Important Railroad Conference.
Today an important conference commences in Chicago in which railway employees on all lines west of Chicago are vitally interested. The conference is between officials of the roads out of Chicago, including the Burlington, and officials of the switchmen's union. The switchmen demand an increase of six cents an hour in pay on all roads operating west of Chicago. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen also have in a demand for a general advance in payment of the firemen and this will be taken up after the hearing on the switchmen proposition. The joint demands mean a great increase in operating expenses for the roads and there is considerable doubt as to whether or not it will be granted. Opinion seems to be that the final out come of the demand will be a reference to arbitration of both of them.

Return Performance.
In the Journal of Saturday notice was made of the excellent program given at the Majestic theatre in the presentation of the Belle Gunness pictures and a lecture by Mr. Wallace, who is in charge of them. It is a pleasure to announce that this lecture and the pictures will be repeated this evening and tomorrow (Saturday) night. Owing to the miserable weather which prevailed at the date of the last showing of these pictures, the attendance was limited and for this reason a return date was arranged. The pictures are marvels of accuracy and present many of the features of the greatest series of crimes in modern years, including scenes around the Gunness farm near LaPorte, Ind., the trial of Ray Lamphere for the murder of Belle Gunness and pictures of many of the principals and victims. The lecture of Mr. Wallace is highly interesting and worthy of close attention. He is a fluent talker and has the facts of his case at his finger's ends. Past Chief's Banquet.

The Past Chiefs of the Degree of Honor gave a banquet at the A. O. U. W. Hall last evening, to which their husbands and friends were invited.

The early part of the evening was spent in various games and music, after which the dining room was thrown open and the guests invited in and seated at tables prettily decorated. It is quite needless to say ought of the "eatens." They were prepared by the Past Chief's and were thoroughly up to the standard. The supper was enlivened by the guests toasting the Past Chiefs. The toasts were something quite out of the ordinary.

One of the best features of the affair was the feeling of good fellowship which the occasion aroused and the hearty wish expressed that such spreads "be given oftener."

Following the banquet the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing and other amusements.

The husbands of the Past Chiefs have requested that their thanks be publicly extended the members of that organization for the superb supper which they gave and to state on their behalf that it was one which could not be excelled. Never before did they set down to a table so laden with the delicacies of the season and never before did they so thoroughly enjoy themselves. It had been their intention to adopt suitable resolutions of thanks at the table but the bounteous repast had carried their minds entirely away from this topic so it was forgotten and they take this method of letting them know how kindly they feel on the matter. It was the greatest supper they ever had.

Feed the Choir.

The members of the choir of the Presbyterian church were entertained in a most delightful manner by Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Farley last evening. The members of the choir always expect a fine time when Mr. and Mrs. Farley make it known that they will have "a feed" and expectations were fully realized in the entertainment of last evening.

The usual practice was indulged in for a few hours after which various amusements and social chat were thoroughly enjoyed. The delicious oyster supper and its accompaniments provided was not the least appreciated of the many delightful things provided by the thoughtful host and hostess for the entertainment of their guests. The only regret expressed was that these occasions are so few and far between.

Those who enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Farley's hospitality last evening were Misses Frances Weidman, Helen Chapman, Carrie Greenwald, Estelle Baird, Martha Goehry, Verna Cole, Carrie Baird, Arlin Shipman, Gladys Sullivan; Messrs and Mesdames J. E. Douglass, Will Warg, J. W. Gamble; Mrs. W. W. Gamble of Gretna, Nebraska, Charles Hoppling, Clarence Staats and Master Joe Eaton.

PURCHASES DEAD CHICKEN HAWK

Some One Told Him It Was a Sage Fowl and Ed. Donat Buys It.

Our good friend, the peerless Ed Donat, is thinking seriously of becoming a fancier of high grade birds and yesterday he came near making a fine investment for his managorie. He proposed, however, to have his animals in such shape that they will be an ornament to his place of business and for that reason he wants all kinds of strange fowls of the air in dead condition for stuffing. Yesterday J. F. Clugey, who resides north of the city, came to town with a fine specimen of what someone told Ed. was a genuine Rocky Mountain Sage fowl. He had just killed the bird at his home on Platte bottom and it was in excellent shape for mounting. Learning that this strange and unusual fowl had been killed in this neighborhood, Ed. got busy at once and deserted his customers and left Ed. Polin to struggle with the great crowd at the bar while he scoured the streets for Clugey. Finally he located him and proceeded to buy the bird. Mr. Clugey scenting a joke of some kind consented to let him have it very cheap as he wanted it for mounting purposes and the bargain was quickly closed.

Returning to his business, Ed. was exhibiting the fowl with great gusto and much pride when someone, not in on the deal, called him off and told him it was nothing but a common chicken hawk. That he was chagrined and shocked to think anyone would play a low down trick like that on him, is drawing it mild. He took the fowl out presumably to have it mounted and then hired a small boy to make way with it. The small boy took it to William Holly who sent it to the Journal and the story was out. Mr. Clugey was highly amused at the outcome of his shot. The hawk was a fine specimen of its kind, however.

The line-up of the Plattsmouth team was as follows: John Falter, f; Carl Reese, f; Rou Frana, g; Frances Whelan, c; and Henry Egenberger, g.
