

REDMEN ARE ROYALLY ENTERTAINED BY FORT CROOK BRAVES

Onondage Tribe Furnish Splendid Entertainment and Musical Program For Visiting Redmen and Great Officers.

Some twenty members of Missouri Tribe No. 69 I. O. R. M. last evening took advantage of the invitation extended them by Onondage Tribe No. 72 of the order and journeyed to Fort Crook to attend a smoker which the members of the latter tribe gave in that city. Those attending report having had a splendid time and are loud in praise of the hospitality of their fellow members. The party reports that Fort Crook outdid itself in lavish hospitality and made the members of Missouri feel that they were certainly in the hands of their friends.

The party were passengers for the Fort on the evening M. P. train and arrived there at about six o'clock. They were met by a reception committee from Onondage tribe and escorted to Lowry's hall where they found an abundance of refreshments ready for them. After which they were taken to the barracks at the fort proper and treated to a genuine supper of Uncle Sam's best. The night is said by those participating to have been splendid, a solid repast fitted for anyone. After this had been disposed of, the Missourians were taken back to the hall where cigars and other refreshments were had and where the program of the evening was indulged in.

There were a large number of interesting speeches delivered for the good of the order including one by Field Secretary C. C. Klehm, who spoke on the work to be done to build up the lodges, one by Great Sachem J. H. Grosenor of Aurora, who also advanced many good and interesting thoughts for the members consideration. W. D. Wood, Great Junior Sagamore also delivered a fine address as did Dan W. McLane Great Keeper of Mampum. All the speeches met with a warm reception from the members present and aroused great enthusiasm.

Following the speeches by the great officers a fine musical program was given, including solos of various kinds, clog dancing and the like, vocal duets of much merit and many other interesting numbers.

The evening's speechmaking program wound up with short speeches from members of the several councils, those responding from this city being J. C. York prophet, John Cory sachem and Emil Walters keeper of records. All the speeches by the local officers met with a hearty reception.

Ernest G. Fischer, chief musician, splendid band concert given in the army gymnasium by the 16th. Infantry band under the direction of and Musician Fischer is too wide to print in these columns. It is quite sufficient to say that the band acquitted itself grandly and greatly increased the regard it already had in the hearts of the members of Missouri tribe by its good work. The program given was as follows:

March, "Old Comrades".....Tellico
Overture, "Norma".....Bellini
Baritone solo, "The Conquering Hero".....Hartman
Drum Major C. St. Clair.
Medley, "Hits of 1909".....Lampe
Fantasia, "Erin Maerchen".....Bach
Humoresque, "Yankee Doodle".....Reeves

The party returned to this city on the midnight train hoping in the future to have the members of Onondage tribe entertained likewise in this city and to have them bring their splendid band along with them.

Dance a Great Success.

The Royal Neighbors of America, the auxiliary order of the Modern Woodmen last Monday evening gave a fine dance at Coates' Hall, the same being open to the public. As is the case generally with these dances there was a very large and enthusiastic attendance of members of the order and their friends and the evening was one of unalloyed pleasure. In every respect the dance was among the best ever given by this enterprising and growing lodge and it was voted a success in every particular. The music for the occasion was furnished by the Woodmen orchestra, mention of whose excellent work was made last Monday evening in the Journal. This dance was but a repetition of the brilliant success which the orchestra achieved before and the music was more than satisfactory to all. The Woodmen and their auxiliaries, the Neighbors are flattered at the success of the orchestra toward which they have done so much in the way of substantial aid and at all dances in the future they intend to feature the good music which will be provided.

Change in Occupancy.

Joe Thompson has moved into the city once more, having turned the property which he had been living on and which was known as the Ike Dunn place north of the city, over to Mart Buttery who will farm it the coming year. Mart does not intend to give up his place as engineer at the Hessel Roller mills but will let his boys run the farm while he looks after his present duties.

Mrs. Robert Troop is a visitor today in Omaha, going there this morning.

In District Court.

In the office of Clerk of the Court Robertson, William Delesdernier as attorney for Mrs. Susan Eldenmiller has filed a petition asking for a decree of divorce from John H. Eldenmiller. The parties live near Elmwood. The petition recites that the plaintiff has been a resident of Cass county for twenty-five years past and was married to the defendant on February 6, 1880 and had been a faithful, chaste and obedient wife; that on January 20, 1900, the defendant deserted her and has been absent for eight years past and has failed to provide for her and her children. There are five children, the youngest 14 years of age of whom she asks the custody.

A case to quiet title entitled Graff vs. Unknown Heirs of Hart et al has also been filed in district court by John M. Leyda as counsel for the plaintiff.

Gets Teeth Knocked Out.

S. M. Oslin working in the freight car department of the local shops, this morning sustained a severe and painful injury by having two teeth knocked out. Mr. Oslin was engaged in holding a drift pin while a fellow workman struck it with a sledge. The object was to drive out some bolts holding a freight car together which the men were dismantling. In some manner the sledge slipped from the head of the pin and struck Mr. Oslin a hard blow on the lips and mouth, badly bruising his face and knocking the teeth out. He was taken immediately to the company surgeon where his injuries received attention. The injury while not dangerous will be sufficient to keep him from his work for several days at least.

