

FINE EXHIBIT OF CRUDE RUBBER

Sherwood and Son Have a Collection in Their Window That is Well Worth Attention.

Plattsmouth people do not really appreciate the efforts being put forth for their benefit. If they did every man, woman and child in this locality would be up in front of the east window of the Sherwood shoe store looking at the exhibit which they have in sight of rubber in its original and finished forms. This is one of the finest exhibits of nature shown in Plattsmouth, or, in fact, any other city.

It is the result of great personal work of R. Q. Sherwood, one of the city's live ones. Mr. Sherwood last summer was asked by the school authorities to take up the subject of rubber and to give the pupils of the schools a lecture on it. He did this and his lecture was something which is well worth reading. It is a scholarly study of the rubber matter from its birth to the present time. In the compilation of these, Mr. Sherwood searched the libraries of the locality high and low. He gathered statistics from all sources, all the knowledge the world had of rubber in its native and finished state he laid before the public of Plattsmouth. The result is carefully embalmed in a treatise on rubber which lies in the east store window of the Sherwood shoe store today. From day to day a page will be turned in this treatise and the public is asked to read it. It pays you and me to know what the truth is about rubber. Read it.

Not a one is the treatise on rubber worth reading but look at what Mr. Sherwood offers you in the shape of an exhibit of the rubber product.

He has in the window finished specimens of the real product which are too good to be passed up. These include rubbers of several different brands which this excellent firm handles. They cannot be excelled in this city nor anywhere else. When a man tells you he is selling rubber for less than the local shoemen sell it, put it down—he is bogus.

Sherwood & Sons are taking pains to educate the people on rubber. The Hood Rubber company and the Good-year Rubber company have given him the advantage of their facilities in his good work and they are entitled to praise for their assistance. The exhibit which they have sent him is one well worth having. From the Caout Chouc (pronounced koo'chock) which is technically known as the "biscuit," to the finished product handled by Messrs. Sherwood, all processes of manufacture are exhibited. The countries of the world have been called upon to furnish specimens for the Sherwood exhibit. South America and all the warm southern climates are represented in the window of Sherwood & Son. There is Para rubber from the South American states and Ceylon, Matto Grosso rubber from Brazil, Para rubber from Brazil, Balata rubber from Venezuela, Cometa rubber from Brazil, and lastly but not least Guayule rubber, from Mexico and the United States. Texas produces the last.

Through the entire process by which this crude product is converted into the real goods, Messrs. Sherwood will lead the public by means of their educational system which can be seen in the window from day to day. Study the pages of Mr. Sherwood's address on rubber and you will attain some knowledge.

There are interesting specimens of the product from the expensive "biscuit" weighing 50 pounds and now worth $161, to the finished product which is for sale by this enterprising firm. One feature of the rubber trade which is remarked on by the public is the remarkable growth of prices on rubber products. The "biscuit" which is shown in the Sherwood window cost in 1909 $44, today its cost $161. What made the change? The manufacturers say the great growth of the automobile business. They claim that the amount of rubber used in automobile tires has caused the price to rise more than 300 per cent. The public is justified in drawing its own conclusions. Is there a rubber trust? Anyway, the Sherwood exhibit in the east window is worth while.

For Sale.

A driving horse, weight about 1000 or 1100 pounds, 8 or 9 years old. Will trade for anything you have or will sell on 6 months time if a good bankable note is given.

J. M. Young, Mynard, Neb.

Mrs. N. Bintner and son Ernest are spending today in Omaha visiting with Mr. Bintner in the hospital at that point. Mr. Bintner is holding his own quite well and is thought to be getting along very nicely considering the nature of his complaint.

Damage Case Settled.

After being out from about 4:30 p. m., Wednesday until 10:30 o'clock this morning, the jury in the case of Henry R. Gering vs. John M. Leyda for damages for malicious prosecution returned a verdict for the plaintiff for one dollar. This jury was out approximately forty-eight hours which is one of the longest sessions a jury has had in this county in some time.

