

DAILY PERSONAL NEWS

Short Items of Interest, From Saturday Evening's Daily Journal

John Heisel was a visitor in Omaha this morning.

O. G. Virgin of Murray was a visitor in the city today.

Ed. Van Horn was a business visitor in the city this morning from Cedar Creek.

J. H. Cook departed this evening for his home at Julian, where he will spend Sunday at home.

Gust Mumm came in this morning from Omaha, where he has been visiting for a few days.

C. O. Beardsley, a civil engineer of Lincoln, was a brief business visitor in the city this morning.

Julius Pepperberg was a visitor to Glenwood this morning, looking after some business matters.

George Falter returned from Lincoln this morning, where he was visiting yesterday and last evening.

J. D. King was a passenger to Omaha this afternoon on the fast mail, where he will spend the Sunday with friends.

County Attorney C. A. Rawls was a visitor in Lincoln this morning, having some legal matters to look after in the capitol city.

Fred Mann, Robert Newell and Will Schopp were passengers to Lincoln this morning, where they will visit for the day with friends.

Antone Swatak, of Omaha, who has been looking after some matters in the city for a short time past, departed this morning for his home.

Mrs. Frank Haejk departed last evening for St. Paul, Minn., where she will visit for about three weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Lotshaw.

G. M. Porter returned home last evening from Lincoln, and departed this morning for Omaha, where he has business at the office of the Bee today.

W. H. Pitzer, one of the Nebraska City's attorneys was a visitor in the city yesterday on business, returned home last evening by the way of Pacific Junction.

E. H. Elton, the electrician for the Plattsmouth Telephone company, departed this morning for Havelock, where he is doing some work for the company.

Bruce Arlington Rosencrans and John Raymond Travis, students at Boyles' Business college, at Omaha, came in last evening to spend Sunday with their parents.

Mrs. Julius Doering was a passenger to Omaha this morning, where she will visit for the day at the home of her son, August Doering, who is making his home there.

William Gingery returned last evening from a few days visit in South Dakota, having visited at Bonesteel and looked after some business during the time he was there.

C. B. Loghier of Ashland is a visitor in the city with friends and relatives, renewing old acquaintances and making new ones, the guest at the home of J. E. Leesley for a few days.

Mrs. Wm. Bingham of Little Rock, Ark., departed this morning for her home on the early Burlington train, after an extended visit in the city, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Julia M. Dwyer.

Robert Hunter and George Gobleman departed this afternoon for Homer, this state, where they have some work to do in the way of painting cars changing some box cars from Great Northern to Burlington.

Mrs. Florence Hathaway of Denver came in this morning, accompanied by two children over the Burlington and departed on the Missouri Pacific for Union, where they will visit at the home of C. R. Frans for a few days.

Wm. Barnhart and, son Waverly, were passengers to Pacific Junction last evening on the last train, where they go to visit for a few days with relatives and to consult a specialist on rheumatism, who is stopping there from the south for a short time.

Mrs. N. E. Mullica departed for Pacific Junction last evening after having visited for a week or ten days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. D. Dalton, and other relatives in the city.

Mrs. Anderson Rouse and Mrs. Frank Wiles were visitors in Omaha this morning, where they will spend the day with friends and with Sidney Miner, who is convalescing nicely in the hospital there.

Gus Johnson is out again after a seizure with a pain in his side, which laid him up for a number of days. While he is so he can get down town he is not able to resume his duties at the Burlington shops yet.

Mrs. Frank Shopp was a visitor with friends in Omaha today.

H. T. Batton was a visitor in Council Bluffs today.

Miss Mae Murphy was a visitor in Omaha today.

W. H. Seybert was a business visitor in the city today.

Miss Nettie Tenny was a visitor in Omaha this afternoon.

Mrs. Washington Smith was a visitor in the metropolis today.

The Farmers Elevator company of Murray are meeting this afternoon.

Fred Kroehler and wife departed for their home at Havelock last evening.

H. C. Hoye of the firm of contractors at the Masonic home, was in the city today.

W. E. Rosencrans and George A. Raker were visitors in the metropolis today.

W. C. Bartlett was a visitor at his home in Elmwood this evening, staying over Sunday.

Edward Kroehler and wife departed this afternoon for their home at Sheridan, Wyoming.