A Birthday Party.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Batten rang with merriment last evening when their daughter, Miss Jennie invited the members of the "Griggs" club to come to her home to spend the evening in celebrating her birthday anniversary.

The "Griggs," who assembled at her pleasant home, celebrated it in a manner which will long be remembered.

The evening was most delightful, music and the like, which occasioned considerable frolic.

The pleasures of the evening were further augmented when a delicious luncheon was served.

As a memento of the auspicious occasion there were many pretty presents left with Miss Jennie, who could not feel other than highly pleased at the kind remembrance of the "Griggs."

The members of the club present to enjoy this most pleasant occasion were Misses Ethel Schneider, Gertrude Morgan, Hazel Tux, Cecil Hawkenbury, Bertha Jackson, Elizabeth Kerr and Ina Hatt.

PARTIES IN CASE ON GOOD TERMS

Hall Furnishes Bond in Adultery Case and May End It.

What is hoped to be final in the now noted Meyer-Hall bigamy and adultery cases is believed to have taken place this morning when Fred C. Hall, charged with adultery filed with Judge Beeson a bond in the sum of $300 conditioned for his appearance at the first day of the next term of the district court. The bond came down from Greenwood this morning where it was executed and signed by several prominent citizens of that place and after its filing Hall was given his liberty.

What was really amusing about Hall's release was that Meyer and his wife, were on hand to welcome Hall when he stepped out of jail and accompanied him to the county judge's office where they laughed and joked together and seemed on the very best of terms. It is said that Hall states Meyer claimed to have nothing against him for having spirited the buxom Mrs. Meyer from his bed and board but he was bound and determined to have her back. It is gathered from the talk which the several parties have told the court officers and others that Hall and Mrs. Meyer seem to have given Meyer to understand that his job as husband was not so much better than Hall's and that the title to the young woman was shrouded in considerable doubt. Anyway something seems to have straightened out the tangle so far as the parties are concerned and they are apparently good friends. Whether they will all leave the town together on the same train is not known at this writing but it would not be surprising.

In any event the matter has many curious and unusual features and the probabilities are that the true story of the whole affair would make very interesting reading.

Boys Well Pleased.

J. W. Swan, state agent for the Children's Aid society of New York, was in the city today looking after the interests of two boys he had placed with John Schafer and family sometime ago. He found Mr. Schafer and the boys at the station waiting to take the train for Omaha and the corn show, Mr. Schafer taking the boys up to see the display, and made his investigation there. He found that the boys were more than pleased with their home and he found Mr. Schafer likewise pleased with their conduct and his report to the society was highly flattering to both. The business of this society is to take friendless and dependent children from the crowded city of New York and place them on farms where they may be cared for and where their education can be looked after. Mr. Swan has placed a large number of such children in good families in the state and has a number of others awaiting places. He returned to his headquarters at University Place this morning.

E. H. Spangler and wife are among those from the country who came in this morning to visit the corn show at Omaha, going there on the early morning train.

GETS OVERDOSE OF "RED EYE"

John McFarland, Painter and Decorator Draws $5.00 and Trimmings in Police Court

Yesterday John McFarland whose occupation is that of painter and decorator, tried to live up to the same and proceeded to paint the town and decorate the landscape which abound hereabouts in large numbers. John chose for his pigments much of that amber colored fluid which various gentlemen dispense over their bars and, mixing this with a dark brown or red extract, he proceeded to form a combination which gave strange and unusual effects to both the city and the adjacent territory. The combination also produced an unseemly effect upon John, so much so that he wobbled in his walk and his talk became as uneven as if an impediment was in his speech. This strange and curious effect came to the notice of the authorities who marveled greatly that such should be John's condition and as they marveled, they thought and finally concluded that John needed care and attention and the best place to go it was at the city jail, where special provisions are made to make parties suffering from paint sickness well. Accordingly John was cast in and allowed to rest and repose until this morning when he felt much better in his speech and his gait has once more assumed a natural trend. He was taken before Judge Archer who has so many times past threatened such cases and the learned man after an examination of the witnesses and hearing John's story, sorrowfully decided John was drunk and accordingly he gave him a fine of $5 and costs, something warranted to have a sobering effect upon him. In consideration of John's solemn promise not to drink further he suspended said sentence pending good behavior. John accordingly is free now to paint and decorate but not with alcoholic drinks.

A One O'clock Luncheon.

One of the most pleasant entertainments held in the city in some time was the one o'clock luncheon given by Mrs. Dora O. Moore at her charming home on South Ninth street and to which a number of her lady friends were invited.

At the appointed hour the elaborately appointed was served. It was such a repast as Mrs. Moore knows best how to serve and was a constant source of delight to the guests. Following this elegant luncheon the ladies repaired to the parlors, where the remainder of the afternoon was most delightfully spent in various amusements.

At the close of the beautiful winter day the ladies departed for their homes, indebted to the hostess for the most enjoyable afternoon spent.

Those invited to enjoy the hospitality of Mrs. Moore yesterday afternoon were Mesdames John Bauer, Jr., W. D. Jones, Henry Spangler, A. S. Will, Frank Shopp, Chas. Troop, Miss Spangler, Miss Conner of Coldwater, Mich.
