Miss White is a daughter of the late George White and a young lady of exceptional ability. That she will be an excellent assistant to Mr. Snyder is undisputed and the result will be an excellent administration of the register's office. Mr. Snyder succeeds H. A. Schneider as register of deeds on next Thursday noon.

KANSAS' SAMPLE OF PROHIBITION

J. T. Alenworth, a lawyer of Lincoln, said:

"While attending the United States circuit court for the district of Kansas at Leavenworth for three or four days this week I learned considerable regarding the enforcement or rather non-enforcement of the prohibitory liquor law of that state. Leavenworth is now in the second year of her experience under the commission form of government, and the city appears to be prosperous, and in the matter of public improvements is in apparently a better condition than at any time during the last twenty-five years, for which period I have been acquainted with its history. In the matter of the enforcement of the law against the sale of intoxicating liquors, the condition is deplorable and seems the more so possibly because of the impression that the people elsewhere generally have that the law is being strictly enforced in that state.

"Within two blocks of the business center of the city I saw four 'joints,' as such places are called in that state where intoxicating liquors were being sold without any attempt whatever at concealment except that the room in which such sales were being made was in the rear of another room which fronted on the street and which apparently was a cigar store.

"Tuesday of the present week was the soldiers' pay day and the city in the evening and night of that day, in the vicinity of the 'joints' referred to, was the scene of more drinking and drunkenness than Leavenworth could have rivalled in her palmyest of antebellum days. Between the hours of 5 o'clock on Tuesday evening and 3 o'clock on Wednesday morning the 'joints' in question were filled with men of all grades and descriptions and a constant stream of them was flowing in and out of these places in a fashion that resembled a bargain sale. On Tuesday night before the hour of 10 o'clock I saw not less than twenty drunken men upon the street, some of them so drunk that they could not avoid colliding with people whom they met.

"During the forepart of the night the police of the city attempted to arrest a drunken soldier because of some altercation between him and a private citizen. About one hundred soldiers from the regular army attempted to prevent it and did prevent the arrest until a special call was sent to the headquarters of the army at Fort Leavenworth and a detachment of armed soldiers came to the city and put down the riot.

"I was informed by one who knew whereof he spoke that no less than two hundred 'joints' were being operated in the city of Leavenworth, and there is absolutely no attempt whatever to prevent the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors. To say that the 'lid is on tight' in Leavenworth is an untruth.

"I am a prohibition republican and believe that Kansas has ideal law upon the subject of intoxicating liquors, but I do not approve of misrepresenting the facts relative to its enforcement simply to relieve public officers who fail to do their duty from the censure which they deserve.

The North Dakota Farce.

Hon. D. R. Streeter, editor of the Emmons County, North Dakota, Record, published at Linton, writes: "The manifold evils of the prohibition law in this state are on the increase rather than the decrease. Blind pigs exist in most parts of the state and no sooner is one of these squelched than another reckless person steps in to take its place. The drug stores are doing a flourishing business and there are probably a third more in the state than there is a legitimate demand for."

North Dakota Blind Pigs.

The Grand Forks correspondent of the Fargo Forum informs us, says the Bismarck Palladium, that there are at the present time 1,791 blind pigs in North Dakota—assuming doubtless that the possession of a government tax receipt for the retail sale of intoxicating liquor is prima facie evidence that such liquor is being sold, is correct. Manufacturers carry on a cash business with their North Dakota customers and there is no complaint heard from these outside houses that there is any falling off in their trade. On the contrary, North Dakota accounts are the very best that many a Minnesota and Illinois wholesale house has on its books. And so the farce goes merrily on and is made the medium for personal and political exploitation by cowardly politicians, who are often themselves hopeless victims of the drink habit, and who care nothing about the moral aspect of the question, so that they can continue themselves in the limelight of personal notoriety.

Liquor Cannot Be Seized.

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 5.—Judge Cotler in the United States district court here reaffirmed his decision that state officials cannot interfere with interstate commerce shipments, thus restraining the state officers from seizing shipments of liquor before they have been delivered to the consignees.

Favors License Policy.

As between prohibition and high license, we favor license, the only proper manner of governing the liquor traffic.

UNION.

(Ledger.) Matt McQuinn shipped a car load of sheep to the South Omaha market Monday.

J. T. Taylor and wife came up from Salem last Friday evening to spend several days visiting with J. T. Hoback and family.

W. F. Garrens departed last Friday noon for Fort Smith, Ark., where he expects to spend two weeks visiting with relatives.

Work on the new Upton, Leach and Woodmen buildings is progressing nicely considering the cold weather we have been having.

G. M. Minford, one of the prosperous farmers living near Murray, was in town last Saturday afternoon calling on our dentist, Dr. Newell.

Miss Mary Foster, county superintendent, was down from Plattsmouth to spend Christmas with her parents, returning to Plattsmouth on the Sunday evening train.

Mont Robb was down from Myrard last week to spend Christmas with his family on the farm. Mr. Robb was accompanied by L. J. Guzman, a book-keeper in the Norfolk asylum, a position which he held during the time Mr. Robb was steward at that institution.

