First Revenue Measure Makes Its Appearance

The printing committee, Col. M. A. Bates, chairman, reported yesterday after the minority leader, Killen had balked a plan to adjourn over Sunday. Clark of Richardson had called for the report which the committee said 4 days ago it would have ready in forty-eight hours. The matter under consideration was whether the house should print daily the proceedings for distribution the next morning among the members. The committee reported negatively and recommended as a substitute that ten or twelve typewritten copies be placed on the front seats in the chamber for the use of members wishing to consult them. Nettleton thought such a course useless and wanted the printed copies. Clark said that the lowest bid was $50 a day and this meant too great an expenditure out of the current expenditures appropriation. The house thought so too.

The first revenue measure made its appearance yesterday. It emanates from Sheen of Nehawka. Contrary to the general expectation of revenue bills as called for by the democratic platform, this bill does not cover the entire field contemplated to be entered by the democrats. It concerns the selection of precinct assessors only, and leaves the board of equalization, which was as sentimentally attacked by the platform to be fixed by another bill. Skeen's bill provides that precinct assessors shall be elected by the voters of each precinct at the fall election. The county assessor is to be retained. The precinct assessor is to hold office for one year only, and is eligible for office but two terms successively. Vacancies shall be filled by the county board and county assessor.

The number of such elective assessors is to be fixed by the county board and the county assessor at the regular January meeting. It is said that the committee on revenue and taxation will hold such bills as come to it and report out a composite structure covering the entire demand of the democratic party.

The bill that the combined railroad organizations have been working on during the past year was put in yesterday by Sink of Hall county. It provides that the size of freight trains shall not exceed fifty cars outside of the yard limits. Train crews shall not be less than an engineer, a fireman, conductor, two brakemen, and a flagman. The increase in the amount of tonnage that has been a scheme of railroads to reduce cost of operation has led to much objection on the part of railroad employees who maintain that such trains as are now hauled are a menace to life and limb.

Ransom introduced S. F. No. 88, which provides that where a husband or a wife dies leaving a will the surviving wife or husband may elect whether to take the property devised or that which would come to the survivor under the law of descent. Where there is a will and the husband or wife are not mentioned, he or she shall inherit as though there was no will.

Senator Banning yesterday introduced two bills, one of which is designed to change the oil inspectors office and provide different methods of inspection from those now in force in the state. The other bill provides for the appointment of a board to take charge of the Nebraska exhibition at the Alaska-Yukon exhibition. The bills are numbered S. F. 83 and 84 respectively. The senate yesterday adjourned until next Monday while the house is still in session.

The Revival at Spokane.

From a friend of the Journal who was born in this city it was learned that Evangelist William A. Sunday, the noted ex-ball player, began his meetings in Spokane, Wash., the evening of December 25, 1908. The great tabernacle, which seats more than eight thousand people, was crowded to the doors the first night. Sunday morning and afternoon it was again crowded and at night some thousands of people were turned away. Tuesday night the great building was crowded thirty minutes before it was time to begin, and it was estimated that fully ten thousand were turned away.

The choir under the direction of Mr. Fred Fisher has more than a thousand voices. The whole country is stirred.

Mr. Sunday's preaching is thought to be more pointed than at any of his previous meetings. Criticisms of his utterances and methods are numerous and severe, but the fifty-two uniting churches are standing at his back.

Notorious Character.

From Saturday's Daily.

George Clark, who shot and killed Patrolman L. A. Smith and shot and seriously wounded Detective W. T. Deveresse in Omaha Thursday morning and was himself shot three times and is in a critical condition, is supposed by Chief Donahue to be one of the men who shot and killed Marshal Ralston in Weeping Water. Clark is said to be a partner of "Hand and a Half" Kelley, another dangerous and notorious safe blower and criminal, and both men are badly wanted in both places for crimes of various natures, including murder and robbery.

It seems probable, therefore, that in landing Clark the police have made one of the big catches of the year, securing a man for whom every public department in the country has been searching, and though it was done at a heavy cost, it will nevertheless stand to the credit of the local force.

LAI D TO FINAL REST

Remains of Mrs. Mary F. Grimes Lovingly Laid to Sleep in Oak Hill Cemetery

From Saturday's Daily.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Mary F. Grimes were held at 10 o'clock this morning, from the home of her daughter Mrs. J. G. Richey at the corner of Granite and Eleventh streets. A large number of old friends gathered at the house to pay a last token of respect to this sincere Christian lady. At the house Canon Burgess of the Episcopal church, delivered a sermon upon the beautiful attributes of the deceased, which was a tribute of much worth, and which was full of lessons drawn from the long and patient suffering of the departed. Canon Burgess was at his best upon this theme and greatly impressed his hearers with the magnificent strength and endurance which this noble woman who had passed away, displayed during her long illness.

The music for the occasion was furnished by Messrs. H. S. Austin, Glen Scott, Emmons Richey, Mrs. H. S. Austin and Mrs. Anna Britt, who sang the favorite hymns of the departed "Asleep in Jesus," "Lead Kindly Light," and "Rock of Ages."

