Leyda and others against Gering & Co., the controversy being over the permit to sell liquor granted to that company by the city council. LINCOLN BOND ISSUE BEATEN

Defeat of $500,000 Project for Improvements.

LIQUOR ISSUE CUT FIGURE.

One Explanation of Vote is That "Wets" Opposed Movement—Proposition Included $315,000 in Bonds for New High School Building, $100,000 for Park and $50,000 for Sewers.

Lincoln, July 2.—The defeat of the bond issue here has called forth many explanations of the vote cast. The proposed bond issue included $315,000 for a high school building, $100,000 for the extension of Antelope park and the purchase of Lincoln park, and $50,000 for the extension of the sewer system.

Lincoln never witnessed a harder fight for a proposition than was put up for favorable action on the bonds. One explanation of the vote is that "wets" opposed the bonds issue in retaliation for saloons being voted out.

In answer to the criticism that the "wets" defeated the bond issue it was pointed out that former Mayor Brown, who is opposed to prohibition was one of the principal boosters while Dr. Winnett, one of the principal "drys," was opposed to the issue of bonds.

SENDS THEM TO RATE SHEETS

Calves Born on Stock Train Lead to Row Over Freight.

Lincoln, July 2.—The railway commission has a case which it is willing to permit any well balanced person to suggest the answer. It has been referred also to the headquarters of the Burlington railroad. It has to do with the shipment of five horses and five cows from Midland, S. D., to Bennett by Guy Salisbury. The agent at Midland counted only the ten head of stock and charged accordingly. The agent at Bennett counted twelve head. Two calves had been born en route. The agent at Bennett demanded payment for the shipment of the two additional head of live stock. The shipper insisted that he had paid freight on the entire shipment. The agent argued that as he had to check out twelve head he must charge for twelve head. The agent also argued that the freight would have to be paid clear from Midland. The shipper did not know where the extra freight should begin to accrue. So finally the shipper reported to the commission the commission read tariff sheets for a week and passed it up to the local headquarters and the officials there passed it on to Chicago and the latest reports indicate that the interstate commerce commission will have to decide the case. It is unlawful for the railroad to charge less than the regular rate and it is also unlawful for it to charge more. The extra cost is freight would amount to about $40.

NITRITE OF SODIUM FED TO GUINEA PIGS

Expert Testifies for Millers in Bleached Flour Hearing.

Kansas City, July 2.—The introduction of evidence for the millers in the bleached flour trial in the federal court is finished. The government will introduce little rebuttal evidence.

Dr. E. R. Lecump of Rush Medical college, Chicago, testified that he had analyzed the blood of guinea pigs and rats, to which a little nitrite of sodium had been given every day for three weeks, and failed to discover that the blood had been injured in any way.

On cross-examination the witness was asked if the results of his examination of the blood of the rats and guinea pigs in his mind justified the practice of putting nitrites in flour to bleach it. He answered that if the nitrites were put in the flour for a good reason and had no harmful effect he thought the practice was justifiable. Dr. Lecump said that nitrite in a sufficient quantity is a poison.

TAFT CONFERS WITH KNAPP

Administration of New Rate Law is Discussed.

POWER TO SUSPEND LIMITED.

Calling Off of Increases Only to Be Used in Exceptional Cases—Authority Not to Be Used Arbitrarily or to Hinder Legitimate Business of the Railroads.

Beverly, Mass., July 2.—President Taft had a long talk with Chairman Knapp of the interstate commerce commission regarding the administration of the new railway rate law.

At the conclusion of the interview it was made plain that the added authority given to the commission by the new statute is not to be used arbitrarily or for the purpose of hindering the railroads in the conduct of their legitimate business. The power to suspend new rates, probably the most direct weapon placed in the hands of the commission, is to be used only in exceptional cases.

Chairman Knapp told the president that the commission already had refused an application under the new law for a suspension of increased rates on horse vehicles and automobiles. He said that there was nothing on the face of things to show that the new rates were unjust or unreasonable. The interstate commerce commission will not attempt to fix definite rates for the railroads and the power of suspension will be applied only to rates when a preliminary hearing gives indication that they are excessive.

Further information regarding the interview between President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt tended to confirm the reports that the visit was almost wholly of a personal and social nature.

President Taft expressed regret to several of his callers over the defeat in the New York assembly of the Cobb direct primary bill, which was advocated by Governor Hughes and publicly endorsed by Roosevelt.

Failed to Win.

A good story of a good thing which went wrong is told of John Woster. He started out yesterday on a walk to Oreapolis for a prize of $2 which he had wagered with one of his friends that he could cover the territory between this town and Oreapolis in one hour and forty minutes, including a return to the city. That is going some but John is some fast man on his feet. He took the precaution to take his shoes off and do the stunt in his bare tootsie-wootsies which is some stunt with the thermometer at 95 above low water mark and the sun working over time. John was a game lobster, however, and walked the entire distance, losing several pounds in weight in the process. He failed to win the goal, however, and failed by a measly ten minutes which he could just as well as not have made had he been so disposed. He was some peeved over the outcome, and the boys had them some laugh at his expense. His feet haven't been heard from this morning but they have to pay the cost of the trip in the long run.
