

EASTERN SECTION OF CASS COUNTY VISITED BY MUCH NEEDED RAIN

Heavy Hail Storm Does Considerable Damage on the Dovey Section Northwest of This City.

This city and its immediate vicinity received the first rainfall of any consequence for the past two months, yesterday afternoon. The fall in this city as shown by the gauge at the Burlington station was an even half inch and at points west and southwest it was slightly in excess of this, being estimated at from three-quarters to one inch. The downpour, small as it was, was of incalculable value to growing crops, especially corn and will enable that cereal to continue to make a growth. From south of the city reports come that the fall was about the same as here and this, in addition to several other showers of the past ten days makes some of the fields almost certain to produce a good crop. The rainfall did not extend any great distance into the country and ended this side of the Otter county line. West, the rain extended some eight miles or more and north it reached across the county line and over to LaPlatte in Sarpy county. The fall at the latter point was very light, however, and north of that place it ceased entirely.

Hail accompanied the rain from the Platte to as far south of Murray. In the city it was light and did not do any damage but it was sufficiently heavy out at Streight's place northwest of the city and at Kunsman & Range's to cover the ground and spread a white sheet over the surface. Reports from west and southwest of the city indicate that the hail did some damage and was strong enough to break window lights and raise havoc with growing corn. There was considerable wind with the hail southwest of the city and the greater part of the damage can be laid to the wind more than to the hail. Small grain which had not been harvested such as oats and wheat were the greatest sufferers and there will be quite a bit of loss from this source. At the Dovey section southwest of the city, the storm seems to have been pretty severe and the man occupying the place called up George E. Dovey to tell him that the hail had swept the fields and that corn had been stripped in some places. He was engaged in cutting his oats at the time the storm struck and he stated that the oats which were left uncut would be a total loss. It is not believed that corn suffered much as the stand is strong and vigorous now and would withstand a severe hail storm. The windows in the house on the north and west sides were broken out. The report from the Dovey section is the most discouraging heard and it is believed the loss is exaggerated. On the whole the farmers in this section were well pleased with the downpour and believe that it will do a great deal of good. Another heavy storm passed around the city during the night and it was hoped that some of the rain in that storm would strike here but it did not. This storm went north, Omaha receiving a good soaking and passed off toward the southeast, going down through Iowa.

Owing to the extremely dry condition of the ground, the rainfall soaked in quickly and very little ran off in the streams and ditches. There was quite a little stream flowing down Main street for a few moments after the rain but it soon ceased. The general feeling among the farmers is that a downfall for twenty-four hours is what is needed to put corn in an absolutely safe position, although the scattering showers have helped a good deal in that direction.

Later reports from the neighborhood of the Dovey section, the Meisinger farm, Charles C. Parmele's farm and other places in the immediate vicinity of the above indicate the loss was much more severe than had been thought at first. Farmers from that locality who came to the city confirm the first news of the loss and stated that further investigation indicated that the loss was greater than imagined at first. Wheat and oats which were standing in the fields were literally destroyed, the straw being beaten into the ground and the heads threshed out as clean as if a machine had done the job. The corn which was in the affected district is looked upon as a total loss and the plant is stripped of its leaves and ruined. There is some consolation in the fact that the district over which the storm swept was a comparatively small and narrow one and that the storm was not general. Despite this the loss in the aggregate will be pretty heavy and the blow to those who lived in the district is a very severe one.

The storm which went around this city last evening was very heavy in Omaha and through western Iowa, a good rain falling accompanied by much lightning which did a good deal of damage. In Omaha there was a good deal of wind with the storm and the Sells-Floto shows which were exhibiting there, had to take their tent down on that account before the show was over. No hail is reported in that section, however.

Yesterday is the banner hot weather day of the year, the country over. The highest recorded temperature for the day was 109 degrees, both at Wichita, Kas., and Enid, Okla., with a short distance of each other. At Lincoln the temperature recorded was 105 which is mighty hot weather for this section. Abeline, Texas reports a temperature of 100 with Kansas City likewise. The wave was accompanied by hot winds at different times and the result was a booming corn market, fear of drouth sending the price of the cereal up. Dodge City, Kas., out in the western part had a temperature of 102.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. JACOB HORN

Pioneer Lady Passes Away at Home of Daughter, Mrs. William Hassler.

