Another M. P. Wreck.

The Missouri Pacific last evening had one of its proverbially lucky wrecks on its Omaha-Auburn line, at a point two miles south of Louisville. The south bound passenger train No. 138, which is due out of Louisville about 5:25 p. m., was the train which went off the rails and fortunately the wreck did no more damage than to tear up a section of track and derail the locomotive, tank, baggage, combination and day coaches.

The train was running at a slow rate of speed when the accident occurred which accounted for the fact that the passengers were uninjured. The cause of the wreck is said to have been rotten ties which allowed the rails to spread and the engine to drop upon the ties. These were cut in two by the wheels and the track was torn up for about 300 feet.

A freight train following the passenger into Louisville furnished an engine which was sent to the scene of the wreck and the passengers on the train removed to Louisville in the car which remained on the rails. They were compelled to remain in Louisville all night.

Entertains Jolly Eight Card Club.

The cozy home of Mrs. Val Burkel was the scene of a delightful card party yesterday afternoon when she entertained the Jolly Eight Card club. The principal amusement was derived from the card games of which there were several played. The usual interest and enthusiasm was displayed in the playing of each game. Mrs. Burkel captured the first prize and Mrs. Crocary the booby prize.

Following the card games, a dainty luncheon was served, this luncheon being one which the hostess only knows best how to prepare and which the guests found a source of constant delight. An hour or so spent in social conversation and various other amusement brought to a close another delightful afternoon, the members of the Jolly Eight club have spent together.

Those in attendance were Mesdames John Lutz, C. R. Burdick, Crocary, P. Goos, J. M. Johns, L. B. Egenberger; Misses Paula Goos, Rose Mumm.

It Pays to Advertise.

It surely does pay to advertise. Yesterday J. W. Renner found a very small gold locket at the corner of Third and Main streets and he spoke to the Journal man about it. An item was printed in last evening's paper and at 7 o'clock this morning he told the reporter that he had two claimants for the locket already and believed that the owner was found. That is quick action and shows that printer's ink is effective. There is a lesson in this for the enterprising. If it finds owners for property, then it will find buyers for property. Use the Journal small ads and be happy and wax prosperous.

Taking in the Big Show.

Ringling's circus exhibited today in Omaha and drew a large crowd of visitors to the city from this vicinity. It was noted, however, that the attendance was not nearly so large as at many times in the past and the crowd probably was not a great deal above the ordinary number from the forepart of the week. The circus was not advertised around this place as thoroughly as is customary with this aggregation and this fact probably resulted in the decreased attendance. However, as it is there were plenty going to attend the show and the amount of money which flowed into Omaha as a result would help out quite respectably in business circles in this vicinity if it was retained here.

THE HOME OF SATISFACTION

To Raise Company.

The progress of forming a company of national guards in this city is said to be coming along very nicely now and there is every prospect that the company will be raised very easily. Adjutant General John C. Hartigan of the national guard, is to be here on next Friday night and look the field over, delivering a talk to the boys on the uses, duties and benefits of a militia company. So far there has been enough signers to the agreement now to form a company and if they stand by it, the company can be put through without trouble. The formation of a company here has been the dream of a number of the young men for some time past and it now looks to be in process of formation. The Nebraska National Guard under General Hartigan has improved wonderfully and it is considered one of the best disciplined and drilled state guards in the union. General Hartigan is a strict disciplinarian and the boys will find that the guard's life is not all tin soldier but has its hardwork in connection just as well. The young men who have signed the paper are all made of the right stuff, however, and are not afraid to work and they will doubtless make themselves familiar with the routine which governs the soldier's life and will prove themselves able and capable soldiers.

Father Higgins of Manley has been spending several days in the city with Father Shine, the two gentlemen being passengers this morning for Omaha where they will spend the day.

No Trace of Insane Man.

No trace had been discovered of James Harris, the demented man who escaped from his nurses early Saturday morning at his home on the east side of the river and the impression grows that the man has succeeded in committing suicide. The foot prints which were traced to the river's edge seem to bear this out and the impression is that he threw himself into the river at some point about the ferry landing. While the search for him has not been discontinued, the searchers are decidedly depressed and have little hope that he can be located.

George W. Shrader the well known Rock Bluffs precinct citizen, is in the city attending to business today.
