DAILY PERSONAL NEWS

Short Items of Interest, From Saturday Evening's Daily Journal

T. H. Pollock and wife were among the Omaha passengers today, going this morning.

F. A. Hodgkin who has been visiting with Jacob Stenner and Cyrus Cole for a number of days past, returned to his home at Barclay, Red Willow County, this morning on train No. 19.

Robert Hays, general foreman at the shops, departed on train No. 2 for Chicago yesterday, where he will look after business for several days, expecting to return on Monday or Tuesday.

Hon. H. D. Travis and court reporter, Earl Travis, came in from Nebraska last night, where court has been in session for several weeks past. The Judge was a visitor to Elmwood today, accompanying the Woodmen.

The Plattsmouth orators are in demand, the latest addition to the list being that of Rev. J. H. Salsbury, who will deliver the Independence Day address at Bethany. His auditors are assured of a treat, as he is one of the state's finest orators.

Geo. McCavigan and wife departed for Kansas City, Mo., yesterday afternoon on the Burlington, after several days spent visiting friends in this city and Havelock. Mr. McCavigan is employed as a salesman in the Kansas City house of Montgomery, Ward & Co.

I. B. Green was a business visitor in Omaha this morning, going on the Burlington.

Wm. Kriky and wife spent yesterday in Omaha, transacting business and visiting with friends.

Ed Becker took advantage of the fine weather this afternoon to drive in from his farm, west of the city.

Adam Kaffenberger laid aside his farm labors long enough to run into town on a little business this afternoon.

Mrs. Margaret Livingston and daughter, are spending the day in Omaha, going on train No. 19 on the Burlington.

Misses Mae Patterson and Edith Atwood were passengers to Omaha this morning, for a day's visit in the metropolis.

Chas. Deulen and wife were among the passengers to Omaha this morning, for a day combined business and pleasure trip.

H. J. Straight made a hurried business trip to Omaha yesterday, going on the noon train and returning on No. 2 the afternoon.

Wm. Gilmour is one of the numerous farmers who laid aside the cares of corn planting to transact business in the city today.

Miss Jeans was a passenger for Lincoln this morning, for a short visit with friends.

Adam and Albert Shafer came in from west of the city this afternoon, looking after necessary business.

Among the many farmers who were noticed on the streets this afternoon were Conrad, Jacob, Phillip and George Meisinger, Nick Halmes, John Ulrich, Fred Engelkemeyer, Fred Keil, from near Murray, George Thierolf from Cedar Creek, and Jacob and John Krager from Mynard.

Among the box parties announced for Miss Fitch's presentation of "The College Widow" is that of Miss Ethel Dovey. Miss Dovey whose season in "The District Leader" has just closed, has returned home, and will occupy the lower right hand box next Tuesday evening with a party of invited guests.

B. C. Marquardt and H. B. Wellensiek came in this morning from Avoca, making the trip overland by automobile. They were but a few hours on the road and had no misadventure to speak of, save being stuck in the mud a few miles below Murray. By making a slight deviation and retracing their course a short distance, they succeeded in overcoming this difficulty and suffered but little delay. They made the Journal a very pleasant call during their stay, returning this afternoon.

Two Cars Derailed.

While switching out a few cars this morning, train No. 81 derailed two cars of coal at the west end of the yards, blocking the east bound main line and delaying traffic for about thirty minutes. The cars were steel cars of one hundred thousand pounds capacity, and buried themselves in the dirt, making them exceedingly hard to pick up. The track was not badly torn up, there being but one rail broken and only a few ties destroyed. It was necessary to have No. 6 back up to the cross-over between the east and west-bound main lines, coming down to the depot over the latter, and delaying it about ten minutes. A defective flange on one of the cars did the damage.

Enjoyed a Fine Time.

Postmaster C. H. Smith returned yesterday from the annual meeting of the postmasters of the state at Lincoln. He reports having a fine, large time with a big attendance and much interest manifested in the work of the association. He says that one of the pleasantest features of the meeting was the address of Col. W. J. Bryan. While it was a non-partisan address and did not allude in any manner to the possible candidacy of Mr. Bryan, it greatly strengthened him with the members of the organization, and Postmaster Smith was enthusiastic over it. He says Col. Bryan won a great place in the affections of the members present. The next meeting of the association will be held at Lincoln, the members liking their treatment while there this time so well that no competition existed.

Death of William Russell.

As foreshadowed in the Journal of last evening, William Russell, the popular Burlington bridge foreman, died last night at his home at Ashland, the end coming at 9:25. The best of medical attention was given the stricken man and every effort put forth to save his life but in vain.

Mr. Russell was one of the most popular employes on the Burlington system, having an extensive acquaintance on virtually all its lines. His demise will be greatly regretted by everyone who knew him and their profound sympathy goes out to his bereaved family. He was a brother-in-law of G. M. and Robert Patton of this city, who, with their families, will go to Ashland tomorrow morning for the funeral obsequies which will take place from the family residence at 2 o'clock p. m.

A Week of Accidents.