DIED—Horn, Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth, at her late residence in Plattsmouth, Nebraska, July 26, 1910, of general debility, aged 82 years, 1 month and 16 days. Funeral from St. Paul's German Evangelical church in Plattsmouth, Nebraska, on Friday, July 29, 1910, at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Steger officiating. Interment at Oak Hill cemetery.

A lingering illness came to a peaceful close last evening at 9:07 o'clock when the life of Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Horn, widow of the late Jacob Horn, passed away. The storms of many winters had beaten about this noble woman and had turned her locks from the hues of early and middle age to the whiteness of snow and through all of them she had gone steadily and faithfully forward to the end of her destiny, secure in the knowledge that her life was of the most pure and serene and her Christian faith of that splendid type which can calmly wait the inevitable. In her life time which had been largely spent within a few miles of this city, the deceased had come to be known as one of the most noble of women. Always a most sincere and ardent Christian and a woman of great nobleness of character she leaves behind her only the best and most faithful of friends. She was that character of woman whom to know was to love and whose passing away leaves a void in the hearts of her friends which time can never fill. To those who are left to survive here, there is the ever welcome and ready word of sympathy from a large and sorrowing number of good friends to whom the news of her death carried a message of the most sorrowful nature.

Mrs. Horn born Margaret Elizabeth Lammert, first saw the light in the province of Hesse-Darmstadt, Germany, on June 11, 1828. Here she spent her childhood days until in the year 1848 when she came to America, settling at Pekin, Ill. One year later or in 1849, she met and was wooed by Jacob Horn, one of the sturdy type of German citizens who have so indelibly impressed themselves upon America. This union was a most happy one. Living in Illinois until the year 1857, Mr. and Mrs. Horn removed to the state of Nebraska, locating in this city where they lived for two years after which they removed to a farm several miles west of the city, taking up a homestead or preemption. It was upon this farm that the deceased and her husband lived until death claimed the latter in the year 1884. Of late years deceased had been making her home in this city with her daughter, Mrs. William Hassler.

To the union of Mr. and Mrs. Horn seven children were born, viz: Mrs. Eva A. Loudenslager of Orchard, Neb., Mrs. Maggie Koehneke of Hay Springs, Neb., Philip Horn of Hay Springs, Neb., Mrs. Mary Hassler of this city, Mrs. W. B. Johnson of Canton, Ill., George P. Horn of Cedar Creek, Neb., William Hagadorn of Hay Springs, Neb., most of the by the attending physician of approaching dissolution, were present at her bedside when the Dread Visitor came.

The funeral of the well beloved and most highly respected lady will take place on Friday, July 29, 1910, at 2:30 p. m., from St. Paul's German Evangelical church in this city, Rev. Steger officiating. During the many years of her long and useful life, deceased was a most devout adherent of this church and sank to rest in the full knowledge that her piety would receive its just reward upon the Golden Shores. Interment will be made at Oak Hill cemetery, the pall bearers chosen being nephews of the deceased, the six Meisinger brothers being chosen. These are: Messrs. J. M., P. H., Conrad, Jacob, George P., and H. J. Meisinger.

Perhaps the taking away of no aged lady for a long time has aroused so much heartfelt sympathy among the general public as the death of Mrs. Horn and her many relatives can best assured of the deepest and most profound sympathy of all in their affection and bereavement.

Having a Good Time.

Mrs. O. M. Streight today received a card from J. W. Sage and wife at Blessing, Texas, stating that they were having a mighty fine time that they were enjoying themselves to the limit. They expect to get back toward the north at once and will stop several days at Enid, Okla.

James Chalfant, one of the best men from the vicinity of Murray, came up this morning from his home and spent several hours in the city attending to business matters.

