

FEW NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Regarding the Stolen Goods Found Yesterday.

There were few new developments in the discovery of the merchandise yesterday by Samp, Karnes and Elder Blunt. The ownership of the goods has not yet been located and Chief Rainey who has been working on the case for some time, seems to be of the belief that they probably came from Omaha. It is thought some clue to the ownership will be found shortly when it will be easier to fix upon the probability as to who stole them. So far no claimants have appeared for them.

Samp Karnes last evening came to the city and learning he was wanted in connection with the matter went to see County Attorney Ramsey and told him his story of the finding of the goods. According to Karnes he and Blunt were walking along the Missouri Pacific tracks north to La Platte when they passed a ravine or rather draw to the east of the tracks and some distance north of the first overhead crossing on the Platte bottom road. Here Blunt pointed out to Karnes the goods lying in the hollow and partly concealed so that they were hard to see. The two did not go after the goods but went on to La Platte where Karnes says, they intended to secure work with the bridge gang working there. After they had gone on, Blunt suggested they go back and get the goods but Karnes says he declined to take any part in this and only agreed with Blunt not to say anything about it if he, Blunt, took them. Blunt then returned and the story of his finding them and hiding them under the wagon bridge is as told in the paper yesterday.

Karnes made every effort possible to convince the authorities that he did not have a thing to do with the handling of the goods and only happened to be there when they were found by Blunt. Just what Blunt has to say on this is not known as he has not yet put in an appearance.

The sheriff at Glenwood this morning telephoned Chief Rainey that both Blunt and Karnes were there but later the chief called him on the telephone and found that he was uncertain and the two men he had in mind were two who looked like the men wanted. Just where Blunt and Karnes are is not known but the officers are making all possible efforts to locate them and hope when Blunt is found to be able to get something from him which will be satisfactory to them and afford some clue to the probable source the goods came from.

The story told by Karnes does not look good to the officers who are skeptical about his being so entirely innocent as he claims to be. The fact that the goods were so concealed in the ditch as to render them hardly visible is something which detracts very much from the truthfulness of the story. Blunt, according to Karnes seemed to know just about where to look to locate the stuff when he called Karnes' attention to it. This is one thing which makes the officers so anxious to locate Blunt. There is nothing particular against him save the discrepancies in his story and Karnes and these he may be able to explain.

Delegate to National Encampment.

Col. H. C. McMaken returned last night from Fairbury, where he had been in attendance upon the convention of the G. A. R. Col. McMaken received a high honor at the hands of the convention, being chosen as one of the delegates to the national encampment to be held this year at Atlantic City, N. J. This is an honor which falls to few men and the Col. is justly proud of it. In addition to himself the delegates are Edward Updike, C. A. Sweet, J. B. Strode, Ira Griswold, H. V. Hoagland, W. C. Cathart, B. F. Smith and C. H. Horth. The meeting was the finest the order ever had in this state and the Col. is loud in praise of the people of Fairbury and the grand entertainment they put up. There was a magnificent chorus of children of 1,000 in number who certainly astonished the delegates. There were many other fine features. A list of the officers chosen appears in the telegraph columns of the Journal today.

Farewell Picnic.

The Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church is engaged this afternoon in giving a farewell picnic to Miss Allison Johnston, one of the prominent teachers in the public schools of the city. The gathering is being held at the standpipe park, a charming place for such affairs. Miss Johnston departs shortly for her summer vacation.

A. A. Schoeman, one of Louisville's good citizens, is in the city today looking after business.

In Police Court.

Judge Archer had one case of plain drunk before him this morning when John Roach who hailed from Creston, Ia., and who came to this city seeking work was haled before him on that charge. John was found by Chief Rainey in a state of intoxication on the street yesterday and when taken to the donjon keep, he straightway laid him down to sleep and this morning told the court just the what and the whyfore of his troubles. He had taken one too many in order to prime himself for seeking work, being well aware that that was the standard of condition in which a man should be who would seek labor in the community. This failed to satisfy the court and Judge Archer thereupon pleastered a coat of the celebrated Archer brand of justice on him to the tune of one simoleon and costs, amounting to more than John had with him, in consequence of which he was taken to jail to rest up for awhile.

Took a Prominent Part.

