ARTHUR BRANN ON $1,000 BAIL

C. E. Brann, His Father, Comes Down From Lincoln and Bails the Young Man.

Arthur Brann, the young man accused of stealing the two teams from near Elmwood and Murdock, was released this afternoon on $1,000 bail given by his father and his uncle. His father, C. E. Brann of Lincoln, came down this morning from his home and went at once to the county jail where the young man was confined where a pathetic interview was held between them. Both were deeply affected and mingled their tears over the sad mistake which the young man had made. The interview was quite prolonged and the father remained to take dinner with his son.

This afternoon the father visited county court and had an interview with County Judge Beeson who, after he had heard his statement of the affair, agreed to accept the father and uncle, D. D. Brann as sureties and to release the young man and permit him to accompany his father home. Mr. Brann speaking of the case, said that his wife, the boy's mother, did not know of the affair and that he hoped she would not find out about it as her health was very bad and he feared the effects upon her. He was greatly affected and talked with difficulty of the matter. He is a most estimable gentleman and all who have met and talked with him in his present affliction, deeply sympathize with him. So far as can be learned there is no reasonable theory for the young man's slip aside from that mentioned in the Journal last night. The father states that the boy had all the money he wanted and he is at a loss to know why he acted as he did.

Hits the Trust Hard.

John Richardson this morning struck a body blow to the beef trust. He appeared upon Main street with a wagon load of fish—count it, one wagon load—taken from the waters of the Missouri river. There was almost all known varieties of the piscatorial tribes in the load including cat, perch, carp and what not. This struck the beef trust some hard blow as the fish did not last a great while. They met with a steady demand and nearly every family in the city today will have fish for dinner or supper. The fish were selmed from the river and are all of good size. Several of them were very large and were well suited for a fish party of a number of people. There was little trouble in disposing of the catch there being a warm rivalry between the local butchers, the restaurant keepers and the general public for them. From all indications John is a trust buster extraordinary for the city of Plattsmouth as he surely dug into the receipts of the meat trust today.

GREENWOOD CITIZENS IN TROUBLE

County Attorney Ramsey Files Charges Against Them.

Before Justice Archer today County Attorney Ramsey filed complaints against three several citizens of Greenwood charging them with sundry violations of the criminal code growing out of a drunken riot which disturbed the serenity of that village last Saturday night. At that time, it is alleged Sam Thomas who was before the insanity commission not long since on the charge of being a dipsomaniac, Noah Swacker and Louis Dalby indulged in many and diverse drinks of red-eye, the genuine product of the worm and still, and as they indulged they waxed warlike, Swacker meeting up with Thos. Carnes, a well known resident of the village proceeded to air some grievance which rankled in his breast and as Thomas demurred to being the squire, he sought to start something more serious. Along at this time comes Jerome Andrus, who is some warrior himself, likewise the village constable, Jerome objected to Noah's unseemly demonstration and sought to restrain his warlike proclivities. Noah was not to be so easily restrained and advanced upon Jerome with anger in his voice and destruction in fist. Jerome who is not very large or powerful sought to avoid any argument with Noah by using a cane which he carried as a weapon. Noah did not stand appalled by the cane but proceeded to smash Jerome upon the forehead just above the eye raising a large, juicy lump with Jerome carried as exhibit "A" to County Attorney Ramsey. Noah likewise convinced Jerome that he could not be arrested by the village constable when Jerome and Noah mixed one Sol Pearman who was standing near, thought he would go to the support of the law and advanced upon Noah with the intent then and there and thereby to maintain the official dignity of Jerome. Herein he erred grievously for Dalby was standing near viewing the battle and champing the bit to get into it, fetched Sol a crack which made him see Halley's comet and a new and choice bunch of heavenly constellations. Thomas in the meantime was weaving about the public highway and encouraging the combatants to "go to it." Eventually quiet was restored and the afflicted dignity of the law hurried to this city where he sought consolation and a warrant from the courts. The complaints charge Sam Thomas, with being plainly drunk, Noah Swacker with assault and battery, resisting an officer and being drunk, and Louis Dalby with being drunk and assault and battery. The erstwhile fighters and jag-fighters will be brought to this city and allowed to talk the subject over with Judge Archer.

It is probable Thomas will have to take another course in the school for dipsomaniacs at Lincoln as he is now out on parole, the insanity commission some weeks ago letting him go in custody of some prominent citizens of Greenwood who were to be responsible for his sobriety. As he has violated his parole he will likely be taken to Lincoln to remain until he gets some of old John Barleycorn out of his system.

A Case of Insanity.

The insanity commission composed of Clerk of the Court Robertson, Attorney D. O. Dwyer and Dr. B. F. Brendel of Murray yesterday examined Margaret Reuland against whom a complaint had been filed, finding her to be insane and ordering her committed to Lincoln. This is the second attack the unfortunate lady has had, the first taking place about four years since when she was taken to the asylum for a short time.

