

DUTCH CRUISER TO VENEZUELA

WARSHIP GELDERLAND SENT FROM CURACAO ISLAND.

WILLEMSTAD CALMS DOWN

Castro's Consul, After Dodging Hostile Mobs, Leaves for Porto Cabello, Taking His Entire Household.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, July 28.—The serious nature of the situation that has arisen between the Netherlands and Venezuela was emphasized Monday by the issuance of orders to the Dutch cruiser Gelderland to proceed at once to Venezuela to protect Dutch interests there. The Gelderland arrived here with J. D. de Reus, the Netherlands minister resident at Curacao, on board, who was dismissed from Venezuela by President Castro. It was only a few hours after the cruiser's arrival that the orders for an immediate return to Venezuela were received.

The departure of the Venezuelan consul, Senor Lopez, has resulted in a cessation of the riots which grew out of the anti-Venezuelan sentiment here. The city was calm and the troops which were patrolling the streets were withdrawn into their barracks.

Venezuelan Consul Leaves. Great joy was manifested by the population here when it became known that the Venezuelan consul, Gen. Lopez, who took refuge in the German consulate after a mob of Curacao natives had stoned the Venezuelan consulate, had taken passage for Porto Cabello on the steamer Maracaibo. The steamer arrived at six o'clock Monday evening, and the consul boarded her and proceeded for Venezuela.

The population of the island is quite calm. The troops have been withdrawn and returned to barracks. No casualties resulted from the attack made Sunday night on the dwelling of a Venezuelan resident and the demonstration before the residence of the Venezuelan consul.

As Consul Lopez was going from his residence at noon to the consulate, escorted by armed troops to remove the official papers, the mob nearly caught him, but he was saved by the arrival of more troops.

Troops Guard Lopez. Monday afternoon the consul's wife and children were escorted to the steamer Maracaibo by the attorney general. They were not molested. A strong armed force took the consul on board the steamer, which was guarded by troops up to the moment of her departure for Porto Cabello. Every possible protection was accorded the consul by the Willemstad authorities, and with the exception of a few insignificant bruises caused by stones thrown at him he was not harmed.

There was a great popular manifestation Monday night to the leaders of the demonstration, at which several speeches were delivered.

PRINCE AT AMERICAN LOURDES. Sees Crippled Pilgrims at Shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre.

Quebec, Que., July 28.—The prince of Wales Monday witnessed the curious spectacle of hundreds of pilgrims, many of them on crutches, crowding the shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, the American Lourdes, seeking relief from their sufferings.

The prince had been entertained at luncheon at St. Joachim, where the Laval university has a summer establishment. He returned in an automobile, the route taking him through Ste. Anne de Beaupre. Here the enthusiasm of the pilgrims was at its height in celebration of Ste. Anne's day. The prince's visit was unexpected and he entered the church as many of the cripples were at the altar receiving the touch of the holy relic. As the prince entered the church the organ played "God Save the King." On leaving the church the prince was followed by crowds of the pilgrims, who besieged his auto to shake his hand.

FOR KILLING AGED MINISTER.

New Jersey Blacksmith Put on Trial for Murder.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 28.—Archie Herron, a blacksmith, was placed on trial here Monday charged with having shot and killed Rev. S. V. D. Prickett, an aged Methodist minister, at Metuchen, on July 15. A jury was quickly selected, and a number of witnesses called by the prosecution told of the murder which they had seen committed. Among them was Charles N. Prickett, a grandson of the murdered man. He said he saw his grandfather come down the street and saw Herron step before him. Herron had his arm outstretched and was pointing a pistol at the old man. Then there was a shot, the minister fell and the boy ran to tell his mother.

Fatally Cut in Fight.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 28.—In a hand-to-hand encounter with a crazed bricklayer, Albert Conwell, on an Evansville & Terre Haute train south of this city, Monday, A. Davis of Terre Haute and E. McCoy of Progress, Ind., sustained cuts of probably fatal character.

