he was seen in a saloon near the depot drinking again. From there he went to the Burlington yards alone, and it was not long until the accident occurred. It was not known, however, that he was drunk when he went to the yards.

"Mr. McCaughey's home was at Nehawka. His brother, J. McCaughey, who lives at Nehawka, was notified of the accident, and he arrived in the city late Friday evening to take charge of the body. Another brother lives in Kansas. Mr. McCaughey was appointed guard at the penitentiary several years ago and held the place about three years. He recently went back to work there. The body will probably be taken to Nehawka for burial early this morning."

An Exciting Runaway.
The Nebraska City Tribune says: "A team of horses attached to a farm wagon belonging to M. Lynde of Union broke loose from where they were tied on Central avenue this morning and indulged in a dangerous runaway. The horses were tied in front of the Teten drug store and were said to have been frightened by a passing automobile. In their mad run up Central avenue the heavy farm wagon smashed into several vehicles, wrecking a buggy belonging to T. F. Lawrence. The horses ran against the residence of George Tompkin on Nineteenth street, where they separated from the wagon. The wagon was loaded with flour and watermelons, the latter furnishing a feast for the small boys of the neighborhood. There were several narrow escapes as the horses ran up Central avenue but no one was reported as seriously injured."

Send Statement With Delivery.
Coming down Sixth street at the noon hour yesterday, we overheard a couple of shop men complaining of their bills at one of the grocery stores being too big, and made the declaration that they intended to send away from home for their provisions. The fact is they know not what sort of a bill they are running up at their places of trading, and it would be a good idea for our grocermen and butchers to guard against these complaints. Such talk is what hurts our city, and the way to provide against future complaints, is to send an itemized statement with every order delivered. By this means the purchaser would know the price he is paying, and the honesty of the merchant with whom he trades would not be questioned.

Living at Home.
Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Farnham are getting pretty well settled in their new home and ready to begin house keeping in earnest. From this time on the judge will realize what it is to build the fires, milk the cow, curry the horse, mow the lawn, do the marketing and wrestle with household bills, like any other benedict the world over. —Belle Fourche (S. D.) Post.

Sixty-Five New Engines.
In order to handle the big crops and immense freight traffic along its lines successfully, the Burlington has ordered 65 large freight engines of the latest and best type. One-half of these will be for the lines west of the river and will come to Havelock for inspection and acceptance. They are due to arrive in a short time and will prove quite a relief to the heavy strain on the motive power which is taxed to its utmost. —Havelock Messenger.

Case Appealed.
A special from Lincoln contains the following: "Plattsmouth Lodge No. 6, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, has appealed to the supreme court to reverse the decision rendered against it in the district court, declaring that its hall and furniture are subject to taxation. The lodge declares that it should be exempt from taxation under the law because it is a society organized for charitable purposes."

LABOR DAY PROCLAMATION
Governor Mickey Has Named Monday, September 3, as the Day to Celebrate.

In accordance with the proclamation of Governor Mickey, two weeks from next Monday is designated as Labor Day. Let our laboring men arrange for celebrating the day in Plattsmouth. The business men will assist in a financial way. The following is the governor's proclamation:

In keeping with the custom and laws of our state, I, John H. Mickey, governor of the state of Nebraska do hereby designate Monday, September 3, next as Labor Day.

It is desired that the day be generally observed and that as far as possible, the working people throughout our state be encouraged to take a respite from their daily labors and spend the day in rest and wholesome amusements.

We are all laborers in the world's vineyard and our success or failure is determined by the manner in which we perform our daily tasks. We cannot tell by the clothes that a man wears what kind of a citizen he is; the homespun and the overall take rank with the finest of broadcloth when measured by the true test of citizenship.

Labor is ennobling; it is dignified; and the debt this country owes to labor can never be estimated. The excellence of our nation and of our commonwealth is due to labor, backed by brains and capital, and guided by the hand of Providence.

Labor and capital must of necessity dwell together. Both are needed by each; no neither "is good or fair alone." Then, may they go hand in hand and peaceably, for the future development of our great nation depends largely upon the attitude these two great factors hold toward each other.