Interment was at Oak Hill cemetery, the pall bearers being W. D. Jones, Jas. M. Robertson, C. A. Rawls, Chas. E. McEntee, Walter J. White and Jacob Tritsch, all old and esteemed citizens and friends of the deceased and her family.

Those of the family from out of town who were in attendance at the obsequies were Mr. and Mrs. Claud Everett, Union, Neb.; Edwin F. Grimes and wife, and daughter Mrs. Helen Mortensen, and daughter Miss Kitty Grimes of Omaha, Neb., and Jas. B. Tipton of Cedar Creek, Neb.

So closes the last of earth upon one whose soul was as pure and unsullied as the driven snow. That she is gone out of life forever, one cannot believe—surely in that bourne whither all must go, we shall meet again and the brightest and best of all whom we will meet will be her who has but gone before a little while.

FRUITION.

Her soul has blossomed from its mortal tree
A fair white flower fit for the Master's eye.
Never to fade, to wither, or to die
But still to bloom throughout eternity.

DEATH OF PIONEER WOMAN

Mrs. Sutton of Near Murray Passes Away Jan. 8, 1909

Born August 2, 1838, in Highland county, Ohio. Died January 8, 1909, at her home southeast of Murray, age 70 years, 5 months, 6 days.

The death of this estimable lady takes away another of the pioneer residents who had lived in this county for thirty years. We have not the history of her illness, but understand her health had been failing for some time. The funeral services were held at the home on Sunday, conducted by Rev. W. L. Crom, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Kenosha cemetery a short distance from the home.

The maiden name of deceased was Harriet Frances Campbell, and she was a sister of the late Thomas L. Campbell who died March 8, 1908. She was married to Wm. Sutton February 28, 1864, in Mercer county, Ohio, and in 1878 they came to this county and located on a farm adjoining old Kenosha town site a short distance from the Missouri river, where they resided ever since. In addition to the sorrowing husband she leaves four sons and two daughters, namely: Mrs. Mary Nidway of Wausa, Mrs. Della Miller of South Omaha, Thomas Sutton of Rosalie, John, William Jr., and Andrew of Rock Bluffs precinct. The writer formed the acquaintance of deceased a number of years ago and we are enabled to state from our own knowledge that she was one of the kindest and most estimable ladies of the neighborhood, and by her admirable disposition she had gained the love and respect of all with whom she was associated.—Union Leader.

"VALUE OF ADVERTISING"

Address of W. J. Stadelman Before State Telephone Meeting

Our "Billie" Stadelman addresses telephone meeting at Lincoln this week on the value of advertising, in the following manner, which we take from the Evening News of Lincoln:

W. J. Stadelman of Norfolk submitted some ideas on the psychology of advertising the telephone business. Psychology as applied to advertising is founded on the belief that by teaching the public that a certain word stands for something the moment they see the word they unconsciously connect it with what they have been taught it represents. He said that the chief trouble the independents met with in trying for toll business was that the Bell company has taught the public to think of it whenever the word long distance is seen or heard and he told of how the Norfolk independent company by advertising had given the contrary suggestion to patrons.

Mr. Stadelman whimsically declared that "in the former days the Almighty must have been in sympathy with out competitors by virtue of the fact of associating an appropriate trademark with the telephone inventor's name.

When Alexander Graham Bell perfected his invention he did not know at that time the value of advertising, and little did he think of what the results would be by the association of his name with a trade mark, or how reaching its effects would be. Neither did he know then that if by putting out bells in the shape of lamp shades, ink wells, paper weights, that every time one of these was seen we would be reminded of his invention of his invention and incidentally the Belle Telephone company; nevertheless such is the case, and we are now confronted with the task of counteracting the condition which is by no means an easy matter.

"In order for us to establish a trade mark and educate the public that we have an emblem, we must not overlook a single instance or neglect to keep constantly before our subscribers and the general public the shield. While we are so doing, we are giving an excellent opportunity to associate with it the word long distance. This is really the vital and important part of the work that is now before us. I personally reverse the general method pursued in advertising by putting forward the word long-distance and link with it our emblem.

"If you have ever stopped to study the true condition of affairs of our fast developing business you know that the word long distance has been sadly neglected by us and is now so cemented with the Bell Telephone Co. that it seems to belong exclusively to them and has become their

"Burt" Bowen Dead.

Yesterday morning P. E. Ruffner received the sad intelligence by wire from Helena, Mont., of the death at four o'clock Saturday afternoon of Burkett Bowen, a nephew. Mr. Bowen, who was a prominent cattle raiser in Montana, will be well remembered here by the boys who attended school in the early eighties as "Bert" Bowen. During the years he lived here Mr. Bowen was one of the most popular of the boys and as he grew to manhood this popularity did not cease. His success in Montana has been pronounced and he was considered an excellent citizen and a good business man. The news of his death is hailed with deep regret by all who knew him.