CONSULS VEXED DAVILA

EXEQUATORS OF DIPLOMATS AT CEIBA CANCELLED.

President of Honduras Displeased Because They Intervened in Behalf of Non-Combatants.

Washington, July 28.—Because they intervened in behalf of the non-combatants, the consular representatives of various governments at Ceiba have incurred the displeasure of President Davila of Honduras and he has cancelled their exequators.

The activity of the consuls occurred just preceding the revolutionary attack upon Ceiba about ten days ago, when the revolutionists were repulsed by the government troops. Information of the cancelling of the exequators reached the state department Tuesday from American Consul Drew Linaud at Ceiba. He has been asked by the department to send by cable a full statement of the facts leading up to the action taken by President Davila. Future action of the department may depend upon his reply.

It is a well settled principle of international practice that a government may refuse to issue an exequator to any person appointed to a consular position and also to cancel an exequator after it is granted, for good reasons. This privilege has been exercised by the government on more than one occasion.

Puerto Cortez, Honduras, via New Orleans, La., July 29.—A detachment of soldiers was sent from here to Ceiba. It is reported that the revolutionists who attacked Porvenir and who threatened Ceiba are now in retreat and being pursued by government forces. At Gracias, one of the first towns to participate in the present uprisings, 49 alleged revolutionists are now under trial by court-martial.

It is reported that some of them have testified to the existence of a general plot against President Davila's government. They implicated in this plot some of the persons arrested a week before the outbreak of fighting, and whose prompt arrest is believed to have defeated the revolutionary movement.

SULTAN TAKES THE OATH.

Swears to Uphold the New Constitution of Turkey.

Constantinople, July 29.—In the presence of the Sheik ul Islam, the head of the hierarchy in Turkey, the sultan Tuesday took the oath of allegiance to the constitution on the Koran, the oath subsequently being registered at the offices of the Sheik ul Islam.

This solemn ceremony tends to reassure the public mind.

As the result of a long meeting of the council of ministers, Hamdy Bey, who was recently appointed minister of police, has been dismissed. Mehmed Ali has been appointed governor of Pera and other changes are contemplated. Hamdy Bey's removal had been demanded by the reformers. It is reported that Izzet Pasha, secretary to the sultan, whose dismissal also was demanded, has fled to Syria.

WIFESLAYER IS DEAD.

Dr. Andrew Cropsy Expires Suddenly in His Cell.

New York, July 29.—Dr. Andrew Bergen Cropsy, the veterinary surgeon who shot and killed his wife in her home at Bath Beach a week ago, died suddenly in the Raymond street jail, Brooklyn, Tuesday. Heart disease, according to the prison physician, was the cause.

Since his crime, for which he proclaimed sorrow and grief immediately after its commission, Dr. Cropsy had become a physical wreck and for several days had been on the point of collapse. He belonged to one of the oldest families in Kings county. For generations the Cropsys had been prominent in social and civic affairs. He was 40 years old.

Former Millionaire Arrested.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 29.—George I. Whitney, formerly a millionaire broker of this city, identified with Whitney & Stephenson, who failed some time ago, was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Gumbert at the instance of John D. Culbertson who had entered suit against him for the alleged fraudulent misuse of 4,000 shares of mining stock.

Thirty-Six Bookies Indicted.

New York, July 29.—Thirty-six men were indicted by the Kings county grand jury Tuesday on charges of violating the anti-gambling laws at the race tracks. Those indicted include some of the most prominent men who formerly occupied stools in the betting rings. All the men indicted were arraigned before Judge Dike and paroled in the custody of their counsel.

Fight on Arkansas Rate Laws.

St. Paul, Minn., July 29.—Stockholders for all the railroads in Arkansas Tuesday applied to Judge Willis Vandeventer of the United States circuit court for the Eighth judicial circuit for an injunction restraining the railroad commissioners of Arkansas from enforcing the railroad rate laws of that state.

Bryan Back at Fireside.

