

It is Bryan and Kern.

HURRAH for Nebraska!

HURRAH for our standard bearers—Bryan and Kern.

JOHN W. Kern was nominated by acclamation for vice president.

It is Bryan and Kern, which is a very strong combination, and one that ought to sweep the entire south, west and northwest.

ONE ballot for president at Denver is enough to show that the democrats not only know what they want but also at Washington.

WHO is John W. Kern? Ask some of your Indiana republican friends, and they will tell you he is one of the ablest men in the Hoosier state.

THERE was no steam roller at Denver. That bit of machinery will be brought into service on November 3 to flatten out the Taft candidacy.

THE republican alliance with the Mormons out in the mountain states was properly jolted when Dubois's anti-Mormon delegation was seated at Denver.

THE democrats have the winning ticket this year, and the enthusiastic manner in which Bryan and Kern were nominated, is an indication of this fact.

The convention may have been too big for Denver but Denver was big enough to give the democratic party a good send-off in the race for the presidency.

It was said that less than a hundred men controlled New York last October but it will take a majority of votes, cast and counted as cast, to control it next November.

Just such conditions as now exist have heretofore invariably precluded the remaining in office of the ruling party. Every sign of the times points to a democratic victory in November.

The length of time it has required to make a platform at Denver ought to put a permanent quietus on the lie that Mr. Bryan drafted the declaration and would steam roller it through the convention.

HAVE you noticed that our rainy weather ceased immediately on the assembling of the national democratic convention, and incidentally, have you seen that broad smile that will not come off, on the farmers' face?

If the democratic national convention stood for nothing else, it would still be worth everything for the future as a demonstration that, regardless of machine operations of any and all kinds, popular majorities can still control and enforce their control.

NOTWITHSTANDING the incessant rains, while out in the west part of the county the fore part of the week, we noticed several excellent fields of corn along the railroad. The wheat harvest has been greatly retarded on account of the ground being too wet to continue the work.

DURING the last fiscal year the net earnings of the railroads of the country were reduced more than $100,000,000 and thousands of men were laid off in order to reduce running expenses. So far as the railroads are concerned, it does not look as if 'my policies' will be popular with either employer or employee.

SOME people in Lincoln are disposed to believe that the republican banner which was torn down in the capitol city the other night was the work of the same parties that put it up, and that the whole transaction was for the purpose of doing just what they have commenced to do—making political capital out of it, and scattering the same throughout the country as 'a democratic outrage' committed in the republican city of Lincoln. What do you think of that? Upon the face of the business the scheme appears rather thin.

HURRAH for Democracy, the Constitution and the Union!

EVERYBODY whoop it up for William Jennings Bryan and victory in November!

IN the event of the election of either 'Bill' there will be a 'Brother Charlie.'

AMONG other things, it will be noticed that this is not a good year for political bosses.

'My policies cannot effect the crops, but big crops are of little avail if fair prices cannot be obtained for them.

AMONG other things, the new currency law will prove to the public that sometimes there is a wide discrepancy between the real value and the market price of securities. But it may prove a costly price of information for your Uncle Samuel.

THERE is just as much difference in the workings of the Chicago and Denver conventions as there is between daylight and darkness. The Denver convention is run by representatives of the people, while the Chicago convention was controlled by representatives of the money power and government grafters.

OVER on the Lincoln branch of the Missouri Pacific Tuesday we heard traveling men suggest the idea of removing the capital from Lincoln on account of the danger from floods. While the Journal would not favor such a proposition, still there would be just as much sense in this paper approving such a thing as there is in the State

IT is now in order for such papers as the Omaha Bee to 'deeply sympathize' with Colonel James McClurg Guffey of Pennsylvania, who was so beautifully sat down upon at the Denver convention. If Col. Guffey could have had his way, the program pulled off just as the gentleman from Pennsylvania had, in his own mind planned, previous to going to Denver, the Bee editor's tears would have been that of smiles, instead.

THE parties who tore down the Taft and Sherman banner at Lincoln the other night, should be apprehended and punished to the fullest extent of the law. No democrats would have any motive in committing the depredation. The republicans of the capitol city have been divided on the matter of making any demonstration in behalf of Taft and Sherman until after the Denver convention, as a courtesy to Mr. Bryan, whose friends were stopping over to see him in going to and from Denver. The business men of Lincoln have also opposed such a demonstration, but in defiance of the wishes of his republican friends, Featherweight Chairman, Billy Hayward, deemed otherwise, and ordered the banner put up. Now, who tore the banner down? Everything indicates that it was not a democrat, but the act of republicans who bitterly opposed its erection at the time. This depredation, however, will give the wily republican chairman and his associates a fine chance to herald the same broadcast as an 'outrage committed by democrats.' Let Mr. Hayward make a desperate effort to apprehend the guilty, and whether the parties be republicans or democrats, let the law deal with them severely.

Had a Lively Runaway.

Last evening while Paul Morgan was returning to the store with Dovey's delivery team, after making a delivery, and accompanied by three young ladies who were taking a ride with him, the team of mules, while backing up, became frightened and started to run, in the alley in the rear of the Journal office. The mules started to run westward, overturning the wagon and throwing the occupants out and bruising them some, after dragging the wagon a short distance they were stopped by some men working on the street, ere they reached Fifth street. After removing large chunks of mother earth from their persons the party proceeded on their way.
