It seems to be quite a fad nowadays going a fishing, and we are wondering if the Murray ladies are still setting in the parlor waiting for a bate while the Omaha ladies are catching the fish.

Monday afternoon lightning struck a wire running into the telephone exchange, and gave Mrs. Adda Stokes quite a shock, filling the room full of smoke. The report when it struck could be heard by all the neighborhood.

The "Comic Treat" at the Christian church last Saturday afternoon and evening was a grand success, the young ladies having the same in charge clearing $17. Great credit is due to Miss Leola Vallery as well as the other young ladies interested in making it a winner.

Rev. George R. Murray was greeted with a full house Sunday. During his discourse he mentioned how memories of the past flooded his mind, and how well pleased he was that the church had grown to its present proportions. He made Mr. Brown's his stopping place, but called on all his old friends, who gave him the most cordial greetings.

James Rice became temporarily insane Sunday, due to heat and exhaustion. He had been laboring hard this season and especially during the harvest time. His mind has cleared and he is now, after three days of hallucinations, practically back to his right mind. Mr. Rice is highly respected and friends regret that he was in such a shape, and hope for a complete recovery of his health.

Royally Entertained.

Miss Geraldine Young royally entertained a number of little girls at her home on Thursday afternoon of last week. Music and various games formed the greater part of the amusement. Dainty and delicious refreshments were served. All had a jolly good time and pronounce Miss Geraldine a royal entertainer. Those who were present: Jessie and Mary Todd, Eva Bailey, Janet Young, Fern McVey, Vera Vroman, Ofie Smith, Margaret Beck, Lola Fitzpatrick, Geraldine and Glendora Young.

Picnic at River View Park.

A number of Murray's young people spent Sunday afternoon at River View park, near Rock Bluffs, taking their supper and eating the same on the river bank. Postmaster Gets Letter.

Postmaster H. A. Schneider received a letter from the department at Washington relative to the condition of the city's sidewalks and numbers on the houses and other matters pertaining to the free delivery proposition. The government will not grant free delivery to a city until its walks are in condition to accommodate the mail carriers. While the walks on the main thoroughfares are in reasonably good condition, yet the cross walks are not, and those places where the walks are dangerous and where there are no walks will not have their mail delivered, as the carriers will not be required to either risk their lives or walk in the mud (if we have any.)

It would be well for citizens and officials to get to work in earnest and put in the cross walks so that our city may be in the rank where it belongs. Some of the outlying streets are overgrown with weeds, and the walks with missing boards and rotten stringers dangerous to limb and life.

Entertains at Bridge.

Misses Gretchen and Marie Donnelly delightfully entertained a number of their lady friends at a bridge party yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Stella Blake who is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Dovey. The time was very pleasantly spent in this popular card game and which created considerable entertainment for the guests. During the afternoon and at an appropriate hour a very dainty luncheon was served, which was very much appreciated, along with the many other delightful things the thoughtful hostesses had provided for the entertainment of their guests. The invited guests were: Misses Florence, Helen and Ione Dovey, Gladys Sullivan, Emma Falter, Stanfield Jones, Madeline Minor, Helen Clark, Mary Hungeat of Weeping Water; Mesdames Ralph Towle of South Omaha, George Falter, Rea Patterson, H. S. Austin.

Loses Valuable Jewelry.

Chief of Police Ben Rainey returned from Omaha last evening, where he had been in quest of some valuable jewelry which had been stolen from the trunk of G. B. Gould who makes his home in this city. The valuables taken consisted of a $250 ring with rub settings, a ladies gold bracelet and watch. The thief made off with the goods, leaving no trace of the culprit and Chief Rainey thought he might get some clew in the pawn shops of the metropolis. Nothing developed which would lead to a clew. Mrs. Gould is in the hospital at Lincoln, and the loss of the valuables will be quite keenly felt by Mr. and Mrs. Gould.

Makes Guardian Sale.

A. D. Welton and George W. Walling of Greenwood were Plattsmouth visitors today, having come down to look after the sale of the Donavan A. Walling interest in a residence property and four lots situated in Greenwood. Mr. Walling is guardian for his son and the court having made the order for the property to be sold, the sale was made today, the minors interest bring about $600. The sale was conducted by A. L. Tidd, attorney for the guardian.

A Picnic Supper.

A delightful picnic supper was held down by the Burlington bridge last evening which was given in honor of Miss Lucile Burgess, who is visiting relatives and friends in this city. Miss Barbara Gerling acted as chaperone. A fine time is the report. Those who participated in this were: Louise Ebinger, Dorothy Britt, Barbara Clement, Edna Shopp, Ralph Larson, Carl Schmidtman, Stanley Coon, Wayne Propst, Sam Windham.

James Peterson of Weeping Water, a Daneman, made his declaration for first papers before Clerk Robertson today. Mr. Peterson has been over from the old country since 1907, and is engaged in farming.

Visits His Cousin.

Manville Brown of Missouri, is in the city the guest of his cousin, Mrs. M. W. Morgan. Mrs. Morgan had not seen her cousin for forty-five years. Mr. Brown is a single gentleman, having just disposed of a large farm in Missouri and he expects to visit the home of his childhood at Newark, Ohio. Mr. Brown has not visited Plattsmouth before and has not visited his childhood home since coming west just after the war.

Plans to be Revised.

Postmaster Schneider received a communication from the Washington authorities relative to the new post-office building. The plans are being revised, as none of the bids were within the amount appropriated for the building. It will be necessary to submit new specifications and to have new bids. This may take some little time, but the department is at work on the plans now so that the delay will not be great.

Sells Two.

The Herold Book & Stationary company have been active in the sale of musical instruments recently, having today sent out the second piano within a few days. The first was a large $759 instrument, sold to Mr. Schlaes to be used in the moving picture show. The second went out today to Carl Holmberg, this one being a fine Schmolter & Muller.

A Dinner Party.
