(From the Register.) Mrs. Rebecca Alford, who has been in a hospital in Oskaloosa, Ia., underwent a surgical operation Tuesday, and word from there states that she stood the operation nicely and was doing as well as could be expected.

We asked Julia Todd the other day how they were getting along on the farm and she said: "Oh fine we have 300 little chickens, 15 calves, 4 colts, 20 pigs, 5 kittens and a lot of goose eggs to be heard from."

Otto Carroll had one of the fingers of his left hand dislocated last Sunday. He was holding a horse by the halter, and the horse making a jump at the other caused it to jerk the strap with such force as to cause the above injury.

Alvin Carlson was a new arrival from Sweden last Saturday. He was just fresh from the old country and a number of the boys from the quarry went down to Union to meet him, and no doubt he brought much interesting news with him.

Raymond Pollard went to Lincoln Wednesday evening to see his sister, Mrs. Wallace, who is in the hospital at that place. A surgical operation was performed the first of the week, and she is reported to be getting along nicely, with splendid prospect of permanent recovery.

Charles A. Rawls, C. C. Parmele and Mr. Richie, of Plattsmouth, came down from that village last Friday to attend a meeting of the C. L. company to consider a proposition looking to the sale of their holdings in Colorado. We understand that as yet the land is not on the market.

James Vantine made a flying visit to relatives in this vicinity Monday. He was returning from St. Joseph, Mo., where he had been marketing some stock. He reports a splendid market, and that St. Joe is getting very popular in his community as a market town. He reports all the Nehawkans as getting along nicely, with the exception of Mrs. Asa Colman, who has been very ill, but at this time is improving somewhat.

Mrs. W. C. Westcott and child, and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Groves, of Rock Springs, Wyoming, are visiting in the city with former friends and relatives, the guests of Fred Range and family. These two ladies will be remembered as the daughters of Ed. A. Oliver and wife, who formerly lived in this place. They will make an extended visit in the city.

GAME FROM OMAHA TO MARRY

Two Young People of the Metropolitan Plight Their Troth Here.

As the Burlington train drew into the local station and came to a halt, we discerned three persons, two young ladies and a young man disembark, and lose no time in getting around the station, seemingly to evade the ever alert reporter. Our suspicions were aroused, and we hiked around the other end of the station, only to see them going up the homestretch towards town at a 2.40 gait. We had other people to see and allowed them to go. This closed the incident, until we were at the county judge's office and were informed that they had applied for a license and had been married by the judge, and were happy. The young people were Emil R. Lynn and Miss Hermoine Roberts, of Omaha, and were accompanied by Miss Gertrude Gehinnery, who witnessed the celebration of the wedding. The young people returned to their home in Omaha and surprised their folks. The bride, Miss Roberts, is a niece of Mrs. Phillip Sauter, who formerly lived in this place. Young people, please accept our best wishes for all that is good in this life and the one to come.

At the pleasant home of Wendell Heil and wife, yesterday afternoon at two o'clock was performed the wedding ceremony which united the lives of their daughter, Miss Ida D. Heil and Mr. W. N. Rohrdanz, of Murdock. The home had been very tastefully decorated with flowers consisting of palms, fern, lilacs, carnations and brides roses the dining table with streamers of ribbon and brides roses which made a very pleasing effect.

The bridal party were supported by Miss Truhlsen of Omaha, as brides maid and Mr. Phillip Heil, brother of the bride, as best man. The ceremony uniting the young people was said by the Rev. Theodore Hartman, pastor of the German Lutheran church, of Louisville, and was according to the beautiful ritualistic work of that church. After the ceremony and congratulations were over the two hundred and fifty guests sat down to a sumptuous dinner, which was fully enjoyed by all. The bride was dressed in white silk, and carried bride's roses, while the groom was attired in the conventional black. Many presents were given as attestations of the friendship in which the young people were held by their hosts of friends. They immediately go to housekeeping on the farm of the groom, some three miles west of Murdock.
