

PE-RU-NA AS A TONIC AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

Mrs. Paul Casavant Writes From 219 Monroe Street, Topeka, Kansas, Concerning Peruna. Read Her Letter Below:

Mrs. Emily Kellogg, 5649 S. Lawrence St., South Tacoma, Wash., Gives Her Experience With Peruna. Read Her Letter Below:

In Spring and Early Summer a Tonic is Needed.

The source of good blood is fresh air and well-digested food. If anything interferes with digestion the blood becomes impure.

A catarrhal condition of the stomach prevents perfect digestion. Such a condition allows the food to ferment and decompose in various ways, instead of digesting. The blood is thus contaminated with various materials that do not belong in the blood.

This gives rise to spring fever, eruptions on the skin, general lassitude and constipation. Peruna corrects all these difficulties by striking at the source of them. By eradicating the catarrhal condition of the stomach Peruna at once restores digestion, the blood is thereby purified, and the whole machinery of the body is put in working order.

Peruna has probably made a more remarkable record in cases of catarrh of the stomach than any other medicine. These cases are very frequent, and we have a host of testimonials in which Peruna has received lavish praise for prompt and permanent relief in cases of catarrh of the stomach.

MRS. PAUL CASAVANT.

Mrs. Paul Casavant, 219 Monroe street, Topeka, Kansas, writes:
"I have found Peruna very effective in restoring my health and strength after I had been worn out and run down for a long time. I began to use it about six months ago when I was unable to leave my bed. My nervous system was shattered and I was daily losing flesh and strength. This condition was completely altered after a few bottles of Peruna had been used and I kept on using it until I was finally restored to perfect health and had gained about fifteen pounds.
"I feel so grateful for what your medicine has done for me that I am pleased to give it my hearty endorsement and shall always be glad to speak a good word for it."

Tones up the System.

Mrs. William McRoberts, Waverly, Minn., writes:
"I am perfectly well of the catarrh. I took Peruna and Managin. I recommend your medicine to every one and cannot praise it enough. It is a fine medicine to take any season of the year. Taken in the spring it tones up the system and acts as a gentle stimulant."

A Good Tonic.

Mr. Joe Leonard, Flat 3, 232 Allen St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:
"I have good reason to endorse Peruna as I have found it a good tonic, stimulating the system and sustaining it under great pressure, imparting unusual endurance and enabling me to work much longer and harder than the system could possibly do were it not for the great powers with which it endowed me. It gives one nerves of iron."

MR. CALEB H. BORTELL.

Mr. Caleb H. Bortell, Police Officer, 212 North Paca street, Baltimore, Md., writes:
"For several years I was troubled with catarrh of the head, throat and stomach. Many times I would vomit before and after eating.
"I took seven bottles of your Peruna, and I am glad to say that it has cured me.
"I feel more like living and working, and am not bothered at all with my old troubles.
"I take great pleasure in recommending Peruna to all sufferers with catarrh, and I thank you for what you have done for me, for none but those who have suffered as I have can appreciate a great cure as I have found Peruna to be."

Splendid for La Grippe.

Mr. Frank H. Fielder, 213 Leasant Ave., Montgomery, Ala., formerly principal of Haynesville High School, writes:
"I can truthfully say that Peruna is a splendid remedy for la grippe, and a good tonic for building up the system."

Pain in Chest.

Mrs. A. W. Gustin, 529 Lake Ave., St. Joseph, Mo., writes: "When I began taking Peruna I had quite a severe pain and ache in the left of my chest. I suffered a great deal with it.
"I wrote to Dr. Hartman and asked him what I should do. He advised my

MR. WILLIAM HOGE.

Mr. William Hoge, President Commercial Travelers Association, 280 Broadway, New York, N. Y., writes:
"I endorse Peruna as the most effectual remedy for catarrh I have been able to find in this country or Europe. I can truly say that I have spent thousands of dollars in this country alone trying to find a cure, and it was not until I was induced to give Peruna a trial that I obtained anything like permanent relief. As a tonic it is simply great. It ought to be in the grip of every commercial traveler on the road. It cured my wife as well as myself. We have not had the slightest symptom of catarrh for a long time."
In a later letter Mr. Hoge says: "I have used Peruna for many years, never without a bottle in my rump. I am the youngest feeling and youngest looking man of my age in New York, which I think is entirely due to Peruna."

taking Peruna, which I did. I took three bottles, and I can say I am cured.
"Thanks for kind advice and Peruna."

Hay Fever and Catarrh.

Miss Mayme E. Smith, 44 East Mound St., Columbus, Ohio, writes:
"Have used Peruna for catarrh and hay fever. The results being remarkable, I can highly recommend it to all who are suffering with the above diseases. I am happy to be able to say it has helped me wonderfully."

