PIONEER IMPLEMENT CO.,
 COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA.

The growth of the automobile industry is well marked by the illustration above and shows the new Automobile Warehouse of the Pioneer Implement Company at Council Bluffs, the Western distributing agency of the famous JACKSON car.

This construction is of cement. Its walls and tremendous floor is really one solid cement block. Its dimensions are 96x156. Its interior is beautifully lighted by double rows of windows the entire length of the second roof.

The remarkable sale of JACKSON cars is undoubtedly based on their powerful engine equipments, giving JACKSONS a hill climbing capacity not possessed by other automobiles.

WALTER THOMAS. Of Plattsmouth will have charge of the JACKSON'S interests in Cass County and will show a handsome specimen of these excellent cars at any time or will accompany you to Council Bluffs during the corn show, where you can see the most complete line of automobiles in the west.

Miss Pauline Oldham was a Plattsmouth visitor Tuesday evening, remaining over night as the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Dora Moore.

Ed. Barker of Plainview, Neb., have been in the city for several days, visiting with relatives and friends. Ed. is quite well known in this city where he resided for so many years and his many friends were well pleased to see him once more.

Mrs. P. E. Ruffner came home last evening after several days in Omaha where she has been looking after the household of her son-in-law Dr. Roy Dodge. Mrs. Ed. Kirkpatrick accompanied her from Council Bluffs and Omaha to this city, and later was a passenger for her home at Nehawka.

Peter Spader of Osmond, Neb., was a visitor in the city during the latter part of last week and the fore part of this returning to his home several days ago. Mr. Spader was formerly a resident of this county, and is one of the most whole-souled gentlemen to be met as well as an excellent farmer. During his stay in this city he paid this office one of his ever-welcome calls.

Fred H. Gorder came over this morning from Weeping Water summoned here by the illness of his mother, Mrs. Fred Gorder. Mr. Gorder has not been in the city for some time and his many friends were very glad to see him once more. It is a matter of congratulation that Mrs. Gorder is much better this afternoon and he will probably be able to return to his business and home at Weeping Water this afternoon.

Geo. M. Smith and wife of Shelby, Neb., spent last evening in the city, the guest of F. G. Egenberger and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were visiting the corn show when they came across Mr. and Mrs. Egenberger and were induced to make them a short visit. Mrs. Smith is a cousin of Mrs. Egenberger. Mr. Smith is a prominent lumberman of Shelby and is a gentleman of whom one forms a most excellent impression. They were obliged to depart for their home this morning on the early train. During their short stay here Mr. Egenberger took Mr. Smith over as much of the city as possible and he left with a very favorable impression of our city.

John McNurlin came in this morning on the Schuyler after a short business trip out to Cullom.

Medicine that is Medicine.

"I have suffered a great deal with malaria and stomach complaints, but I have now found a remedy that keeps me well, and that remedy is Electric Bitters; a medicine that is a medicine for stomach and liver troubles, and for run down conditions," says W. C. Kiestler, of Haliday, Ark. Electric Bitters purify the blood, tone up the nerves, and impart vigor and energy to the weak. Your money will be refunded if it fails to help you. 50c at F. G. Fricke & Co.'s drug store.

A healthy man is a king in his own right; an unhealthy man is an unhappy slave. Burdock Bitters builds up sound health—keeps you well.

Some Fine Fish.

fishermen in Cass county if you will

Our Excellent friends Fred Patterson, and "Dynamite" Pete, the best fishermen in Cass county, who reside near the foot of Old King Hill, were in Plattsmouth Monday afternoon with some of the finest specimens caught in the Big Muddy this season. They were of the several varieties caught in the river and were just as varied as to size, ranging from five pounds up to forty, about 300 pounds in all. Mr. Patterson said that they had caught about 500 pounds within the past few days. The Journal acknowledges the receipt of a fine one as the gift from Mr. Patterson, for which he has our thanks.

A Happy Father.

Our excellent German friend J. N. Beck, residing about six miles west of town was here Tuesday afternoon, and we noticed an exceptionally broad smile playing about his face, and when we asked as to the cause, he explained that it was a new baby girl, arrived last Saturday. Both mother and little one are doing nicely. Mr. Beck also tells us that his sister, Miss Marie, of Omaha, was visiting at his home.

Conservation.

Our government in its conservation of its natural resources has hit on another proposition that seems to be food for the brain of our spirited citizens who are always ready to serve the dear people, and the dear people who never think for themselves accept it as quite the thing. To conserve the natural resources is a step in the right direction. If we are to conserve for future generations we have a broad field before us, as there is much besides natural resources to be conserved.

Some of the essential things I might mention are common honesty, faithfulness in public and private life. Why, we as a nation are becoming as unstable and fickle as the food we eat is impure and adulterated. Let us glance down the line. Our educators in laying a foundation for a broad and useful mind make a corpse of the body and our students are physically dead before they become mentally alive.