Today we are enjoying an unprecedented period of prosperity. The mills and the factories are turning out their products both day and night. All kinds of labor is in urgent demand. Enterprises of great moment are lagging because of the lack of help. Wages are higher than ever before and so much better than in any other country in the world.

Let us not be unmindful of the blessings that we enjoy, nor, in our restless natures, forget the hard times of the past when thousands upon thousands of our people were tramping across these United States without funds and without employment in this time of peace and plenty let us pause for a moment and reflect.

A Good Play
Although greeted by a small audience, the famous drama "A Royal Slave" was presented again to the theatergoers of this city by Gordon & Bennett in their original and entertaining manner. From the time the curtain went up on the first act, and until the final drop much interest and enjoyment was manifested by the enthusiastic audience, who continuously applauded the production. The roles of Countess Inez DeOra, a scheming mother; El Augia, the last of the Montezumas, and Col. Carlos Costella, a Mexican officer, were exceptionally well interpreted by Eunice Murdock, Frank De Camp and Raymond Binder, respectively.

Harry Hoyt, as the American newspaper correspondent, Humbolt Jones, produced rounds of laughter, and in fact the whole play, which was well rendered by the various members, was highly appreciated by all present.

The great western drama, "At Cripple Creek," will be presented in four exciting acts by E. J. Carpenter Wednesday night. This is a thrilling production from an interesting story of life in the famous mining camp of that time.

NO SUNDAY BALL IN UNION

Fighting on Sabbath "Puts a Quietus" on Future Games.

OFFENDERS ARRAIGNED IN POLICE COURT

Judge Awards the Honors, After a Plea of Guilty Was Entered by Both Parties.

The two principals of the Sunday base ball fight in Union were brought to this city Monday evening, by Sheriff Quinton. They were arraigned before Police Judge Archer, on a charge of assault, preferred by Dr. R. L. Newell, plead guilty, and were awarded their prizes. Jas. Doer of Nehawka drew a fine of $12, while Robt. McAlister was assessed $11.55, which sums were promptly remitted, and the case dismissed.

From several citizens of Union who were in town today, we obtained their version of the scrimmage of last Sunday.

The fellows who were arrested had been harboring ill feeling against each other, and this feeling, influenced by stimulants culminated at the ball game during the second inning, when one drew a knife, and attempted to argue the point through his opponent's side. That he succeeded in so doing is apparent, but this action was soon stopped by a base ball bat in the hands of Doer, who made some very impressive arguments upon McAlister's arm. At about this stage of the skirmish, which had "put a quietus" on the ball game, several other parties became interested. For a time stormy words could be heard, but fortunately some cooler heads averted a clash.

On account of these uncalled for demonstrations and the rowdiness of a few citizens, the Sunday ball games will be prohibited in Union.

The Union gentlemen with whom we conversed were surprised that the offenders escaped with such a light assessment, but this is explained by the fact that several others were implicated in the disturbance, and that those arrested had not been guilty of such actions in the past.

A Hurdler for Crops.
Nebraska's crop promises to be big enough, if it were all shipped, to fill a train of 250,000 cars.

The Union Pacific's crop estimate for 1906 is about completed, and will be ready to give to the public in a few days. The figures have been obtained by experts who have been through the grain-producing counties of the state, visiting farmers and by conferring with the elevator men and others along the lines of road.

In acreage they got these figures: Winter wheat has an increased acreage of 110,229 acres over last year; spring wheat, 56,031 acres decrease; corn, 368,419 acres increase, and oats, 22,144 acres increase.

Winter wheat is estimated at from 18 to 30 bushels per acre; spring wheat 14 to 20, and corn 20 to 50.

The corn crop of the present year—most of which is considered safe unless there should be an early killing frost—is estimated at 250,000,000 bushels.

Few people understand or comprehend what a crop of 250,000,000 bushels means. The average freight car holds 1,000 bushels of grain, and, with drawbacks and bumpers, is thirty-five feet in length. Supposing it were possible to move the Nebraska corn crop of 250,000,000 bushels at one time, it would require a train of 250,000 cars. This train would be 1,681 miles long, with enough cars besides to make up several ordinary trains.

