DEATH OF MRS. FRED H. GORDER

A Most Estimable Lady and One Highly Respected by Her Many Friends and Acquaintances—Funeral Tuesday.

From Monday's Daily

DIED—Gorder, Mrs. Etta Baier, wife of Fred H. Gorder, at her home in Weeping Water, Nebraska, on Saturday, October 17, at 1:30 p. m. of peritonitis. Funeral will be held from the Methodist church at Weeping Water, Nebraska, on Tuesday, October 20, at 1:30 p. m.

Brief mention was made last Saturday of the visit of the death angel to the home of Fred H. Gorder, formerly of this city and one of the best known citizens of the county. Shortly after the noon hour Saturday death claimed his most estimable wife, a lady universally beloved by all who knew her, a model wife and one of those lovely characters which seem born but to grace the earth for all too brief a time and then to pass away. After a long continued period of ill health, her last sickness developed with the birth of her baby boy on October 9th and she became gradually worse until peritonitis set in and the end came as stated above. To make every possible effort to save her the very best of physicians were summoned to her aid. Drs. Rickard and Butler of Weeping Water summing in consultation Dr. T. P. Livingston of this city and Dr. Shoemaker of Lincoln, all to no avail.

Etta Baier was born on July 21, 1872, near the village of Avoca in this county. She was the daughter of Oswald Baier and wife, and her early years were spent upon the farm where she first saw the light. She was married to Fred H. Gorder on March 22, 1899, and removed to Weeping Water where she resided until death closed down her eyelids.

She leaves behind her a husband and three children, Dorothy, born March 25, 1902, Helen, born January 3, 1907, and a baby boy born October 9, 1908. Besides her father who survives her, she also left two brothers, John and Will Baier, both residents of Avoca, and four sisters of whom three, Mrs. Henry Wessell, Mrs. John Murdock and Mrs. Will Schlichtemeier are married and reside near Nebraska while the fourth Miss Minnie Baier resides at Weeping Water.

The funeral will take place tomorrow (Tuesday) at 1:30 p. m. from the Methodist church at Weeping Water. The hour was so fixed that the many friends of the deceased in this city could attend the funeral and return the same day, they going down on the M. P. train in the morning at 9:48 and returning from Weeping Water at 4 p. m.

In the loss of Mrs. Gorder not alone her family suffers a great loss but the entire community in which she has lived and moved are sufferers. She was a sweet spirit, a lovable woman and a model wife. The sympathy of the public goes out to the stricken ones and to the desolated home which has felt the icy hand of death within its doors, and their sorrow finds its reflection in the hearts of the many who had known Mrs. Gorder in her life time.

This afternoon the additional intelligence was telephoned to the Journal from Weeping Water, that the little baby boy had followed his mother over the river and into the silent land. Sickly since birth, there had been little hope of saving his life and at one o'clock this afternoon the little childish eyes closed in their last sleep after so few hours on earth. The little one will be buried tomorrow afternoon with his mother, resting in her arms.

In this hour of additional bereavement, the hearts of all go out in sympathy to the doubly stricken father and children. Those who have eaten the ashen crust of sorrow alone can feel the deep grief which has come to the sorrowing ones left behind and give the need of condolence which is due. But all mourn in common at such a visitation of the death angel.

Married by the County Judge

John Kuhn, aged 43 and Miss Ellen Woley, aged 38, both of South Bend, Neb., were united in marriage Monday morning at his office in the Court House by Judge Beeson, he having issued the license to wed them. The couple came down on the Schuyler this morning and returned to their home this afternoon.

Fire Saturday Night.

Fire last Saturday night swept away the home of Albert O'Neill on the Iowa side of the river, opposite this city. The loss was total, Mr. O'Neill not being able to save anything of value. The amount of the loss and also whether or not there was insurance on the property were unable to learn.

THE FOOT BALL GAME SATURDAY

An Interesting Game Was Played—The Home Team Coming Out Victorious by a Score of 5 to 5—Very Good Attendance.

