SENATOR PLATT ON THE STAND

The Aged Man Has to be Practically Carried in and Out of Court.

New York, May 21.—Physically so weak that practically he had to be carried in and out of the courtroom United States Senator Platt was at times a spirited witness when he appeared to testify in his own behalf in Mae C. Wood's suit for absolute divorce from him. His denial of all the charges brought by Miss Wood in her suit was emphatic, and when prodded too hard by the plaintiff's counsel the aged senator proved himself capable of vigorous response. Senator Platt categorically denied that he ever married or promised to marry the plaintiff; repudiated the signature purporting to be his on the marriage certificate and the genuineness of several letters which Miss Wood testified came to her from him.

Was Only a Dinner Party.

The senator denied Miss Wood's story of the marriage in the Fifth Avenue hotel in this city, but declared that he met her at the hotel to take her to dinner. He did pay his son Frank Platt $10,000 to secure certain letters in a suit Miss Wood brought some time ago. He said he first met Mae Wood in 1901, but denied each statement made by her on the witness stand having any reference to marriage. The denials were prompt and emphatic. He also denied that he had given Miss Wood a photograph of himself on which he had written "To my dear wife." Miss Wood testified that she was sitting on Platt's knee while he wrote these words.

May Have Used Endearing Terms.

Le Barber, Miss Wood's counsel, asked Platt if he ever addressed Miss Wood in endearing terms. Platt said: "I may have foolishly done so sometimes." He also admitted that he addressed her in letters as "Catty," and that he liked her very much, because she was an agreeable woman. He said he "didn't believe" he ever called Miss Wood by a more endearing term than "Catty."

OTHER MATTERS HE DOUBTS

One Point, However, About Which He is Positive.

There were a good many letters and incidents about which the senator was doubtful, but not positive, but he declared positively that he had never maintained improper relations with the plaintiff. One of the letters about which he was in doubt was one addressed "Dearest Mae" with other loving matter. He said he "didn't think" it was genuine, but when shown the letter admitted that it was in his handwriting.

Then when asked why he addressed her so he said because he liked to correspond with her, and intimated that there were "others." About the letter making the appointment to dinner, as he says, and he married, as she says, in which she was instructed to occupy a certain room in the hotel, he said: "I don't understand why I did it. I told her to await my signal because I was going to take dinner with her."

It came out in the testimony that his secretary, Howe, was an ex-clergyman; as to whether he was still licensed to perform marriages was not established. Platt didn't know how many times he met Miss Wood or how many times he wrote to her. He had met J. Martin Miller frequently, but he denied any knowledge of the plan for obtaining his letters to Miss Wood. He (Platt) did not get the letters, and didn't recollect that he ever had them; nor that Miller had any part in securing them from Miss Wood.

The defense made an effort to show that the letter in which Platt is represented as admitting the marriage was written over his signature on a blank sheet of paper to which he previously affixed his autograph on request of two women applicants for it while he was stopping at the Hotel Arlington, in this city in 1906. In proof of this an affidavit by a Mrs. Dunning was submitted in which she swore she had sent a book to the senator asking for his autograph, which was written in the book, and she gave the autograph to Miss Wood.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Plattsmouth Citizens Show the Certain Way Out

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of diabetes or any kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that they can be cured. Read what a Plattsmouth citizen says:

John Janda, street commissioner, living on the corner of 17th and Pearl streets, Plattsmouth, says: I cannot say too much in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills. My wife used them for pain in her back and was soon absolutely freed from the annoyance. I also used them with the same satisfactory results. All those who suffer from backache or symptoms due to irregularity of the kidneys will consult their own interest by procuring Doan's Kidney Pills at Gering & Co.'s drug store and give them a trial. Every opportunity I get I will speak a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills and I have already done so on many occasions.

Social Workers Entertained.

The Social Workers of the Methodist church were entertained at the home of Mrs. W. F. Crabb yesterday afternoon, by Mrs. M. Howland. The first thing to claim the attention of the workers was the business of the meeting which called them together, which was transacted with neatness and dispatch. Then came the side into play from which the other portion of their name was derived, the social side. During this portion of the afternoon's entertainment they had a good time generally, and it was made more pleasant by the serving of a delicate lunch which was greatly enjoyed by all.

To relieve constipation, clean out the bowels, tone and strengthen the digestive organs, put them in a natural condition with Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea, the most reliable tonic for thirty years. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. Sold at Gering & Co.

Breaks His Collar Bone.

Yesterday while at the grounds of the Omaha Field club T. M. Patterson, by a fall, sustained a fracture of the left collar bone. It seems he, Henry Goos and Ed Egenberger were playing catch with a tennis ball, and when the ball had been thrown to Mr. Patterson, and going a little over him, he ran for it, slipped, and fell to the ground, striking his shoulder and breaking his collar bone. The fracture was reduced by a physician, and while giving considerable pain, is getting along as well as could be expected.
