

TAFT HEADED FOR THE SOUTH

One-Third of Journey is Over for President.

TALKS TO BE EXTEMPORANEOUS

Chief Executive Completes List of Set Addresses and Has Made Plain His Position on Tariff, Conservation and Other Important Subjects—Says Panama Canal Will Be Completed in 1915—Gives Promise to San Diego.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 2.—After passing two days in and about Seattle, President Taft came to Tacoma and received from an audience that thronged the big armory one of the most cordial greetings of his trip. President Taft promised to attend another exposition to be held on the Pacific coast in 1915 in celebration of the completion of the Panama canal.

The invitation was extended by Colonel D. C. Collier, director general of the Panama-California exposition, which is to be held in San Diego, Cal., the nearest western coast city to the Pacific entrance of the canal, and George Burnham, a director of the exposition company.

President Taft's unqualified statement in his speeches here that the Panama canal would be completed in 1915 aroused great enthusiasm, as the entire Pacific coast is expecting to profit greatly by the short all-water route from the eastern seaboard and the opening of European markets to this section.

Completes Third of Journey.

When the president left here early this morning and headed to the south he had completed 5,000 miles of his 15,000-mile journey. In matter of elapsed time, however, his journey was less than one-third completed.

During the time he has been "on the road" the president has made eight speeches of first importance, which have clearly set forth his views on nearly every question of importance, and he announced that he had completed the list of set addresses which he had planned before leaving Beverly. The president's speeches during the remainder of his trip will be entirely extemporaneous in character and will consist largely of references to and amplification of those he already has made.

In making his set speeches the president selected in the different cities visited the subjects which he believed to be of greatest interest to his hearers.

Makes Plain His Position.

Starting from Boston, for instance, he made there the first of his set speeches on finance and currency legislation, speaking especially of the work the monetary commission appointed by congress has undertaken to do. At Chicago, the president discussed labor and injunctions; at Milwaukee, he discussed and approved the establishment of a postal savings bank system. At Winona, he made plain his position with reference to the Payne tariff bill and the new tariff commission; at Des Moines, he outlined his ideas of needed amendments to the interstate commerce and anti-trust laws; at Denver, he devoted his remarks to the corporation tax and dwelt upon what he deemed its advantages in preference to a direct income tax; at Spokane, he discussed the conservation of natural resources and the reclamation of arid lands, and, lastly, at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition he gave his views regarding the future government of Alaska by a commission and came out flatfooted in favor of a ship subsidy law.

WATER POWER TRUST FORMS

Pinchot Declares Remedial Legislation Is Needed at Once.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Unequivocally asserting that a monopoly now is in process of formation whose object is to obtain possession of the water power sites of the country, Gifford Pinchot, chief of the bureau of forestry, who returned from an extended inspection in the west, declared that remedial legislation must be enacted at the coming session of congress if this great natural resource is to be preserved to the people.

The problem of how best to prevent the nation's water power sites from being gobbled up by such combinations, Mr. Pinchot predicted, will be one of the biggest issues before the next session of congress. The alleged trust is now in the formative stage, Mr. Pinchot declared, and prompt action on the part of congress is necessary to throttle it.

Another problem which will confront congress will be the disposition of vast areas of coal lands in the west, principally in Alaska. It is important that congress should take prompt action on this important matter, Mr. Pinchot said, for the protection of the country's fuel supply and also to prevent a monopoly in coal.

Any doubt that may have existed as to whether Mr. Pinchot would continue to advocate the policies for which he has fought so hard was set at rest by him. As a result of his western tour, he is as fully determined as ever to continue his policies regarding the conservation of the country's natural resources and the great national forest reserves.

BUCKLEY HEADS MINING CONGRESS

Pinchot's Forestry Regulations
Come in for Sharp Criticism.

Goldfield, Nev., Oct. 2.—The administration of forestry regulations in mining states by Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot was the subject of sharp criticism at the American Mining congress.

The report of a subcommittee on forestry matters declared that regulations imposed by the forestry service on the department of mineral claims in forest reserves were such that prospecting was at an end thereon.

Referring to the report, Mr. Dyer, defending Mr. Pinchot, said that the committee had improperly and by a "abused argument" misconstrued the attitude of Mr. Pinchot and then censured him for standing above the law. He declared that the law fully sustained the forester in his position.

Dr. E. R. Buckley of Flat River, Mo., was elected president of the congress for the ensuing year. The other officers chosen are: John Darn of Utah, first vice president; George F. W. Dorsey of Utah, second vice president; Samuel A. Taylor of Pittsburg, third vice president; J. F. Galbraith, Jr., secretary.