MAKE FAST TRIP IN AUTOMOBILE

County Clerk Morgan and Dr. E. D. Cummins "Go Some"

Dr. E. D. Cummins and County Clerk Morgan departed this morning from this city for the county to distribute the election notices over the county. They had Dr. Cummins' Ford car and proceeded to make some time which looks amazing to people unacquainted with the amount of speed which these cars can make. They left this city at 5 o'clock and proceeded to Louisville where they turned south and went to Manley from which point they headed for Murdock and from there to Greenwood. Crossing to Alvo they proceeded to Eagle and then to Elmwood and Weeping Water. Turning south again they went to Avoca and across to Nehawka and then to Union. Here they turned to the north and stopped at Murray and then east into Rock Bluffs precinct and to this city. They arrived here at 1:30 p. m., having taken eight and one-half hours and covered practically all of Cass county. This is some record and Dr. Cummins is well pleased with the results of the car which certainly is making some endurance record. In a little over half a day they covered the territory which has about 30,000 people scattered over it and which is from forty-five miles long to twenty miles across. The Ford is entitled to all credit the good run as the car came in in vne shape.

Death at Louisville.

Word was received in this city this morning of the death at Louisville last evening of Mrs. W. C. Dorsey, the highly respected and well beloved wife of the postmaster of that place. Mrs. Dorsey departed this life last night at 9:30 o'clock after a brief illness. She was quite well acquainted in this city and its vicinity and had many good friends who will regret exceedingly to hear of her taking away. The most sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved husband over her loss. The funeral of this esteemed and beloved woman will take place at Louisville tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A Boy.

Word has been received in this city of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. William Stadelmann, formerly of this city and later of Norfolk. The event happened several days ago at Los Angeles, Cal., although word was several days in getting here. The many friends of these good people in this city and vicinity will extend their congratulations and will be especially pleased to know that Mrs. Stadelmann and the boy are getting along nicely.

Returns From Trip.

John Hiber who has been spending the past week making a visit in the vicinity of Huron, S. D., where he has some farm lands, returned to his home this morning. Mr. Hiber reports that he has found the country up about Huron to be in the best possible condition and he returned enthusiastic over the prospects for good crops in that locality. He found that an abundance of wheat had been raised and that the heads were large and heavy. He also noticed that a very fine barley crop had been raised and oats are making a fair crop. Mr. Hiber, traveled over a great part of the country during his absence and had the best of opportunity to see what the conditions were. He traveled much of the way by auto and from this he was enabled to see just what the country was producing. He depreciated the talk of short crops in the north and stated that from his observations there was none better than those raised in the neighborhood of Huron. Corn is in good shape and a timely rain is all that is needed to make a bumper crop for the farmers of that locality. Mr. Hiber is not inclined to be optimistic and looks at all these matters in the right light preferring to rather underdraw the conditions than to overdraw them. He is well pleased with the land which he owns in that locality and is quite sure it is going to steadily advance in value as it has the crops to do so with. The trip was in the nature of an outing for him and he returned feeling much refreshed after it.

When the stomach fails to perform its functions, the bowels become deranged, the liver and the kidneys congested causing numerous diseases. The stomach and liver must be restored to a healthy condition and Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets can be depended upon to do it. Easy to take and most effective. Sold by all dealers.

Well Known Citizen Dies.

William Ossenkop, a well known resident of Cass county, passed to his final reward yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock at his home near Louisville, after a short illness. The immediate cause of death was his bright disease. Mr. Ossenkop was taken violently ill early yesterday morning and his condition rapidly grew worse. At about 8 o'clock in the morning he suddenly lapsed into unconsciousness and from that condition he did not recover, passing into the Beyond as stated above. The deceased was a most highly respected and esteemed citizen and for many years had been well known throughout this county. He had a host of friends throughout the county who will bear of his passing away with the deepest regret. He was a single man about 35 years of age and a son of the late William Ossenkop. A further and more complete sketch of the life of the respected citizen will appear later in the Journal. The funeral will take place from his home tomorrow (Thursday) Friends of the family being invited.

George Brinklow and Wife Arrive.

