Roucka-Jilek Nuptials.

In the presence of a number of intimate friends and relatives, Miss Mary Jilek and Joseph Roucka were united in the holy bonds at 9 o'clock this morning at the Bohemian Catholic church by the pastor, Rev. W. F. Hancock. The ceremony was a simple one and after its performance, the young couple repaired to the home of the bride's father, Jacob Jilek, where the nuptials were celebrated. Mr. and Mrs. Roucka will make their home in this city, where the groom is employed in the Burlington shops. The Journal tenders congratulations.

A Farewell Surprise Party.

It was a very jolly crowd of people that gathered at the home of Adam Meisinger last Saturday evening to tender a birthday surprise to Miss Pearl Moore, it being her 15th birthday, and where she has made her home for six years. The evening was spent in social chat and dancing, and refreshments were served. All remained until a late hour, when they departed for their homes wishing Miss Pearl many more such happy birthdays.

Mrs. Frank Janda Dies Suddenly.

While a number of her children were in her room, Mrs. Frank Janda, who for the past several weeks has been suffering from asthma, suddenly threw up her hands with a sigh and expired Monday evening, April 15, at about 9:15. That the death angel had come to the mother could scarcely be realized by the children, until the lips remained silent, failing to respond to their queries. The sad intelligence of her demise is a great shock to the many friends and relatives.

The deceased was a native of Bohemia, being born there fifty-five years ago, and was married to Frank Janda some time before immigrating to America. They have resided in this city for the past twenty-six years, making many friends, and rearing a family of nine children, all of whom are living. The children are Mrs. Fred Heinrich and Mrs. Frank Trilley of Havelock, Fred of Omaha, and Charles, Slava, John, Frank, Victoria and Mary who are still at home.

Capitalists Inspect Boyd's Engine.

A number of Omaha capitalists were in the city today to inspect the engine invented by Roy Boyd, and which at present is operating in Knapp's machine shop. The gentlemen were highly pleased with the machine, and some good results are expected from their visit to Plattsmouth. Among those in the city were W. K. Murray, Doctor Downs and Robert U. Wolfe, city boiler inspector of Omaha, and Messrs Gath and Jacobs.

GRAND MASTER WORKMAN DEAD

O. J. Vandyke, Well Known in Plattsmouth, Dies Suddenly in Omaha Tuesday Night.

The sad news of the death of Grand Master Workman O. J. Vandyke is received by his many friends in Plattsmouth with deep regret. The deceased was well known to all members of the A. O. U. W. here, and all who knew him best loved him. Genial to a fault, he possessed a faculty of making a friend of everyone with whom he came in contact. In speaking of his sudden demise the Omaha World-Herald says:

"Grand Master Workman O. J. Vandyke of the jurisdiction of Nebraska, Ancient Order of United Workmen, died about 6 o'clock Tuesday night at the home of Dr. W. A. Hostetter, Twentieth and Leavenworth streets, of acute gastritis, after an illness of a short duration. "Grand Master Vandyke's home was in Shelton. He came to Omaha Sunday to assist Deputy Grand Master Workman A. L. Hildinger in an effort to secure a monster class for initiation into the order during the meeting of the grand lodge next month in this city.

"Monday night an anniversary of lodge No. 172 of the order was being held and a delegation went to the Murray hotel, where they knew the grand master to be, in order that he might take part in the function. The delegation found Mr. Vadyke had retired unusually early and he told the delegation that he did not feel able to attend the lodge.

"Monday morning Mr. Vandyke was visited by Dr. S. R. Patton of No. 17, who called Dr. Hostetter of No. 159, and the latter at once removed Mr. Vandyke to his own residence where he could devote his entire time to the patient.

"Notwithstanding that everything possible was done to relieve the patient, he grew rapidly worse until the end.

"Mr. Vandyke's widow at Shelton was immediately notified of her husband's sudden death, and Grand Recorder Barton of Grand Island was notified over long distance telephone.

"O. J. Vandyke was elected to the office of grand master workman for Nebraska at the South Omaha convention of the order two years ago next May. For many years he had been deputy grand master workman and he had in that capacity been very active in securing memberships in the order. He was one of the best known men in Nebraska, and untiring in his efforts for the best interests of the order of which he was the head in this state. He was about 50 years of age and leaves a widow and two daughters, one of whom is married and lives in Iowa."

Havelock for Drinks.

With the Lincoln saloons closed and the Havelock saloons open the street car traffic between the two cities has materially increased, so says the Journal. A street car man said last night that many people go to Havelock on the night trips carry grips and suit cases and that they come back with a great deal of weight added to these receptacles.