Abold burglar made his appearance at the Resthaven Hotel last Saturday night and took possession of a room without the formality of making his presence known, and when he departed next morning George Slites' extra suit of clothing and several small articles belonging to Vernon Arn disappeared with him. The fellow was seen around town Saturday evening and Sunday morning, but sailed away before the theft was discovered, and is not expected to call later.

ELMWOOD.

(Leader-Echo.)

Mr. Harry Carpenter is confined to his bed with pneumonia.

Mr. D. R. Frans of Union, was the guest of Miss Noma Neihart Sunday.

Mrs. Harnsberger visited her daughter, Mrs. Keckler at Manley the first part of the week.

The M. W. A. and R. N. of A. lodges will hold joint installation at their hall on January 11.

Miss Marjorie Stark returned home Tuesday evening after several days visit in Lincoln.

Earnest Oxley, who has been visiting relatives here, left Wednesday noon for Fairbury, to see his uncle, M. E. Williams.

Manager Olsen has just installed a fine new electric bleacher at the mill. The machine was procured at quite a large cash outlay.

Mr. Ray Ellicott, superintendent of the Plattsmouth Telephone company, of Plattsmouth, was in our berg Wednesday and Thursday fixing up telephone troubles.

Marshall Lynn is the proud possessor of a brand new eight shot automatic Colts revolver, presented to him by a number of his Elmwood friends with the compliments of the season.

We understand that Albert Wallinger is the proud possessor of a handsome new six-cylinder touring car, presented to him on Christmas day, bearing the compliments of a number of close friends. We did not learn the make of the machine, but they say it is one of the very latest.

LOUISVILLE.

(Courier.)

Mrs. August Ossenkop left Tuesday for Oklahoma to visit with relatives. Mrs. Theo. Boedeker's condition remains unchanged. The aged lady has been very low for several weeks and little hopes are entertained for her recovery.

Little Eddie Kilgore was quite seriously injured Tuesday while coasting. His hand sled collided with a dray wagon at the foot of the hill and he received a bad bump on the forehead.

Ex-County Clerk Rosencrans has opened a real estate office in Plattsmouth: If Rosey proves as much of a hustler for business as he was for votes he is sure to succeed.

The firm of Ossenkop and Blake has been dissolved, Mr. Ossenkop purchasing Mr. Blake's interest in the Star livery barn. Mr. Blake has accepted a position as salesman in Frater's drug store.

Mike Tritsch is spending his holiday vacation at home; not through choice, however, but because of a kink in his back which he says is anything but pleasant. He hopes to be out again in a few days, however.

The Courier is glad to note the recovery of Miss Daisy Twiss who has been confined to her room for the past two months. Patrons of the Independent telephone exchange will also rejoice to know that she is again at her post of duty.

Contractor Hugh Murphy shipped in from Omaha Monday 26 head of the finest mules that ever passed through the streets of Louisville. He took them to his ranch east of town to be wintered. They represent a neat fortune, having cost Mr. Murphy on an average of $500 per team.

GOVERNOR NOT FOR COUNTY OPTION

(Omaha Daily News, November 14.)

County option will not be written into the platform of the Nebraska democracy next year, regardless of the position of W. J. Bryan, if Governor Shallenberger can prevent it.

"County option means prohibition," declared the governor on his arrival in Omaha this morning, "and Mr. Bryan is illogical in his statements that he is a county optionist, but not a prohibitionist."

"Mr. Bryan has intimated in numerous conferences that he is an optionist, but not a prohibitionist, but the very principle of county option is prohibition."

"The liquor problem will be one of the main issues of the campaign," said the governor, "and I do not deem it advisable for the democratic party to adopt a county option plank."

"The liquor laws, with the daylight saloon act passed by a democratic legislature, are being more rigidly enforced than ever before and I believe that a rigid enforcement of liquor statutes is to be preferred to county option."

"It is too early to draft a platform and I believe that we should wait until the situation develops."

Attitude of Democratic Press.

(Columbus Telegram.)

The Telegram prefers the method of law rather than the method of the bootleg. And when we say we prefer the method of the law it is with the understanding that all laws governing the sale of liquor shall be enforced to the letter.

We favor obedience to the law for two reasons:

1. Because it is right.
2. Because only by strict enforcement of the present Nebraska liquor laws can Nebraska escape prohibition.

We are glad to be able now to state that this is the view of the great majority of the country democratic press in Nebraska and The Telegram always feels safe when traveling the path which the majority of the democratic editors are pointing out as the right path.

Bishop Scannell's Admonition.

Rev. Richard Scannell, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Omaha, delivered a notable sermon at St. Cecilia church in Omaha Sunday, November 14. The bishop admonished the women to eschew politics. He criticized the activities of the woman temperance crusaders. On this point he said: "Instead of these women striving for total abstinence they should be working in the cause of temperance," said Bishop Scannell. "Men have a practical judgment in this matter and do not look for the ideally perfect. Therefore, I see no advantage to be derived from the women being admitted into the political arena."

Figures That Burn.

(Worcester Post.)