Mrs. Barbara Taylor met with a very painful injury last Sunday afternoon, resulting the fracture of a bone just above the left wrist. At the time of the accident she was standing upon a chair in order to reach a fan that was near the ceiling, when the chair overturned throwing her to the floor with the result above stated. A physician was called to reduce the fracture and no permanent disability will follow this peculiar accident.

Frank Finkle's son Johnnie, 8 years of age, was brought to town Monday for medical attention, the result of falling while running. It was found that a bone of the left arm was fractured, the injury being at the elbow joint. The wound was dressed and it is thought that in due time the lad's arm will be as good as new.

Charles Engell is the third unfortunate victim, his accident occurred about noon Tuesday. He was working about the machinery in the feed mill and allowed his right hand to come in contact with the cogs of the sheller, and in an instant the hand was mashed and flesh badly torn, but luckily there was but little injury to the fingers, the wound being on the back part of the hand. The hand will be out of use for some time, and Charley may consider himself lucky that he did not lose his whole hand—Union Ledger.

A FAIR OUT-LOOK FOR GRAIN

Commissioner Ryder Figures That Way at the Present

The Lincoln News of yesterday contains the following in reference to the crops in Nebraska: "We are undoubtedly going to have a pretty fair crop of grain this year," said Labor Commissioner Ryder, "but it will not begin to be what it ought to be. And I haven't in mind merely the damage done here and there by excessive rains and wind storms. We still have a great deal of extensive farming, as opposed to intensive farming. On a trip through some parts of Chase county recently I found many a man farming 200 acres single handed, and several instances of father and son attempting to farm 400 acres. In each case about one hundred acres was corn land, which would mean very strenuous work for one man to care for properly. But even with this half farming, as they admit themselves that it is, the farmers out there are steadily getting rich. Think of corn land selling for $12.50 to $15 an acre! Why, when some settlers go in there with the idea of intensive farming that land will take a jump that can hardly be measured.

"I found cane seed in big demand around Imperial and Lamar, in Chase county, at $1.50 to $1.75 a bushel, and alfalfa seed scarce at $9 a bushel. They raise good alfalfa and they get forty bushels to the acre of cane seed, which crop also provides most excellent fodder if cut green. They let it grow to about the height of wheat if going to use it for fodder, then go in and cut and bind it the same as wheat. Speltz is also a good paying crop in that section and in many ways western Nebraska is making good so strongly as to surprise those who have considered that section as secondary. In five years more that idea will have entirely disappeared in the realization of the fact that the western part of the state is happy, prosperous, and getting enough rainfall every year to insure satisfying crops. There is surely the place for the man with a small amount of money who wants to open a farm and get a crop the first year that will be a big boost toward independence. The settlers who stuck through the bad years are all rich, and I make that statement without qualification."

MOST SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT

St. Mary's Guild Acquitted Themselves With Great Praise Last Night

The entertainment given at the palatial home of the Gering's last evening, by the members of St. Mary's Guild, was one of the most successful and delightful entertainments ever given in the city. The very superior excellence of the program, coupled with the magnificently appointed place of its rendition, rendered so absolute an assurance of enjoyment that a large crowd was certain. The parlors of the Gering home was crowded and nothing but the highest praise can be heard for the hostesses and those managing the entertainment. A very neat sum was realized for the Guild.

Of the program itself, it is very hard to select any particular number as superior, as all were excellent and met with very gracious reception from the large crowd. The opening number, an instrumental selection by Miss Kittie Cummins, was rendered with all that artistic grace which has made Miss Cummins recognized as a most finished pianist, and too much cannot be said of its merits.

Owing to a very severe cold and hoarseness, Miss Vallery was compelled to omit her solo, which had been intended as the second number, and the disappointment of the audience was very deep, as her selection had been looked forward to with much anticipation.

The following number, "Jesus, Angel of Light," by Shelley, a duet by Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. H. E. Wescott was splendidly given and enthusiastically received.

One of the most effective numbers on the program followed, being Mrs. Anna Bitt's solo "Sunrise." Mrs. Britt was in splendid voice and the selection itself lent to the success as it is a pretty piece of music.

The reading selection of Miss Mildred Cummins was one of the pleasant features of the evening. It was a selection of humor which caught the audience's fancy and was a distinct hit.

Miss Lucile Bates made one of the evening's successes in the charming ballad "Time's Garden," despite the fact that she was really ill and unable to do herself complete justice. Her very fine voice, however, did not betray her feeling's and the audience manifested its evident enjoyment most vigorously.

The brilliant sextette from "Lucia" was the instrument, chosen by Miss Claire Dovey to charm her audience, and at her hands it was most effective and aroused the audience to great enthusiasm.

Mrs. Austin's imitation of Vesta Victoria in coarser songs was also a feature of the evening, calling forth well merited praise and a vigorous encore. She gave as the number "Waiting at the church" and the answer "I Told 'is Missis All About It" as the encore.

Miss Marie Douglas gave the love affairs of "Peggy Pennington" in such an inimitable style and so natural that the audience was captivated and voted her one of the evening's pronounced successes.

