Article 3.

Did you ever stop and figure the interest you are receiving on your investment when your money is in high priced land. Land that is valued at $150 to $200 per acre. Stop and figure it out. You will find you are considering your work and expense, only getting about 5 per cent on your investment. Then figure cheaper western land at $50 per acre and fifty bushels of corn to the acre and see on which investment you are drawing the most interest and you will find the cheaper land far in the lead.

Look over the western country and buy yourself a home that you can some day pay for. You will find the people in this cheaper country as well educated and refined as you will find in the U. S. Hospitable, well to do hustlers. Living costs you no more. These farms can be bought close to the railroads, church, schools, etc. If you want a home look for reasonable priced land that produces.

Farm Deal is Closed.
It will be remembered that about a year ago Mr. H. C. Long purchased the farm directly opposite his present fine farm home west of Murray, from the Wehrlein heirs, which deal was not fully completed until the last few days, that is the full purchase price being paid and the deed transferred. These latter rather important details were completed last week, and now Mr. Long is in full possession of the place. This is another occasion where Mr. Long makes a pretty lucky move, as the farm could be sold today considerably in advance of the price paid a year ago. The farm contains 160 acres and will make a valuable addition to Mr. Long's farm.
