E. B. ANDREWS RESIGNS PLACE

Chancellor of University at Lincoln Steps Down

LINCOLN, Neb., November 6.—At the meeting of the board of regents tonight Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews of the University of Nebraska tendered his resignation, to take effect January 1 next.

The board of regents voted to accept the resignation. No suggestion as to his probable successor was offered.

The resignation of Chancellor Andrews was not a great surprise. Several months ago, following indifferent health, Dr. Andrews tentatively resigned, but the regents at that time urged him to remain.

Since then his health has so improved that his stay as head of the school was supposed to be indefinite. So far as known there has been no friction between the chancellor and the regents.

Burlington Promotions.

Bulletins have been issued by the Burlington management appointing Trainmaster Ed Flynn of Omaha, assistant superintendent of the Lincoln division, vice E. S. Koller, promoted, and making Fred Bolshaw, night master at Lincoln, general yardmaster at Lincoln, vice Grant Hobson, promoted. It is understood that C. O. Harris, yardmaster at Hastings, will take the place of night yardmaster at Lincoln.

It is understood that other bulletins may soon be issued making E. S. Koller superintendent of the McCook division of the Burlington, making Ed Young, now at McCook, superintendent of the Burlington transferring W. E. Painter, trainmaster at Denver to the position of trainmaster at Omaha, and making Grant Hobson trainmaster at Denver.

Every man named above is well known in Lincoln. Mr. Painter spent years in the Burlington service in this city. Ed Young was trainmaster in Lincoln before going to McCook. Ed Flynn is an old conductor who did service on the Lincoln division for a number of years. Hobson and Koller are both Lincoln men and have been for a number of years.

These changes have caused no end of gossip in Burlington circles and it is said that they have been known here for several days.—State Journal.

A Big Scare.

From Thursday's Daily—Sheriff Fisher returned from Syracuse last evening and reports that he and a detective who were called to look up the matter of the two men, who were supposed to be the two murderers of the night watchman at Weeping Water, last week, says they looked over the ground fully, heard all the stories told by the various ones and come to the conclusion that it was all a big scare and there was nothing to it. He went out to the bay stack, looked it over and thinks the holes therein were made by a dog after a rabbit and at the hotel some one was seen running away from the building. He could not find anyone who claimed to have seen the two men who could give anything like a description of them.—Nebraska City News.

Returns from Plainview.

Peter Goos returned Sunday night from several days' trip to Plainview, where he was the guest of his brother, Hans, and a number of his former Plattsmouth friends. Peter found them all in good health and prosperous and reports that business in that section of the state is in a flourishing condition. He brought back with him the best wishes of all of them for their many Plattsmouth friends and acquaintances. Peter found that Plainview and the surrounding country was in a far better condition than many other sections, there has been an abundance of crops and business has been fine.

To Pay His Respects.

From Tuesday's Daily—Our veteran democratic friend Conrad Schlater, accompanied by his estimable wife, departed yesterday on the fast mail for a visit of several days at Lincoln with relatives and friends. Mr. Schlater expects to call and pay his respects to the Great Commoner during his sojourn in the capital city, and to express to him his regret at the defeat which came upon the democrats. Mr. Schlater's faith in democracy remains unshaken and he is a living example of the boundless confidence which democracy has in the greatest American, Wm. J. Bryan.

Cannot Survive.

From Tuesday's Daily—Mrs. J. C. Peterson this morning received a letter from her husband, now at the bedside of his brother Chris, at Tilden, Neb., stating that his brother's condition was practically unchanged. He is troubled with sinking spells and steadily growing weaker which makes it practically certain he cannot much longer survive. The end may come at any time. This is sad news to his many friends here, who had known Chris Peterson as a large-hearted, kindly man with his good qualities easily predominating his whole life.

Married This Afternoon.

From Tuesday's Daily—Justice M. Archer this afternoon at two o'clock united in marriage Louis Keeser and Miss Mary Sitzman both of Cedar Creek. The happy couple came down this morning and after the ceremony, departed for their future home at Cedar Creek. They are both quite well known and popular people and their friends unite in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

NEBRASKA LIGHTING COMPANY

Gave a Display Last Night of Comparative Lighting Qualities of the Gas, Arc and Incandescent Lamp Lights.

From Tuesday's Daily—

The Nebraska Lighting Company last night gave an exhibition of the comparative lighting qualities of the Boulevard gas lamp, the arc lamp and the incandescent lamp. The exhibition took place at the corner of Seventh and Vine streets and was given for the instruction of the members of the council and the public generally. The result was a mass of varied opinions some of the spectators favoring the arc while several favored the incandescent and a great many were more than satisfied with the Boulevard lamp. The arc light marred the occasion after burning steadily for an hour or so by suddenly taking a fit of flickering and refusing to burn longer. Efforts to get it in shape again were unavailing and were finally abandoned.

The incandescent chosen was a thirty-two candle power lamp which was attached to a post at the southeast corner of the intersection. It gave a very fair light of a reddish cast but very limited lighting area. It did not apparently meet with much approval.

The arc light while it was burning gave a good light with, of course, much greater lighting area. This was cut down largely however, by the trees which lined the avenue and the light did not have near the effect hoped for. While making an attractive appearance it is doubtful if the lighting area is sufficient to pay for the additional expense of the light.