Our public servants are more interested in the continuance of their service than the performance of their duties.

Our members of congress have descended from statesmen to political tricksters.

Our presidents value party power more than good government.

Our judges on their high bench are becoming wane as just jurists.

Our ministers are preaching for popularity while the sinner walks bold and upright, outwardly professing Christianity, while inwardly he is a vile rascal.

While we are toppling over one another to conserve the natural resources of this nation for future generations let us conserve a little common honesty and common sense for ourselves, so we may be able to judge the common things of this life without consulting some fake scientist or some professional humbug.

Filed Many Administrations.

In County Court Tuesday a petition was filed asking for the appointment of Mrs. Levi Rusterholtz as executrix of the last will and testament of the late Levi Rusterholtz, deceased. M. Archer is the attorney for the estate.

A petition was also filed with Judge Beeson asking for the appointment of an administrator for the estate of James Dyer, deceased, of Greenwood and also for the appointment of a guardian for the heirs of Mr. Dyer. O. B. Polk appears for the petitioner.

A final settlement was also had in the estate of Fred Kroehler, deceased, the administrator being released and his bondsmen discharged.

A petition for the appointment of an administrator for the estate of the late Capt. J. C. White of Elmwood was also filed.

Remarkable Occurrence.

A remarkable thing happened on the Missouri Pacific railway Monday. All trains were ahead of time at the various stations and had to wait. This thing of being so promptly on time caused many people to be left—Nebraska City News.

It is more than probable there will be a general shaking up of employees on this road in the near future. This running of trains on time is something which is apparently against the rules of the road and the employees guilty of such conduct will likely be severely disciplined. It is more than probable the superintendent of the road is on a vacation for the trains on that pike have been on time now for about two consecutive days.

Thrown From Railroad Bridge.

Louisville, Neb., Dec 16.—An accident happened Sunday evening to a man from Sarpy county, which caused him some grief. He walked across the Missouri Pacific Platte river bridge Sunday to visit some friends. He returned by the same route just about dusk and just before he got across the bridge he met some railroad men coming across on a velocipede. He stepped to the wrong side and before the men could stop the car, the pedals tripped him and threw him about twelve feet below into the channel of the river. The force of the fall took him under water, but he soon rose and swam to safety. Aside from a cold bath he was none the worse for his experience. The men were unable to learn his name.

A Dangerous Operation.

DAVIS COMPANY'S LUCK

Bad Fortune of Good Company of Players. Play Tonight.

Last night's performance of "For Fair Virginia" at the Parmele was unfortunately interrupted and eventually broken up by the failure of the boilers at the electric light station to work, and the consequent closing down of the plant. The play had proceeded as far as the middle of the second act when it was finally announced there could be no light furnished and the audience was dismissed. At the request of the management all tickets for last evening's engagement were exchanged for tonight's show.

The unfortunate occurrence is doubly disastrous on Mr. Davis and his company as their entire engagement in this city so far has been marked by a series of disasters. They are a company of more than passing ability for repertoire companies and are deserving of good houses. Their first play "Woman Against Woman" took well with the audience and in "For Fair Virginia" they had done even better and so far as they were able to proceed they had done some excellent work.

The entire company is evenly balanced, people of exceptional ability and conscientious and able actors. The trouble last night served to emphasize the versatility of the company in that Miss Dolly Crawford, the pianiste, was called upon to entertain the crowd during the wait between the first and second acts and for a period of more than an hour she furnished an entertainment in itself worth the entire price of admission. Miss Crawford is a pianiste of more than usual ability and added to this she had the accomplishment of being a sweet singer and she pleased the large audience with a number of excellent selections, while the light company was trying to get things in shape to proceed with the play. Her work deserves the highest commendation.

It were useless to attempt to give the members of the company individual mention. They are all very good and deserve good patronage.

Tonight's bill is "In Dixie Land," a four act southern melodrama of great human interest. This is one of the plays which Mr. J. Warren Davis pays a royalty on and which no other repertoire company can produce. It is calculated to keep the audience awake from the moment the curtain rises and it is a show you want to see.

The management assures the public the lights will be on tonight and the entire performance will be given. The light company is co-operating with the theater management and is doing everything that can be done to have lights so one is safe in venturing to attend especially as a failure to have lights means refunding your money.

Saturday night the company presents "The Whole Damm Family," a special bill of rare merit and well worth seeing. This is another of the plays for which Mr. Davis pays a royalty and which no other repertoire company presents. At this performance a five dollar gold piece will be presented to the person holding the lucky ticket. Commencing tonight and tomorrow and Saturday nights a number will be given with each ticket which is a chance upon the five dollar gold piece, the drawing taking place upon the stage Saturday night.

Tomorrow night the company presents "Lady Audley's secret," a play founded upon Miss M. E. Braddon's popular novel and one calculated to stir the public.

The play and the company are alike good enough to please the most fastidious and they are cordially endorsed by this paper.
