Homer Shrader and G. S. Ray are donating the "making good" of a mile of road, running west from the school house in district No. 7. They are using the eight horse road grader, and will consume two days to complete the work, but when finished will be a great benefit to those traveling the said highway. It is said that this is a habit that is not contagious, especially if carefully avoided, but if all the farmers would get an equal amount of energy in their respective neighborhoods, much good might be accomplished, and a great relief afforded the weary traveller and he will invariably notice the improvement when passing the farmers of the energetic class. Don't complain about the road; donate a few hours work, which will be a much better remedy.

Quite a large party of Murray folks were passengers this morning on the early Missouri Pacific train for Omaha from which point they will be passengers for Dallas and other points in the new Tripp county territory where they will register and take a chance in getting a fine farm. The party included Rex Young, Jeff Lewis and son, Glenn Valley, Seely Lawton and many others whose names were not learned.

HAPPY MARRIAGE NEAR ROCK BLUFFS

Rev. J. T. Baird Unites W. G. Boedecker and Miss May Leona Sans in Wedlock.

Last evening at eight o'clock at the charming home of Jos. Sans and wife, near Rock Bluffs, occurred a very charming home wedding at which Miss May Leona Sans became the wife of William Glenn Boedecker.

There were some one hundred and twenty guests present at the ceremony which was performed by Rev. J. T. Baird, the aged Presbyterian divine of this city. Besides those from the immediate neighborhood who had known Miss Sans from childhood, there were a host from this city, Murray, Union and other points, all of whom had known these two most estimable young people and who were delighted to be present at so auspicious a union.

For the occasion the house had been tastefully and artistically decorated, the predominating tint being pink and the combination of pink and white proving neat and effective. The flowers were of those two hues.

The ceremony took place upon the piazza of the house, the guests being assembled upon the lawn in front. To the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Geo. H. Gilmore, the happy couple stepped forth upon the piazza from the house, the bride being attended by Miss Ida Boedecker, a sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, and the groom being attended by R. Glenn Rawls of this city, as groomsmen. The ceremony being the ring ceremony, little Verda Cross, a niece of the bride, had the proud distinction of being the ring bearer, carrying the ring upon a rose. The bride carried a very handsome bouquet of bride roses while the bridesmaid carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bride was dressed most becomingly in Ivory Mezzaline while her attendant maid wore a pink dress which well became her.

Previous to the ceremony Mrs. Jas. Holmes of Murray sang quite appropriately and with most delightful effect, De Koven's beautiful ballad "Oh! Promise Me." Rev. Baird then pronounced the words which united this young couple for life.

Immediately following the ceremony the guests sat down to a fine three-course wedding supper which had been prepared under the direction of Mrs. Jas. H. Donnelly of this city, and which was a veritable feast of rare enjoyment.

At a late hour the wedding party broke up, the bride and groom being taken in a carriage and driven to this city, later going to Pacific Junction by carriage and taking the Burlington's early morning train for the west. They expect to be gone for a week or ten days visiting in Denver and other points in Colorado.

Among those from this city who attended the wedding were Messrs. and Mesdames F. G. Morgan, Wm. Wehrbein, and C. A. Rawls, Mr. R. Glenn Rawls, and Rev. J. T. Baird.

The personnel of the newly wedded couple is so well known throughout this section that little need be said of them. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Sans of near Rock Bluffs, a most charming young woman who has lived all her life among the good people who witnessed her marriage last evening, a most exemplary young woman and one who numbers her fast friends by myriads. Personally very popular, she has a host of friends who extend to her their heartiest congratulations and best wishes for the future.

William Glenn Boedecker, the groom, is also a Cass county product and one of the most popular young men in the county. A business man of marked ability, he at present enjoys the honorable and lucrative position of cashier of the bank of Murray. He also has a wide circle of friends, in fact his friends are his acquaintances, for to know him is to appreciate the sterling qualities of his young manhood. To him also comes the congratulations of all as well as their best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

A Delightful Surprise.

Last Tuesday evening a large number of friends of Ed. Harry gathered at the home of Nick Klaurens in Murray, and gave him a very pleasant surprise party. Mr. Harry was to leave last night for Hiawatha, Kas. and it was the desire of his friends to express their appreciation of him before he departed. They had taken Mr. and Mrs. Klaurens into the deal and arrangements had all been quietly made to make the surprise complete but Mr. Harry evidently believed there was something in the wind, as he inquired of Mrs. Klaurens the meaning of the lights and other evidence of unusual doings about the house.

However, he was much surprised when the young folks came in upon him and was somewhat embarrassed also. The evening was delightfully spent with games, music and such kindred amusements, the guests finding themselves at home and having a good time. Before they left Mrs. Klaurens served them a luncheon of sandwiches, pickles, cake, pie and punch which the guests all hugely enjoyed. After the luncheon they all departed bidding Mr. Harry the best fortune in the world and their best wishes.

Those in attendance were Misses May Lewis, Isabel Young, Laura Virgin, Ella Virgin, Ono Lawton, Clara Young, Emma Graves, Celia Valley, Messrs Albert Young, Seely Lawton, Wayne Lewis, Glenn Porter, Ed. Harry, Floyd Lewis, Tom Tison, Glenn Valley, Arthur Copenhaver, Jacob Minier, Harry Creamer, Walter Reed, Cyrus Dannaher, Percy Wheeler, Rex Young, Walter Minier, and Prof. Ericson.

Why Colds are Dangerous.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by F. G. Fricke & Co.

