ANOTHER HIGH PRICED FARM

J. C. Hanna Sells Farm South of This City for $32,000.

One of the largest land deals carried through in this section in some time was closed this afternoon when Will Rainey concluded the purchase of the J. C. Hanna farm south of this city. This farm is considered one of the best in Cass county and brought a price a little in excess of $117 per acre. There are 273 acres in the farm and the total consideration is $32,000. The deal for the property was made by George L. Farley, the real estate man, who brought the parties together and through whose efforts each were made to see where the deal was advantageous to them. Mr. Farley has been having considerable success lately in closing large deals, although this one is, perhaps, the largest yet closed and one of the largest in the county. The farm in question is well known to all land-owners hereabouts and is quite justly regarded as one of the best in this section. Mr. Hanna, the owner of the property is a resident of Okaloosa, Ia., and was in the city today to close the deal. His son, Jas. E. Hanna has been occupying the farm.

They were accompanied as far as that city on their way by Henry Kaufman and wife and Mrs. William Kaufman. As stated in the Journal the gentlemen were old schoolmates of the Messrs. Kaufman and they had a very delightful visit and enjoyed a fine talk over boyhood days. They were much pleased with their trip to this city.

Oscar and Lloyd Gapen came in this morning from their homes southwest of the city, to be passengers for the Omaha corn show on the Burlington train.

Weather Conditions.

Today reminds the oldest inhabitant of the good old days of winters ago when the sun shone bright and the air was fine and balmy. For the first time in more than two weeks, the sun rose this morning in cloudless skies and the air felt clear and pure. The past month has been but a succession of rain and snow storms and to see the sun once more and feel its genial glow, is enough to warm up the cockles of the heart and make "one bright side look like two" to use the expression of a local citizen. Anyway, everybody feels better than for a month past and the dark, gloomy days are past to return no more for a long time to come, let us hope.

It has been nice and warm today and the snow is feeling the effects of the sun's rays as it has been disappearing with startling rapidity during the day. The weather, however, has not been warm enough yet to affect the ice harvest and cutting is commencing now in real earnest. The continuance of the warmth for a few days will result in stopping it, however, as the water will soon be over the ice from the melting snows. Before this happens, however, many of the local dealers hope to have a supply of ice in store which will relieve anxiety during the coming spring and summer.

The effect of the warm weather has been seen this morning in the time of the trains from all directions. Those from the west were within a half hour of schedule, something which has not occurred for several weeks past while from the east the trains are reported as on time. Trains from the south on the M. P. were running close to an hour late, a marked improvement over the past several weeks while from the north they were making schedule time. Altogether the outlook for travelers is much improved over what it has been during the past month.

The weather bureau reports for today and Thursday generally fair weather with slightly colder tonight.

Mrs. W. L. Street and little granddaughter are visiting today with Mr. Street in Omaha, having gone up this morning. Mr. Street's condition remains practically unchanged, although it is believed he will shortly be much better and that his recovery is only a question of a short time.