A much smaller crowd than the game deserved last Saturday afternoon witnessed the football game between the Plattsmouth team and the second eleven of the Omaha high school. The game was a good one and well repaid those who attended. The final score was 5 to 4 in favor of the local team. There was considerable excitement attendant upon the game as it was stubbornly contested throughout, the Omaha boys making a desperate effort to win out. The local team was handicapped by lack of practice or they would have won by a much larger score. They had the advantage in weight but the continual practice of the Omaha team told in holding them down when it came to scoring. The score for Omaha made by a field kick by their quarter back who played a fine game all around. Capt. Miles of the Omaha team also distinguished himself throughout by his clever playing and mastery of the details of the game. The Plattsmouth score was made by straight line bucks through the Omaha line. The superior weight of the local team was largely responsible for the victory. The work of Straight, the local full back, and Droege at the right end was of exceptional value, both playing a strong and fine game. Leonard, the half back, played a good game, especially on runs around the right end. Beal was also responsible for good gains, making a fine run and aiding largely in the victory of Plattsmouth.

Prof. Gamble who managed the local team was highly elated at the showing the boys made. An old football player himself, he states that considering the limited practice the team had taken their victory was a great one. He believes that a little more practice means a team which will successfully hold its own with any in this neighborhood. He is giving the team his careful attention and has noted with a great deal of pleasure the development of the boys, and the vast improvement in their game. He regretted that there was not a greater attendance Saturday so as to encourage the boys to keep to their work and make a winning team. As it was, the locals came out behind financially upon the game but he hopes that interest will stir up and the boys get the support they deserve. Other games will be arranged for by him, and he assures the public that the boys will put them up a game worth having.

Big Day at Methodist Church.

From Monday's Daily

Yesterday was a great day at the Miller meetings at the Methodist church. At the time of the morning services the evangelist preached a sermon on the subject of "Life After Death" and in the afternoon he preached to men on "The Unpardonable Sin." In the evening he preached before a jury of twelve men bringing Jesus to trial on the fact of his divinity and not alone the jury but the entire congregation after they heard the testimony of prophecy, the world, his own friends his enemies, and the devil unanimously voted that the testimony proved that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the living God. Then the evangelist appealed to men to decide as to what they would do with this Son of God. More than a dozen knelt at the altar as seekers and the day was marked with many conversions. The meetings continue to grow in interest and will continue to grow during the present week. Services will be held every night except Saturday. It seems to us that no one should fail to hear Mr. Miller sing and preach. Seldom has it been our lot to hear a man so thoroughly versed in the scriptures and one who makes so telling a use of the word of God in his preaching. Up to the present time about 20 have sought to find a new life in Jesus Christ.

Wash Young's Shop Broken Into.

From Monday's Daily

Wash Young came to town this afternoon from his shop four miles west of the city and reported to Sheriff Quinton that during his absence someone had broken the lock upon the door of the shop, in fact, almost destroying the door and after effecting an entrance had robbed the shop of screw plates, taps, dies and other mechanical tools to the value of not less than fifty dollars. Mr. Young returned yesterday morning from a visit to his brother at Davenport, Ia., and immediately discovered the robbery. It is but a short time since he was robbed of tools of considerable value and he had just replaced them. He is much puzzled why he is being constantly picked for these robberies and proposes to make it warm for the parties if he can locate them. He has suspicions as to who did the job but desires to be sure of his ground before taking action.

In Police Court.

From Monday's Daily

Arthur Jacobi, one of Judge Archer's especial favorites, was a visitor to his palatial quarters this morning and drew a prize in the shape of a fine of Five Dollars and costs, the result of too much Barleycorn last Saturday. Artie did not restrain his passionate desire for red eye on the day in question and became seized with the idea that he was a human calliope or something of that kind with the result that the police raided him and escorted him to the city jail where he stayed over Sunday, the guest of Jailer Manspeaker. This morning his statement to the court as to the reasons for his festive condition failed to satisfy the Court and the celebrated Brand of Justice was applied with the effect as stated above. In default of the wherewithal to liquidate, Artie is now in durance vile to remain until justice hath been did.