Barn Burned Near Greenwood.

The large barn of Walter E. Pailing, near Greenwood, was totally destroyed by fire Monday afternoon about half-past 3 o'clock, together with all its contents, consisting of about ten tons of hay and several sets of harness. A crib containing 120 bushels of corn was also burned. The origin of the fire is unknown. The estimated loss of $1,000, with $400 insurance. This is quite a severe loss to Mr. Pailing.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

One of the Most Successful Meetings of Teachers Ever Held in Cass County.

The Cass County Teachers' Institute which closed Saturday at Weeping Water, was a most successful one. The enrollment reached the highest mark since 1899. The enrollment for that year was 147 and this year the actual number of teachers enrolled was 143. A very noticeable feature was that many of these were men.

The instructors were Dean Fordyce, Superintendent Fulmer and Miss Margaret Farley, and the teachers are loud in their praises of the work done by these people. Many requests have been made that the same faculty, or as many as possible of the same faculty, be retained.

The subjects taught were reading, arithmetic, geography, physiology, number work, art work, nature study and civics. Classes were not conducted during the afternoons, but popular addresses were submitted. During the afternoons and evenings the following addresses were given: "Hamlet," by S. R. Elson; "The Boy, the Problem of the Age," Dean Fordyce; "Mammoth Cave," by C. A. Fulmer; "New Wine in New Bottles," by N. W. Gaines; "The Teacher," by Superintendent McBrien; "What to Read to the Children," by Miss Farley, and "The Dinner Pail Man," by Geo. L. McNutt.

The following, all Cass county people with one exception, added greatly to the pleasure of the occasion by their music: Superintendent Fulmer, Beatrice; Miss Marshall, Weeping Water; Jay Adams, Eagle; Lucille Bates, Plattsmouth; Mr. Boone, Weeping Water; Miss Horsh, Eagle; Mrs. Gamble, Plattsmouth; Miss Wilkinson, Weeping Water; Mr. Sargent, Manly and Mr. Knight, Weeping Water. Readings were given by N. W. Gaines and Mr. Palmer, of Louisville.

Perhaps one of the most practical sessions was the County Work section, in which plans for the year's work were formulated. It was decided to have six meetings during the year—four sectional and two general. The general meetings will be held at Weeping Water and Louisville in November and February. They will be held on Friday, if the school officers are willing, in order that all teachers may attend. Institute will be held in August and in the town that offers the best inducements. The Institute decided that it was worth something to any town or city and will consider invitations from any place that wants it and will make it worth while. Both Plattsmouth and Weeping Water, through representatives present, said that they would be heard from.

Many school officers were present, and Mr. Horn, of Cedar Creek, made a short address to the teachers Wednesday. The meeting was practical and enthusiastic from start to finish, and every true teacher present went home feeling much better equipped for the work and the universal feeling was that it was good to be there.

The following resolutions were adopted:

1. We, the teachers of Cass county, in order to express our appreciation of the excellent Institute held at Weeping Water under the excellent supervision of Superintendent J. W. Gamble, do hereby present the following resolutions:

2. Resolved, That we further extend our thanks to our instructors, Miss Farley, Dean Fordyce and Superintendent Fulmer for their valuable instruction which they have given us, toward higher ideals in our profession.

3. Resolved, That we thank Miss Wilkinson, who, by her tact and good judgment arranged for, in such interesting and successful programs and entertainment, as has been given us; further, that we extend to the citizens of Weeping Water our gratitude for the hospitality shown us while in their city.

4. Resolved, That we extend to the newspapers of the county our thanks for their valuable assistance, not only in giving our Institute publicity, but for their kindness in publishing our school notes from time to time.

5. Resolved, That we extend our thanks to those who responded to the call for contributors to our general programs and gave us good and wholesome responses.

Adopted by unanimous vote of the teachers of Cass county, and signed by order of the committee at Weeping Water, Neb., August 17, 1906.