The prohibitory brethren should not be discouraged because the number of arrests for drunkenness tallied only 2,340 for the year ending with the first of last month, Lewiston and its neighboring Auburn in Maine with about a third of Worcester's population had 1,600 of them last year according to the Lewiston Journal. This is fully twice our rate in proportion to population. But these cities have had nearly sixty years' training in "prohibition" and our rate of progress to the bad is such that we can overtake them if the farce continues for another year. The Journal says the great part of the men arrested there were dipsomaniacs appearing over and over again. This is also the usual result of "prohibition" and the stuff that flows under it and the way it is swilled down in bulk purchases and in secret and irresponsible dives.

Effects of No-License Booze.

(Worcester Post.)

"It is easy enough for me to see the effects of no-license," said a druggist to Saunterer this morning. "Every morning there is a line of men at my soda fountain waiting for their bromo, a drink that is supposed to take down the head of the morning after, and they come in here in an awful condition. Their hands sometimes shake so that they can't lift the bromo to their mouth without using both hands. This no-license booze is certainly the stuff that kills. And the most pitiful thing about it is the number of young fellows that have gone to the bad this year. I don't believe there were ever so many before. They come in here every morning with their faces pale and their hands shaking, after some drug that will straightened them out. It certainly is a shame." With that he turned to the soda fountain to mix a bromo for a man waiting there.

Thirty-Four Murders.

Discussing the subject of crime in prohibition states, the Chicago Record-Herald, in an editorial, makes this statement: "In Jefferson county, Alabama, the county that includes Birmingham, there were thirty-four murders in the first twenty days of April."

Cannot Understand.

(Alma Record.)

Considerable agitation is heard regarding one of the two big political parties adopting the county option plank, but the writer fails to understand just why either the republican or democrat party should wish to steal the prohibition party's thunder.

TALKS TO YOUNG MEN'S CLASS

J. W. Larkin Speaks on "What Are You Worth" to Young Men at Methodist Church

The regular winter course of lectures in the Young Men's Bible class of the Methodist church opened last evening with an address or rather an informal talk to the members of the class, an address which was highly appreciated. Few people know that Mr. Larkin was formerly a Congregational minister but such is the case, and his address last evening was the result of many years observation. That it was a most pleasant affair is certain and the members of the class unite in expressing the hope that the remainder of the course will be as good as the initial number.

These lecture courses or talks as they are called, are a regular feature of the Methodist Bible class and they are something well worth listening to. It is only a brief time back when the class was organized and it leaped into popular favor at once. The talks are upon sound methods of living and merit the closest attention as they are full to the brim of good ideas.

Mr. Larkin, who has been engaged in business in this city for only a short time, and really was much of a stranger to the assemblage, delivered a most excellent talk. His address was purely informal but it had the attribute of being delivered in a forcible manner which impressed itself upon his hearers and clearly demonstrated that the speaker was a good thinker and had the highest of ideals.

Taking for his topic the subject, "What Are You Worth," Mr. Larkin plunged into the theme and pointed out to his auditors that wealth does not in the slightest make a man. Character, he said, was the fountain of actual life. Without character a man would live and pass away and leave no trace of his being behind. The interpretation of Christ "being and doing," as constituting life was well exemplified in Mr. Larkin's talk.

He spoke of the four essentials to human life—work, pleasure, growth and religion. Of the former he said that work was the absolute necessity for the true man, the second feature pleasure, followed as a necessary adjunct and with these two came growth. Growth was the development of man but growth without the final step, religion, was as naught. In the latter the highest development of the man was exemplified. It was the expression of God reaching out through man and penetrating to the human soul. The address in its entirety was highly appreciated by all present and stamps Mr. Larkin as one of the class' best speakers. In addition to the address there was a most excellent musical program which was well worth listening to and a great apple feed closed what was one of the most auspicious openings the class has had in years.

The next number on the program includes an address by Rev. W. L. Austin on next Monday night when he will speak on "Wit and Humor." Those who know Rev. Austin will appreciate the fact that this will be well worth listening to as he is a man with a fine sense of humor and is capable of furnishing a most interesting evening for all who attend. Next Monday night promises to be one of the best occasions the class has had yet and a large attendance is predicted.

Wedding at Louisville.

At the home of the bride's parents in this city on Christmas day at 3:30 p. m., occurred the marriage of two of Louisville's best young people, Mr. William Pankonin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Pankonin, and Miss Alice Sluyter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Sluyter. The wedding guests were confined to members of the family and a few near relatives. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. George M. Jones of the M. E. church.

Mr. and Mrs. Pankonin will make their home on a farm south west of Louisville, and their many friends join with the Courier in wishing them a long life of happiness.—Louisville Courier.

Death of Former Pioneer Citizen.

William Gilmour, the well known citizen of Rock Bluffs precinct, yesterday received a telegram from Modale, Neb., announcing the death at that point of Charles Cutler a former resident of Cass county and well known by the pioneers of the state. Mr. Cutler in his early days lived near this city and was a prominent citizen. He was a brother of former Sheriff M. B. Cutler. His death took place last Sunday night, but no particulars were given in the letter nor was the time of the funeral stated.

Henry Koll and wife from near Cullom, were shopping in the city last Saturday.