Will Surely be Built.

From indisputable source the Journal

learns that the proposed new subway under the Burlington tracks will surely be built. An individual with close acquaintance with Vice-President Willard states that when the matter was called to his attention he was at once in favor of it and gave instructions to have the work proceed. It was suggested that the city should be asked to pay for the grading and he replied that it was a Burlington project and that the road should bear the expense. This insures the building of the crossing and will consummate a move which should have been done years ago. The work will be hurried to completion at once so that it may be done before frost comes too heavy to allow work to proceed.

In County Court.

From Monday's Daily

In County Court today the matter of the Final Settlement of the Estate of Z. P. Earl was heard. Judge Beeson examined the accounts of the executor John P. Earl, found the same correct and made an order for his discharge and the release of his bondsmen.

There was also filed in this court a petition in the case of The Midland Mfg. Co. vs. Albert Hunter, asking judgment against Hunter in the sum of $165.00 upon three several acceptances for $55.00 each. The case is set down for hearing on the 28th. inst.

THE FUNERAL OF JUDGE BROADY

Held at His Late Residence in Lincoln Sunday

Judge J. H. Broady, a notice of whose death was published in these columns Saturday, was laid at rest Sunday. The Lincoln Journal, in reference to the funeral says: "A great many of the older residents of the city, legal friends, and political fellow-workers in times that have gone past, attended, some of them not being able to get into the home during the services but patiently waiting outside in the rain, in silent testimonial of the strong ties that bound the dead man to those with whom he came in contact.

"The casket stood between the two large rooms surrounded and covered by a bank of white and pink roses, chrysanthemums and lilies.

"Rev. W. W. Lawrence of the First Presbyterian church had charge of the services in the very room where a few weeks before he had performed the marriage ceremony of the youngest daughter of the deceased. W. J. Bryan was present. He was to have been one of the pall bearers, changing his speaking itinerary so that he could serve. He was, however, unable to serve and Dr. H. J. Winnett took his place. Mr. Bryan made a few remarks on the death of his friend and political adviser. He said that for sixteen years Judge Broady had been his close friend and he had come to love him only as one must do who had known him so intimately. He comforted the bereaved family, telling them that as the dearest friends are called to cross into the great beyond the terrors of death lose much of their sting and the hope of meeting those who had gone first grows. Rev. Mr. Lawrence followed Mr. Bryan with a short service ending with a prayer.

"The pall bearers were: Dr. P. L. Hall, Dr. H. J. Winnett, Richard L. Metcalfe, F. W. Schwind, Judge C. B. Letton and Judge Kelligar of Auburn. Judges Letton and Kelligar were formerly judges of the First judicial district where Judge Broady served on the bench for eight years.

"Several relatives from out of the city were present, together with all the children living. Among these were: Mrs. Horace Shafer of Auburn, sister of Mrs. Broady; Mr. Shafer, Cyrus Townsend of Clay Center, Neb., brother of Mrs. Broady; Captain J. J. Mercer and E. W. Thomas of Omaha. Mrs. John Tighe and Joseph Cornelius of Auburn. Mr. Broady's brothers from Kansas and Illinois were present during part of the illness but were unable to be present at the funeral."

Diphtheria in Stenner Family.

From Monday's Daily

Owing to the prevalence of diphtheria in the family, Miss Gertrude Stenner, one of the teachers in the public schools, has obtained leave of absence and her place will be taken by Miss Winnifred Perry, of Omaha, who arrived this morning to assume charge of the school. While there was no danger in Miss Stenner continuing to teach, it was thought best not to alarm those having children in her classes by her remaining at her duties hence her leave of absence. This action was taken after a consultation with Supt. J. W. Gamble who believed it advisable in order to prevent any possible alarm. The many friends of Miss Stenner while regretting the necessity of this action commend her forethought in so doing, and trust she will soon be back at her services.