PAYS LAST TRIBUTE TO DEAD

Large Number Attend Funeral of the Late Mrs. Phillip Tritsch

At 1 o'clock this (Wednesday) afternoon, a large concourse of citizens of Cass county assembled at the late home of Mrs. Phillip Tritsch, where the last fitting honors to the memory of one of the most highly esteemed pioneer settlers were observed. The services were conducted by Rev. Fred Spriegel of Eight Mile Grove, who paid many beautiful tributes to the departed daughter, mother, sister and friend. The casket was decked with many beautiful floral offerings that bore evidence of the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

At the conclusion of the impressive services, the remains, followed by a large cortege, were conveyed to the Oak Hill cemetery where interment was made. The pall bearers, selected from old friends and neighbors, were: Messrs John H. Becker, Bennett Christwiser, Chas. C. Parmele, F. G. Fricke, John Bauer, sr. and John Fight.

In the province of Holstein, Germany, Mary Starkjohn was born on the 25th day of November, 1854. When fourteen years of age, she immigrated to America, locating in Nehawka precinct, Cass county, Nebraska. In April of the year 1876, she was united in marriage with Phillip Tritsch, then a widower with two sons, John and Phillip. They settled upon Mr. Tritsch's farm west of this city, where she continued to reside after the death of her husband, several years ago.

During the past year or more, Mrs. Tritsch's health has been gradually failing until death resulted at 11:00 o'clock Monday morning from diabetes. Three children, Will, Edward and Anna, beside two step-children, mentioned above, survive to mourn the loss of the mother, together with the deceased's aged mother, Mrs. Thies Starkjohn and brothers, Theodore and William, two well-known farmers residing west of this city.

Sketch of Mrs. Banning's Life.

In the village of Centerville, Mississippi, Parthena Elkin was born on the 9th day of May, 1841. There she grew to womanhood, removing with her parents when about twenty-one years of age to Missouri, and later to Nebraska City, where she was united in marriage July 25, 1877, with James E. Banning, then a widower with three small children.—Emma, now the wife of Frank Sheldon, Charles, who is at present located in Pleasanton, Neb., and Rhoda, who subsequently married Henry Sturm of Nehawka. With her husband she settled in Factoryville, where he was prospering in the milling business, and resided there until 1888 when they removed to Nehawka, where she continued to reside after the death of her husband, which occurred January 1, 1897. The children born from this union were James E., Stella and a twin brother who died in infancy.

The disease which eventually caused her demise was rheumatism, which induced organic heart trouble, with which affliction she passed from this earth to heavenly home at 2 o'clock Monday morning, April 15, 1907, after an illness of about three weeks duration.

The last fitting tributes to the memory of the deceased will occur Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the late home, the services being under the auspices of the Daughters of Rebekahs of which she has long been a member. Interment will be made in the cemetery near Nehawka near the grave of the husband and son, who preceded her to the Great Beyond.

Laid to Last Rest.

The remains of Mrs. A. W. Stoneking accompanied by the husband and children, arrived from Lead, S. D., last night, and were conveyed to the home of the deceased's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Rys. The casket was taken this morning to the Bohemian Catholic church where the last services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. F. Hancock, after which the funeral procession wended its way to the Holy Sepulcher cemetery where interment was made.

Dahlman Cow Boy Quartette.

The gentlemen composing Mayor Dahlman's Cow Boy Quartette, who are here filling an engagement at the Base Ball Fair, gave the Journal a call Wednesday, and favored us with several selections, which were greatly enjoyed. The gentleman composing the quartette are George H. Gay, manager, C. J. Taylor, D. F. Sonier and G. F. Allen. They are a jolly set of boys and each one is an artist in the vocal line, and we were more than pleased to take each one of them by the hand. Come again, gentlemen. We will be pleased to meet you at any time.

MAYOR DAHLMAN ATTENDS FAIR

BALL BOYS GIVE HEARTY RECEPTION

Diamond Ring Contest the Center of Great Interest—Number of Prizes Awarded

The second night of the fair given at Coates' Hall by the Red Sox ball team totally eclipsed the opening night, and the most brilliant expectations were realized.

The fact that Omaha's chief executive, Mayor James Dahlman, was present Tuesday night, drew forth all but a very few of our citizens from their homes. His entrance into the hall in company with Mayor H. R. Gering was the signal for the doings to begin. A hearty ovation was tendered the visitor, and in response he made a short talk appropriate to the occasion, and was again greeted with rounds of applause. After thanking the audience for the hearty reception, Mayor Dahlman proceeded to get acquainted and passing from group to group with some pleasant remark, it was not long before everyone was enjoying the best social time of their life. Our distinguished guest was also equal to the occasion when a bevy of girls assailed him to take chances on various articles that were being raffled off.

Throughout the evening Dahlman Cow Boy Quartette with their western regalia, pleased the gathering with some most entertaining songs. Their appearance in the balcony was much anticipated, and encores were responded to without hesitation, much to the delight of their auditors.

The vaudeville show and the palmist from Texas had an exceptionally good run last evening, and everyone united in declaring that they were excellent in their respective lines. Among those to win prizes in the raffling contests last night were R. W. White, John Chapman, Louis Lorenz, Bert Thrasher, Tom Patterson, Joe Fitzgerald and Will Hassler.

