that it pays to advertise. Wm. Dunn was auctioneer and D. C. West clerk.

W. S. Smith went to Union Wednesday morning to have some dental work done by Dr. Newell.

Berger-Ost Wedding.

Miss Jean Berger and Henry F. Ost were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Shepherd, Wednesday evening, February 29th, at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was simple, solemn yet impressive; the floral decorations were beautiful. Beneath a wedding bell of flowers, festooned in graceful curves to the adjacent walls was left an arch where stood the bride and groom to be made as one. The background of evergreens so arranged as to give a pleasing symmetry to the whole, while all set in perfect harmony with the bride's gown. The bride wore a lovely dress of white mohair, trimmed with silk ruffles. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Seymore, of Nehawka. After congratulations a three-course luncheon was served. Many beautiful and useful presents were given. Mr. and Mrs. Ost will make their home two miles south of Murray.

Seymore and wife.

Erroll Richard Johnson.

Erroll Richard Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson, of DeSoto, died Friday morning, Feb. 8, 1907, after a short illness of twelve days. He was taken down with la grippe which developed into rheumatism and enlargement of the heart. Deceased was born near Murray, Neb., July 25, 1891. One sister Anna at 14 years of age and one brother at 20 years of age have gone on before and were laid to rest near Plattsmouth, Neb. The parents, two brothers and two sisters remain to mourn his loss. Erroll was an affectionate boy, well liked by his schoolmates and all who knew him. He was lovable, kind and helpful. A former school teacher says he would sacrifice anything to help her in her school work. He was never a strong boy, his physician saying he could never reach manhood, consequently he was idolized by relatives.

About four months ago he became concerned about his obedience to Christ. His sister at home became sick at this time and his parents did not get to church afterwards so he never received another opportunity to take a public stand for his Lord and Master. Thus while his life was a benediction to all, his death is a warning to all who put off the opportunity of salvation. Many beautiful tributes were sent from Murray, Weeping Water and elsewhere, and especially the one from his present school teacher and his schoolmates. The bereaved ones deeply appreciate the kindness and sympathy shown in the hour of sorrow, and especially of their physician. The funeral services were held in the Church of Christ, Sunday morning, conducted by the Rev. F. G. Hamm, after which the body was laid to rest in the Blair cemetery.—Blair Pilot.

Cupid Cuts More Capers.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Dennis, Thursday evening, February 14, 1907, occurred the marriage of their eldest daughter, Miss Bessie, to Bert L. Philpot, Rev. J. H. Andress officiating.

As the clock struck the hour of eight the wedding march was played by Miss Hazel Ziegler, of Omaha, and the bridal party descended the stairs, Rev. Andress first followed by two little flower girls, Elva Philpot and Nellie Dennis, driven with white ribbons by little Dale Philpot dressed as Tom Thumb. Neva Dennis came next bearing the ring on a white silk cushion. Immediately following the ring bearer came the groom accompanied by his best man, Less' Hall, of Murray, and these were followed by the bride, leaning on the arm of Miss Mayme Philpot, of Omaha.

The bride and groom took their places beneath a large white bell, which was very appropriate for the occasion, and Rev. Andress, using the simple but beautiful ring service, pronounced the words which made two loving hearts one.

After congratulations the party was conducted to the dining room where a three-course luncheon was served to about sixty relatives and friends.

The bride was handsomely gowned in pure white, while the groom wore the conventional black.

The parlor was beautifully decorated in lavender and white. The lavender and white effect was also carried out in the dining room. White festoons were hung from the chandelier, and fastened at the corners of the table with lavender bows. Large white bells were suspended from above and an abundance of green vines completed the decorations.

The evening was a beautiful one and at midnight the guests took their departure, wishing the bride and groom many years of wedded happiness and prosperity.

A large number of beautiful and useful presents were left as a token of the esteem in which these young people are held.

Mr. and Mrs. Philpot left Friday morning for a visit at Omaha, Council Bluffs and Kirkman, Iowa. They will be at home to their friends after March 1st, on the old home place, southwest of Murray.

Fredrich-Hild Nuptials.

In the presence of a gathering of over one hundred relatives and friends, Mr. Louie Fredrich and Emma E. Hild were united in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rev. Fred Spriegel at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Hild, a few miles southwest of this city.

