

WORK ON THE NEW ROAD TO THE MISSOURI RIVER BEGAN

The Big Grader Now on the Grounds and in Active Operation in Construction of New Road.

Work was commenced this morning on the new road which is to be built along the sand bar in front of the city from the foot of Main street to the ferry below the Burlington bridge. The road, as finally determined upon will follow the route of the old ferry road over the bar, running straight out to the east from the Main street viaduct until it approaches the chute on the side of the river, thence turning to the south and following the high ridge along the bar to a union with the road which winds along the base of the bluffs. County Surveyor Patterson this morning located the high points on the bar for the committee so that they would have a line following the highest elevation.

The committee last Saturday evening visited the river front after the heavy downpour and watched the course which the waters from the sewer and Main street took. They found that to build the road directly south from the Main street viaduct would bring it directly in the path of the flow from both these outlets and it was determined to throw the bank up north of and above both these points, running east until the highest point on the bar was reached and then to continue south along this ridge. This will necessitate a bridge at the crossing of the road and the sewer outlet near the bend close to the mouth of happy hollow, and this bridge will be put in strong enough and high enough to permit the passage of the waters. The work this morning consisted of moving stumps, logs, cans, and all other junk, into shape for burial in the bank which is to be graded up with the elevated grader. The latter piece of machinery is here, and will start today on the work of putting the bank in place. It is the belief that the work can be hurried along and the road gotten into shape within a comparatively short time.

The action of the committee in changing the course of the road so as to avoid the low ground and get out of the range of the flow from the sewer and the Main street overflow is commended by those who have looked into the matter. It is not believed that the road will approach close enough to the river to cause any danger from currents in the time of high water. The committee feels that the waters from the river when it is at flood stage will go into the low land on the west of the proposed road before it reaches the bank along the east side of the road. This being the case the committee thinks any current which may come from the flood will bow down through the low ground on the west and will not harm the bank on the east.

Anyway, the fact remains that the work is now under way and there is every reason to think it will be finished very shortly, and that Plattsmouth will have a road from the city to the ferry. This means a great advantage to those who want to trade here from Iowa, and it insures them a good road the year around.

It is a fact not generally known to autoists, that the cost of crossing the river here and going to Omaha is much below the charge made for crossing the river at Louisville, and with the completion of this road, a much better course to the city is in sight. After leaving the ferry on the Iowa side autoists will have a straight smooth and level road all the way to Council Bluffs, instead of a hill road such as the Louisville road is for some distance. This ought to result in diverting much of the traffic which has been using the Platte river bridge by way of the ferry here and up the Iowa side.

Enforced Layoff.

Ben Brooks is taking an enforced layoff from work today owing to his having been too strong yesterday and thinking his fist was harder than the handle of a plow which he was manipulating. He struck the handle with the back of his hand splitting the knuckles squarely across. The injury did not give him a great deal of trouble and he went on with his work. In some manner he got something in the hand which became infected and started to swell up. He had to go to a physician and have it dressed and passed a very uncomfortable night. This morning he is feeling better and doubtless will soon be himself once more.

HAPPY WEDDING BELLS RING OUT

Ernest J. Tuey and Miss Mollie Seivers United in Wedlock.

A very handsome wedding took place last evening at the Methodist church when Pastor W. L. Austin united in marriage Mr. Ernest Tuey and Miss Mollie Seivers, two of Plattsmouth's most popular young people. There was a very large attendance of friends at the auspicious nuptials, quite a number of invitations having been issued and there being a large number of out of town guests present.

For the occasion the church had been modestly but effectively decorated in American Beauty roses—that handsomest of flowers. One especially impressive piece of decorating was a very large bouquet of this handsome rose.

At promptly eight o'clock the strains of the wedding march pealed forth from the piano, the pianist being Miss Jennie Tuey, a cousin to the groom, and the wedding party entered the church. Preceded by the ring bearer, little Miss Dorie McDaniel of Council Bluffs, who carried the ring in a very large, long-stemmed American Beauty rose, and the ribbon bearers, little Misses Gladys Wray and Thelma Denson, the bride came down the center aisle of the church upon the arm of her father, James W. Seiver, while the maid of honor and the bridesmaids came down the north aisle and the groom and best man and groomsmen entered by way of the south aisle, the entire party meeting at the chancel where Rev. Austin waited to pronounce the words which were to bind the two young hearts for life. The bride carried the usual large bouquet of bride roses and most charmingly attired in white mesalline with white tulle veil. The maid of honor, Miss Zelma Tuey carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas and was attired in pink satin. The bridesmaids were Miss Edna Wray who was gowned in green, Miss Alice Tuey whose gown was cream colored, Miss Hazel Tuey who was attired in blue, Miss Lillian Thompson gowned in heliotrope, and Miss Clara Austin dressed in green silk.