Eyes Red and Watery.
Mr. William S. Hearn, 1033 Segal St., Camden, N. J., writes:
"For about two years I was troubled with my eyes being red and watery, and my general health was very poor.

"Finally a friend advised me to try Peruna. I had tried almost everything else, so I purchased a bottle of Peruna and commenced to take it at once, and before I had finished the first bottle I found I was improving.
"I wrote you for special advice concerning my eyes, which I received. I continued to take the Peruna until I had used six bottles.
"Now my eyes are absolutely well, and I feel like a new man in every way.
"I honestly advise any one similarly afflicted to try Peruna."

Peruna Tablets.

Some people prefer to take tablets, rather than to take medicine in a fluid form. Such people can obtain Peruna tablets, which represent the medicinal ingredients of Peruna. Each tablet is equivalent to one averagedose of Peruna.

The Plattsmouth Journal

PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT PLATTSMOUTH, NEBRASKA.

Entered at the postoffice at Plattsmouth, Nebraska, as second-class matter.

THEY do say, however, that the outlook for the watermelon crop is promising.

BUT as long as we have Roosevelt what is the use of a supreme court and a constitution?

THE first echo of Foraker's popularity among the blacks is an invitation to talk to a negro church conference in Norfolk, Va. He has accepted too.

HOW the ears of the trusts must have burned while Jeff Davis made that red hot speech in the Senate. As a "sizzler" the senator is entitled to a few doughnuts.

CONNECTICUT democrats may not instruct at their state convention, but it is well understood who will have the votes when the roll is called. Bryan's hold on the party in the state is as firm as ever.—Bridgeport (Conn.) Post.

"PASS my bills or I'll give neither pie nor indorsement," practically sums up the latest application of the "big stick." That the President should use such petty means in an endeavor to gain his favored legislation is a sorry enough spectacle. But when petty politicians in Congress who have done naught but draw their salaries become frightened at the threat of the club that might deal a death blow to their pet plans, immediately proceed like servile slaves to "do something" merely because of fear, the spectacle becomes still sorer.

IT hurts Colonel Bates of the Plattsmouth Journal when a postoffice job falls into the hands of a republican editor. The palms of the Colonel's hands just itch to get into the prospective new postoffice of Plattsmouth. If Bryan is not elected you may look for the Colonel to take to his bed. The people of Plattsmouth will rejoice to see the guardian of young girls' character and the late editor of the deceased column of "Curbstone Gossip" hand them out thirteen stamps for a cent and a quarter. Don't worry Bates. When your William gets in there will be no grievance coming here. "To the victor belongs the spoils," but like the Colonel, we're from Missouri, and it will not be your William but ours that will hold the roost.—Weeping Water Republican.

WE are not worrying in the least Bro. Olive, and don't you think so, for a moment. Fifty years in the newspaper business should convince anyone that if worrying would kill an editor, we would have been dead before you were born. As to the deceased "Curbstone Gossip," many of our city readers have asked us repeatedly to revive that column, stating that it had more effect in keeping innocent girls off of the streets after night than anything that could be done. So, you see you are "joshing" about something you know nothing about.

Vote For Bryan.

The following editorial from the Lincoln State Journal, the leading republican organ of Nebraska, reflects the state of mind of many republicans, not only in the capital city, the home of Mr. Bryan, but in other sections of the country, as well. There must be a great republican sentiment in Nebraska for the peerless. If not, the State Journal would be the last paper to in any way acknowledge it. Below is the Journal's editorial:

LINCOLN, NEB., April 27.—To the Editor of the State Journal: I heartily endorse your non-partisan sentiment as to the proper attitude of the citizens of Lincoln for this year. A narrow, not to say vindictive, partisanship against Mr. Bryan, who is so highly honored at home and abroad, would reflect upon the intelligence and character of the people of Lincoln.

As a member of the Round Table, cunded by Mr. Bryan, as a citizen of Lincoln, sharing in its fame and prosperity to which Mr. Bryan has so greatly contributed, as a life-long republican of the Roosevelt type, whose principles are so highly endorsed by Mr. Bryan as a matter of local pride and personal regard, I, for one, intend to cast a complimentary vote for Mr. Bryan if he receives the nomination.

F. S. STEIN.

The "non-partisan sentiments" to which Dr. Stein refers were a plain statement of the well known facts that political rancor has died down to such an extent that in the event of the nomination of Mr. Bryan, the candidate and his democratic visitors are likely to be treated not only with toleration, but with open politeness in Lincoln during the coming campaign.