Sun Hatches Chickens.

A Madison county farmer not long ago found that a hen had been laying eggs in the seed box of a corn planter which stood on the south side of his barn. To protect the eggs from the heat of the sun until he should have time to carry them to the house he closed down the lid and then forgot all about them. Some time later he happened along there and heard a noise in the seed box. On raising the lid he was astonished to see that the eggs had all hatched out, the warmth in the box from the sun each day having done the incubating.

R. A. Bates III.

R. A. Bates, the publisher of the Journal, has been confined to his bed the result of ulceration of the bowels. Mr. Bates' condition, while not dangerous, is of so serious a nature that his physician commanded him to take to his bed until proper medical attention could be given him. It is expected that he can soon be out again, although an operation may become necessary should he not improve rapidly.

Monuments Unveiled.

Last Sunday afternoon the members of the Woodmen of the World held an unveiling at Oak Hill cemetery, the monuments unveiled being those of the late Fred Kroehler and Gus Rhode. There was a large attendance of members present and the exercises were of the beautiful and impressive nature which the ritual of the order provides for. The program was in charge of Hon. J. L. Root, Grand Sovereign of Evergreen lodge, who acted as master of ceremonies, and included an address by Hon. B. S. Ramsey, the reading of that gem of poetry "Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard" by Hon. R. B. Windham and music by the Aeolian Quartette. Perhaps no more impressive ceremony could have been given than that of this noble order which numbers among its members the best and most informed fraternal insurance people of the country. The exercises which accompany the unveiling of these monuments are peculiarly noble and inspiring in their nature and are a splendid mark of the high appreciation of these gone before by their sorrowing brothers here on earth.

A Peculiar Accident

Last Sunday Mrs. Jos. Thompson suffering a very painful and peculiar accident. She was sitting down and had been sitting for sometime when she started to rise from the chair. Being a large, heavy woman she had no sooner risen than her ankle gave way and she was compelled to resume her seat. She made a second attempt and again was compelled to give up the task. There seemed to be no pain in the ankle and it seemed to be entirely numb. Becoming somewhat alarmed, she began rubbing the leg and ankle and as soon as circulation was restored the ankle began to pain her very severely. She at once had medical assistance summoned and it was found that she was suffering from a bad sprain of the ankle. The physician was with her the greater portion of the night endeavoring to allay the pain. This morning she was resting much better but it will be some time before she will be able to be about.

Delayed a Short Time.

From Tuesday's Daily

The fast mail this noon was delayed some fifteen minutes, caused by an east bound freight train pulling out a draw bar while on the bridge. The freight went on into the junction with the first section of the train leaving the rear portion standing on the bridge and the main line. The engine had to come back after this section, the mail train following it out to the bridge switch where the mail headed in and allowed the freight to pass after which it came on to this city. Had the freight conductor set out the car with the draw bar out at the switch and returned for his freight, the delay could have been avoided.

CHICAGO STREET CAR MEN BOLT

Over 2,000 Republican Railway Men Become Supporters of Bryan.

Street car men of Chicago have come out for Bryan. At a meeting of the North and West Side Railway Men's Conservative club in which over 2,000 men were represented, President Roosevelt was scored for aligning himself with Hearst, and resolutions were passed pledging themselves to support the democratic presidential candidate.

Part of the resolution reads: "Whereas, We are conservative republicans, who took pride in carrying torches and in siding in the election of our beloved president, the Hon. William McKinley, whose memory we esteem and revere, and which torches we now preserve as symbols of republican work done and accomplished; "Whereas, We are organized laboring men, working for a corporation and interested in the promotion and welfare of the whole people;

"Whereas, Since the administration of our beloved president republicanism has been by officials in office too frequently ignored and abandoned to the detriment of the whole people, contrary to the welfare of the same people;

"Whereas, The president of the United States has abandoned the principles and policies of republicanism to follow the lead of one William Randolph Hearst, and has taken up the cry which leads to destruction and anarchy; "Resolved, That we do give our support to Adlai E. Stevenson for governor of the state of Illinois and William Jennings Bryan for president of the United States."

