DELIVERS ADDRESS

Luke L. Wiles Speaks Before the Red Polled Breeders' Association

One of the many agricultural meetings held in Lincoln yesterday and especial interest for Cass County people, it being the Red Polled Breeders' Association meeting. This meeting was one of the most interesting of the many in session, there being a large attendance and every address which was upon the program being delivered. Meeting were held in the forenoon and in the afternoon and several new names were added to the membership.

Dean E. A. Burnett delivered the opening address in the forenoon while Charles Graff of Bancroft, president of the association, also delivered an address of general interest to the breeders. A history of the breed was delivered by Ray Davis of Holbrook. R. N. Conklin of Hooper also addressed the meeting upon "Milking Qualities of Red Polls."

Luke Wiles of this city, delivered a paper upon "Why I Breed Red Polls in Nebraska." Mr. Wiles delivered an excellent address and one which was listened to with close attention by the assemblage. He laid particular emphasis upon the excellent feeding qualities of the Red Poll. It was his opinion that this particular breed if placed upon a good ration, would develop much quicker than any other breed while they were much more productive of milk and butter than any other breeds. On the whole Mr. Wiles' paper was one of the most interesting and best delivered of the session and met with appreciation from all who heard it.

J. W. Martin of Gotham, Wis., sent an interesting and instructive paper which was read to the meeting.

The business meeting selected the following officers: Charles Graff of Bancroft, Neb., president; S. McElvane, of Fairfield, Neb., vice president; W. F. Schwab, Clay Center, secretary treasurer. A committee composed of Charles Graff, W. F. Schwab and Luke Wiles was selected to make arrangements for a sale of Red Polled cattle at the corn show to be held at South Omaha next year.

Farmers' Elevator Meeting.
Last Saturday afternoon the stockholders of the Farmers' Elevator Company held their first annual meeting. The affairs were found to be in a very flourishing condition.

A dividend of 15 per cent was declared, and the by-laws were amended. H. M. Pollard was elected director in place of John Murdock, and all the other directors were continued in office.

Henry Heebner's services were such that he was employed for the coming year.—Nehawka Register.

A Big One.

A new and powerful locomotive known as the "2700" has just been put into service on the main line of the C. B. & Q. railroad. It is said to be the most powerful machine in that line yet built. It is what is called a "balanced compound" engine having both high and low pressure cylinders. The engine is used to pull the fast mail trains and on a recent occasion brought a train of double size, 10 cars, from Burlington to Creston, a distance of 190 miles, with perfect ease and on the dot. It is claimed that the schedule of the Burlington mail trains is the fastest of any trains in the world.—Mills County Tribune.

Bert Pollock was a north bound passenger this noon on the mail train.

Makes a Business Change.

Among the business changes noted today in the papers is that of the purchase of the H. H. Tartsch stock of clothing at McCook, Neb., by C. A. Leach & Co., of the same place. The dispatch announcing the change states that the business will be continued under the name of the Sterling Clothing Company. Both Messrs. Tartsch and Leach are well known in this city, Mr. Tartsch having spent the holidays here and Mr. Leach also having visited in the city a few weeks.

HEARS MOTIONS

Judge Travis Has Busy Day Hearing Arguments in Various Cases

From Wednesday's Daily.

In the district court today Judge Travis in the Ossenkop case heard a motion by County Attorney Ramsey for permission to endorse some additional names upon the information. The defendant was present in court and represented by council. Leave was granted the County Attorney to endorse the names of Mrs. Charles Byrnes, E. E. Hilton, McGinnity first name unknown, Edward Williams, and H. W. Beaver upon the information. The objection and exception of the defendant was overruled to which defendant excepts. In the afternoon Attorney Mathew Gering for the defense filed a motion for a continuance in the case upon the ground of surprise, caused by the endorsement of the above names and after argument by County Attorney Ramsey and Mr. Gering, the motion was overruled. The court, however, changed the position of the case on the calendar so as to give the defendant three days additional time for trial.

Among other business done, the court permitted the County Attorney to endorse the names of C. H. Wilson and Mrs. Wm. Baird upon information in the case of the State vs. Riley et al.

In Wendt vs. Leary et al a motion by the plaintiff to strike various paragraphs and parts thereof from the answer of the defendants was argued and submitted.

In McVicker vs. City of Plattsburgh a motion of the defendant to make the petition more definite and certain was argued and submitted.

In Manspeaker vs. Scott et al a demurrer was argued and submitted.

A Magnificent Phenomenon.

A strange and beautiful scene was witnessed on the morning of the 7th inst, by all who were awake and stirring early enough to be so fortunate.

The morning was extremely cold. The full moon was sinking in the west, while the first beams of the sun were growing brighter in the east.

Around the moon was a large circle, showing all the colors of the rainbow, while a perfect white cross lay over the moon, its four ends touching the circumference of the circle at the four points.

Still another and larger circle, also showing the rainbow colors, lay about the horizon, horizontally, and at right angles to the circle about the moon. Opposite the moon circle and in the east appeared two "moon dogs," or mock moons, very bright, while also in the east, apparently attending the advancing sun, were two "sun dogs," on each side of the god of day, and each sending forth a streamer of bright light down into the horizon. Slowly and portion by portion the bright scene faded leaving until the last the "sun dogs," which remained until that orb was quite high in the heavens.

Those who were so fortunate as to see the entire heavenly display speak of it as most magnificent—beyond the power of man to reproduce upon canvas—and calculated to cause a feeling of wonder and awe at the sublime and marvelous works of nature.—Bell Fourche (S. D.) Northwest Post.

Made a Delightful Call.

Edward Hagel of Osmond, Neb., who has been visiting in the city with John Fight and family and Mrs. Fred Werhbein, was a very pleasant caller this afternoon at this office. Mr. Hagel while here added his name to the list of Journal readers, wanting a paper which would give him all the news of this locality where he has so many good friends.

Mr. Hagel is a good farmer and a fine young man and it is a genuine pleasure to have him join our host of good friends. His father Wm. Hagel, residing at Norfolk, has been one of the Journal readers for some time, and we are glad to add the son to the list.

Changes Station Name.

The Burlington has changed the name of the station near Seymour lake from Deerfield to Ralston and D. L. Ham is appointed station agent. Deerfield has been but a small flag station, but since the location of the manufacturing town of Ralston at that point the Burlington has decided to place a station agent in charge.
