Compelled by Necessity.

It may be said that most inventions are the result of necessity. Whenever we need something for our comfort we are making experiments until we succeed. We do not pay much attention to medicine, till compelled to do so by necessity. Only in those cases where our digestion is faulty, no experiments are necessary, because Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine is the only reliable remedy. It acts in a natural way, strengthening the stomach and making it able to accept food and prepare it for a thorough digestion. It will make all organs to start working again. Use it in all cases when you notice a decline of your appetite and of your strength. At drugstores. Jos. Triner, 616-622 Ashland avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Will Sell Property.
The Journal learns that W. L. Withrow is offering his real estate, situate in this city on Sixth street for $2,000. He seems to be particularly anxious to sell out and move away. He describes his property as containing some 1/2 acres of ground, 8 blocks north of the postoffice on which there is a fine two story brick house, good barn, chicken house, cemented cellar under house, wine cellar extending 35 feet under ground, well, cistern, 1/2 acre of grapes, 40 bearing apple trees, lots of plums, blackberries, etc., big oak shade trees, all of which affords a delightful place to live. It overlooks the Missouri river and the big C. B. & Q. railroad bridge across into Iowa. The real estate further consists of a five room frame house which up to October 1st was rented at $8 per month, but is now unoccupied. All this Mr. Withrow will give the purchaser for $2,000 and throw in free 5 head of milk cows, two brood sows, 1 Poland China bear, 13 fall pigs, 4 head of calves, horse, buggy, harness, saddle, stand of bees, garden tools and other personal property of which we have not a full list. Certainly this is a good offer and one that will not long go unaccepted. It would be especially good for some farmer desiring to move into the city and at the same time engage in dairying, gardening, fruit and poultry raising.

J. R. Hsart of Union was among those attending "The Devil" at the Parmele last night, coming up on the evening M. P. train and returning at midnight.