The case was one of the most stubbornly contested in many years in the local courts, a great deal of personal feeling being manifested from the start of the proceedings. It was a damage suit asking $5,000 damages from the defendant, Leyda, by ex-Mayor Gering of this city. The foundation for the case arose from the arrest of Mr. Gering about 2 years ago on the charge of unlawfully selling liquor to one Samuel Biggs. At the hearing of the case it developed that Biggs had gotten the liquor at the instigation of other parties and the plaintiff alleged that the defendant in this case, together with C. A. Rawls, then county attorney, and Biggs had entered into a conspiracy to defame his character and started the prosecution with that end in view. On the trial Mr. Gering was discharged, County Judge Beeson rendering a decision which released him. Immediately after his discharge he commenced this case.

The costs in the case will be divided between the parties, each party paying his own costs. This is due to a special provision of the statute by which the amount of the recovery of the plaintiff would have had to have been $5 to carry with it costs against the defendant. This section of the statute applies only to actions in malicious prosecution. The difference between the costs of the two parties is said to be from $15 to $20, the costs of the plaintiff being the larger.

According to all parties the result is a victory for everybody. Counsel on both sides seem pleased with the outcome, the plaintiff accepting the verdict as a vindication of his character while the defendant seems to be satisfied with the small recovery of the plaintiff. It is not yet known positively whether the case will be appealed or not.

Bauer Case Settled.

In district court this morning the matter of the settlement of the accounts of the administrator of the estate of John Bauer, deceased, from near Cedar Creek came to a close, the decision of Judge Good who heard the case being in favor of Sarah Matilda Petersen who was fighting for a large share of the estate. She was represented by T. J. Mahoney and P. A. Wells of Omaha as counsel. John Albert Bauer, the administrator, was represented in court by Matthew Gering while the interests of a number of minor heirs were looked after by A. L. Tidd as guardian ad litem and counsel.

The decision of Judge Good is regarded as a clean cut victory for Sarah Matilda Petersen and undoubtedly will go to the supreme court for final adjudication. Judge Good among a long list of findings found that lots 133, 134, 175 and 176, in the village of Louisville, Neb., which had been deeded to Sarah Matilda Petersen in 1890 and which it was sought should be figured into the assets of the estate, should not be so figured and confirmed them in her. She was also assigned an undivided one-half interest in the real estate of the deceased.

The decree provides that the accounts of the administrator and the assignment and settlement of the estate be allowed and settled and provides that the shares as assigned in the body of the final decree, be made. The administrator is directed to pay out of the estate's funds attorneys fees as follows: J. B. Strode $500; J. L. Rott $500; Matthew Gering $25; A. L. Tidd, guardian and counsel, $150; court costs $139.58; costs advanced by Mrs. Petersen $37.30 and the balance of the costs in district court, $4.30. The administrator is directed to pay to Sarah Matilda Petersen $998.87 as her share of the funds of the estate in the hands of the administrator. The decree provides that when the receipts showing the payment of the several amounts set forth are filed in the county court, the administrator shall be discharged from his trust.

A party of Avoca people called to the city by business matters came in last evening and were registered at the Hotel Riley. The party consisted of G. W. Harshman, the well known and popular citizen of Avoca, J. G. St. John, his son-in-law, F. J. McAndrews, and Roscoe Harshman and wife, the latter gentleman a son of George Harshman.

Former County Attorney Rawls came in yesterday for a brief visit with his family and also to look after some business in connection with the management of the Cass Land company of which he is the personal representative at Lamar and Granada, Col.

ONLY A WILD EYED RUMOR

Reported That One of the Platte River Bridges Had Been Washed Out.

The Journal learns that the wild-eyed rumor which circulated over the city to the effect that one or the other of the bridges over the Platte river at Orepolis, had succumbed to floating ice and had been wrecked, is wrong. Both the Burlington and the M. P. bridges are in good shape and capable of withstanding a great amount of pressure. Both companies are using every endeavor to prevent loss by flood and forces of men are stationed at each bridge blasting and loosening the ice to prevent gorges forming and carrying the structures out.