Mrs. George E. Dovey is in receipt of a letter from her daughters, Misses Alice and Ethel from New York, which states they were both placed in charge of the soda fountain at the Actor's Fund fair held in New York a few days since. The fountain is a part of the drug store scene in "The Fortune Hunter," the play in which Miss Ethel Dovey has been taking part, and it is one of the big scenes of the play. The two young ladies scored a great hit at the fountain and their receipts largely aided in swelling the grand total of the fair which was by far the most successful ever given by the Fund. The Actor's Fund is one of the leading charitable institutions of the state and has accomplished wonders in the way of philanthropic work among the stage people. The Misses Dovey write a very glowing letter of the fair and its brilliant success.

Old Man Halley's Trouble.

Old man Halley appears to have slipped one over on the boys here on earth the other night. It appears now he tucked his tail to one side when he passed the earth and that was never did touch him. The astronomers all over the world are surprised and from the tone of the interviews in the papers this morning they don't know much more of the cause of the trouble than us mortals. We can just imagine old Halley laughing when he hung the tail of his comet out yesterday morning in the east while all the world looked for it in the west. The explanation of the whole thing is that the tail curved off to one side as the earth approached it with the result the earth missed it entirely. Whether the earth will touch it or not is considered problematical now but the chances favor missing altogether.

PACIFIC JUNCTION NOTES.

(Mills County Tribune.)

Ola Fields has moved his family to Plattsmouth.

Jim O'Brien the painter, has gone west with his family to grow up with the country. They will locate near Sterling, Colorado, on a farm.

Considerable overhauling is being done at the depot lunch counter. Several new lines will be sold. The new manager is taking hold with a vim. His name is Bentley Nunn.

The Junction is bound to feel the benefit in some way of the big expenditure of thirty million dollars which the "Q" will make this year. Possibly it means a new depot, an addition to the round house and other improvements.

John Gamblin, employed in the yards, is laid up with a badly mashed foot and broken instep. He was assisting in unloading ballast when his foot was caught by the plow which scrapes the ballast from the car. It was a painful bruise.

H. H. McCarthy recalls the time when the earth passed through a comet's tail 49 years ago. This was in August, 1861, but it was not till afterwards that the scientists discovered the fact. "Mac" recalls that there was such a brilliant aurora display at dead of night that he could read a newspaper, and it was the finest he ever saw.

Engineer Carn of Lincoln, now running in the passenger pool between Creston and Lincoln, has the distinction of having the only steamboat whistle on this stretch of the "Q" road. He rigged the thing up himself. He has been on a freight run until lately. He was on No. 3 Wednesday. Hereafter, when you hear that particular whistle you will know who pulls the throttle.

Conducting Examination.

Miss Foster is engaged today in conducting the examination of applicants for teachers' certificates in this county today. Another examination is being held in Weeping Water today, also. There are a large number of applications for certificates and these are engaged in taking the examination. Among the out of town applicants are Miss Ethel Haynie of Pacific Junction, Ia., Miss Fern Kline of Cedar Creek, Miss Eva Porter of Mynard, Miss Ednah and Mayola Probst of Mynard. There are also a great many applicants from this city.

J. A. Lloyd of Cedar Creek came in last evening and registered for the night at the Perkins hotel.

CLEAN STREETS DEMONSTRATED

Work Will Begin in Earnest On Chicago Avenue Early Next Week.

A force of men have been engaged today in washing the mud and dirt from the Main street pavement, taking advantage of the wet weather to do the work effectively. Councilman Will devoted several hours this morning to a practical demonstration of what could be accomplished in the way of cleaning the streets by the use of the hose and still leave the pavement in a good condition. The result of his work was clearly apparent as he succeeded in getting the work done in good time and without tearing up the pavement or washing the sand out from between the paving blocks. The result of the endeavors of the councilman, Street Commissioner Rebal and the men under him the upper end of Main street is clean and leaves a surface which can be crossed without any detriment to a woman's or man's clothes. This process can be carried out every now and then and the result will be clean streets at small expense. The contract between the city and the Plattsmouth Water company provides for the city using water for either sprinkling purposes or for washing the streets but not both and this the company construed this morning as not permitting the city to wash the streets without paying extra for the water. Councilman Will visited the manager of the company and after considerable argument succeeded in getting him to consent to the use of the water in this particular case. The company waived its right to pay for water for this time and gave the city the water free of cost.