Wm. Puls, Jr., one of the finest young men of Cass county, came in this morning from his home in the country to look after some business matters and made the Journal office a pleasant call while here. He reports the roads as much improved and not nearly so bad as a few days since. He also reports the avenues into the city as worse than the roads but even they are much improved.

WRECK ON MISSOURI PACIFIC

Local Freight No. 156 and West Bound Extra Meet Near Murray—Nobody Injured.

A head-on or butting collision took place last night about 11:30 between two freight trains at a point one quarter of a mile east of Murray which resulted in that road having to detour its train from Omaha to Kansas City via Louisville and Weeping Water and also in sending the morning train from Kansas City to Omaha the same way. Fortunately the company had its bridge over the Platte river at Louisville in a state of repair and the trains were able to make the journey. The completion of that bridge was accomplished yesterday just in time to be ready for this wreck.

The wreck occurred between a west bound extra freight and regular freight train No. 156 east bound. The two trains met at a point where the road curves and where there is quite an embankment. Very fortunately neither train was making much speed and the engine men saw the disaster in time to save their lives by jumping.

The resulting crash when the two trains struck could be heard in the town of Murray and aroused many of the towns people. The wreck piled up some five cars including two cars of merchandise and two cars of coal but very fortunately no one was hurt. The wreckage resulted in tying up traffic as outlined above. The two engines were rather demoralized as a result of their bucking one another, one engine having the cab torn off. The wreck is supposed to have been the result of either misreading orders or misunderstanding them by the two crews.

The track was cleared this morning by eleven o'clock and the south bound passenger train from this city to Kansas City went through a few moments late.

CEDAR CREEK.

Adam Saal of Pekin, Ill., visited with his brother-in-law, J. H. Meisinger last week.

Elmer Meisinger drove down to Happy Hollow last Saturday night. He has taken a liking to the place and says he is going back soon.

Ed. Lohnes says that the roads down by Mynard were awful and he wishes they would get better at once again.

G. L. Meisinger is thinking of taking a trip to Kansas in the near future where he will look after some land in that state.

W. E. Meisinger moved to his farm near Springfield last Thursday. George Reinhart moved to Louisville last Monday where he will take life easy for once.

Philip Albert and wife were passengers on the Schuyler train for Plattsmouth on Wednesday morning.

Philip Gauer went to Omaha last Monday to take in the automobile show, returning Tuesday.

Fred Shrader is busy chopping wood for his brother-in-law, Christ Gauer.

J. J. Meisinger shelled his corn last Monday, getting 56 1/2 cents for it. The Spencer's did the shelling.

Chris Metzger and Jeff Salsberg went to Omaha Saturday, returning Monday.

The dance given by George Horn last Saturday evening, was largely attended. George Thierolf and Philip Hennings furnished the music.

Albert Meisinger says he is going into the butcher business. He says he has learned the trade and is going to start a butcher shop at Cedar Creek.

PROPOSITION OF MR. A. S. WILL

Renews Offer He Made Several Days Ago in Regard to Macadamizing the Avenues.

Several days since the Journal reported from a prominent citizen to do some work and to furnish teams for grading one of the avenues of the city and also to provide for hauling the rock to be used, if the city would buy the rock and furnish a few men with shovels to do the work of macadamizing the avenue.

It can be stated absolutely that this offer will be put in the form of a proposition and submitted to the council and the city authorities in a very few days. The man who offers to open his purse strings to help the city is A. S. Will, the well known cattleman and citizen of the third ward. Mr. Will who lives upon Chicago avenue is an enthusiast over the subject of macadamizing the avenue and offers to do the greater end of the work. In a conversation with the Journal reporter this morning, Mr. Will reiterated his proposal made to several prominent citizens some time since. In effect he offers to furnish teams and do the grading of Chicago avenue, superintending the work himself and to also see that teams are furnished to haul the rock which may be needed for the work and that the rock is placed upon the street in a manner which will insure its staying there and making a permanent road, if the city will buy the rock and furnish some four or five men with shovels to do the hand work.

Mr. Will states further that past experience in Virginia and at other places has convinced him that the macadamized street or road will solve the problem of mud and impassable streets. He does not share the view that it is necessary to pave the avenues and calls attention to the fact that pavement as well as macadamized roads require repairs in the course of time. Neither does he agree with those who believe that a foot of rock over the avenue is necessary. He states from actual experience that from four to six or seven inches of rock will do the work and do it well. He believes that this rock should be placed on the avenue and as it settled down into the dirt and mud other rock should be placed over it until the street had a firm surface and one capable of supporting a great weight and carrying it successfully. As to the cost of rock which would be needed in the process, Mr. Will does not believe it would be excessive. In fact, he thinks that it would be very low. The problem of the city being unable to spend enough money to completely pave the avenues in one year he does not consider serious. If the city cannot pave all the avenues at once go as far as possible each year and within a very short time every prominent entrance to the city will be in fine shape and capable of letting commerce from the country enter.

