Work was commenced this afternoon on filling up the lots just west of the Journal office. It is intended to haul the dirt taken from the excavation on of Main street into these lots, filling them up to the street level. This will be a vast improvement as it will prevent future floods filling these lots up with water causing seepage into the cellars along the block. It will require a great deal of earth to make the fill and will take some time to complete the job.

Silas Long most agreeably surprised his two daughters day before yesterday by presenting them with a magnificent new Knabe piano. The instrument is one of Knabe's finest which in itself is a guarantee of its superior worth and cost Mr. Long $750.00. When it was received it had unfortunately suffered a broken lid in shipment and when the Knabe representative arrived in the city to see its condition and put it in tune, they promptly removed the broken lid and will forward a new one from the factory at once.

Two Day's Outing.

Paradise Park today is the scene of a camping party which will spend today and tomorrow enjoying the beautiful sylvan glens and grassy glades of the beautiful hills surrounding the pretty little lake. The party which consists of a number of young people from this city and are under the chaperonage of Rev. A. A. Randall and wife and Mrs. Morrison and are going to have the time of their lives.

They are all expert fishermen and women and O. M. Streight's expectations is that he will have to restock the lake when they have finished. In addition to all this they will doubtless have all kinds of sport climbing the hills and roaming the woods which surround the lake, and many thrilling experiences will fall to their lot during the outing.

A Merry Time.

A merry little party of children are gathered at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Salsbury this afternoon to assist Master Russel to celebrate his sixth birthday. It is placed one day ahead as the young man in question does not attain that dignity until tomorrow.

The day seems to be proving a most happy one as they are being entertained by stories by the hostess and games, such as delight all children. Many choiced presents quickened the heart of the little host and will help him to realize that there is something in this world to be grateful for.

The dining room was decorated with beautiful flowers and ribbons draped from the chandelier to the corners of the table; a small menagerie of animals surrounded each plate and there was served pine-apple ice and cake.

Those invited were Masters Newell Roberts, Mason Wescott, Dean Douglas, Richard Elster, Carl Schneider, John Parmele, and Clement Chapman. Little Misses Muriel Streight, Clara Mae Morgan, Helen Roberts, Katherine Shraack, Mary Katherine Parmele, Alice Pollock, Flora Root and Katherine Shopp. Alice Root the Kindergarten and Sunday School teacher of the guest of honor.

A Fine Rain.

T. E. Parmele and Commissioner M. L. Friedrich started out yesterday in Mr. Parmele's automobile for a trip to Louisville but they got no farther than Cedar Creek. One mile west of Henry Hirz's farm they ran into heavy mud, a good rain having visited that section a few hours before. The found the roads entirely too heavy for traveling on the hills, and after proceeding until near Cedar Creek abandoned their effort to get to Louisville and made for the former point. The rain was of a local shower variety and there were places where the ground just received a good sprinkling and other places the rainfall was very heavy. It was timely and where it fell it did a world of good.

Geo. Horn representing the Woodmen Accident department, is in the city today coming down from his home at Cedar Creek.

Asa McCullough tonight departs for Kansas City, Mo., accompanied by his son. He expects to make his home in that city in the future, living with his sister and entering the employ of the of the stock yards company.

The stork this morning made the rounds of the city and deposited a fine, young voter with the family of J. W. Grassman in the third ward. Wesley is feeling duly proud while the fond mother simply says there's nothing to it, the boy's the best ever. Both Mrs. Grassman and the child are doing finely.

ON THE FLY LAST WEEK

A Representative of the Journal Visits the Western Section of Cass County, and Finds Farmers Very Busy.

A Journal representative visited sections in the vicinity of Louisville, Murdock, Alvo and Eagle last week, his first stop being at Louisville on Wednesday morning. Here we called on several friends of the "Old Reliable," including the Courier boys. At the office we found Mr. Seacord ("Uncle Remus") of the World-Herald, in charge, while Lee Mayfield, the editor, was confined to his home from the result of slight sunstroke. This was our first meeting with Mr. Seacord, and found him to be a dyed-in-wool Bryan supporter and a most clever gentleman. Through the kindness of our good friend, Herman Pankonin, we were conveyed overland through some of the finest country in Cass county, to the

where we spent several hours interviewing several of our friends, among whom were Harry McDonald, the druggist, Mr. Westlake, the butcher, Mr. Tool, of the firm of Martin & Tool, and Mr. Williams, the new saloon man. We also met several of our farmer friends, including H. Kupke and Emil Lau, both of whom renewed for the Journal. Murdock is quite a business center, but at this season of the year, like all other towns, trade is dull on account of the farmers being so busy. The town is holding its own on improvements, everybody putting in concrete walks, painting their homes and business houses. While in Murdock we called at the new bank to shake hands with P. S. Crink, the gentlemanly cashier, and found him the same genial young man, as ever. He reports business increasing, and was enjoying good health. Mr. Crink is very popular with the business men of Murdock and the farmers in the vicinity, and withal, deserves prosperity. In the evening we went via Rock Island to the

where we were greeted by the many friends of the Journal at that place, which included Commissioner Charley Jordan, J. M. Campbell, A. F. Skiles, E. M. Stone, J. H. Weichel, Mr. Stromer, of the Stromer lumber company, Fred Dreamer, who is connected with one of the principal business firms of the town. On Thursday morning, through the kindness of Mr. Jordan, we were conveyed to Greenwood, where we met numerous friends, and secured a number of new additions to the Journal, of whom we will mention in a later issue, and also of the town. We returned to Alvo, and in the afternoon of the same day, Mr. Jordan drove us out in the country adjacent to the village, and several new patrons will read the Journal in consequence, among whom are W. R. Lewis, F. V. Davis, George W. Curyea and S. M. Pronty, who get their mail at Alvo; Tom Stout, P. W. Nickel, O. F. Fischer and Peter Nickel, jr., who get their mail at Elmwood.

