

DEAR PEOPLE
of
Plattsmouth and Vicinity

We are here to stay!
And we are going to stay!

Therefore, now is the time to prepare yourself for the worst.

It is an undeniable fact that when a person or persons, intend to stay in a place they behave themselves, and that is what we are doing.

Now that we are going to stay, we have to look out for the future. And in looking after the future, we have to see that our customers are satisfied. If they were not come back again, and in a couple of years time we would be without any customers—and of course that would not do.

Therefore, we must satisfy our customers in quality and price, so they will return to us and bring new ones with them.

We give the best quality at the best price of any store in the county Cass

If you have never bought of us, do so now, and you will be satisfied; we will be satisfied. You will save money; we will save money; and everybody will be happy when they buy of the

A BEAUTIFUL HOME WEDDING

Miss Isabelle, the Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, United in Marriage With Mr. Thayer Propst

CEREMONY OCCURS AT SIX P. M.

At the Beautiful Home of the Bride Five Miles South of Plattsmouth

After the cooling showers of yesterday had cleared the air and all nature was refreshed, and attuned to the inspiring strains of the wedding march as presented by Mrs. Ed Furlong of Steamboat Springs, Colorado, a sister of the bride, at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, at the close of the day and in the presence of some sixty invited guests and the immediate members of the family, proceeded by little Loretta Propst, with a long branch of rose bush, on the end of which a bud was encircled by a bright gold band ring, the emblem of never-ending bliss, as ring-bearer; next came Miss Isabelle Taylor, the bride, arm in arm with Miss Edna Propst, the maid of honor, with Robert Thayer Propst, the groom, and Edwin Mahoney of Chicago, cousin of Thayer's, as best man, following. Stopping under an arch of pink roses they were married by Rev. Jinks, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Omaha. Many and joyous were the wishes expressed for the future happiness and prosperity of the newly married pair, and all sat down to a three-course luncheon which was in charge of Misses Edith Jean and Mayola Cox, assisted by Misses Ora Hutchinson and Leona Sans, who demonstrated they were past-mistresses of the culinary art, and experts in the capacity of the sweets of this life, in a manner that could not help but stimulate the appetite of the most particular epicure. Presents useful, ornamental and beautiful, were given, and those who were present surely made the newly married pair feel that they were interested in their future welfare, both by the number and quality of the gifts, as well as the manner of their giving, and the joyousness which they were presented.

The merry party, remained until a late hour, departing when the happy couple started for the train which they took at Plattsmouth at a little after mid-night, for Jasper, Colo., where they will visit for a while. They spend some six weeks in the west, and will be at home at Mynard after August the first. Pink and white were the colors used in the decorations which were very beautiful. Miss Taylor is a very popular and beautiful young lady, beloved by all who knew her. A few years ago she was awarded a very fine piano as being the most popular young woman in Cass county. Thayer Propst is a young man of sterling character, and a rustler for business and to whom the future promises a large portion of success.

Both of these young people were born and have spent their young lives in our midst, and the Journal with their many other friends wish them a happy journey through life, and that their skies may be as fair as the bride, and their love as firm and true as the strong right hand of the groom.

After the ceremony and the supper, little Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Furlong, was christened a member of the Presbyterian church.

There were present besides the immediate family, some fifty neighbors, friends, and the following out of town guests: W. H. Taylor, wife and little son of Plainview; Miss Nora Mix, a cousin of the bride, of Omaha; Mrs. Ed. Furlong and daughter Grace, and Miss Eva Taylor of Steamboat Springs, Colo.; Miss Pearl Hagerman, of Clifton, Kas.; Edwin Mahoney, of Chicago; and Rev. Jinks, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Omaha.

GETS EYE BADLY CUT
The Injured Man Goes to Omaha to be Treated

John Busche, while at work in the machine shops this morning had his left eye very severely cut with a steel chip or shaving. The piece of steel cut quite a gash in the corner of the eye, extending partially across the iris. The company physicians removed the shaving, but the contusion was of so severe a nature that it was thought best to take him to Omaha for the assistance of an expert. So together with his wife, and in company with J. S. Livingston, Mr. Busche went to Omaha on the fast mail and will there have the eye treated by Dr. Gifford. This injury is one of the kind that will take the most delicate work of the expert, as the gash in the corner will have to be sewed, and in order that that may be accomplished it will require the best and most delicate instruments. In this we hope Mr. Busche the best of success, well knowing that the case is very serious, and only the very best of treatment can preserve the sight of the eye.

Bought Another Store

W. W. Coates returned this morning from Reed Hill, Mo., where he has bought another business house for the Coates Dry Goods Co. This place is located in a very rich farming and lumbering district of southern Mo. The stock and business as it is, is considered good property, and we congratulate Mr. Coates on his enterprise in acquiring it, and hope it will prove a money maker.

Wait Until the Fourth

One Fourth of July is enough (and to spare, some think) in any one year. Fourteen days of firecrackers are too many. Independence is all very well, but there is no use rubbing it in. Already the small boy is beginning to make himself heard with explosives. The police should be ordered to suppress him and keep him absolutely suppressed until the glorious Fourth actually arrives by the calendar.

DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS
Mrs. Balse Meisinger, Aged 70 Years Passes Away

At her late home about seven miles west of this city, early Wednesday morning, Mrs. Balse Meisinger, who had been sick but about a week, died of Bright's disease in her 70th year. Mrs. Meisinger was born in Germany on April 8, 1838, and came to this country some forty years ago. With her husband, Balse Meisinger, they have lived on the old home place for a number of years and reared a family of eight, all of whom are now living and were all at her bedside when she passed away. The funeral will be held from the home at noon on Friday and interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery. The funeral will be preached by Rev. Fred Spreigel. Mrs. Meisinger was sick in bed for only about a week. She leaves to mourn her departure, her husband Balse Meisinger, age 72 year, and the children who are, Mrs. Fred Dreeseon, living at Unadilla; Mrs. Wm. Heil; C. G. Meisinger, C. A. Meisinger, of Lincoln; W. G. and L. A. Meisinger who are at home.

Buy Hair at Auction?

At any rate, you seem to be getting rid of it on auction-sale principles: "going, going, g-o-n-e!" Stop the auction with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It certainly checks falling hair; no mistake about this. It acts as a regular medicine; makes the scalp healthy. Then you must have healthy hair, for it's nature's way.

STATE OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

The Fraternal Order of Eagles Meet in Lincoln

The Fraternal Order of Eagles closed their annual meeting yesterday afternoon in Lincoln. The principal business was the election of officers for the ensuing year. After the meeting was adjourned a party of the members went to the penitentiary.

The following officers were installed: Worthy President, P. M. Barrett, Norfolk; Worthy vice-president, J. D. Moore, Lincoln; Past worthy president, P. J. Barrett, Omaha; Secretary, J. M. Tanner, Omaha; Treasurer, L. J. F. Jaeger, Chadron; State Conductor, Chas. Lyck, Benson; Trustees, Henry Asher, Omaha; Chas. Tracy, Benson; Allen G. Fisher, Chadron; Outside guard, James Austin, South Omaha; Inside guard, Edward Thompson, Chadron.

A resolution was adopted recommending that the grand worthy president divide the state into four districts, each to be placed in charge of a deputy grand president whose duty it shall be to look after organization and the bringing in of desirable members. District No. 1 is to consist of the First and Second congressional districts and R. H. Switzer of Lincoln is recommended as deputy; district No. 2 will consist of congressional districts No. 4 and 5, with A. J. Lapinsky of Hastings as deputy; district No. 3 is to consist of congressional district No. 3 and J. H. Conley of Norfolk is to be deputy, while district No. 4 will consist of the 6th congressional district, with W. S. Ridgill of Alliance as deputy.

The necessity of increased funds for carrying on the work of the state aerie caused the adoption of a resolution increasing the per capita tax from 5 cents to 10 cents per member.

Alliance was chosen as the place for holding the next convention. There was no other candidate for the honor, it being the understanding since the meeting a year ago that the third convention should be held at the Box Butte county capital, which had extended a very cordial invitation.

At the business session during the day the hearty endorsement of the state aerie was given Louis J. P. Jaeger of Chadron for the office of grand secretary.

In the evening a smoker was held at the Eagle hall. The program consisted of speaking and music. Short talks were given by L. J. P. Jaeger of Chadron, J. P. Donahay of South Omaha, C. W. Britt of Omaha, J. Williams of South Omaha, R. H. Switzer of Lincoln, James Austin of South Omaha and C. H. Grossbeck of Norfolk. E. E. Ridgeway of South Omaha acted as toastmaster for the evening.

LET US FACE FACTS.

George Chalmers Richmond Discusses Liquor Traffic.

In his sermon in Saint George's Episcopal church in Rochester N. Y., recently, Reverend Chalmers Richmond, in discussing the liquor traffic, said:

"The saloon is in the world to stay. Certain elements about it are good. It is a social meeting place. Some of my best parishioners in New York visit the beer saloons regularly. I get a number of men to come to church by drinking beer with them. The German loves his beer, and if taken temperately it does no harm. The Frenchman likes his wine, the Englishman his ale, and so it goes. About all the clergy I meet drink when they feel like it. Some of the best wine I ever drank was handed me by a vestryman. Some of the finest whiskey on earth I saw near the person of the church warden. One of the highest church officials of the laity of Rochester is a brewer. What of it? He makes good beer and many men like it. Deny them their beer and soon you would see dire consequences. Let us face facts. We can not rush public opinion."

It seems to Our Country that the Rev. Richmond strikes the keynote that will win many men. Meet them on their own plane and then gradually raise their ideals to a higher level. Instead of trying to close all of the saloons, let society put out of business the evil ones and the criminal proprietors, but help to make the better resorts better still, until every place where beer, wine and spirits are sold will be recognized as a necessary and respectable part of society. As the preacher above states, the German will have his beer, and the Frenchman his wine, the Englishman his ale, and he might add, the American his whiskey.

Clyde Raymond Looker was born in Nehawka, April 1, 1899. He was 8 years, 2 months and 14 days old. He lived in Nehawka until February 1906, when he went with his grandparents to Arapahoe, Nebraska, where he died, June 15, 1907. Clyde had, since a baby, when his mother died, been living with Mr. and Mrs. Asa Colman, and Mr. Colman brought the body home for burial.

Will Move to Plattsmouth

Mrs. John Gies, who has been visiting in the city, the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, for some days past, departed for her home, this afternoon, in Lincoln. Just before taking the train, in conversation with a reporter for this paper, said, that they would move to this town and make it their home, and that they would try and get things arranged so as to get here by the last of the week. The Gies's have bought the Wm. Styles place, and when they have gotten moved they will build them a better and more commodious house in which to live, as the one on the place is not large enough to accommodate the family.