C. A. Ritchey of Louisville was a visitor in the city today a guest at the home of his father.

John Seagraves returned to his work in South Omaha today, after a few days' visit at home.

J. P. Meisinger from near Cedar Creek was looking after some business in Plattsmouth this morning.

Mrs. J. V. Egenberger and Mrs. Mat Sulzer were visitors in Omaha this morning.

Miss Lillian Fitch of Omaha was a visitor in the city this morning, looking after the class she has in elocution.

Mrs. Ray Chriswiser was a visitor in Omaha with Mr. Chriswiser this morning, who is reported as getting along nicely at present.

Misses Jessie and Blanche Robertson were passengers to Omaha this morning, where they are visiting with friends for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kroehler departed this morning for their home at Norfolk, after having attended the funeral of his father yesterday.

Chas. Neleigh came in last evening on the late train from Omaha, coming from Wizer, and will visit with relatives here for a short time.

Arch Hoy, and wife and children departed last evening for their home at Farnham this state after a visit in the city with relatives and friends during the day.

W. H. Newell departed for St. Joseph this morning on an early train, where he is called on business.

Henry Ihelder of Cedar Creek was a visitor in the city, looking after some business at the court house.

Will Kroehler departed this afternoon for his home at Havelock after attending the funeral of his father.

Reserve Friday evening, January 17, for the grand mask ball to be given by the T. J. Sokol's at their hall. Four grand prizes.

J. G. Hoffman, wife and daughters, Misses Alvina and Hattie, were passengers to Omaha this afternoon for a visit with friends.

F. W. Schleifert, of near Louisville, one of Cass county's prosperous farmers, while in the city today called and renewed for the Old Reliable.

Misses Myrtle and Bessie Deles-Dernier, of Elmwood, were visitors in the city today and will stay over Sunday. Miss Bessie is teaching the Benjamin school southwest of Mynard.

George J. Meisinger, of near Mynard, while in the city today, called at these headquarters and renewed for the Evening Journal. Mr. Meisinger is one of Cass county's substantial farmers.

Herman Kleitsch and family, who have been in the city for the past few days to attend the funeral of Mrs. Kleitsch's father, departed last evening for their home at Weeping Water.

James McNeal, a compositor formerly employed on the Journal, and who has been on the sick list for the past few days, started today for Fremont where he has accepted a position in a print shop.

John Kauffenberger, one of the Journal's staunch friends and one of Cass county's prosperous farmers, was a welcome caller at these headquarters today, and while here renewed for the Evening Journal for another year.

George A. Raker and wife who have been visiting with the family of W. E. Rosencrans for the past few days, departed for their home at Eufaula, Oklahoma, today on the late Missouri Pacific train.

DEATH OF FORMER CASS COUNTY LADY

Mrs. E. G. Cooley Who Recently Died at University Place.

The Lincoln Journal, in speaking of the death of a former Cass county lady, says: "Mrs. Etta M. Cooley, whose death was recently announced, was born on August 2, 1761, on her father's homestead in Cass county, three miles east of Avoca. Her father, Riley Canady, was one of the first settlers in that part of the county. He died when his daughter was seven years of age, and her mother was left to rear a family of five children, which she did without leaving the farm. Etta Canady attended the district school and the Weeping Water academy. In September, 1880, she married E. G. Cooley. They lived in eastern Nebraska until last April when they removed to University Place. Mrs. Cooley had been in poor health for about five years, but her last illness dated only from about the first of December. She leaves a family of six children. Besides being devoted to her family, she was a devout member of the M. E. church, and gave it much of her strength and affection. She will be remembered with love by all who have known her during her useful life."

Sold Short Weight Butter.

County Attorney Rawls served notice on several merchants at Weeping Water that complaints had come to him of their selling pound prints of butter for a pound and that these never held out weight, and cautioned them that the practice must cease or prosecutions would follow. This put an end to a pernicious practice that has caused no end of "kicks." Some farmers that used to trade here made the practice of moulding their butter that way and wanted the merchants to count the prints instead of weighing the whole bulk. This would not do so they took their butter to Weeping Water where the merchants did that way in order to hold their trade, selling the prints as pounds. Of course the grocer lost nothing but the consumer did—and they made a kick with the above results. We would advise farmers to see to it that eggs they sell in the future have no chickens in them and that they are wholesome, or they may turn up with a fifteen dollar fine to pay. The public have a right to have good wholesome food, and when a laboring man who earns his money by hard toil, buys a dozen eggs he should have just that many good eggs. The price you get will compensate for the losses you may sustain in culling out the bad. Food Commissioner Johnson has served notice on all that the law will be strictly and rigidly enforced.—Nehawka Register.

