COAL USED BY THE BURLINGTON

Thousands of Tons Used Monthly West of Missouri River.

The Burlington west of the Missouri uses from 130,000 to 140,000 tons of coal a month. This means that from 1,560,000 to 1,680,000 tons are used a year. Coal is from 75 cents to 80 cents higher a ton now than it was last year and it will cost the railroad many thousand more dollars to operate because of the advance in the market price, says the Lincoln News.

The Burlington gets its supply from the mines at Sheridan, Wyo., and from its Iowa mines. Each week the superintendent of a division estimates how much he will require for seven days and this is shipped out from the mines.

The three big centers for the distribution of fuel are Lincoln, Sheridan and Denver. Over a hundred cars are often on hand at Lincoln and in the cold season when the demand for coal is the greatest thousands of tons are unloaded on the ground.

While the bulk of the coal is used for making steam which turns the wheels of monster locomotives, yet a considerable amount is called for to keep office buildings, stations and work shops comfortable in the coal season. The larger locomotives now carry moderate sized coal yards with them on their trips over the road. Some engine tenders will hold as high as fifteen tons of fuel. This shot into the tenders by means of chutes which allow the coal to drop down from above and the job is completed in a few minutes. A pull at a trap door and the coal tumbles out of the chute with a roar, the fireman meanwhile spreading it evenly and topping it off from his position below.

Coal cars have increased in size so tremendously in the last ten years that it does not take one half of the rolling stock to handle the railroad and commercial traffic that it once did. Coal cars used to be mere boxes compared with the giants of this period, running in capacity from 28,000 to 40,000 lbs. Now carloads of 80,000 and 100,000 capacity are common and the minimum is 60,000 lbs.

Entertain Friends At Dinner.

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Simons and daughter, Mary, of Chicago, who are visiting in the city the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Thrall, Mr. and Mrs. Lindeman entertained at a six o'clock dinner last evening. Mr. and Mrs. Thrall and their guests from the east. There was music, an impromptu program furnished by the hostess and guests, among which, Miss May Daugherty, grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Lindeman, took no small part. Miss May is a real actor and impersonator, having an ability far beyond that of the ordinary person of her age. She made the hours fly merrily after the dinner, by her witty and humorous recitations and readings, as well as at the piano. The dinner was a three course affair, and added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening, that will surely be a green spot in the memory of the guests from the east. They will carry away with them pleasant memories of their visit to this city.

Das Deutsche Kranzchen Meets.

At the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Larson yesterday was gathered a merry crowd of young folks, members of Das Deutsche Kranzchen, entertained by Miss Esther Larson. This is the first meeting the society has had for some time, on account of the holidays, the matter having been passed over. Yesterday being the first meeting of the new year, the work was taken up where laid down before the closing on last year. Miss Lena Fricke was continued as teacher, and the matter of the German lessons again taken up. A very jolly time was had and a delicate lunch was served.

John Hoye Buried at Watson.

John Hoye, a brother of Mrs. T. E. Steuklin of this place, who was reported as being very sick with the "White Plague" at Farnham this state, and of whom a message came to this place saying he was very low and was to be taken to his old home at Watson, Missouri, where he wished to reach before he died; and where Mr. and Mrs. Steuklin went to meet him, died before arrangements could be made to start for home. The remains were shipped to Watson, where the interment was made Tuesday.

Sidney Miner Improving

Reports from the bedside of Sidney Miner tells of his continued improvement, and justifies the hope that he will in the near future be able to return home, should nothing now intervene. As a result from the attack of pneumonia, he had one lung in a very bad condition, which is now showing some improvement, while the other seem as sound as before the sickness.

COMPANY READY FOR BUSINESS.

The Newly Organized Farmers' Elevator Company Ready to Buy Grain.

Last Saturday, the people who organized the farmers, co-operative grain company, held another meeting at Murray, at which all the arrangements relative to beginning was made. The amount of capital stock which was placed at $5,000, has not been subscribed at this time, although more than four thousand of the amount has been.

The soliciting committee has been continued until the amount shall have been all subscribed. The officers were elected, and are: President, W. D. Wheeler; vice president, Chas Spangler; secretary, Wm. Puls; treasurer, Lloyd Gopin; who, together with John Spangler, L. H. Young and Glen Perry, constitute the board of directors. A communication coming from the Missouri Pacific says for the new company to make first and second selection of a location, for an elevator sight, which was done, they being on the west side of the track, and about two hundred or more feet north of the railway station. The farmers near Nehawka and Cullom are agitating the proposition of incorporation and erecting elevators at each place.

CELEBRATES 74TH BIRTHDAY

With Friends in Their New Home Near Union on Sunday, January 12, 1908.

Miss Mary E. Foster was a visitor at home over Sunday, and tells of a gathering of the neighbors and friends of her father, D. W. Foster, at the new Foster home, yesterday, to celebrate the 74th birthday of Mr. Foster, born in St. Clair county, Illinois, near the city of Belleville, January 12, 1834, and has lived in Cass county for a number of years. During the past fall and early winter he has built for himself and family a handsome and commodious new residence on his farm, some three or four miles from Union. With the accumulations of years of hard work, Mr. Foster has a home in which to spend his declining years in comfort. At the meeting of yesterday, there were a number of his old neighbors and friends, together with his family, and the day was spent in social conversation, reminiscences of the times gone by, interspersed with music, and a dinner fit for a king, which all enjoyed and which added to the occasion. Among those who were participants in the pleasant afternoon were: D. W. Foster, wife and daughters, Mrs. W. E. Stanton and Miss Mary E. Foster, and brother, Reuben Foster, Messrs and Mesdames M. H. Shumaker, L. G. Larson of Plattsmouth, J. S. McCarrall, H. R. Conrad, Mesdames, S. Sherwood, Lydia Todd, Irene Davis, Laura Wright, Miss Ida Freeman, Jessie Todd, Elma Wright, Ina Davis, Eleanor Carpenter, Minnie Shoemaker, Angie McCarrall, Edith Conrad, Fannie and Nettie McCarrall.

George E. Sayles Improving.

George E. Sayles, who has been very poorly for some time past, is reported as improving nicely, and is able to get out again, though not as yet able to take up the active work. Saturday, he was so much improved that he was able to go to the station, at Cedar Creek to see his daughter, Mrs. Andrew Fugue and her husband, depart for their home at Covington, Virginia, after an extended visit with himself and wife. Mr. Sayles' many friends will be pleased to know of his improvement in health.
