While going home last Wednesday evening, Henry Schlaphoff dropped one of his lines, then climbed out on the wagon tongue to get it, and in doing so he slipped and fell and was run over by a heavy lumber wagon and had a bone broken in one arm; also, a couple of ribs very badly bruised, and some internal injuries. Dr. McArthur has him under his care and he will soon be up and around.

I wonder if we couldn't get the county commissioners to undo the work that has been done on the public road east of town. This was county work and they have left the road in a horrible shape. The farmers that have to use this road are justly indignant over the way it has been left.

When a horse is so overworked it lies down and in other ways declares its inability to go further, you would consider it criminal to use force. Many a man of human impulses, who would not willingly harm a kitten, is guilty of cruelty where his own stomach is concerned. Overdriven, overworked, when what it needs is something that will digest the food eaten and help the stomach to recuperate. Something like Kodol For Dyspepsia that is sold by F. G. Fricke & Co. and Gering & Co.

Corn Thieves in Otoe County.

The following, contained in a special from Nebraska City, shows how they treat corn thieves in Otoe county. Last season there was considerable corn stolen from the fields in this county, but the Journal has heard of none this season, so far. If the farmers adopt the plan pursued by the Otoe county farmers there will be but one fellow caught, of which a similar example will be made: "The farmers in this vicinity have been bothered considerably of late by people entering their corn fields and carrying off what corn they needed. Bert Ryder, residing two miles west of the city, caught a thief in his field yesterday and instead of turning him over to the officers proceeded to give him a drubbing and after he had thumped him to his heart's content threw him into his wagon, which stood near the field and started him for town. The farmers all agree this is a better plan than to arrest them and that it will break up the stealing of their corn."
