He is one of Cass county's best men and one year ago was the Democratic candidate for the legislature. He should have been elected, as he is the right kind of a man.

Warning to Farmers.

It will be well for the farmers of Cass county to heed the following danger item from the Burwell Tribune: With the gathering in of the corn crop and the turning of cattle into the stalk fields reports begin to come in of the death of cattle from the usual unknown disease. W. H. Hyers tells us that he lost three good steers the first of the week, shortly after turning his cattle into the stalk field, and other cases have been cited where the results have been similar. Many of the farmers have been hurrying their corn out of the field in order to turn their stock in, and they are now confronted by a risk of loss that seems to be greater than the value of the feed the stalks afford.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM WRECK

Missouri Pacific Passenger Train Last Night Crashes Into the Cross Gate at Oreapolis

A narrow escape from a disastrous wreck took place last night when the south bound Missouri Pacific passenger train crashed into the crossing gate at Oreapolis and demolished the structure, fortunately failing to derail the train and doing no damage to the trainmen or passengers. From passengers on the train it is learned that the Burlington had a freight coming in over the short line and for this purpose the crossing gate across the west leg of the wye had been closed to Missouri Pacific trains. The supposition is that the semaphore was also shut to these trains. The passenger came along and the engineer either could not see the light on the gate or mistook the semaphore light and crashed into the gate. These gates always have a red light upon them which faces the direction against which they are set. Whether this light was burning or not is questioned but the fact remains the train crashed into the gate and completely demolished it. The arm which crosses the tracks was broken into splinters and the posts which support the gate were broken off at the ground as completely as if a cyclone had hit them. The train was stopped after the accident and delayed some half an hour while minor repairs were made to the engine and the wreckage cleared away. So far as can be learned no passengers were injured but a serious derailment might have resulted.

Deputy Grand Patriarch.

William Holly, the clothier of this city, has been appointed District Deputy Grand Patriarch of Encampment No. 31, I. O. O. F. for the ensuing year, an honor which he very much appreciates. This means that Mr. Holly will be the personal representative of the Grand Patriarch for his encampment, a high honor in Odd Fellowship. The position to which Mr. Holly has been appointed carries with it great responsibility as he must from time to time report to the Grand Patriarch such suggestions as will be of value in advancing the encampment branch. An especial effort will be made by the Grand Patriarch to advance the membership of the order and Mr. Holly has instructions to make this an especial art in his work. It is the intention of Grand Patriarch J. P. Carson, to attend as many meetings of the order as he can and he has asked that dates be furnished him so he can arrange his schedules. Mr. Holly is a prominent Odd Fellow and his brothers will be proud to note the honor conferred upon him.

In Federal Court.

Notice has been filed in federal court on the attorneys for the Burlington railroad by those of Earl Blish that on November 2, a motion will be filed in federal court asking that the case be remanded to the state court. The case is a damage suit against the railroad for personal injury, the injury occurring in Cass county. The plaintiff wants the case sent back to the district court of that county.—Lincoln Journal.

Bless the Schoolma'am.

The schoolma'am is the guiding star of the republic. She takes the little bantling fresh from the home nest, full of the pouts, his pets and his passions, ungovernable in many cases, a rampant, riotous little wretch whose own mother often admits she sends him to school purposely to get rid of him. The schoolma'am takes a whole carload of these little anarchists, half of whom singly and alone cannot be handled by their own mothers, and she puts them in the way of becoming useful citizens.

Another Fall of Snow.

Today has been a very bad one underfoot owing to the heavy, wet snow which covers the ground. The streets are very sloppy and the country roads and much cut up. Farmers who have succeeded in getting into town report the mud as very deep and that corn gathering is completely stopped. A great many fear that a sudden heavy freeze may come which would result in the roads being fearfully rough owing to the manner in which they are plowed up and broken by wagon tracks. There was another heavy fall of snow last night fully an inch of the fleecy mantle coming down within a very short time. This makes the fifth snow so far this winter which going some. The sky has been overcast today and the indications seem to be good for a continuance of the storm. The weather bureau predicts for today fair and warmer. For tomorrow increasing cloudiness probably rain by night, colder Wednesday in west portion.

The Poultry Market.

The chicken market in this city seems to be looking up. Hatt & Son who have been in the market purchasing chickens for sometime past today shipped five hundred of the fowls to the David Cole company at Omaha. These chickens have been bought up in the last few days. There is at present a strong demand for poultry of all kinds and especially for turkeys. The last market prices indicated that live turkeys were bringing the princely sum of twenty-five cents a pound which is some price. A great deal has gone on the market at twenty-three cents. Chickens in common with turkeys have moved up and the same condition is true as to geese and ducks. Hatt & Son are pushing this branch of their business vigorously.

STATEMENTS OF CHAIRMEN FILED

Showing The Amounts Expended by Each of the Various Candidates in the Recent Election.

The several county central committees and the candidates for office have filed their statement or receipts and expenses during the last campaign. Today was the last day for filing them and all are in except George Trunkenboltz who ran for surveyor on the Republican ticket and E. Ratnour, Democratic candidate for coroner. The statements make interesting reading, although they are usually so vague that it cannot be told just what the money expended was spent for.

Chairman Livingston of the Democratic county central committee reports having collected a total of $685.00 of which $877.50 was spent. The bulk of this was spent for organization purposes, although about $100 represents printing. Incidental expenses of campaign workers run up to about 2.75 while the work or organizing the precincts and the city was about $300. The receipts show that the Democrats all over the county contributed, many of them in no way interested in the election except as good citizens.