Hit Him Again

It is with great satisfaction we learn from the Plattsmouth News that the law passed by the republican house of representatives, passed by the senate and endorsed by the president, controlling the business of the newspapers, is not a law at all and that it has been misconstrued by the democratic press. Our republican friend seems to think that because one democratic paper published a certain report that that report was true, while the one published by all other papers was wrong. It would seem so from the Plattsmouth News. We know what the law has to say in regard to delinquent subscribers, and the unfair advantage it takes of all publishers. It says that newspaper publishers have no right to manage their own affairs. That is the law. The law supposedly was aimed at a few fake newspapers, but the blundering load of the bill hits all honest papers, regardless of politics. It is a law that strangles all honest newspapers and will not reach the fakes.—Nebraska City News.

Dislocated Hip at Play.

This afternoon D. J. Lair and family returned from a visit for the past week at Hamburg, Ia., where they were called by the death of Mr. Lair's father last Sunday. While there the boys were at play on an old straw pile. The two Lair boys, Ralph and "Red," with two cousins, all about twelve or thirteen years of age, would get on top of the straw pile, and all grab hold of each other, forming a human ball, jump and roll down the side of the stack. It worked pretty well at first, but was found to be costly, when the last time Master Ralph Lair, fell under the crowd, dislocating his hip joint. A physician was immediately summoned and the dislocation was replaced, and since Ralph has had to remain still and will be sometime before he is able to move about very freely. He thinks he has enough of that kind of sport for the present.

To My Many Friends?

Those who have in kindness, contributed to my appointment as superintendent at the county farm, I wish in this way to extend my most sincere thanks for the favors shown. I also wish to extend my thanks to the county commissioners for the favorable generally. I shall care for the interests of the county and taxpayers to the best of my ability. J. H. TAMS.

Are Visiting in the East.

E. G. Meisinger and W. H. Meisinger departed last evening for Illinois, where they will visit at many places. Their first stop is expected to be at Pekin, where E. G. Meisinger was born and lived until he was some nine or ten years of age, but has not been there since. W. H. Meisinger was born in Cass county and never has been in Illinois before, and this will be his first visit. The young men will expect to stay for about two weeks and perhaps longer.

Walks Off The Bridge.

Not long since one of our young men was returning at night from a visit to his Dulcinea del Tahoma. The night being dark, and the way delirious, it was next to impossible to find his way, and at the crossing of a creek, which comes down from the Wiles farm, and wanders down Washington avenue, where it crosses Locust street, the bridge is approaching, coming this way, from the north side, and after crossing the bridge, the walks take the south side of the street. At this place he became entirely confused, and like a boat without oar, spar or rudder, he lost his bearings and walked off the edge of the bridge, and into two feet of water, not getting out until he had floundered around for some time, to the detriment of his best Sunday suit, and kindly disposition. When we reported the matter of J. C. Brady stepping off the bridge on the other side of the river some time since, he thought we had referred to him, but we did not know of his experience then.

Organized Agriculture.

The nineteen societies of Organized Agriculture meet at Lincoln during the week of January 20th. Discussions will be had on every subject of importance to the farmer. The evening sessions will be occupied with addresses from very prominent men and on Friday night Governor and Mrs. Sheldon will hold a reception at the Governor's mansion to which every one in attendance is invited. These winter meetings will be attended by more than three thousand of our progressive farmers, and are glad that such an opportunity is given for our farmers to meet with the men who have the most advanced ideas for the advancement of agriculture.

Breaks His Collar Bone

Claude Severs, who was recently in the city in attendance at the wedding of his sister, Miss Bessie Severs, to Mr. Frank Rennis, returned home last Sunday evening. Wednesday evening he went with a crowd of men at Grant, Nebraska, his home, on a wolf hunt. During the hunt he had the misfortune to have his horse stumble and fall as it ran over some uneven ground, throwing him in such a way that he sustained a broken collar bone. Claude is laid up for the present, but just how severe his injuries are is not known as the reports of the accident were meager.