The club was organized in 1896. C. B. Dwick is president and A. C. Meyer is secretary.

THOSE WHO ARE LUCKY IN DRAWING

So Far Only One in Cass County Drew 160 Acres.

From Tuesday's Daily

Yesterday was the first day of the land drawing at Dallas, S. D., and 1728 numbers were drawn during the day. There are a total of 114,769 names in the big iron cans which will be opened in turn. The great bulk of the winning numbers were from three states of South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska there being one hundred and eleven winning Nebraskans in the first three hundred names drawn. The first number was picked up by little Denna Rose, four years old, the daughter of Mayor Rose of Dallas, S. D., and it contained the name of May Melser of Cambridge, S. D. Second and third chances went to Nebraska, Peter Swift of Posa and E. Hannon of Meadow Grove being the respective winners. A crowd of 140 thousand persons witnessed the drawing which everyone claims was fair and honestly conducted.

So far as heard from there was only one successful Cass County man among the first three hundred winners, he being Edgar Spencer of Louisville who drew No. 170. As the published list only gives the names of the winners from Nebraska among the first three hundred winners, it is possible that a complete list of the 1,728 winners will reveal more Cass County people. It is estimated that nine thousand numbers will be within the winning list owing to lapses and other causes.

Others from Nebraska who won, include Fred H. Crosby, of Lincoln, one of the Burlington conductors, who visited this city sometime since to organize a branch of the Railway Men's Protective Association and Fred Hawksworth of Norfolk, formerly of this city and recently married.

BUSINESS IN THE DISTRICT COURT

The Argo-McQuinn Damage Suit on Trial—Other Cases Disposed of.

From Tuesday's Daily

In district court today Judge Travis in the case of the First National Bank of Plattsmouth vs. Gibson et al entered a judgment on the supreme court mandate. The effect of the supreme court decision was to dismiss this case and the judgment is in accordance with the mandate and results in a victory for the Gibsons and other defendants.

The Argo-McQuinn damage suit on trial today in district court attracted a great array of witnesses to the city to day, all hailing from Union and vicinity. The following named parties were registered at the Perkins Hotel, the rendezvous of nearly all Liberty precinct today, viz: B. B. Everett, Will Gruber, John Eaton, J. R. Dysart, Flora Taylor and Blythe Hathaway.

In the case of Henton vs. The Woodmen of the World a stipulation was entered into in open court, giving the defendant until Friday morning, Oct. 23, to file an answer.

A jury composed of the following gentlemen was impaneled to hear the evidence in the damage suit of Argo vs. McQuinn, viz: Carl Day, Roy Patterson, John Wegryk, A. A. Webster, Thom. Murphy, Joan Gurnahan, Chas. Brann, Jake Wiles, John Cramer, E. H. Wescott, Jacob Schlichtmeier, Jr., and Arthur Sullivan. The morning session was taken up in hearing the testimony of John Argo and the plaintiff, his wife, Flora. Their testimony in effect was that McQuinn had on July 7th last, committed an assault upon Flora B. Argo, the plaintiff in this case, by which she was so badly injured that it had effected a miscarriage of an unborn babe, the witnesses detailing the events surrounding the alleged assault. At the afternoon session Dr. McLeod of Union, was the first witness, having been the attending physician upon Mrs. Argo at the time the alleged assault and miscarriage took place. His testimony related largely to her condition at the time he was called to attend her. As this is written he is still upon the stand. The case will in all probability take several days to try and much salacious testimony is expected to be produced. The case is being stubbornly contested by Attorney Clark for the defendant. The session throughout the day has been marked by continuous objections and argument of law points by the counsel for both parties. Several times the jury were dismissed from the court room, pending the argument of some objection.

Shallenberger in Plattsmouth Monday night, October 26. Come out and hear him.
