Work on the plant of the lighting company is going steadily ahead and within ten days Mr. Clabaugh expects to give the city the best electric lighting it ever had. Many improvements are being made in the plant and the company is sparing no money to put it in shape for good business. A force of men will go to work on the improvements again next Saturday evening and work through that night and all day Sunday so that the plant will be in good shape for the next week's work. Owing to the long period of practical disuse the plant went through, it had been pretty well run down and it is taking longer than expected to bring it up to the high standard which Mr. Clabaugh is determined on giving but the work is progressing and will be pushed to completion.

Mr. Randall expects to return home tomorrow while Mrs. Randall will remain in the city for a few days for a more extended visit with friends.

J. Wesley Grassman who has been spending sometime at the Woodman sanitarium at Colorado Springs, battling with tuberculosis, returned to his home last evening. Mr. Grassman has made magnificent progress toward recovery and looks like a new man since his trip to the springs. He is feeling better than before for years and is loud in his praise of the progress which the treatment at the sanitarium has enabled him to make. His many friends who greeted him were struck at once with his improved appearance and were surprised at the wonderful change wrought in him. He is a striking example of what the Woodmen are doing in the battle with the great white plague and there seems to be no good reason why the recovery is not permanent.

Laid Out No. 6.

Train No. 77 this morning again took up its old habits of disarranging schedules and proceeded to get behind its own time by pulling out a drawhead while crossing the bridge. This laid them out for about half an hour and threw them over on No. 6's time. They reached here with No. 6 standing in the yards and while waiting at the station at a rate of about twenty-five miles an hour, an air hose burst and the train came to a sudden stop, blocking the crossover from the east bound main to the single track to the bridge. The train held the crossover for about thirty minutes and laid No. 6 out nearly that long. Finally a new air hose was fitted on the car and the train proceeded. No. 15 went west on the east bound main line passing the freight between here and Oreapolis.

Injuries at the Shops.

Herman Fields is taking another enforced layoff from his work at the blacksmith shop, having had his left hand and arm burned once more. Some time since he suffered a severe burn on this arm and it was still under bandage when he went to work yesterday and a spark ignited the bandage causing it to flame up and once more burn his arm. He will be off for several days with the injury.

Joe Wales yesterday injured his left hand by getting a fall over in the shop yards. The injury was somewhat painful but not serious enough to keep him from his work although he had to have the hand looked after by the company surgeon.

For a Fine Dance.

The Woodman orchestra departed this afternoon for Cedar Creek where they have been engaged to play for a dance given by our good friend George Horn. The orchestra, it will be recalled played there several weeks ago and did so well that they were engaged for this dance. There is no doubt but the good people of Cedar Creek and its neighborhood will receive music well worth their money and that they will have a mighty fine dance.

Want Road to Ferry.

A petition was filed in the office of County Clerk Morgan today signed by A. G. Bach, John Hatt Jr., and about 150 others asking that the county commissioners vacate and dedicate a road from the ferry below the bridge up over the hill through the property of Jas. Thomas to a connection with the county road, so as to afford an easy and safe road to the ferry. It is understood that Mr. Thomas will contest the vacation.

That's What.

The Plattsmouth papers herald the coming of another factory to that town. A cotton glove and mitten factory which will employ quite a number of hands. Besides they have other business ventures headed that way. They are waking up over in the county seat town and the commercial club is bound to "See Plattsmouth Succeed."—Weeping Water Republican.

Meet With Mrs. John Murray.

The Ladies Aid society of the M. E. church met at the pleasant home of Mrs. John Murray yesterday afternoon. Those present report a most enjoyable time. Following the business session, the usual pleasantries were indulged in and all too soon the hour of departure arrived. An elegant luncheon was served and all went home declaring Mrs. Murray a most delightful entertainer.

George P. Meisinger, Jr., was among those in the city yesterday looking after business matters.

Something Much Appreciated.

Jacob Meisinger and C. J. Meisinger, two of the best men Cass county has ever produced, are in the city today attending to business matters and while here they called upon the Journal and renewed their allegiance to the paper for another year. These gentlemen are among the kind which the paper wants to always have on its list. They are the best type of citizens and it is a pleasure to be able to always have their patronage and know that they are our good friends.