Injured His Eye.

Thomas Henderson, living at Rock Bluffs, while working with some trees which he had cut down, ran the end of a limb which he had cut from the tree, in his left eye, lacerating it badly and leaving a piece of the wood in the injured member. He with his brother, Will, and Will Smith came to the city immediately, and had a physician remove the piece of wood and dress the eye. While there is no real danger of injuring the sight, the eye is very sore and will be for some time.

Departed For Home.

Nicholas Simons, wife and daughter, Miss Mary, departed this afternoon for their home in Chicago, after a visit for the past week in the city with friends, guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Thrall. Mat Leuck and wife entertained in honor of them last evening at their home on North Third street. Those present were Mat Leuck, wife and son, Nicholas Simons, wife and daughter, Mary, and E. B. Thrall and wife.

Will Move On Farm.

The livery business is to change hands at once, James Rainey being the new proprietor, he having purchased D. B. Porter's barn and equipments, also the residence connected therewith. In the deal Mr. Porter becomes owner of what is known as the W. B. Hargus farm south of town, and will move there in the spring. Mr. Rainey has the ability to make a success of the livery business and will win out.—Union Ledger.

Elmwood Gets Reunion.

Elmwood so royally entertained the Grand Army boys at the district reunion last year that when that town made a bid at the meeting held at Lincoln this week it was plain to see that unless some other town offered mighty good inducements that Elmwood would be the place chosen. Ashland made a hard fight for the reunion, but when a vote was taken the Cass county town won easily.—Louisville Courier.

C. G. Mayfield, the barber, was in Omaha today on business.

WAS A MOST ENJOYABLE EVENT

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Guthman Celebrate Their Thirtieth Wedding Anniversary With a Large Number of Friends

Could we have been here thirty years ago last evening, we might have heard a crowd of boys and young men with horns, bells, tin pans and all the other paraphernalia essential for making the night hideous with unearthly noises. If we had looked for the cause of all this hubbub, we should have learned that Francis R. Guthman and Miss Anna M. Pankratz had just been united in marriage, and the boys were bent on showing them a good time. Last evening was the thirtieth anniversary, as they were married on the 10th of January, 1878. As a fitting acknowledgment of the esteem held by the many friends of this kind and genial couple, a large number gathered at their home last evening to celebrate the completion of the third decade of their married life.

At their pleasant home in this city could be heard the sounds of revelry, for there were congregated those who were glad to be numbered among the friends of the worthy couple. Music rose with a voluptuous swell, and "all went merry as a marriage bell." Recitations, readings and games, interspersed with music and song, made the hours fly merrily until the time arrived for the supper, which proved that the art of preparing and serving the most delicious of banquets is not a lost art with the genial hostess. Those to make the occasion one to be remembered and one of the most delightful evenings spent, were Messrs. and Mesdames F. R. Guthman, Joseph Droege, L. B. Egenberger, J. V. Egenberger, Herman Spies, John Carmack, Frank Fetzer of Louisville, H. R. Neitzel of Murdock; Mesdames J. B. Hempel, Peter Rauen, Jennie Neitzel; Misses Nettie Sissons, Teresa Hempel, Clare Dovey, Florence Dovey, Minnie Guthman; Chas. Guthman, Henry Guthman and Henry Hempel of Lincoln.

Changes at the Shops.

The rumor is current that sweeping changes are to be made in the foremanship in the supply department of the Burlington shops, to take place in the near future. We have reliable information, that the changes are to be made which effects a number of men. W. L. Cooper, it is stated, who was formerly storekeeper at this place, but was given a position in Chicago when the Mr. Josselyn came here, will be given the foremanship of the lumber yards, while L. A. Newcomer, who has held that position for some time, will be given the position of tie inspector of the system, and will be a position which will necessitate his covering a good deal of territory. A new office has been created, which shall be known as the general foreman of the storehouse, and C. O. Richards has been selected for that position. Mr. Richards has been heretofore chief clerk under Mr. Josselyn, which position will be given to T. B. Salmon. These are only rumors, and the one who gave this information says it comes from out-of-town railroad authorities, but would not reveal the name.

