UNIQUE THANKS-GIVING SOCIAL

Under the Auspices of Epworth League at the Methodist Church.

From Saturday's Daily.

The annual Thanksgiving social of the Epworth League was held last evening at the rooms in the basement of the Methodist church. There was a large attendance, there being some fifty or sixty young people present and a highly enjoyable time was spent. The social committee, of which Miss Lucille Randall was chairman, had arranged a splendid program for the evening, consisting of music and games of various kinds which took up the principal part of the evening.

One of the most enjoyable features of the evening was an impromptu debate between E. H. Westcott and Prof. W. G. Brooks, the president suddenly ordering the debate upon the highly important question "Resolved, that mince pie is better than pumpkin pie." Mr. Westcott was compelled to assume the affirmative of the proposition, while Prof. Brooks took the negative side. A jury of four was selected to hear the arguments and at the close of the debate, the real trouble commenced. The jury wrangled and fought over the problem even more fiercely than the champions in the debate, and finally came to an agreement to disagree, this verdict being supplemented with a further one condemning the president and each of the debaters to dine upon mince pie one day during the year.

GETTING A START!

It is the first few hundred—the first few thousand in the bank, that is the real struggle. The lives of the average men well fixed in life, contain a history of struggle and saving to obtain his first few thousand. Make a strong resolution that you will place some portion of your income in the Bank of Cass County. Every dollar added makes it easier to deposit the next one.

ing the term of their natural lives. This awful punishment afflicted, the jury asked to be dismissed and the once happy meeting broke up in gloom at so terrible and condign a punishment. However, it is not believed the penalty will be carried out. Certainly everyone enjoyed the entire affair.

A Peculiar Accident.

John Buskirk a blacksmith employed by Thomas Fulton at Nehawka, last Wednesday, sustained a very painful injury in a peculiar manner. Buskirk was engaged in shoeing a horse when the animal became excited and in some manner he fell or threw himself, catching Buskirk in such a manner as to tear loose the tendons in his ankle. He was rescued by some parties who witnessed the accident, and medical attendance given him. The injury is painful and really a serious one and will keep him from work for several days to come.

FREE AUCTION SALE SCHEME

Sam Smith Announces First One to Be Given on December 5.

A new enterprise and one which is bound to become a big success if he people will only push it along will be that of Sam Smith which he proposes to put into operation on Saturday, December 5. Mr. Smith proposes to establish a free auction market at his Sixth street barn where the people can bring in anything they have to sell and have it disposed of without cost to them. The auction market will be what he says it will be—absolutely free. Anything that you have to sell can be brought here and sold no matter what it is. This enterprise is backed by the Plattsmouth merchants who have guaranteed a certain sum toward defraying expenses of the same. It is no graft but a plain, cold blooded business proposition. What is proposed is that everyone who wants to sell a thing can bring it here and sell it without paying a commission. This gives the receipts to the owner of the property. The first sale is December 5 and if you have anything at all to sell take it there and have it disposed of free. If you want to buy anything go there and get busy on the bargains. Sam Smith is one of the city's hustlers and his new project should be pushed through to a certain conclusion. Remember this auction market is free absolutely and the place is the "Market Place," corner Sixth and Vine streets. Remember December 5.

Compelled by Necessity.

It may be said that most inventions are the result of necessity. Whenever we need something for our comfort we are making experiments until we succeed. We do not pay much attention to medicine, till compelled to do so by necessity. Only in those cases where our digestion is faulty, no experiments are necessary, because Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine is the only reliable remedy. It acts in a natural way, strengthening the stomach and making it able to accept food and prepare it for a thorough digestion. It will make all organs to start working again. Use it in all cases when you notice a decline of your appetite and of your strength. At drugstores. Jos. Triner, 616-622 Ashland avenue, Chicago, Ill.

CONDUCTOR CROWDER VERY LOW

The Shock is Deadly, and Hope for the Unfortunate Man Abandoned

From Saturday's Daily.

The condition of Joseph Crowder, the unfortunate Burlington conductor whose leg was so badly mashed at Pacific Junction yesterday is very bad. Yesterday afternoon he was taken to the local surgeon's office for the Burlington and preparations were made to amputate the crushed limb. At the first administration of the anesthetic, however, Mr. Crowder sank so rapidly that the surgeon decided that he could not withstand the shock of the amputation and it was decided to wait in the hopes that he might rally and strengthen himself for the ordeal. This was not the case however, but he seemed to steadily sink until there was little hope entertained that he would survive the night.

His wife, who had been sent for from his home at Creston, Ia., with his son, Leslie, a young boy of sixteen, and his brother and mother, Mrs. M. A. Crowder, the two latter from Red Oak, Ia., arrived in the city last night about half past ten o'clock. They were brought to Pacific Junction on No. 13 and came over to this city on a switch engine. The scene when they met the stricken husband, son and brother, was pathetic in the extreme. Mr. Crowder was kept at the surgeon's offices until this morning when he was removed to the Perkins house where he now lies. It is not believed that he can survive as he utterly failed to rally from the shock of the injury, and death is expected at any time.

Mr. Crowder is a man about forty-two years of age and for the past quarter of a century has been engaged in the train service of the Burlington on the Western Iowa division. He is personally a most popular employe and his unfortunate accident has called forth a flood of sympathy from his many friends. The two brakemen of his crew have stayed with him faithfully and have done everything possible for his relief.

His medical attention was the best possible and no effort to save him has been left undone. Despite all this there is little hope entertained that he can pull through and should he do so it would be little short of a miracle.

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS FOR ALL

Christmas is likely to be made a trying time by some folks. That is a fact the publishers of Everybody's realize, for they give a few hints, homely and useful, designed to make Christmas of 1908 a little easier for all the members of the family:

- 1—Let the children and make father help. Your children will know what your brother's children want.
- 2—Make a list of all the folks to be remembered. Do it now. Divide the list among the members of the family, and let the little ones whose judgment you doubt report plans before making purchases.
- 3—If you have a tree make a lark instead of labor in decorating. Let all the adults help, and neighbors who have no children.
- 4—A gift is supposed to represent your wealth of affection, not your bank balance.
- 5—You will give more pleasure with a thoughtful gift than with an expensive one.
- 6—Getting a big show for the money may do for some wedding, but never for any Christmas.
- 7—If the panic or any other upset has made it impossible for you to give as usual, write letters instead. Your friends will like you all the better, sure.
- 8—Don't leave letters and cards for the last moment. Write them at your convenience and hold them till the proper time.
- 9—Mail everything to reach your friends before Christmas, and mark the packages "Open Christmas." Late guests and late Christmas presents are of a class.
- 10—Do your shopping early; you avoid the crowd; you help the merchant and sales people, and you get a larger selection.
- 11—Wrap your gifts carefully and daintily. They give so much more pleasure than a sloppy package, evidently rushed as if you begrudged the time.
- 12—If you send cigars, discover his brand and don't send worse.
- 13—Remember the people who have served you.
- 14—Any poor near you.