A Boy's Reply.

Teacher Arnold spoke sharply to a rather dull boy in the school, on which the pupil looked up in his face and said: "Why do you speak angrily, sir? Indeed, I am doing the best I can." What a progress would the world make in a short time, if all of us did the best we can? We know persons who are well aware of what is bad for them, but still cling to it; we know persons who are well aware of what would bring them up in the world, but still neglect it; we know persons who are perfectly satisfied that in diseases of the stomach and of the intestines there is no better remedy than Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine, but still make experiments with articles unknown. Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine is always the best, because it is perfectly safe, because it always helps, if help is possible, because it strengthens every digestive system. You certainly will do the best you can, by using Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine in all derangements of the digestion. At drug stores. Jos. Triner, 799 S. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

Pleasant Birthday Party.

The home of C. A. Hospelthal was the scene of a delightful gathering Tuesday afternoon, when a number of friends called to assist Mrs. Hospelthal in celebrating her birthday. Toward the conclusion of a pleasant social afternoon, the participants were invited to the dining room where they partook of an elegant three-course luncheon. Before departing the guests wished their hostess many more such happy returns in the future.

Those to take part in the occasion were Messdames M. Hild, E. B. Perry, J. Gooding, C. Bell, J. Busche, M. Johnson, H. Steinhaur, and Misses Sophia Hild, Gladys Steinhaur, Mary Rosencrans and Grace Hospelthal.

Almost a Total Loss.

The Nebraska City News, in speaking of the loss by fire of the home of our old friend, D. W. Foster, says:

"The home of Daniel W. Foster, who lives a short distance this side of Union, was totally destroyed by fire Monday afternoon and all its contents burned. The origin of the fire is not known."

"Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Foster and the hired man ate dinner and the men went out into the field to work and Mrs. Foster went to call on a neighbor. About half an hour later the hired man discovered the fire and started for the house, but by the time he reached there it was all in flames and nothing was saved except a feather bed and two pillows. The milk house and work shop were also burned. Mrs. Foster had $60 in money and the hired man $10, which with all their clothing was burned. The house was a two-story one, and one of the best in that section of the country."

There was very little insurance and the loss will amount to about $6,000.

Will Contest Direct Primary Law.

Ex-Senator W. V. Allen will contest the direct primary law. He will seek to test its legality either by injunction or quo warranto proceedings before the law is put into operation at the primaries next fall.

To a World-Herald reporter in Lincoln yesterday he said:

"There are several unconstitutional features, the chief one of which is that the law requires a voter to disclose his party identity. This infringes on the Australian ballot principle of secrecy and is to that extent a restriction of suffrage, which the constitution forbids. The expense of holding two elections a year is burdensome on the taxpayers, who even kick on one. Then what is to prevent a candidate with money going out and posting paid henchmen about the polls to see that they get in votes for him and keep others out? I think there is as much possibility of corruption under the primary system as where nominations are made in conventions, if not more."

Enforce It Right Now.

Speaking of the non-enforcement of ordinances, is there still one upon the city statute that forbids riding bicycles on the sidewalks in this city? If so, a great many people do not seem to know it, or if they do, defy it. Last season pedestrians had to take the middle of the road for safety and make room on the walks for cyclists. If there is such an ordinance, it should be enforced right now, and give them to understand that they must use the streets the same as other vehicles.

Taken to Lincoln.

Sheriff C. D. Quinton came in from Weeping Water Wednesday morning with Otis T. Wilson and his son, John, who were examined before the board of insanity, and found to be fit subjects for the inebriate department of the asylum. The sheriff took them to Lincoln on the afternoon train on the Missouri Pacific.

"My child was burned terribly about the face, neck and chest. I applied Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. The pain ceased and the child sank into a restful sleep."—Mrs. Nancy M. Hanson, Hamburg, N. Y.

Nebraska City Business MEN

To Citizens of Otoe and Surrounding Counties

We take this method of calling the attention of parents and others interested in education, to the Nebraska Business University, a high-grade business training school, which was secured through the influence of the undersigned and other prominent citizens.

The purpose of the University is to furnish the young people of this and surrounding counties with a thorough and practical business education, that will enable them to take hold of the ordinary affairs of life and meet the requirements of business men in a satisfactory manner.

Mr. Toland, the manager of the Nebraska Business University, has a national reputation as an educator, and is the largest individual owner of business colleges in the United States. Eastern Nebraska, Western Iowa and Northwestern Missouri have long needed such an institution, and now that we have established a school of business training, modern, practical and equal to the very best; where a thorough education can be secured at a tuition rate as low as consistent with the high character of the work; near your home and where you can secure good homes with private families, at reasonable rates; we feel justified in soliciting your patronage.

Prospectus and full information can be had by addressing Nebraska Business University, Nebraska City, Neb., and a personal of same will satisfy anyone that our University offers more positive proof of superiority and greater inducements to young people desiring to prepare for high-grade positions, than any similar institution in Nebraska, or surrounding states.