Grandpa Winn and family are enjoying a visit from George Brinklow, wife and children of San Antonio, Texas, and C. Steffens, wife and daughter of Smithville, Texas, who arrived in the city this morning. The two gentlemen are engineers on the M. K. & T. Ry., and have been connected with the road for many years. Mr. Brinklow having been in the road's service for twenty-one years. At the time of the Burlington strike in 1888 Mr. Brinklow was an engineer on this road and later he left and entered the service of the Katy where he has remained ever since. He was formerly located in this city and has remained ever since. He was formerly located in this city and has many old time friends here who will be glad to see him again. Mr. Brinklow is an enthusiastic Texan and is glad to state that that commonwealth this year is producing the greatest crops in its history. The weather down there has been ideal for cotton and there is a magnificent prospect ahead for that crop. Corn is also in fine shape and indications are that it will be better than ever before in the Lone Star state. Mr. Brinklow and family expect to remain in the city for a month while Mr. and Mrs. Steffens and daughter will probably depart after a visit of several days. Mr. Brinklow is one of the old friends of the Journal, having taken the paper for between fifteen and twenty years. He depends upon it for news of his old friends in this locality and is one of its best patrons.

An Elegant Six O'clock Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Newell were host and hostess at an elaborately appointed six o'clock dinner last evening. For the occasion the splendid home of the Newells had been prettily decorated with sweet peas. The elegant dinner was faultlessly served in six courses at the appointed hour and was one which the guests could not help but do ample justice to. The table decorations consisted of a handsome centerpiece, which was composed of delicious fruits. The remainder of the evening was spent in a social way and most of the time out of doors on the delightful porch of the Newell home. Those who enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Newell's hospitality on this occasion were: Messrs. and Mesdames J. N. Wise, L. W. Gade, George L. Farley, Mrs. Bertha Jackson and little daughter.

To Ship Stock.

Charles T. Peacock today was engaged in gathering together many hogs and calves which he intends to ship this evening to the Omaha market. He will have quite an offering of the animals and expects to be able to get a pretty good price for the same.

Mr. Peacock in this shipment has a total of twenty-seven hogs and six calves which he has secured after looking over the country in his immediate neighborhood.

Mrs. H. O. Knight of Blue Springs, Neb., who has been spending several days in the city making a visit with her sister, Mrs. E. E. Hilton, was a passenger this morning for Omaha where she will spend several days.

Victims of Hail Storm.

G. A. B. Hicks who farms out in the district swept by the hail storm yesterday, was in the city today attending to business. He reports that the storm has practically laid his crops to waste and that he will raise nothing this year. Mr. Hicks lost all his corn and some small grain which had not been cut while he also lost a number of chickens and small ducks and geese. He was located in the center of the stricken district and loses quite heavily.

Adam Keffenberger, the well known farmer from west of the city, was in today attending to business matters. Mr. Kaffenberger was another of the victims of the hail yesterday and suffered quite a severe loss although not quite so bad as some of his neighbors. Only a corner of his property was struck but where the hail did damage, it did a good job of it and leaves nothing in the district. He feels his loss keenly but is glad it was no worse and sorry that his neighbors were more unfortunate than he.

Farm for Sale.

80 acres of well improved land, one mile from Avoca. If interested, call or write George D. Maseman, Avoca, Neb.

Foolish to Talk Poor Crops.

Colonel H. C. McMaken this morning returned from a trip to Kansas City, Mo., where he had some business to look after. Colonel McMaken states that the talk of poor crops is foolish as he never saw conditions as good as at present. There is a great small grain crop in prospect and there is every indication that corn will be a great crop also. He saw some of the finest corn ever grown and thinks it will turn out a great yield. Colonel McMaken met many good judges of crop conditions and they are united in praise of the outlook and believe the time is ripe now for a bumper crop of both small grain and coarser grains.

Charles H. Bailey arrived in the city this morning after spending several months in southern Indiana and Illinois and the northern part of Kentucky, looking after erecting harvesters for the International Harvester company. Mr. Bailey reports that section very dry and that the only rains he saw were local showers. The best corn he saw anywhere was about Kandakee, Ill and western Iowa. He expects to leave tomorrow morning for Salt Lake and will return to Argentine Republic about September 1.