Work on Chicago avenue will be resumed next week, weather permitting. Councilman Will having received formal notification from the Nebraska Telephone company that men would be put at work on Monday moving the poles of the company along Chicago avenue to permit the grading to be commenced. This will be good news but even it will probably result in throwing the work behind considerable. The season is now coming on when the farmers teams will be called to the fields and when this takes place it is going to leave Mr. Will decidedly short on teams. He has the promise of a number of teams from the country to do the grading work and his own teams will be put on the work but if the corn plowing starts up now, it means that many of these teams will not be available for several weeks. Mr. Will is hopeful that planting will not make too great inroad on the help he needs and that he can soon get the road in shape for the rock.

Manager Davis of the telephone company has made every effort to get the company stirred into action and is well pleased with the result. A few days more delay would have probably resulted in further complications and troubles between the city and the company as the city authorities are getting exasperated over the apparent indifference which was being paid to their request and had about decided to topple the poles over into the creek. As it is the squabble is averted and the work will now proceed.

Graduating Exercises.

The graduating exercises of the Plattsmouth city schools will be held at the Parme on Friday evening, May 27. An exceptionally large class will receive diplomas this year, the class numbering thirty-two students. In addition to the program rendered by the class an address will be delivered by Dr. W. M. Davidson of Omaha, one of the leading educators of the middle west. At the National Association of Superintendents and principals recently held at Indianapolis it was said by many that the address of Dr. Davidson was the best of the week. He has promised an address prepared especially for the occasion and those who hear him on that occasion will have a rare treat. An admission fee of twenty-five cents will be charged to defray expenses. Seats will go on sale Monday at the Riley and those applying first will be given their choice of seats. You cannot afford to miss this event. Remember the date.

Special Naturalization Examiner Anthony of Denver, Col., today held a hearing at the office of Clerk of the Court Robertson and passed upon two applications for second papers. The second papers were allowed to August Alevan of Louisville and the second papers of Max Herman refused as his brother, one of his witnesses did not have second papers for himself and was not a competent witness.

Andy Seybert from near Cullom is spending the day in the city looking after business matters.

DEATH AT THE MASONIC HOME

Henry Johnson, an Aged Inmate Passed Away This Morning.

DIED—Johnson, Henry, at the Masonic home, Plattsmouth, Nebraska, on Saturday, May 21, 1910, of uremia, aged 81 years, 7 months and 6 days. Funeral at Wahoo, Neb., on Sunday, May 22, 1910, under auspices of the Masonic order.

After an illness extending over several months Henry Johnson at one time one of the most prominent men in Saunders county and in eastern Nebraska, passed to his reward. For some time past his life had been despaired of owing to heart troubles and other complications, uremia being the direct cause of his demise. Deceased was well known in this city where he had had many business dealings during his life time and was highly esteemed and respected. He was always in his life time a thoroughly upright and most estimable man and all who knew him honor and respect his memory.

Deceased was born in Wayne county, Ind., on October 15, 1828, and at the time of his death was approaching the age of eighty-two years. At an early age he came to Nebraska and for many years was in the livery business and also in the horse business. He accumulated a fortune in this business which afterwards he lost in unfortunate business speculations. From Ashland, deceased moved to Wahoo where he became a member of lodge No. 55, A. F. & A. M.

and was one of its most prominent and influential members. While at Wahoo Mr. Johnson entered into the fast horse business and for many years he raced horses over the United States and Canada. Retired States owning some of the best and speediest animals to be had. He also was honored by the citizens of Saunders county with election to the office of sheriff and in this position he gave great satisfaction, filling the office in an excellent manner. Mr. Johnson's wife died a number of years ago and he is not survived by any family.

The remains of this excellent man will be interred at Wahoo, his old home tomorrow, Sunday, May 22, the body being taken to that city this afternoon on the Schuyler train. Messrs. J. N. Davis and H. K. Marcey of Wahoo came down this morning and will accompany the remains to that place. Mr. Johnson was admitted to the Masonic home in this city on May 5, 1909, where he has since spent his days.

Poisoned Hand.

Ed. Kruger, the driver of Soen nichsen's delivery wagon, has been taking a layoff of several days suffering from a poisoned hand. The young man scratched his hand on a piece of brass about a week ago but paid little attention to the matter until it became infected and commenced to swell up. It was necessary to have the hand and arm lanced several times by a surgeon before the effects of the poison could be counteracted but it is believed now that the serious trouble is over and that all which will be required now is time in which to permit the hand to heal up. It will be several days, however, before he is able to go to work again.