Lincoln, Neb., July 29.—William J. Bryan arrived in the city Tuesday and went at once to his home at Fairview. The trip from Omaha was without incident. Mr. Bryan expressed satisfaction at the selections of the subcommittee of the national committee and was highly gratified at the reception accorded him in Iowa and in Nebraska.

NAME OF BRYAN STARTS A RIOT

ATTEMPT TO FOIST HIM ON INDEPENDENCE CONVENTION.

SPEAKER IS THREATENED

Howard, Hisgen and Others Put Forward for Presidential Nomination—Platform Adopted After Dispute.

Chicago, July 29.—The Independence party Tuesday adopted its platform and perfected its temporary organization. At night it proceeded to the nomination of a presidential ticket.

After the names of several candidates had been presented, a delegate from Kansas tried to nominate William J. Bryan. The convention became wotous at once. Hisses, howls and abuse filled the hall and several times the speaker was threatened with personal violence.

The first name presented was that of Milford W. Howard of Alabama, who was put in nomination by Dr. L. A. Fealey.

Demonstration for Hisgen.

Rev. Roland D. Sawyer of Massachusetts nominated Thomas L. Hisgen. The conclusion of Mr. Sawyer's speech was the signal for a yell from the Massachusetts seats in which California delegates and a few from Minnesota and South Dakota joined. Two women in the center box of the first balcony jumped to their feet and urged the men to greater efforts. A big banner bearing Hisgen's portrait was brought to the platform, where it was joined by the California state flag. After two minutes Chairman Walsh began rapping for order. The Minnesota standard was put in the procession, then Illinois, Washington and Nebraska. Three minutes later the demonstration had subsided.

The Crumb Cloth.

The old-fashioned idea of the crumb cloth is an excellent one and it is a pity that we of the present day have abandoned it. The crumb cloth was of some cheap damask or linen like the heavier table linen or toweling. They were perhaps a square foot larger than the table, and were placed under it, and over the rug. After each meal the ends were lifted and the crumbs shaken to the center where they were out of danger of being trodden into the rug. There they could be gathered up at leisure.

He mentioned the "candidate of the Democratic party" and a storm of hisses and boos greeted the reference. The hall continued in an uproar for several minutes, the galleries persisting in breaking into the proceedings with jeers and irrelevant remarks. Mr. Shepard was finally allowed to proceed. He had spoken but a few minutes when the delegates broke in upon him. Charles H. Mitchell of Illinois offered a point of order saying that it was evident that the speaker was about to place in nomination a man who was not a member of the Independence party. He therefore asked that the convention proceed to name a candidate of its own.

Try to Attack the Speaker. A scene of riot immediately followed, several delegates attempting to reach the rostrum for the purpose of offering physical violence to the speaker. A number of the sergeants-at-arms threw themselves across the aisle in front of the rostrum steps and held back the infuriated men by sheer physical strength.

Mr. Mitchell persisted, however, in asking if Shepard intended to nominate a man who was not a member of the Independence party. He insisted upon a categorical answer and Chairman Walsh said:

"The gentleman will answer the question."

"Of course I don't want to deceive you," said Mr. Shepard. "I intend, if I am allowed to finish, to nominate Mr. William J. Bryan."

The hall broke into a wild uproar, a dozen delegates again madly struggling in the main aisle in an attempt to reach Mr. Shepard.

Dispute Over Platform.

But little work was accomplished at the first session because of a protracted debate among the members of the resolutions committee on the question of how the currency plank should be expressed. The tentative draft of this plank provided for the issuance of all moneys by the government. The platform as presented to the convention demanded the creation of a central governmental bank through which the currency should pass to the people.

The feature of a central bank was strongly distasteful to several members of the committee, some of whom declared that they had left the Republican party because of its adherence to this principle, and if the Independence party was going to advocate the same doctrine they might as well return to their original faith.

The platform, however, was accepted by the convention with demonstrations of enthusiasm, and the utterances of the party as expressed there in were unanimously indorsed.