Treasurer D. L. Talcott of the Republican county central committee reports receipts of $459.39 and expenses of $440.15. As in the case of the Democrats the Republicans spent the greater part of their funds in organizing the city and county. For this purpose some $320 was spent, while printing amounted to $80. Incidental expenses of party managers and the like took up the remainder. One feature of this report is the apparent expenditure of $200 in Plattsmouth city.

The treasurers were close together on their expenses, Frank Schlatter spending $87.50 of which amount $75 was his assessment* to the county committee and the remainder for cards. John Gerry Stark his unsuccessful Republican competitor, spent $85, was principally assessment.

For county clerk Clell Morgan, the winning Democratic candidate, spent $98.50 including a campaign assessment of $75, while George Lushinsky, who fell by the wayside paid out $84.83, most of which was for assessment and cards.

Sheriff Quinton swears he spent $77.50 for expenses which consisted mostly of assessments by the county committee while Ed. S. Tutt, his losing Democratic competitor, swears to $97.50 for expenses which included his assessment of $75.

Judge Archer, Democratic candidate for county judge who was defeated by Judge Beeson spent $97 of which $75 was assessment and the remainder was for cards and the like. Judge Beeson, the Republican candidate who won, spent $74 according to his statement.

L. H. Daft, who was beaten by A. J. Snyder paid out $91.35 for the privilege of running and Snyder who won did so with an expense of $85 of which $75 was assessment to the county central committee.

Miss Mary Foster, who was re-elected to the county superintendency, spent $90.80 for that purpose including her assessment of $75. E. E. Odell who ran against her and was defeated has a long itemized account showing he parted with $9.02 in his mad race for office. Most of his expenses included assessment, cards, and livery hire.

Fred Patterson who defeated George Trunkenboltz swears he had no campaign expenses of any kind while Coroner Clements who was re-elected over E. Ratnour testifies he spent $5 to achieve this honorary title.

The commissioner fight seems to have cost the rivals about the same amount. Commissioner Friedrich who was re-elected paid $45 assessment and spent $45.65 more in various ways while George P. Meisinger who was defeated paid a $75 assessment and spent $18 more in other ways. These figures all show that it takes money to make a campaign and that a poor man has little chance in this world when it comes to landing political persimmons.

P. W. Shaw and his sister, Mrs. Abigail Baker, of Ashtabula, Ohio, who have been here as witnesses in the Baker case, returned home this evening on No. 2. During his stay here which has covered a period of some ten days, Mr. Shaw made many friends in this city. He is a contractor of much prominence in the east, and a gentleman who has made much money in his business.

Mrs. W. J. Harring was a visitor this afternoon in Omaha, being a passenger for that city on the afternoon train.

The "Cosy Corner" Changes Hands.

The Cosy Corner, which sometime ago was transferred from Tom Troop to John Cory, has again changed hands. This time Ed. Brantner who was the original proprietor of the place, has once again taken it over and will run it in the future. Ed. is an old timer in the business, and understands just what the people want. He is going to make the Cosy Corner everything its name implies. It is to be the one place in the city where gentlemen can congregate and have a good time and enjoy a good smoke without care. The place hereafter will be run strictly as a gentlemen's resort. In addition to carrying a full line of Plattsmouth made cigars and all standard brands of high grade tobaccos, Mr. Brantner will handle candies of the very best quality, chewing gum, and everything of a like nature. The Cosy Corner always was a popular resort for men and under the able management of Mr. Brantner it is bound to grow in popularity. Personally one of the most popular of men, he has a great many friends in the city and vicinity who will welcome his return to business here. For a real fine quiet place to spend a few hours, the Cosy Corner under his management is sure to be a winner. The reason for the sale from Mr. Cory to Mr. Brantner is, that the former gentleman finds business at the Perkins which he recently purchased from Charles F. Guthman to be so great that he is compelled to give it his entire and undivided attention. That the Cosy Corner fell into the best of hands is assured when the transfer to Mr. Brantner was made.

Our Sentiments Exactly.

When Senator Sheldon, later governor, had a law passed adding one mill to the state levy for the purpose of wiping out the indebtedness of the state, there was a general complaint because it was claimed that by being more economical the outstanding warrants could be redeemed. But it was not the intention of Republicans to be economical, so the additional tax was levied and the state debt virtually wiped out. Now that we are supposed to be on "Easy street" comes the proposition to erect a new capitol building at an expense of $3,000,000 or more. We are not disposed to say that such a building is not needed, but it does seem that we ought to have a breathing spell before getting out of debt and plunging into debt that will require years to pay. If Lincoln wants that new capitol building so badly she ought to erect it. If not give Hastings, Grand Island, or some other town a chance. There are many towns near the center of the state that will gladly pay for the erection of the building if the capitol is located there.—Nebraska City News.

Funeral of Capt. McPherson.

The funeral of the late Capt. McPherson was held yesterday afternoon from the residence of Fred Range, there being quite a large attendance of old friends of the deceased. Canon H. B. Burgess of the Episcopal church preached an eloquent sermon touching the many excellent traits of the deceased. There was appropriate music and a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends followed the body to its final resting place in Oak Hill cemetery, where his wife was laid away many years ago.

There were a number of very handsome floral pieces upon the casket, the last sad tribute of many friends.

A number of relatives from out of the city were present including Mrs. Col. Jackman, of 3324 Harney street, Omaha and Mrs. C. F. Spooner, of 2501 Poppleton avenue, Omaha, step-daughters of the deceased; Chas. McPherson, of Omaha, a son; Mrs. Hollenbeck and baby, of Heyburn, Idaho, daughter; Hal Woodard and wife of Omaha, the latter a daughter; Dr. Z. D. Clark and Walter Doolittle of Omaha; O. W. Laughlin and family of Greenwood.
