will be rapid and certain. There is little reason to doubt his recovery now after his great fight against his injury. He has already done far more than most people could have done inasmuch as he has practically pulled himself out of death's door by his determined courage and nerve. It is the wish of everyone here that he make a recovery and that he live to visit the city and meet the many friends he made during his illness.

VETERAN NEBRASKAN DIES

Death Claims Miles R. Smith Near Union.

Died—Smith, Miles Russell, of paralysis, at the home of E. M. Smith, in Liberty precinct, Cass County, Nebraska, on December 11, 1908, aged 47 years, 5 months and 7 days. Funeral December 12, 1908, at Union cemetery.

After a lingering illness of several years Miles Russell Smith departed this life last Friday at the home of his brother Eli M. Smith some six miles southeast of Union, Liberty precinct.

Mr. Smith was a native Nebraskan, having first seen the light of day in Liberty precinct, this county, on July 4, 1851. For the exception of about five years he had always been a resident of this county and was quite well known and highly respected. His brief absence from this state was occasioned by his having made two journeys on foot across what was then the plains, walking from this vicinity to the present state of Idaho, in those days a long, hard trip.

The funeral services for Mr. Smith were held last Saturday afternoon from the United Brethren church, northeast of Union, Rev. Crum of Talmage, delivering the address. The pall bearers were Elmer Parks, Jesse Pell, Edward Midkiff, Arthur Pearsley, John Clarence, Carter Albin, all old friends and neighbors of deceased, and men who feel keenly his loss. Interment was had at Union cemetery near the village of Union.

Mr. Smith left surviving him three brothers, William of Idaho, Edward of Bartlett, Ia., and Eli M. Smith of Liberty precinct, and one sister Mrs. Geo. Decker of Idaho. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved relatives.

Painfully Sprained.

Last Saturday night Tom Stokes while riding a horse sustained a painful injury to the toes of his left foot. The animal was cantering along near the head of Chicago avenue when in some manner it slipped and fell. Mr. Stokes came clear of the animal except his left foot which was caught under the animal in such a manner as to bend the toes of the foot backward and badly strain the tendons. The injury was not dangerous but exceedingly painful, so much so in fact as to render him almost incapable of walking upon the foot. Medical attendance was had and everything done to relieve the pain. Mr. Stokes was able to be out and about last evening and today the injured toes were in better shape. It was fortunate that the injury was not more serious than it was as he could easily have suffered a broken leg in the fall. The animal was not injured.

Touched for Ninety Dollars.

Last Monday a man named Joe Smith, who has been in the employ of the Nehawka Stone Company went to Nebraska City in company with one or two others. When he started he was possessed of an even $100 and while there and in a certain resort, he loaned one of the other men $10 of that amount, putting the balance in a small pocket in his shirt or coat. He took a few drinks and came home on the evening train.

When he got there he was slightly under the influence of J. Barleycorn, and going into the pool hall sat down for a while. He left by the back door in a little while, and after he got outside fell down, and as he says, only laid there a short time, but when he came to himself his money was gone.

He sought for it, but in vain, and after a while gave it up and threw his pocket book away, for which he claimed to have no further use. It is thought he lost the money while he was lying on the ground in a stupor, but it is a matter of speculation as to where it went.—Nehawka Register.

CROWDER TAKEN TO HIS HOME

Brave Conductor Goes to Creston This Morning.

From Tuesday's Daily. Conductor Jos. Crowder was removed this morning from his room at the Perkins Hotel to his home at Creston, Ia. The steady improvement which had been noted from time to time in this paper, has continued until the physicians deemed it safe to remove him to his home and this step was taken this morning. The injured man was delighted with the prospect of getting to return to his home and from the enthusiasm he manifested it is almost certain he will recover soon. Mrs. Crowder was not so enthusiastic over the change as she felt that he was receiving excellent medical attendance in this city and that it would not be possible to improve on it. She stated to a Journal reporter that she wished to extend the greatest thanks to the people of this city who had assisted her in her troubles and that she certainly appreciated the many kindnesses which they had bestowed upon her. She particularly wished to express her gratitude to the attending physicians and nurses for their active work and treatment of her husband and to the proprietors of the Perkins House for the many courtesies which they had extended her during their stay at their hostelry.

Mr. Crowder was taken east this morning train No. 4, being made as comfortable as possible. The attending physicians are quite sure he will stand the trip without losing any of the gain he had made and that his recovery after arrival at his home

WILL RAISE HORSES

Z. T. Shrader Returns From Furnas County For That Purpose.

From Monday's Daily. Zack T. Shrader formerly of Furnas County but who has been living lately at Weeping Water, came in last night with a fine car of horses which he intends to take to his farm near Nehawka and where he will go into the horse business on an extensive scale. The horses are all natives, well broke and a good lot. It is something to be proud of to have Mr.

Shrader return to Cass County once more and the Journal is glad to see him make preparations to again enter the lists of the most successful farmers and horsemen in the county.

Zack, as everybody knows him, is a thorough hustler and a man who makes everything he takes hold of go. He returned to Weeping Water where his son will get the benefit of their schools and in the spring he will again go back upon his farm. He was a pleasant caller this morning at this office and the Journal is pleased to recommend him to anyone who desires to do business with a straightforward, upright gentleman and a man of business. Anyone desiring a fine team should call on him.
