J. W. Pittman one of the Ledger's staunch friends, went to Plattsmouth last Saturday to look after some business. While there Mr. Pittman purchased a fine black driving team from Jas. Sage, and while he paid a neat sum for the team he is justly proud of them.

The Union schools opened Monday with Miss Elizabeth Countryman principal, Miss Louise Mickle intermediate, Miss Rose O'Donnell primary. The total enrollment is 95. 25 are in the principal's room, 35 in the intermediate and 37 in the primary. The attendance at this time is a good per cent of the number shown by the school census and will increase the coming week. The teachers are all competent and they as well as all the pupils are taking a great interest in their work, and no doubt we shall see excellent results.

Someone said a fellow who would hold up a bank in broad daylight in a thickly settled community was a crank. Perhaps so, but the fact that he successfully evaded three hundred men on a hundred and sixty acre farm would lead one to believe that he was not so crazy as he might be.

Little Viola Nichols, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Nichols, fell from a second-story window, at the Nichols residence on upper Main street Thursday evening. No bones were broken, but it is feared by the attending physician that the little one may have sustained internal injuries.

DIRE DISTRESS

It Is Near at Hand to Hundreds of Plattsmouth Readers

Don't neglect an aching back. Backache is the kidneys' cry for help. Neglect hurrying to their aid means that urinary troubles follow quickly, dire distress, diabetes Bright's disease.

Mrs. B. E. Gallagher, of Wintersteen hill, Plattsmouth, says: "Kidney trouble was all through our family. My father and an uncle died with Bright's disease, so in my case there is no doubt about kidney affection being hereditary. Ever since I had the rheumatism thirty years ago, in fact, all my life, I have been subject to pain in my back and dropsical tendencies. On account of the misery in my loins I have at times hardly been able to get up or down. I could tell in dressing how badly my body would be swollen and than my limbs would be bloated and my hands pulled up. A friend of mine gave me part of a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. The strong praise she gave for the remedy gave me some hopes that it might do me some good. I used it and it did prove true to the claims made for it. Of course, I could not expect a permanent cure from taking half a box, but to say that it brought me much relief from the pain and dropsical symptoms is not exaggeration by any means. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Gering & Co.'s drug store."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c, Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Flight of Time Arrested.

Yesterday morning with a booming report like the opening of the day of doom, the heavy weights, which give power for the propelling of the big clock at the court house, caused the cable to part which held them. They weigh about eight hundred pounds and their dropping jarred the court house until it shook like there was an earthquake. The occupants of the court house were startled and turned pale, fearing some catastrophe was about to happen. One day last week Commissioner Marshall while down here took his little boy up into the tower to see the sights, and on returning told the janitor that the cable had to be repaired, he in turn reported the matter to the one in charge of the clock, but as there had been no opportunity to make the repairs, it had not been done. The cable which had been in use since the installation of the clock, had become worn at the point where it fastened on the drum on which it was wound. It hardly seems that it should be the business of the one in charge of the clock to make these repairs, and as the commissioners had not met since, it had not had an opportunity to receive the attention.

A Wholesale Arrest

The county attorney yesterday morning filed complaint against twelve persons for violation of the anti-treating law, known as the Slocumb law, with Judge Archer. Upon this, warrants have been issued and three arrests have been made, a portion of which were given a continuance, and the others were bound over to appear at the district court, which convened yesterday. The other nine have not been apprehended as we go to press. This was done under sections 31 and 32 of chapter 50 of the criminal code. This law has been on the books for a long time, and was then known as the Slocumb law, and was section 1 and 2 of chapter 62.

We had this article prepared for yesterday's issue but it was crowded out by news of more importance. Today there has been four more complaints sworn out, and the entire list now amounts to sixteen.

NORMAL TRAINING SECTIONS

Many City Schools Maintaining This Additional Department.

Normal training as a special department of high schools will be a leading feature of the year's educational work in Nebraska, says the Lincoln News. The legislature having appropriated $50,000 for this purpose, each high school that meets the conditions outlined in the law and imposed by State Superintendent McBrien will receive a bonus of $375 per year, or $750 for the biennium. This will not be sufficient to pay the full salary of an instructor, but it will be a large help in that direction.

Superintendent McBrien learns that about sixty cities and towns in the state will take advantage of the law this year to comply with the terms laid down and secure the benefit of state aid. One condition is that a normal class of at least ten members must be organized and maintained. The information which reaches the state superintendent is that half a hundred high schools will have classes of ten to twenty-five members each. Beatrice will have fifty students in its normal training department, while sixty will pursue the same course in the Lincoln high school and seventy-five at Omaha. Hebron reports a class of thirty and Blair one of eighteen. Aurora, Grand Island, Hastings, York and Fairbury are among the cities where good-sized classes have been or being organized.

Watches Returned Friday.

That it pays to advertise, is a foregone conclusion, and a fact that cannot be controverted. Henry Born who lost two watches about ten days since advertised the matter in the Journal. These watches were taken from his home during the absence of the family, with the intention that they should never be returned. But when Mr. Born advertised the fact, challenging the public attention to the markings on the cases, which would lead to the identification of the stolen goods if any one should try to negotiate them. The thief, whoever he was, seeing this, saw the only way was to return them to the rightful owner, and thereby save trouble. Had Mr. Born not have had the description whereby he could identify them and have made the fact known through the Journal the timekeepers would still be missing. It is unnecessary to say that the stolen property was returned when no one saw the party who brought them back.
