The Journal is informed that Mrs. Thomas Wiles died this morning at her home near Oak Hill cemetery. The deceased was an old resident of Cass county. We have not been informed as to the arrangements for the funeral.

The Agricultural Department of the state university received a hard blow from the present legislature on the appropriation question. The farmers pay the taxes and this is the manner in which they are treated by those who go to Lincoln to guard their interests. Agriculture is the safe-guard of Nebraska.

Jack Tandy, traveling salesman for one of the prominent St. Joe wholesale houses, stopped off here today for a few hours while en route from Union to Lincoln. Mr. Tandy is a Grant City (Mo.) boy, and when the Journal family were residents of that place we counted the Tandy family among our best friends. Jack, however, was then a small boy.

Earl Upton of Union was in the city today on his way to Omaha.

Mrs. F. F. Touhy and sons of Denver are visiting at the home of J. R. Vallery, near Mynard.

J. S. Vallery met with an accident at his farm work, and injured one hand so as to cause him to take quite a lay-off from his work.

William Hell, of Cedar Creek, was in the city today on business, and while here called and renewed his allegiance to the Old Reliable.

Miss Minnie Will, who has been visiting her parents near Mynard, returned this afternoon to Lincoln to resume her studies in the state university.

Mrs. W. F. Tracey of Union, and Mrs. J. C. David of Lincoln, were the guests of Mrs. W. A. Swearingen during the meeting of the Presbytery.

A card was received from Fred Ebinger last evening stating that he had been elected to the city council of Plainview by a majority of over fifty, and that the town would be "wet" for a couple of years at the least.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ingalls (formerly Miss Irene Leesley) are here visiting the latter's parents. Mr. and Mrs. John Leesley. They are enroute for Hardy, Oklahoma, where they will make their future home, and expect to depart for that place next Monday.

Mr. Ingalls has been engaged in the real estate business in this state, and will engage in the same in the new state. Mrs. Ingalls being a former Plattsmouth girl, of course prevailed upon her husband to subscribe for the Old Reliable, in order to get the news from her old home.

RESULT OF CITY ELECTIONS

J. M. Roberts and H. M. Soennichsen are Chosen Members of School Board

DEMOCRAT COUNCILMEN IN ALL WARDS

Elmwood Goes "Wei" While Louisville
Will Be a "Dry" Town for Sometime

The election Tuesday was an exceedingly quiet affair. There was no excitement whatever and many remarked that it was the most quiet election ever held in the city. There was scarcely any electioneering, and no conveying of voters to and from the polls in carriages as is usually the case.

Dr. J. S. Livingston, chairman of the democratic city committee, deserves great credit for the manner in which he managed his side of the house. It was through his efforts that the old way of assessing candidates for campaign expenses was "cut out" by both parties, and no "setting up" for this candidate or that candidate was tolerated. Every man who desired to exercise his legal right to vote went and did so without being electioneered. The vote was exceedingly small as will be seen by the returns below.

The electric light proposition carried by a large majority, and democrats were elected in general. In the First ward where the democrats endorsed the candidacy of W. A. White, it will be noted that he received more democratic votes than he did republican votes. The people have cause to rejoice over the election of J. M. Roberts and H. M. Soennichsen for members of school board, because they will prove the right men for the place. Below is the returns by wards:

Louisville Goes Dry.

Louisville went dry Tuesday by a large majority. The vote was the heaviest ever polled in Louisville. The "drys" elected all four men, making five men on the board in favor of the no license policy. Now those fellows who want "a drink" will have to go to Cedar Creek or come to Plattsmouth.

Elmwood Goes "Wet."

A special to the Journal from Elmwood says a license board for that village was elected Tuesday. This is the first time in several years that "drys" have lost control of the board. At every election in recent years, the question of license and no license has been hotly contested. And the election there Tuesday was no exception to the rule.

Result in Nebraska City.

The following is the result of the election in Nebraska City Tuesday, according to a special from that city: "The city election passed off quietly and following were elected councilmen: First ward, M. Bauer, democrat; Second ward, O. C. Morton, democrat; Third ward, Dr. J. D. Houston, democrat; Fourth ward, J. H. Hubanks, democrat; members board of education: Dr. J. E. Bloomingdale, republican, M. W. Vaughn, republican, and William Jenney, democrat.

ILL HEALTH THE SOLE CAUSE

Suicide of Arthur B. Jaquith, One of the Prominent Grain Men in the West

Arthur B. Jaquith, president of the Exchange Grain company, and one of the most prominently known grain men of the west, died by his own hand at a late hour Monday night. His body was found early Tuesday morning in Kountze Park, three blocks from his home, at 2017 Spencer street, with a bullet through his heart says the World Herald.

Mr. Jaquith was 44 years of age, and was born at Cedar Falls, Ia., As a boy he went into the grain business in the service of Frank H. Peavey, with whom he remained for over twenty years. He was a grain buyer and elevator manager in Iowa; Minnesota and North Dakota for several years, and then came to Nebraska and bought out the Omaha Elevator company's line for Mr. Peavey, and became its vice president and general manager. Here he remained until his health broke down, but rather than let him go, Mr. Peavey gave him a year's leave of absence, and $7,500 to take a trip abroad.

Soon after his return, however, Mr. Jaquith felt it necessary to resign, but his old employer thought well of him to the last, leaving him $10,000 in his will.

The deceased was well known in Plattsmouth, and a long-standing intimate friend of Mayor Gering, Matthew Gering and the family.

Funeral of Little Neavil Howland.

The funeral of Neavil Howland occurred this afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. Houlgate, assisted by Rev. Salsbury of the Presbyterian church. Services were held at the home, after which a large concourse followed the remains to their final resting place in Oak Hill cemetery. The entire community deeply sympathized with the almost broken hearted parents in the loss of their only son.

Everyone knows that spring is the season of the year when the system needs cleansing Dade's Little Liver Pills are highly recommended. Try them. Gering & Co.