Miss Edith Martin rendered "A Rose Fable" with so much effect that she was compelled to respond with "Four Leaf Clover" as an encore, in both of which she was distinctly at her best, and earned a high place as a singer of exceptional merit.

The bass solos of Mr. H. S. Austin closed a program of great excellence, he rendering Lohr's "Out on the Deep" in magnificent voice, eliciting so much applause that he was compelled to respond with "Lucky Jim" as an encore. His evident versatility took with the audience and he was again called on and responded with Petrie's "Song of the Angry Deep." To Mr. Austin much credit is due for the successful entertainment and his efforts added to those of the Misses Gering made everyone feel that nothing had been left undone to provide a good time.

Sent to the Poor Farm

The insanity commission, composed of District Clerk Robertson, Dr. E. W. Cook and Attorney D. O. Dwyer, this morning heard the complaint of C. A. Ralston, constable at Weeping Water, charging Ezra Cvalt with insanity, and made an order that Cvalt be sent to the county farm, as he was incapacitated for work by reason of epilepsy. He was found not insane, his trouble being due entirely to his malady. The case excited much sympathy in the board. Sheriff Quinton took Cvalt to the farm today.

A True Opening

The new Majestic moving picture show in the Leonard building between Fifth and Sixth streets on Main, opened last evening to several large and well pleased audiences. For the opening bill an unusually fine selection of pictures was offered, covering a number of different subjects, the spectacular picture of "The Rajah's Casket" being an unusually fine one. The picture of "His First Ride" provoked a constant roar of laughter from the audience and made a hit. One of the sterling attractions of the theatre is the illustrated songs rendered by Mrs. Mae Morgan, they alone being of a grade calculated to fill the house with patrons.

Get a Special Train.

Arrangements have been completed by which those who come in from Cedar Creek and Louisville to attend the monster celebration next Saturday can return home at 10 o'clock at night, the Burlington running a special train as far as Louisville, leaving here at this hour. This insures a monster crowd at this time.

Come to Plattsmouth on the 4th of July and you can see what the storm did to our store. Come a little later and you can see our new goods.

C. E. Wescott's Sons.

WHERE QUALITY COUNTS

Another New Baby Girl in Town

Frank Warren was around this afternoon setting up the cigars to the boys, all on account of a new baby girl at his house. Frank was as happy as a father could possibly be, and said the mother and little babe were doing as well as could possibly be expected. The Journal hopes the little one will live to be a blessing to Mr. and Mrs. Warren as old age comes creeping on.

Mrs. J. N. Wise was a visitor in Omaha this morning.

OFF FOR ELMWOOD THIS MORNING

The Busy Season Prevents Many Woodmen From City and Adjacent Country Attending.

The Plattsmouth contingent to the great M. W. A. Log Rolling departed for Elmwood this morning in a burst of glory. The weeks of active preparation for the big event bore fruit this morning when the command was given and the drill team looking spick and span in their natty uniforms, and with a splendid precision of movement indicative of their steady training, took up the line of march to the Missouri Pacific with the City band in the lead. No finer looking body of men has been seen on the streets of Plattsmouth than was presented by this team. Headed by Captain William C. Ramsey and Lieut. Matt Joy, they march away like winners. The team is composed of the following members: Capt. W. C. Ramsey; Lieut. Matt Joy; Messrs. J. C. Warga, Bestor, Hadraba, Jess Warga, Lindeman, Wales, Richards, Gravitt, Anderson, Hiber, Hunter, Landers, Smith, Studen and Bates. Wm. Budig is the team manager.

In the rear of the team marched a number of members of the order headed by J. L. Burrows, banner bearer; Henry Gering and Wm. Hassler. Owing to the day being Saturday the attendance was not as large as anticipated, many members being unable to leave their places of business and a number who live in the country being unable to get away because of their belated corn-plowing. However, several carloads moved out on the special train which left promptly on time. From reports down the line good crowds are expected at Murray, Union and other points, while a number of the Plattsmouth lodge members would likely join the train at Mynard.

Not the least attractive feature of the local lodge's participation in the log rolling is the taking of the famous City Band along to furnish the music for the event. The band played several airs on the street before leaving and doubtless the good citizens who have the pleasure of hearing them at Elmwood, will appreciate the high grade of music they are sure to discourse. The band is composed of the following members: Frank Janda, sr.; Frank Janda, jr.; Cyril Janda, Charley Janda; Tom Swoboda, Gus Knoflichek, Jim Bird, sr.; Jim Bird, jr.; A. J. Kanka, W. C. Hamilton, John Bukacek, Chas. Vitousek and Ed Donat. The band presented its fine appearance as it marched up the hill and is justly one of Plattsmouth's show cards.

With the fine weather that prevails today the celebration ought to be an immense success. It was to be noticed that nearly everyone who made the journey spoke of the prospect of getting to hear Hon. W. J. Bryan speak as the one big drawing card of the occasion. The special returning will leave Elmwood at 10 p. m., and arrive in this city about midnight.