Mattoon, Ill., July 29.—A warrant was issued Tuesday for H. W. Riley, president of the Bank of Allenville, which closed its doors. Mr. Riley lives at Toledo, Ill.

Desperadoes Steal $40,000.

INDIVIDUAL HASH.

"OF COURSE it's not correct, but your husband may object if you're giving him of hash a steady diet. You'll find this recipe, if you read it carefully, will help the situation if you'll try it."

Mince scraps of meat quite fine, a patty-pun then fine. With pastry very delicate and thin. Then, if you've saved some stock, from beef or mutton hock, Add this before you put the mixture in.

Add mashed potatoes "riced," or cut up fine and dried. And bake until it turns a tender brown. Garnish and serve quite hot, the folks will say: "There's not another dish of hash like this in town!"

Preserved Peaches.

Put the peaches in boiling water for a few minutes so the skin will come off easily. Make a syrup of a half-pound of sugar and half cup of water for each pound of the fruit. Boil until tender, but no longer, as they will then become mushy. Fill the jars with the hot fruit. Remove the syrup from fire, and add a gill of brandy to each pound of peaches. Pour over the fruit and seal the cans tight. These will keep well as the brandy helps to preserve them.

Fried Salt Pork.

This is a way to prepare ordinary salt pork so it will taste nearly as good as the finest bacon: Cut in thin slices and let lie in cold water an hour or two. (This will freshen it and remove some salt.) Roll in flour and let fry till crisp. Drain most of the grease from the pan and stir into the remainder one tablespoon flour, one cup sweet milk, and a little pepper. When it thickens and cooks sufficiently, pour over the hot pork. Serve with parsley.

The Crumb Cloth.

The old-fashioned idea of the crumb cloth is an excellent one and it is a pity that we of the present day have abandoned it. The crumb cloth was of some cheap damask or linen like the heavier table linen or toweling. They were perhaps a square foot larger than the table, and were placed under it, and over the rug. After each meal the ends were lifted and the crumbs shaken to the center where they were out of danger of being trodden into the rug. There they could be gathered up at leisure.

A COOK FOR REUBEN.

"REUBEN, Reuben, I've been thinking. Who would get the meals for thee? If the men were all transported Far beyond the northern sea?"

"Rachel, Rachel, I've been thinking. That, in spite of all thy care, We would get on very nicely. Eating lots of caviare."

"Reuben, who'll prepare the blubber? Who will trim the lamp just right? Get thy meccasins all ready For the long, long Arctic night?"

"We'd take salmon, and we'd dry it, Eat it when in seal oil swimmin', Rachel, verily I'll try it, We could do without ye women."

"Reuben, Reuben, I'd best follow. Men need cooks, where'er they go; And I fear, ye soon would find a Wife among the Eskimo."

Chinese Breakfast Food.

There is growing along the coast of China a soft, sweetish seaweed which serves a variety of purposes, but which the people use chiefly in soup. It has, however, several uses: As a barometer it is valuable, varying in moisture as the temperature changes; as a mat for the table; as draperies—everything—finally winding up in soup which is invariably served for breakfast.

Cherry Salad.

When cherries are in season they are very pretty in salads. Remove the pit, refill the hollow with a piece of nut meat. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise. Or fill an apple cup with mixed cherries and nuts. The apples will preserve their color and freshness if kept in water.

Prunes.

This dish should be regarded as a medicine, and eaten whether we like it or not. Prunes are excellent in cases of indigestion, torpid liver, etc. To induce the family to eat them often fix them in a variety of ways—chopped fine and smothered in whipped cream; in the bread pudding instead of raisins; raw, with nut kernels inside and sprinkled with sugar. All these ways are good and wholesome.

A damp napkin around the sandwiches will not only keep them fresh, but improve them, allowing the filling to flavor the whole. Always keep a clean old napkin or linen cloth handy, and make the sandwiches some time before your guests arrive to save that last-minute hurry.