RETURNS FROM SOUTHERN TRIP

Herman Holschuh Who Has Been Making Extended Trip Through South Returns

Herman Holschuh, the "diamond king," who left the city several months ago for Oklahoma, returned Saturday morning after an extended trip over the south. He was glad to get back among his old friends again, even if it was in mid-winter and snow was on the ground. During the time he was gone Herman visited the states of Oklahoma, Missouri, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas and had a fine trip. He was employed for a time with the M. K. & T. Ry., in the train service and had the misfortune to be injured in the service, being a patient at the company hospital at Sedalia for several weeks but his injury did not prove permanent and upon his recover he took a rest, visiting the rest of the states named above. He spent several weeks in New Orleans and is full of interesting information upon the Crescent city which he considers a beautiful place. He was especially impressed with the principal street of the city—Canal street, with its great width and ancient buildings. The French quarter of the town also appealed strongly to him, its quaint and ancient buildings constituting something well worth seeing. He was through Louisiana, going over the Southern Pacific and visiting such towns as Jennings and Lake Charles. He saw the beautiful Spanish moss so famed over the world, growing in festoons on the trees in the Louisiana swamps and describes it as very beautiful. He visited Vicksburg and saw the beautiful national cemetery at that point where the soldiers of the civil war, the blue and the gray, sleep side by side. He considers the cemetery as one of the most beautiful he ever saw. He has a number of interesting stories to tell of darkey life in the south. His visit to Texas comprised a stop at several of the larger cities and he was wonderfully impressed with the marvelous growth which has taken place, especially at Houston which he visited eighteen years ago. At that time it was a typical struggling, western frontier town and today it is a large and prosperous city with a population of 100,000.

As has been told in the Journal's columns heretofore, he found that last year was a particularly severe one on Oklahoma and Texas and the crops throughout both those states were failures. Despite this he found them moving on just the same and with no prospects of a letup in their growth. The trip took several months but he considers that it was time well spent and he is able to give to his many friends a complete and concise story of the wonderful possibilities of the south. He expects his brother William, now living near Minco, Okla., here within a short time to look after business matters and make a visit with friends.

Jas. Fitzgerald Recovering.

The many friends of James Fitzgerald will be glad to learn that he is getting along very nicely at St. Joseph's hospital in Omaha where he has been for several weeks past and that his condition is such that he will probably be at home by the end of the coming week. Jim has had a very hard time and at times was so low that his life was despaired of. However, he has successfully rallied and there is now small room to doubt but his recovery is assured.

Check up Non-Resident Fees.

Prof. Gamble and D. C. Morgan of the city school board, this morning made an examination and checking up of the amount received this semester from tuition of high school non-resident pupils under the high school law. They found the sum to be $375.75. In addition the sum of $50 was paid by the non-resident students to officers. The total makes an amount about twice as much as heretofore received during any one semester.

The Benson Items of the Omaha World-Herald today contains the following notice:

"Mrs. H. C. Jeffers entertained at dinner Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Austin of Plattsmouth, and Mrs. Neff of Wahoo. Covers were laid for six guests."

MASKERS HAVE ENJOYABLE TIME

St. Mary's Guild Give Mask Ball at Coates' Hall.

The mask ball given by Mrs. Austin's team of St. Mary's Guild for the benefit of St. Luke's church fund, last Saturday night at Coates' hall was one of the most delightful social affairs of the winter. In addition to being a most pleasant occasion, the dance was a success in every way, the ladies netting a very substantial fund for the church. The attendance was very large, a number of visitors being present from Omaha, Nebraska City and other places.

The costumes were of unusual elegance and a great variety and it was apparent that no pains or expense had been spared to make the occasion a splendid one. While there were a very large number of costumes much above the ordinary, one of the most interesting and attractive was that of Mrs. Eva Reece and little master Henry McMaken, Jr., and Baylor. Mrs. Reece appeared as an Indian squaw with the two youngsters as papposes and they made a distinct hit, especially the grave little Indians. Dancing took place until a late hour following the unmasking and the evening was one of unalloyed pleasure. Refreshments were served during the progress of the dance. Music was furnished by the Woodman orchestra and was of the usual high standard of that organization.

A Complicated Case.

From Saturday's Daily.

In county court today Judge Beeson is engaged in hearing the matter of the appointment of an administrator of the estate of John M. Kunz, deceased. The petition was filed by H. H. Swartz, a son-in-law of deceased asked for the appointment of Herman Dettman of Elmwood as administrator. Objections were filed to this appointment by a number of the heirs who objected and asked that the petition for Dettman's appointment be dismissed and that if any property was discovered belonging to the deceased that administration of the estate be given to some interested and suitable person. The objections are signed by H. F. Kunz, D. C. Kunz, G. W. Kunz, J. W. Kunz, J. C. Kunz, Indiana Gustin and Louise Hettrick. Wm Deles Derner of Elmwood appears as their counsel. Matthew Gering appears for Mrs. Herman Dettman, Mrs. H. H. Swartz, and the administrator of the estate of Mrs. Kaczmarek, another daughter. D. O. Dwyer appears in the case as attorney for the heirs of Mrs. Kaczmarek. The object of the administration of the estate appears to get track of some real estate rents which affect the property of Mrs. Christina Kunz and John Kunz.

Miss Hulda Volmberg of Lincoln who has been spending several days in the city making a visit with her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Holmberg, returned to her home this morning.