At the hour designated the bride accompanied by her bridesmaid, Miss Mary Volk of Renfrow, Okla., gowned in a cream colored dress, advanced to the altar, where they were met by the groom, and his brother Nick Fredrich who acted as best man. The ceremony that united them as husband and wife, was then performed by Rev. Spriegel, after which the "blushing bride and handsome groom" were engaged for several hours receiving congratulations from the host of relatives and friends. Following this the guests were invited to the dining room, where they were seated at a table fairly overflowing with delicacies of the season, and the accompaniment of such a feast as only the prosperous tiller of the soil knows how to provide. After spending some time at the festal board, the gathering, repaired to the parlors, where a social time, interspersed with music, was had until late in the evening.

The bride, is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Hild, and is an accomplished young lady who has a host of friends were ever she goes. She was attired in a creation of white silk, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and bride's roses.

The groom is a well known and prosperous young farmer of this county and is the eldest son of commissioner Martin L. Fredrich. He has been reared to manhood in this vicinity and enjoys the friendship of everyone whom he meets. He will take his bride to the home prepared for her near Cedar Creek, and during this hour of happiness, the Journal joins the many friends in wishing that their wedded life will be replete with peace and plenty.

The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful, and useful gifts, a list of which together with the donors was furnished this paper, but on account of insufficient space, we regret that the same could not be published in these columns.

In Honor of the Hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cole gave a party Saturday evening, the event being the birthday anniversary of the latter. The evening was very pleasantly spent in social conversation, music both vocal and instrumental, various games were also indulged in. The guests enjoyed themselves to the greatest extent, when at a late hour all departed for their various homes with two regrets, first, the parting hour rolled round too soon; second, that Mrs. Cole's birthday came only once a year.

The present to enjoy the event were Miss Cole, Glen Porter, Tessie Stokes, Will Oliver, Willow Moore, Guy Stokes, Lela Vallery, Harry Massie of Louisville, Mayme Hillman of Manley, Earl-Cole, Pearl Lewis, Roy Cole, Nora Eveland of Murdock, Pearl Long, Mary Stump, Nelson Berger, Gertie Rusterholtz, Steve Beckner, Edith Dill, Roy Boedecker, Florence Rusterholtz, Will Patterson; Mesdames and Messrs. Porter, Union; Ray Chriswiser, Herman Smith, Chas. Cole, John Durman, Lester Shrader, Arnold Fitzpatrick, Fritz Dill, Clint Farris, Arthur Copenhaver and Elmer Boedecker.

Mrs. A. L. Baker, Mrs. H. C. Long and daughter Miss Gertrude of Murray, were among the visitors in this city today.

James Campbell and Ernest Carroll of Murray were among those in attendance at "A Stranger in Town" at the Parnele Saturday evening.

L. B. Underwood and wife were in the city from Murray today to take the afternoon train to Grand Island, Neb., where they will visit several weeks, while he is looking for a location.

W. W. Hamilton came up from Myrdard this morning where he has been at work making some new additions to W. F. Gillespie's elevator. He went to his home in Murray this afternoon.

Gates Parker and wife departed this afternoon for their future home near Guide Rock, Neb., where he recently bought a 450 acre farm. Mr. Parker was formerly located near Murray, and has been engaged the greater part of today loading his household goods.

Weeping Water

From the Herald.

The dynamite used in breaking the ice at South Bend last week, created enough noise and shock to jar houses here.

Gary Treat last Thursday sold his 104 acres of land just north of town to Dr. H. Jensen, consideration $9,500.

Those who expected to go to California from here to spend the cold part of the winter have canceled their engagements and ordered gauze undershirts and peek-a-boo waists.

C. B. Andrus sold his 169 acres in Chase county to J. W. Colbert. Mr. Colbert owned a quarter adjoining, and traded with L. W. Ingwersen for a forty west of town, (the Wat Gordon place) and also some town property.

L. C. Todd has rented his land in Chase county the coming year to R. D. Wollen and Edgar Marks. The latter has been farming there the past year, and Mr. Wollen is preparing to move as soon as he gets a car in which to ship.

The First National Bank of Weeping Water has been designated by Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, a United States depository. There are few banks in Nebraska that hold government deposits, and the First National Bank is fortunate in being appointed.

Weeping Water will have two graduates from the state university this year, Ray J. Pool, and Miss Katie Gibson. Both are thorough students, and Weeping Water takes great pride in the young people who represent her educational institutions in other places. The commencement takes place June 13. Hon. Bourke Cochran is going to be there and deliver an address.