The best man was Jennings Seiver, a brother of the bride while the groomsmen were Messrs. R. G. Rawls, A. O. Moore, Herman Eelers of Omaha, George Hall and Don Seiver.

The ceremony which took place at the chancel was the charming and handsome ring service, the bride being given away by her father, and Rev. Austin pronouncing the words of the ceremony. Throughout the performance Miss Jennie Tuey at the piano, played softly. Immediately after the close of the ceremony the guests rose and formed in line through which the bridal party passed from the church.

After the ceremony at the church a reception was tendered the newly wedded party at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Seivers which was very largely attended. One very pleasant feature of the gathering at the home was a visit from the Plattsmouth Cornet Band of the city who called and gave the happy couple several selections of music. Refreshments, dainty and delicious, were served throughout the course of the reception. There were many handsome and expensive presents made the couple and they received the sincere congratulations of a very large number of friends.

The newly wedded couple are very well known in this city where they have lived for so many years, and where they have spent the greater portion of their lives. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Tuey, and is a young man of exceptional worth and character. He has pronounced business ability, and has already made an excellent start in the world, having attained a good position with an Omaha firm as salesman. He is personally one of the most agreeable and popular of men and all who come in contact with him have learned to respect and esteem his many excellent qualities of heart and hand.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Seivers, of this city, and a young lady who has grown to womanhood here. She is a very handsome and accomplished young lady and has made herself a host of friends by her personal charm and attractiveness. She has long been considered one of the city's most popular young ladies and one whom it was a supreme pleasure to know.

For the present the happy couple make their home in this city although they will probably later depart to some other point where Mr. Tuey's business may call him.

Wendel Hell, one of Eight Mile Grove's leading stock raisers and a good farmer, was among those in the city looking after business matters.

Poor Prospects.
Robert Shrader, one of the best known citizens of Nehawka, came in this morning and paid the Journal a pleasant visit. Mr. Shrader renewed his subscription to the paper and incidentally, paid it a fine compliment, stating that it "was like getting a letter from home," he having at one time been a resident of this city. Mr. Shrader is a good farmer and an excellent citizen and the Journal is pleased to know that it suits him. He is like most other farmers this year and is not at all pleased with the cold weather which this section is having at present. He reports it as hard on growing crops and keeping corn back very badly.

ANOTHER VERY PRETTY WEDDING

Mr. Carl Mauritz Holmberg and Miss Heled Alfrida Roman the Happy Couple.

A very pretty and interesting home wedding was solemnized last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Roman in South Park when Rev. John Swanson of Wahoo, pastor of the Swedish Mission church, spoke the words which united in wedlock Mr. Carl Mauritz Holmberg and Miss Heled Alfrida Roman.

For the occasion the delightful residence of the bride's parents had been tastily decorated in pink and white throughout, the color scheme being that of design in the dining room as well as in the parlors where the ceremony was performed. Over the deep recesses of the bay-window where the holy words were pronounced hung a large wedding bell of the same hues. There were a very large number of friends of the contracting parties present in the parlors when the words which made these two popular people one were uttered.

The ceremony took place at eight o'clock promptly when the bride supported by her father entered the parlor and met the groom who was attended by his best man and the groomsmen before Rev. Swanson who then went through the ceremony as given by the Swedish church. The bride was very charming in a white silk gown with white tulle veil and carrying a large and exceedingly handsome bouquet of bride roses. She had as bridesmaids Miss Roman of Edgemont, S. D., Miss Holmberg, a sister of the groom and the bride's sister, Miss Roman, all of whom were gowned in exceeding good taste and were very charming in appearance. The groom was escorted to his place before the minister by his best man and groomsmen, Messrs. Guy Roman, Edward Roman and Pethier Holmberg, the latter of Lincoln.