It was currently report that either one or the other of the bridges had fallen before the great mass of ice which was hurrying down the stream to the Missouri but this is error. The Missouri Pacific had a train over their structure at 1 p. m., and the regular Burlington had a train over their bridge this afternoon on time. The great ice gorge which formed yesterday in the Missouri river at the mouth of the Platte and which was noticed in yesterday's paper, broke up this morning and immense quantities of heavy ice is now rushing down the stream. The channel in front of the city today is filled with floating ice and the water of the stream are rising rapidly. Everything agrees that there is going to be some lively doings within a few days unless a cold snap strikes this section. With the present warm, moist weather the snow and ice which is on the ground must melt and this means a great addition to the waters which must find their way to the sea.

The Platte is breaking up at a point above the Platte river bridge at Orepolis but not so far as Cullom. Reports state that there is heavy, solid ice from Cullom to within a short distance of Louisville and that at that point the channel of the river is open and ice is running. This means trouble to those living along the river unless the ice breaks up below them and the floes are allowed to find their way into the Missouri. If they get into that stream and can follow an uninterrupted flow to the gulf, there will be no trouble but if the ice once gorges in the latter stream then trouble can be looked for.

$9.20 For Hogs.

Last Thursday a carload of hogs raised at the insane asylum at Lincoln was sold for $1,425, the price paid being $9.20 per hundred. This is the highest price ever received for hogs by a state institution. These high priced animals were taken care of a part of the time by some of the more trustworthy inmates of the institution. A carload of heavier hogs brought about $1,500 some time ago, although the price per hundred was lower. The car marketed at South Omaha Thursday is the third carload of sold since last fall.—Lincoln Star.

Slugged in Omaha.

The Journal learns from I. S. White the particulars of the holding up and the robbery of Chris Miller, one of Cass county's best citizens, on Tenth street in the city of Omaha last Thursday night. This assault was made upon him by some of the thugs which infest that city and he was returned at midnight, Mr. Miller having been in the city during the day on business matters. As he came down the street about eleven o'clock he was met by the robbers who dashed upon him and proceeded to beat him into insensibility. Fortunately he had little money on his person and the robbers contented themselves with taking what little he had. He was discovered by a policeman and taken to the station where his injuries were treated. Owing to the fact that he had been robbed of his money, he was in sore straits to get home but this was offset by friends loaning him the money to make the trip. Chris is feeling some better now and will recover soon from the effect of his injuries, which were quite severe.

Narrow Escape.

An accident which may have serious consequence took place last evening when Miss Hazel Clugey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clugey living just north of the city, was struck by a pitchfork thrown through an open door way of the stable by Riley McFarland who has been working for J. Clugey. The young lady was passing the door of the stable when Mr. McFarland, who was engaged in cleaning out the bar, and who had just finished his work, cast the fork outside the barn through an open door. The fork in its flight struck the lady in the ear, the prongs piercing the lobe of the ear and making a very ugly wound. Quite fortunately the prongs did not penetrate the ear and injure the drum so that her hearing is not in the least impaired. The result will be a sore ear for some time to come, however. Mr. McFarland is quite shocked at the result of his untimely throw and vows that he will always let loose some warning in the future before he casts pitchforks and like weapons into the air.

Pleasant Birthday Party.

A pleasant birthday party was given last Friday afternoon to Floyd Gibson at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daille Gibson, a number of the schoolmates of the young man assembling to pay their respects on his tenth anniversary. In addition to having a fine afternoon, the young man received a number of very nice presents.

Light refreshments consisting of fruit, cake and lemonade was served after an afternoon of amusements had been had, the mother of young Mr. Gibson doing the serving.

Those attending the happy party consisting of Messrs. Matthew Joy, Jr. Clyde Claus, Wm. Hall, Harold Manners, Roy and Ray Winscot, Emmett and Corporal Stone, Tommie Isner, Hugh Foster and Flody Gibson. They had a most delightful time.