Grand Chiefs of Honor Meet

The Grand Chiefs of Honor of the Degree of Honor of the A. O. U. W. held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Wm. Hassler in this city Friday afternoon and were entertained by her. After the regular business of the meeting was disposed of, the social side came prominently into view. During the afternoon they had a very fine time, consisting of social conversation, music, and a most delicious luncheon, which added to the enjoyment of the occasion. Those present were Mesdames Harry Johnson, Val Burkel, Fred Ramge, C. S. Forbes, J. P. Kuhney, W. E. Rosencrans, D. B. Smith, E. H. Booth, J. C. Petersen, Geo. A. Raker of Eufaula, Oklahoma; Miss Teresa Hempel.

Railway Commission Enjoined

The Missouri Pacific railroad secured a temporary restraining order from Federal Judge T. C. Munger Friday to prevent the railway commission from collecting penalties for a failure of the company to comply with the commission's order in the Manley elevator company case. The answer day is set for January 18, at which time, argument will be made for a temporary injunction. The temporary restraining order also prohibits the elevator company from going ahead with the work of building the sidetrack. The commission ordered the railroad to furnish the elevator with a sidetrack.

Hold Annual Meeting

The Farmers' Mutual Fire and Live Stock Insurance company of Cass county is holding its annual meeting today at the Heil school house west of the city. W. H. Becker, president, Jacob Treitsch, vice president, J. P. Falter, secretary, and M. L. Fredrich, treasurer, drove out this morning in a carriage to meet with them. From the report of the auditing committee, who went over the books some time since, the affairs of the company are in a very prosperous condition and the rate of insurance is very low.

Home from Dakota

Adam Kaffenberger returned this morning from Kern, S. D., where he has been for the last week looking after some lands which he has in Beadle county. Mr. Kaffenberger reports this in fine shape, in that portion of the country the weather as being almost as fine as here.

The South Bend Way.

Emil Stutzenegger, merchant prince of South Bend, was in the city this morning, and told of a social event in their town, which transpired last Thursday. There is a woman in that stirring little city, who having lost her husband, has three children to support, and is doing nobly in that direction, but finding nothing to do in that place except watching, finds the living as derived therefrom very meagre.

The Modern Woodman of America, practicing the principles they profess, gave a box social, at which they sold baskets, boxes, and other things, containing suppers, which the purchaser ate with the donor. From the sale of these they realized something like $41.00, and with the cakes and other things which were left over, they increased the receipts to the round sum of $54.00, which went to the benefit of the woman and her children.

The social was held in the Woodman hall, and was a grand success in a social way, everybody enjoying themselves, added to the fact that they were all doing a noble thing for the deserving of the city. The funds were placed in the hands of three kindly disposed ladies of the village, who shall act as the advisory board with the unfortunate woman in the expenditure of the amount. This is the kind of charity we like, and should be the basis of the action of all societies.

It is Now Grandpa Leesley.

Word comes from Kansas that the stork has visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ingalls, Mrs. Ingalls, formerly was Miss Irene Leesley and presented them with a fine boy, of the regulation weight, and both mother and son doing well and the father happy. This explains why a man in this city, who has recently come to the estate of Grandpa, was so assiduously seeking in the city for a large barrel. He must have wanted it to put his head in and hollow Grandpa, Grandpa, to hear how it would sound. There is nothing just like it, he is only going through the experience that many more have had in the days gone by.

Appointed His Son.

For some time past there have been rumors galore regarding as to whom Judge H. D. Travis was going to appoint as court reporter. Some of the republicans contended that it could be no one else but J. S. Taggart and the democrats here asked for the appointment of Harry Northcutt, but Judge Travis would not give any of them any satisfaction, but stated that he was responsible for the affairs of the court and would appoint some one whom he considered capable of filling the position.

This morning District Clerk E. H. Finigan received official notice from Judge Travis, stating he had appointed his son, Mr. Earl R. Travis, for the position. Earl is a bright young man and in every way qualified to fill the position.—Nebraska City News.

Mr. Salsbury Some Better.

A communication from Rev. Salsbury from Breckenridge, Missouri, for which place he departed Thursday evening, called by a telegram saying his father, Mrs. Anson Salsbury, was very sick, says that Mr. Salsbury was taken with a congestive chill Wednesday evening and that a seige of pneumonia was barely averted. At the present he is a little improved, and hopes are entertained for continued progress towards recovery, a fact which the many friends of Mr. Salsbury and his father will be pleased to know.