Speaking on the subject of rock, Mr. Will says that he favors the city buying a strip of land somewhere convenient to the city and opening a quarry of its own where rock can be obtained and broken and spread on the streets. He states that it would be surprising the progress which would be made in a remarkably short time and that before people were aware of it the streets and avenues would all be macadamized and in permanent shape. He stated further that he had talked the matter over with men like Bert Pollock, John Bauer, Jr., T. E. Parmele and a number of others and that they had signified their desire to take part in the work and do their share toward making this one avenue something worth having.

To accomplish this work Mr. Will states that it will be necessary to make many changes along the avenue. At those places where the creek which flows along side the avenue, has become stopped up with weeds and has filled up, throwing the water over into the avenue, it should be widened and opened up and it should also be straightened out to allow free flow of water. This would have a material effect on handling the rubbish which comes down with every heavy rain, and effectually prevent floods.

Another change which he advocates and which he says he took up with Manager Pollock of the Plattsmouth Telephone company, will be the change of location of telephone poles on the avenue and their elimination wherever possible. At present they are entirely too thick to make good work in macadamizing possible. Mr. Will also stated he would proceed and do the work of macadamizing the avenue in front of his own home at his own expense if the rest of the work would be undertaken by the city or the property owners along the avenue.

Mr. Will's offer has been much commented upon by the public since the Journal first made it public and the comment has been highly favorable. To disinterested parties it looks like a splendid opportunity for the city to get its avenues macadamized and put in fine shape at little cost. Few men in this city have ever made so liberal a proposition as Mr. Will. This is one offer which is not open to cries of "graft" or made for purely selfish interest. It is an offer to do something of permanent value for Plattsmouth and it ought to be accepted. The complaints which have been made every spring and fall by farmers who have been unable to get into the city to trade, should be heeded and steps taken to remedy the difficulty. The plan of A. S. Will offers a solution of the trouble at small expense to Plattsmouth.

Should the Will offer be accepted then it is up to the live ones on Washington avenue clear to the M. P. depot to get busy and remedy conditions which all agree are a disgrace to the beautiful thoroughfare. Let some public-spirited man along that avenue make an offer similar to A. S. Will and let the city do its part and macadamize both avenues. It means dollars to the city and its merchants and it is a big step toward a greater and busier Plattsmouth.

Funeral of Miss Thierolf.

The funeral services for the late Miss Elizabeth Thierolf were held yesterday afternoon from the home of her mother, Mrs. John D. Thierolf, two and one-half miles southeast of Cedar Creek at two o'clock. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors of this well beloved young lady and her mother, there being quite a number from this city and its immediate vicinity present.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Friedrich Spriegel and actually took place at the church near the Waldrat cemetery in which the remains of the deceased were interred. Rev. Spriegel preached a very eloquent sermon and paid a high tribute to the worth of the young lady who in her lifetime had stood so high in the community and who left behind her a large circle of sorrowing friends. The choir from Louisville rendered several of the sacred songs so well loved by the deceased in her lifetime. The remains were laid in their last resting place by pall bearers chosen from among the ranks of her many good friends.

There were very many floral tokens of the love and esteem of all who had known the deceased in her lifetime, a very large number coming from this city where she had lived during a number of years of her short life. At the time death took the young woman from among the living she lacked but one month of being twenty-five years of age. Had she lived until April 6th, she would have reached that age, her death taking place on March 6th, just one month prior to her anniversary.

There were several relatives present from abroad to attend the obsequies among them being L. Spatz and wife of Waldron, Neb., and Mrs. Wolf of Minnesota, the ladies being aunts of the departed. Among those from this city who attended the services were Philip Thierolf, John Bauer, Sr., Mrs. L. Born Mrs. John Albert. Deceased in her lifetime was a most lovable woman with many lovely qualities and she had a great many friends who extend their deepest sympathy to the sorrowing mother, sisters and brothers and who feel the loss as their own.

Orange Blossoms.

A marriage license has been issued out of county court today to Conrad Edward Lohnes, aged 27, of Louisville and Miss Mary Eva Meisinger, aged 24, of Cedar Creek. These two popular young people will be united in marriage within a very few days. They are both very well and favorably known in this city and in the vicinity where they reside. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Meisinger and is one of the fairest of Cass county's young women. She is a young lady of many accomplishments and enjoys the friendship and acquaintance of a very wide circle of acquaintances. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lohnes, two of the best known people of the vicinity of Louisville, and he is a young man of much worth and ability. Their many good friends will unite in the hope that they may have a long and very happy married life.