GRAND LODGE IN SESSION

Degree of Honor Meets at Lincoln Fight over Recorder Red Hot

The following report of the Grand Lodge of the Degree of Honor which convened at Lincoln yesterday is taken from the State Journal. From what is there printed it would appear the fight for Recorder between Miss Hempel of this city and Mrs. Woolley of Lincoln, is very hot. Miss Hempel's many friends here are hopeful of her victory as it is merited. The election takes place this morning.

This morning session yesterday was given up solely to the conferring of the grand lodge degrees upon the past chiefs of honor by the grand chief of honor Mrs. Latky.

The business of the afternoon was chiefly routine in its character, but here and there resolutions which caused considerable stir were introduced. Much enthusiasm was manifested when the resolutions relating to making the committee having charge of finance and lodge law elective rather than continuing them appointive as they have been. This is a question which has been under discussion at each grand lodge meeting for the past twelve years. Mrs. Anna Rogers, past chief of honor of Hastings lodge, says that she introduced and fought for the passage of this resolution in Lincoln ten years ago. G. M. Murdock of Nebraska City took an active part in the discussion of this resolution in the lodge in the afternoon where he fought for its passage.

Besides the address of the grand master workman in the afternoon the nominations of the candidates for the different grand offices occupied considerable time. There were very little excitement attending the nominations.

Recorder Fight Hot.

On the two grand committees there will be three of the nominees elected for each, the three members having the highest number of votes being the ones to serve during the coming year. The competition for the offices is noticeable only in the case of the office of grand chief of honor and that of grand recorder.

While there are three candidates for the office of grand chief of honor it is believed by those taking the greatest interest in the contest that the fight will be between Mrs. Latky and Mrs. Cleaver and a great many members were very free in their predictions last night that the latter would defeat the present incumbent. The contest for the office of grand chief of honor is not nearly so spirited as that of Miss Hempel and Mrs. Woolley the candidates for the office of grand recorder. This fight has been waged in the corridors of the Lindell hotel for two entire days and late last night both candidates were confident of winning by a large margin. Last night being the closing night before the election which occurs the first thing this morning, the topic of conversation in the groups of women who gathered here and there in the state house was without exception relating to the election of the grand recorder. In some instances the fight has become very bitter and it has been hinted that misrepresentations have been resorted to.

Return to Their Homes.

Last Monday evening Messrs Philip Hild and George Meisinger, of Pekin, Ill., who have been in the city and vicinity for several weeks past visiting with old friends and relatives departed for their homes. The gentlemen do not live in Pekin but in the immediate neighborhood. During their stay in this vicinity they had a fine time meeting their many old time friends and neighbors who were certainly numerous. They are both fine men, pleasant and sociable to meet, and wealthy and prosperous citizens. There was a very large number of their friends at the Burlington station to witness their departure and bid them good luck upon their journey.

W. F. Gillespie of Mynard was in the city yesterday afternoon, driving up, and was accompanied by Mrs. Caroline Hinton, mother of Mrs. Gillespie, who makes her home with them. Mrs. Hinton will remain in Plattsmouth a few days, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Jos. W. Johnson. Mrs. Hinton is certainly a very spry old lady for one of her advanced age, being eighty-four years old next March.

A party of Plattsmouth citizens who will take part in the Tripp county land drawing departed on the mail at noon for O'Neill where they will register. The party was composed of C. A. Johnson, L. C. Anderson and David Wallengren. The gentlemen all hope that they will be among the lucky ones and will come back with improved chances for possessing a fine farm. It is to be hoped that their anticipations are realized and that good fortune will follow them.

to influence voters. All kinds of schemes have been tried to keep the votes organized in machines but have failed because of the peculiarities which bind the members of opposing factions.

The grand lodge of the Degree of Honor, which was in session all day in the representative chamber of the state house conferring grand lodge degrees and transacting much important business, gave a reception last night at which a program of addresses and musical numbers was given. While the members and guests were assembling music was furnished by a local orchestra. The program, which was presided over by Mrs. Maud Johnson, chief of honor of Lincoln lodge No. 104, was opened with an address of welcome by J. J. Ryder, who took the place of Governor Sheldon, as the governor was unable to be present. He spoke of the Degree of Honor lodge as an army of banners which was doing great good in the country. Much laughter was caused by his facetious remark when he said that he noticed that the lodge was up-to-date and dealing in the question of injunctions, which question was today occupying the attention of the two great political parties. Mrs. Mary A. Latky, grand chief of honor, responded to the remarks of Mr. Ryder, giving a lengthy discourse on the great good which the order is now doing. She told of the vast numbers now constituting the lodge and the great amounts paid out yearly in benefactions. Her address was followed by a vocal solo by Miss Nellie Woodring. A diversion from the regular program was an original poem entitled "Now and Then," which was read by Miss Teresa Hempel with good effect. Mrs. L. G. English of Lincoln sang just before and immediately after an address which was delivered by A. M. Walling, grand master workman of the A. O. U. W. lodge. His was an address which dealt with the two allied fraternities in their work of doing good.

Drill Team's Work.

Following the address by the grand master drill teams from the Schuyler and Elmwood lodges gave a characteristic Degree of Honor drill. Those taking part in this were young women dressed in spotless white, which was to symbolize the purity of the order's intentions. Refreshments were served at the close of the program during the social hour which followed.

Mr. Beal is About.

M. M. Beal, the painter, who was so severely bruised yesterday while at his work in the Coates block, was so far recovered today as to be able to be up on the street, walking with the aid of a cane. He is very sore and the physician states that it will be a long time before he will be entirely recovered. He is unable to account for the accident save that the plank which struck him was slightly overbalanced. He considers that he had a very close shave from a dangerous injury.
