At a meeting yesterday morning, the senior law class elected a managing editor for the Cornhusker, C. P. Peterson of Lincoln. By an agreement between the Cornhuskers board and the law school the "laws" are allowed a member on the staff. W. A. Robertson, a senior law man, is also editor-in-chief of the book.—Lincoln Star. The W. A. Robertson mentioned above is Will A. Robertson of this city, son of District Clerk Robertson.

T. J. Mulcahey and J. B. Allen, two horsemen from Butte, Montana, came in this morning from the east, en route home. They frankly admitted to the reporter that they had no reason on earth for stopping off here as they didn't want to buy horses and couldn't find any here if they did. They both owned to being desperate looking old fellows when as a matter of fact, they were fine looking gentlemen, and the soul of sociability. They departed on the mail at noon for Lincoln but promised to return and get better acquainted with the people here.

To Draw a Farm.
There will probably be a colony and a ball team of Unionites in the Rosebud country next spring if all who went from here succeed in drawing desirable farms. Those who went Wednesday to register for the drawing were Roy Upton, Charley Anderson, Will L. Taylor, Emery Hathaway, Dave A. Eaton, Riley Eaton, Gus Holmes, John Lidgett, Win Younker, Wes Clark and Charley Boardman.

Old Settler in City.

David Miller, who is well remembered by the older residents of the city, came in this morning from Deadwood, S. D., where he is in the employ of the assay office of the Golden Reward Mining company, for a mingled business and pleasure trip. It has been nine years since Mr. Miller left the city, and he notes a number of changes in that time. He found that numerous of his old friends had left the city, some were dead, some were in Oklahoma and Texas, and some were in other parts unknown. Mr. Miller is looking better if possible than when he removed from this city and Dakota seems to agree with him. He still clings to that old faith of republicanism, although time should have worked a change with him. He will be in the city several days visiting his friends. He was formerly a deputy sheriff of this county.

It's All One Way.

A Bryan meeting is planned for tomorrow night at the temple. A speaker of national repute has been secured for an address and local speakers will also be present. The Bryan club is especially strong in the first year law class. At a poll taken this morning fifty-one men expressed their preference for the Nebraskan to thirty-one for Taft.—University Notes, Lincoln Star.

HE HAS A VERY BUSY DAY OF IT

Judge Archer Has a Lot of Business in His Court

From Friday's Daily

Judge Archer and his Celebrated Brand of Justice were both very busy people today. Last evening Louis Reinhackle who is bartender for Frank Benfer, met up with a stranger who was agent for a pipe raffling scheme, said agent putting one of his pipes on sale at the saloon. He asked permission of Mr. Reinhackle to leave his grip in the saloon, and, according to the latter, asked him not to give it to him unless he was sober. Later he came in and wanted the grip. Owing to his condition, Mr. Reinhackle states that he declines to give the grip to him. He went outside and called in Marshal Fitzgerald who obtained the grip for him. Later Reinhackle was arrested upon the charge of using profane language the marshal testifying that he could hear the profanity across the street. Reinhackle's story is different but the Court found him guilty and taxed him five dollars and costs.

The police also filed a complaint against Frank Dailey and Jos. Shaw the two men discharged by the jury for the Cedar Creek burglary, charging them with vagrancy. The men it is claimed by the police celebrated their release by getting drunk and "mooching" drinks, which said offense caused the police to gather them in. There is a suspicion that they are being held for other purposes.

This afternoon County Attorney Rawls decided to file the complaint against Frank Daily and Jos. Shaw for intoxication instead of vagrancy as the police desired filing the complaint under the state law. Judge Archer after hearing the case this afternoon gave Daily a sentence of ten days in jail on bread and water and Shaw fifteen minutes to get out of the city. Shaw hit the high places in making his flight. In fact, he looked like Wilbur Wright in his aeroplane skimming the ground with forty mile an hour speed.

MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE

Bozarth So Charged, by County Attorney in Complaint Filed.

From Friday's Daily

County Attorney Rawls returned last evening from Greenwood where he had gone to investigate the facts of the Dyer killing. This afternoon he filed a complaint against Matt Bozarth charging him with murder in the first degree. The complaint recites the details of the crime as heretofore set forth in the Journal. Bozarth will be arraigned either this evening or in the morning and given an opportunity to plead after which he will be permitted to select counsel and be guided by his advice.

From conversations with the officers having Bozarth in charge there seems to be some doubt as to the man's sanity. Sheriff Quinton says that he does not seem to realize the enormity of his crime and seems to labor under the delusion that he is being persecuted. He thinks that papers are being filed against him by different parties and that they seek to do him injury. It will be recalled that a number of people at Greenwood and vicinity have from time to time expressed the belief that Bozarth was crazy and his actions would seem to confirm this.

No date has yet been fixed for his preliminary examination and none will be until after he has had a chance to plead.

Pollard A Frost.

With less than fifty men out last evening, the Pollard meeting at the university temple was rather a disappointment. Those who did attend enthusiastically applauded the remarks of Congressman Ernest Pollard upon the tariff question. Mr. Pollard ridiculed the plan advanced by Bryan for trust regulation and closed with an eulogy of the republican candidate, W. H. Taft.—Lincoln Star.

Cleveland and Hard Times.

The hard times that prevailed during Cleveland's second term have been a fruitful theme for republican orators and editors. The truth is the hard times began before he took the oath of office. It is a matter of history, and is not denied, that President Harrison foresaw them and had the plates prepared for a bond issue to protect the gold reserve. When he was defeated for reelection, he did not use them, preferring to shift the responsibility to Cleveland, his successor.

Besides, the depression that prevailed during Cleveland's administration was world-wide. Not only that but the prosperity that followed it has not been confined to this country, but relatively has been as marked in all civilized countries. Again, during Cleveland's administration, there was a succession of bad crops, not only in Nebraska, but throughout the world. Nebraska was drouth-stricken. That added materially to the distress of those times. It will hardly be claimed that Cleveland was responsible for the lack of rainfall, or that any party can guarantee sufficient moisture to raise a crop.

Panics come and go regardless of the party in power. The panic of 1873 came during Grant's administration; that of 1893, during Cleveland's; that of 1907, during Roosevelt's. No honest man attributes any of them to the man who occupied the White House at the time.