The Boulevard lamp gave a fine light, clear and white and the lighting area was much larger than either of the others. It had the advantage of the arc, in that it reached below the trees and covered the walks while the trees cut down the light of the arc lamp. It was much superior to the incandescent lamp because of the clearness and brilliancy of the light and the superior lighting area.

To the unprejudiced mind, the boulevard lamp seems the best of the three for residence portions of the city, where there are so many trees. While it is not known how the council viewed the matter, a great many of the citizens pronounced unequivocally for the Boulevard light.

The exhibition was one of much worth and every citizen should have seen it. The question of lighting the city is a serious one, and one in which all have a common interest. What the public wants is the best, everything considered, and that is what the council should get. A blind prejudice against any particular light should not enter into the case, if the light fits the bill that is what should be obtained. From last night's test the gas lamp appears best for the purpose it is wanted for but other tests might show different.

The arc light for Main street is all right and should be obtained. There are no trees there to obstruct the view and they would be a success without doubt.

SMITH GETS TERM OF YEARS

Five the Sum of His Sentence By Judge Travis. Speck is Also Sentenced.

From Saturday's Daily—

Judge Travis this morning held a session at which he disposed of several of the various criminal cases pending before him wherein no sentences had been passed. He had "Stuttering Jim" Smith up before him for sentence. Smith is the negro who was convicted of burglarizing the house of Mrs. W. H. Schildknecht and Judge Travis gave him a sentence of five in the penitentiary at hard labor. Smith thanked the Judge but his thanks were not appreciated by the Court who told him that he needn't thank him.

Walter Speck convicted by a jury of assault upon John Miller got a fine of $100 and costs, the fine being suspended during good behavior and upon Speck's promise to refrain from the use of liquor or the frequenting of saloons. Speck's conduct for several months past was so good that it had a favorable weight with the judge. He will have to pay the costs of the case which was appealed from the police court in this city where a similar sentence had been imposed.

Miss Ethel Leyda Surprised.

A very pleasant surprise party was given to Miss Ethel Leyda last Saturday night by a number of her young friends, the occasion being the eighteenth birthday of the young lady. In order to make the surprise complete the young lady had been invited away to a neighbor's for supper and during her absence the guests came in and took possession. For the occasion the rooms of the Leyda residence had been handsomely decorated in red and white chrysanthemums for the table decorations. When the young lady returned home she found her unexpected guests in full possession of the house and her surprise was indeed complete.

The evening was spent in progressive hearts at which the party had exciting games. The king prize fell to the lot of Miss Helen Spies, who played the finest game of the series while the consolation prize went to Esther Larson.

After the games there was served by Mrs. Leyda a very elegant three course luncheon which the party demonstrated its appreciation of in no mistakable manner. Punch was served for the party by Miss Ellen Leyda and little Max Assenissen. The party did not depart until a late hour when all extended their congratulations to the happy young lady and wished her many more milestones in her life.

Those attending were Misses Emma Bauer, Mina Thierolf, Helen Spies, Helen Cline, Margaretta Spotten, Georgia White, Marie Fitzgerald, aid, Clara Weyrich, and Mathilda Soennichsen, and Mr. Ray Smith.

Returns from Honduras.

Julius Hoffman, well known in the city, returned last Friday, after several years spent in Central and South America, coming direct to this city from Honduras. During the past several years he has been engaged in mining in Honduras, operating silver and placer gold mines and he partook of the excitement attendant upon the revolution in that country. He had many thrilling and daring adventures during his career in the south, and has many mementos of several hard fought battles during the Honduras revolution. He is as brown as a berry and is the picture of a South American revolutionist so far famed in history. Julius is a most entertaining talker and in his past few years he has visited so many strange and out of the way places in the world that is a genuine treat to have him tell his many experiences. He expects to stay but a few days when he will once more go forth in search of adventures. He is staying with his mother while in the city.

Spurious Money Affair.

Look out for your $5 silver certificates. There is a bad one on the market that has just put in its appearance in the west. Chief Wilkie of the government secret service department sent out the alarm that a bad $5 bill is floating about the country that should well be examined before taking. It is the $5 silver certificate, Indian head, of the series of 1899, check letter "D," face plate 1,164, back plate 782, W. T. Nevins, register and Chas. H. Trent, treasurer of the United States. The certificate is a penumbral plate on a single piece of paper with red and blue lines printed to represent the looks as if that part of the script lettering that crosses the blue seal and denominational character had been filled by hand. The general appearance of the note is deceptive at a casual glance.

Chris H. Petersen Seriously Ill.

A message received Friday from the family of Chris H. Petersen at Tilden, Neb., conveyed the sad intelligence that he was very ill with rheumatism, and Saturday a further hurried message asking that his brothers come to his bedside at once, caused J. C. Petersen, P. C. Petersen and L. C. Petersen to leave Sunday morning for his bedside. Mr. Petersen is well known in this city where he was in business for many years and where he had made many friends all of whom regret to learn of his alarming illness. No word as to his condition had been received Monday, although Mrs. Petersen learned Sunday night that he was some improved at that time. The illness is caused by rheumatism which had reached the stomach.