It is only stating a fact to add that few republicans are ready to follow Dr. Stein in announcing their willingness to cast a complimentary vote for their townsman in advance of the convention and before the issues of the campaign are crystalized. It is not improbable that the reactionaries in the republican party, not only in the east but here in Nebraska, will secretly attempt to secure the election of Mr. Bryan because they want a rebuke administered to President Roosevelt and his preferred candidate. In that event Dr. Stein may be forced to remain with his own party to save it from being undermined by the special interests wing, which is determined to ruin where it cannot rule. But when he comes to that decision he will not feel that it is necessary to make faces at Mr. Bryan or throw stones at his carriage. He will frankly tell Mr. Bryan his position and there will be no breach in their friendship. That will be the attitude of the republicans of Lincoln generally. It is not non-partisanship, but partisanship of a sane and unobjectionable kind.

Byran Sentiment in New York

(From the New York Telegram.)

The situation in democratic politics begins to assume a very Bryanesque tinge. A number of prominent democrats, who have hitherto declined to indorse Mr. Bryan's candidacy, have become disgusted with the methods employed against the Nebraskan and have manifested a desire to get aboard the Bryan band wagon. Not the least conspicuous of these gentlemen is former U. S. Senator Lindsay, of Kentucky, now practising law in New York. Senator Lindsay voted against Bryan in 1886, leading the revolt in his State for Palmer and Buckner, the candidate on the Gold Democratic ticket.

A close friend of Senator Lindsay's said yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria that the men behind the Johnson boom had made the mistake of supposing that you could nominate a man for the presidency of the United States by merely calling him a Swede. They say that it is really a pity that a good man like Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, should be so mismanaged as to make it impossible for the democratic convention to even nominate him for second place.

It is surmised that the falling off in Johnson sentiment is due largely to the lack of warmth shown in the movement by James J. Hill, of Minnesota. Mr. Hill ceased to take much interest in the Governor Johnson Presidential aspirations as soon as he learned that W. G. Conrad, the Montana banker, miner and railroad owner, was Mr. Bryan's personal choice for the vice-presidency. Mr. Conrad is a Virginian and went into the northwest forty years ago, when Mr. Hill started to open up that wilderness. Mr. Conrad and Mr. Hill have been close business and personal friends during all these years. Both gentlemen have become multimillionaires by helping build up that section of the country, and they have convinced Mr. Bryan that the way to win out is to adopt the policy of building up rather than tearing down.

Mr. Conrad was seen at the National Park Bank before he started west yesterday. He said:

"Mr. Bryan will be nominated beyond the shadow of a doubt. He already has more than enough delegates pledged to him to control the convention. Business men generally are turning to Mr. Bryan and I look upon his election as a sure thing."

Mr. Conrad was asked if he was a candidate for vice-president, and he replied very frankly that he was not a candidate in the sense of hunting for the place.
"A number of my friends in the south and west," he said, "have asked me to be a candidate on the theory that it was about time the South had some representation upon the democratic ticket. I'm [not going to do] anything to get the nomination, but if it comes my way I'll be pleased to accept it. I consider it a great honor to run on the ticket with Colonel Bryan. He is one of the big men of this century."

The bringing forward of Mr. Conrad's name at this time is a shrewd play on the part of Mr. Bryan. Mr. Conrad is the most popular figure in the northwest. Worth anywhere from $25,000,000 to $40,000,000, he is as simple and democratic as Bryan himself. His personality pervades the whole northwestern country. When it becomes known that he is Mr. Bryan's personal choice for the second place on the ticket, the Johnson boom will collapse. It is necessary for Wall street to understand these facts in order to thoroughly grasp the democratic situation. One thing is certain. If Mr. Conrad is on the democratic ticket with Mr. Bryan the platform will be a conservative one. His name insures for the democratic party a conservative policy.

The victory of Senator Bailey in Texas is a sign of the returning sanity of the Democratic party in that state, and both the party and the state are to be congratulated. It augured no good to the great commonwealth when a considerable number of its Democrats were ready to forget the great services of a great man because of a baseless suspicion that he had broken the letter or the spirit of the law. Bailey is a giant among the party leaders of his state, and conviction has setted upon the country at large, that among the men of signal ability, among lawyers and statesmen, Senator Bailey is entitled to a place in the front rank.

THE Ministers alliance is discussing whether or not there is a decline in theology. This recalls an aphorism of the late Sam Jones, "I hate theology and botany, but I love religion and flowers."

SINCE the government is to buy a pair of warships a year the breed will not die out, and at the same time the war cloud delegation in Congress will have something to jingo about at each session.

HERE is a scintillation from the Baltimore Sun: "Little Miss Congress sat down by a tuffet to eat of her curds and whey, along came a message and sat down beside her, and frightful Miss Congress away."

WE met an old republican friend on the streets today and he wanted to know if Mr. Pollard was sent to Washington for the sole purpose of instructing the farmers of the First congressional district in road making? Perhaps our eminent congressman knows more about making roads than anything else.