Immediately following the performance of the ceremony a reception was had which was very largely attended, and this was followed by a very elaborate supper of three courses, served by Mrs. Roman, mother of the bride, who was assisted in the serving by Miss Carlson of Omaha, Miss Nord and Miss Berggren of this city. The repast was an elegant one and greatly enjoyed by all present. The happily wedded couple received from their many friends numerous very handsome and exceedingly expensive wedding gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmberg departed this afternoon for Minneapolis and points in Minnesota where they will make an extended wedding trip and later will be at home to their many friends in Lincoln which city will be their future home.

The groom is a well known and popular Burlington employe, being engaged in the engine service on that road. For many years he made his home in this city where his high character and standing is so well known and appreciated. He is a gentleman of great worth and ability and one to whom success has come through his own hard efforts. He is at present employed by the Burlington and has excellent prospects for advancement in his chosen business. Personally, he is of the kind of men to make friends with all who know him and this has been proven during his long stay in this city and its vicinity.

The bride is the charming and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Roman of this city, a young lady with a great many good friends here and one whom everyone knows to respect and esteem. She possesses a great many womanly qualities such as are most admirable and with these she has a pleasing personality which has brought her friends by the score.

The many good friends of this happy couple will unite in congratulations to them and wish them a very long and happy wedded life.

NIGHT OFFICER SECURES HOB

Young Lad Falls Asleep and is Taken by Dr. H. M. Young.

Night Officer Howard M. Young who is some sleuth, shortly after midnight last night trailed down a clue which might have terminated in startling circumstances had it turned out that way. The brave officer—and he is known to all men, he is some brave officer—was on his nightly beat down the alley back of the store of F. S. White when he discovered two persons of the male sex who listened to him like malefactors. Now a malefactor in the night is a suspicious party and the good officer took a long breath and a firm grip upon his trusty cannon and hailed said two malefactors in a loud voice. One of them leaped to his feet and in the twinkling of an eye had vanished amid the Stygian darkness with which moved not nor did he stir and the officer crept upon him even as dread pestilence moves upon its hapless victim. Presently he was within reaching distance and he seized upon and did then and there and thereby yank said suspicious character out from under the porch where he was sleeping. All this happened at the extreme rear of F. S. White's store building in the alley between Main and Pearl streets in the city of Plattsmouth, county of Cass and state of Nebraska. The find proved to be a lad some fifteen years of age who could not explain to the officer why he had gone to sleep there nor would he tell anything about the other party whom the shrewd man had scared out. In consequence the lad was taken to goal to spend the remainder of the night while the officer trailed up and down the streets and alleys in search of the other party but failed to locate him. This morning Chief Rainey took a hand in the game and cross-examined the lad finding him to be one of the genus embryo hobo, with no indication of being a high born criminal or low born desperado in his blood, consequently because he let him go hence untrammelled and as free as the joyous east wind.

"It cured me," or "it saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowels complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy is that it cures. Sold by all dealers.

Mrs. A. L. Baker of Murray is a visitor today in this city, coming up from her home this morning.

The Late John Dreamer.

Some days since the Journal chronicled briefly the death of John Dreamer, father of Mrs. Charles Cook, living southwest of this city, at his home near Elmwood. This aged man was called at the ripe period of 81 years, 8 months and 4 days, having been born on September 18, 1828, in Germany, and departing this life at Elmwood on May 22, 1910. The deceased came to this country in the year 1861 settling in Missouri and in 1871, moving to Nebraska, locating near the now town of Alvo. He remained a resident of that vicinity until about eight years ago when he removed to Elmwood. He was married in Missouri to Anna Wuermann and of this union ten children were born, two of whom have since died. Since the year 1874, he had been a devout member of the Evangelical church and to the end had retained his faith in a glorious hereafter. He had been ill for a long time and had borne his sufferings patiently, being resigned to await the Divine Will. His surviving relatives consist of a widow, two sons, seven daughters, twenty-five grand children and two great grandchildren.

Deceased was a most upright and conscientious man and one whom everyone retained the highest respect and esteem for. He was the soul of honor and integrity and none stood higher in the consideration of his neighbors than he. In his death there passes one of the best men of the county and the sorrowing widow and children can rest assured that they have the sincere and heartfelt sympathy of all in their great loss and bereavement.