While in Alvo we noted many improvements in various ways. The town is surrounded by the very finest farming country, and the farmers are all well-to-do. The bank of Alvo, under the management of Mr. Boyles, is in a most prosperous condition. We cannot perceive how it could be otherwise, under the efficient management of this gentleman. We must not neglect to mention our old friend, Jacob A. Schaefer, the village druggist. Jake is a fine gentleman, although a republican. From Alvo we went to Eagle, in order to receive some mail matter directed to that point. Here we met our old friend, Jim Latram, with whom we spent several hours in social conversation. Here we also made the acquaintance of J. E. Brinkworth, editor of the Beacon, whom we found to be an exceedingly clever gentleman, and learned that the people of the town were very much pleased with his management of the paper.

In our rounds we noticed that the corn crop was promising well in many fields, but in extremely low places it was not so much so on account of the early rains. Farmers were busy threshing and stacking wheat.

Sons of Herman Picnic

The local order of the Sons of Herman held a picnic yesterday afternoon and evening at the Geo. Tams place three miles south of the city. The picnic was limited strictly to members of the order who turned out in force and spent a most enjoyable afternoon under the trees of the beautiful grove.

The City band was present and discoursed sweet music throughout the day and evening and there was dancing upon the grass, there being no platform erected. There was an abundance of things to eat and drink and a merry time was had all around. The crowd attended in carryalls, there being a large number of such vehicles in service. The picnic was a huge success and the crowd departed for home at eight o'clock delighted at their outing. There will be more picnics during the summer by this live organization.

HIS TWENTY-FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Celebrates the Same at Home With Parents, Brothers and Sister.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Ruffner yesterday had a delightful time entertaining several of their children, the occasion being the twenty-first anniversary of their son, Grover. This young man who is employed by the Chicago Lumber Co., at Silver Creek, Neb., came in Saturday evening and spent the day at home returning to his duties this morning. His brothers, Sperry and Horace, also came down from Council Bluffs and Omaha to visit with him and their parents and help celebrate the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dodge completed the merry visitors. Mrs. Dodge being a sister of Grover. They put in a lively day and all the party returned to their homes yesterday evening except Grover, who departed as above mentioned and Mrs. Dodge who remained for a visit with her parents. Grover is a bright young man with brilliant prospects and his many friends join in wishing him a succession of birthdays. He is enthusiastically for Bryan, and his maiden vote will be for the great Commoner.

No Place Like Nebraska

Mr. John Johnson returned from Denmark the 19th. Mr. Johnson left here with the expectation of making his home there. He had been twenty years away from Denmark and on his return he did not get impressed with the country as much as he supposed he would. Instead of feeling at home he felt more among strangers and longed for America and home friends. He has come back to good America where his countrymen have prospered and where he prospers, and will stay. We are glad he did for he is a splendid citizen and his friends welcome him.—Weeping Water Republican.

Wild Animal at Large

Over near Gretna, there has recently showed up some sort of an animal which makes night hideous with its yells. It is said that the animal's yells can be heard for a distance for more than a mile. Some attempts have been made to corner the animal in daylight raids, but it would seem the night might be a better time to attempt a capture. The animal inhabits a deeply wooded section on Buffalo Creek near where school children will have to pass on the way to school. Traps may be resorted to in order to rid the community of the animal before school again takes up.—Louisville Courier.

Bank Stock Changes Hands

Saturday L. J. Dunn, a capitalist and cashier of the City National bank of Lincoln, closed a deal for the purchase of a portion of the stock of the American Exchange bank of this place, from the president of the bank, E. A. Stopher. There will be no change in officers or management at present, it is announced. This will be pleasing news to the many friends of Mr. John Gerry Stark, who has successfully performed the duties of cashier of the bank for the past seven years.—Elmwood Leader Echo.

Revival in Matrimonial Market

Miss Gertrude Beeson, the charming marriage license clerk in Judge Beeson's office, wore a happy smile today and all because there had been a sudden revival in the marriage license business. She issued license to two couples, the first being Dorey McNett aged 25, and Zora Fern Timblen, aged 19 both of Weeping Water, and the second that of Richard Fisher aged 32, and Mrs. Hattie Bane, aged 32, both of Pacific Junction, Ia. The last named couple wended their way to Judge Archer's court where they were speedily and effectively united in the holy bonds of wedlock, the Judge doing the job with the deftness and dispatch that comes of years of training. The witnesses to the marriage were Judge B. S. Ramsey, Wm. Chalfant and Miss Ruth Griffith of Lexington, Ky. After the ceremony the happy couple departed rejoicing for Pacific Junction, Ia., where they will reside in the future.

IT'S A SHORT STORY NOW!

Those who expect to take advantage of the ridiculously low prices we are making on men's and boy's suits, shirts, hats, and all flooded goods, will need to come soon. They are moving out fast. We are practically giving them away. All flood goods in the Morgan room, all new goods in our old store.

Got a Hard Fall

Conductor Ledwith of train No. 30, Saturday night got a very hard fall while running back to flag a following train at Cullom. No. 30 being compelled to stop at that station Conductor Ledwith, knowing another train was coming behind him, started on a run to get as far from his caboose as possible before meeting the following train. The recent rains had washed the ballast from between the ties and in some places had moved the ties apart leaving a space in them wider than a man's foot is long. Mr. Ledwith struck one of these places, his toe catching the tie and slipping off throwing him heavily to the ground and cutting a gash in his chin several inches in length. As soon as his train arrived here medical attendance was secured and several stitches were taken in the wound. Aside from a severe jolting up he sustained no serious injury.
