AT THE LAST MINUTE.

How Quick Thinking Led to Saving Hayes in 1876.

Speaking of minor incidents that determine minor events:

If the managing editor of the New York Times, in 1876, had been a man readily discouraged, the chances are that Tilden would have succeeded Grant in the White House. But because he was hopeful and a prominent democrat was timorous, the office was awarded to Hayes. It happened this way:

On the morning of November 8, 1876, every New York paper except two—the Herald and the Times—virtually recorded Tilden's election. The Herald questioned the outcome with the headline, "Which is elected?" The Times, then a Republican newspaper, claiming a majority of one for Hayes in the electoral colleges and offered a detailed statement to back its assertion. To do this it had reversed the statement in its midnight edition that victory was with the democrats.

The reversal was based solely on a curious circumstance. Shortly after midnight a messenger boy brought a note to John C. Red, its managing editor. The note was from Senator Barnum, a personal friend of Reids, who had been chairman of the democratic national committee and was then chairman of the executive committee. It inquired briefly if the Times had news from Florida, South Carolina, Oregon and Louisiana.

Now the significance of the inquiry lay in the fact that these two states had twenty-two electoral votes and that if they could be transferred from Tilden to Hayes, they would elect the republican candidate by a plurality of one. With those states democratic the vote stood 206 for Tilden to 163 for Hayes. If they were Republican Tilden would have only 184 to Hayes's 185.

Mr. Reid, being trained by his newspaper experience to be on the lookout for just such odd combinations, figured out this arithmetic problem before he replied to Barnum. Its obvious corollary at once occurred to him. Evidently the democrats were not certain of these four states. That was data enough for him. He replied at once that the republicans had carried all four. Then he stopped the presses and got out a new edition claiming the election for Hayes, after which he posted off to the Fifth Avenue hotel, where he found that the republican chairman, Senator "Zach" Chandler of Michigan, had gone to bed supposing the party badly beaten. W. E. Chandler of New Hampshire, secretary of the republican national committee, arrived just then and the two men got the chairman up. It was decided to wire republican leaders in all doubtful states to "claim everything," and an announcement of Hayes's election was given out.

This was the beginning of the political struggle that ended with the organization of an electoral commission that counted Hayes in.

POPULAR WEDDING AT ALVO

Geo. P. Foreman, Jr., and Miss Arzella Bennett Married.

Last Thursday evening at Alvo, this county, occurred the wedding of Arzella, daughter of Mrs. James Bennett of that place to Geo. P. Foreman, Jr. There were a large number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties present at the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Story. The wedding was one of the most notable which has taken place in that locality, the parties being members of the best families in the community. Miss Bennett is universally spoken of as one of the most accomplished young ladies of Cass county and one who enjoys the admiration and respect of a host of friends. The groom is the son of Geo. P. Foreman, one of the best known citizens of the county, a young man of sterling qualities and of a standing unexcelled in the community of which he is a part. The congratulations of the Journal go out to the happily wedded couple in company with those of their many other friends.

Tired Brain.

After prolonged work requiring constant thinking we often notice that the brain refuses to work. It is impossible for us to think, our head and our eyes ache, the whole body is tired out. In such cases we need a remedy which will make the blood to circulate quicker and to bring new nourishment to the exhausted nerves. Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine is such a remedy. It works directly on the digestive organs through which the food must pass in our body. It makes new blood and distributes the food through the body. You should use it in all maladies of the digestive system, in nervousness, weakness and exhaustion. At drug stores. Jos. Triner, 616-622 So. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.

MANY SUSPECTS ARE ARRESTED

But None Prove to be the Murderers of Constable Ralston.

Considerable excitement was caused in Papillion Monday by the report that the two men who murdered Constable Ralston at Weeping Water a few days ago, were working for John Sauter just north of town. As soon as the report was received Sheriff Spearman with several deputies went out there heavily armed and took charge of the suspects until the sheriff from Cass county and another man who would be able to identify the suspects, arrived. They promptly declared that the men in question were not the ones wanted and they were turned loose again. Two other men were arrested in Springfield the same evening as they alighted from the Missouri Pacific freight train which arrived in Springfield from Louisville. Marshal T. J. Wright and several other residents of the place hastily armed themselves and treed the two suspects and captured them. Again the authorities were sent for and they declared that those suspects were also the wrong parties. Up to the present time no clue has been found of the murderers but it is reported that they crossed the Louisville railroad bridge early Tuesday morning and were supposed to be in Sarpy county in hiding. Color was given to the report by the news that a team of horses had been stolen from one of the Eichner farms in Richland precinct Wednesday evening, but this report is thought to be incorrect and it is believed that the team broke loose at Chalco and strayed away. We have not been able to verify this rumor.

Later—This morning the missing team was found in the creek near Chalco. One of the horses had drowned, and the other was badly injured. The team had broken loose and ran away—Papillion Times

Will Not Stay Away.

From Saturday's Daily—W. H. Thomas, the nurseryman who was so badly beaten up by Charles Hixon, had so far recovered this noon as to be able to go up to his home at Council Bluffs, Ia., although he is still in very bad shape and presents a badly bruised and cut-up appearance. He expects to be back Monday in time for the examination of Hixon. In a conversation with the Journal reporter, he states that a proposition was made him to stay away and permit the examination of Hixon to go by default but he is quite positive that he will make it back here in plenty of time to testify. His team and belongings were left with Charles Miller south of the city.

STORM JAIL; KILL SLAYER

TENNESSEE PRISON IS TAKEN BY ENRAGED MOB.

Friends of Night Riders Cause Damage to Telephone Wires—Confessions from Many Night Riders.

Kington, Tenn., Oct. 31.—A mob of about 30 men attacked the Roane county jail Friday, and killed George Cook, held on the charge of murdering John King, a ferryman, at Southwest Point, a few weeks ago. Of the members of the mob all save two were masked and these unmasked men were strangers to the sheriff. The identity of none of the mob is known.

Camp Nemo, Samburg, Tenn., Oct. 31.—The telephone wires on the Troy, Kenton and Union City routes were cut Friday by unknown parties. The incident has caused little uneasiness here, however, and the damage was quickly repaired and the wires are now in working order. An air of mystery pervaded Camp Nemo Friday. No one knows what the next important move will be. There is still a large number of prisoners in the guard house here. The court of inquiry is being conducted daily, and it is generally believed that the governor is getting to the bottom of affairs.

Arrangements were made over the wire Friday by Gov. Patterson to transfer six or eight of the night riders to Nashville. An attendant at the court of inquiry said to a reporter Friday: "We have the confession of men who rode in the gang that killed Capt. Rankin and tried to kill Col. Taylor. These confessions show that about 25 men rode in the murderous crowd that killed Capt. Rankin. Of these between 12 and 15 are in camp."

It is claimed that the confessions are so minute and damaging that the officers have details as to how Col. Taylor leaped from the scene of the murder of Capt. Rankin and then "dived into the water."

The Postal telegraph wires were also cut at or near the point where the Cumberland telephone wires were cut between Union City and Kington.

BUCKET SHOP HAUL UNEARTHED

Western Union Suspends Suspected Men at Cincinnati Offices.

Cincinnati, Oct. 31.—As a result of charges against the Western Union by the Chicago board of trade that market quotations had been permitted to leak to "bucket shops," five trusted employes of the Cincinnati Western Union office were absent from their accustomed desks, having been suspended pending investigation. The chief operator, chief lineman, chief clerk to superintendent's office; head of the ticker department, and head switchboard operator were dropped. Of these two are nephews of Superintendent Miller.
