THE CITY FILLED WITH THE FAIREST OF THE STATE OF NEBRASKA

Many Good Looking and Accomplished Schoolma'ns Attend the County Institute This Week.

From Monday's Daily.
The Cass County Teacher's Institute opened this morning under very favorable conditions. All of the instructors scheduled to be present were at their posts ready to impart instructions in the various branches. At noon one hundred and five teachers had enrolled, and there will be nearly fifty more before the second day's enrollment.

The number enrolling during the first half day is greater than previous institutes, indicating that the exceptionally good talent shown in the teaching force has had the effect to interest the teachers, and they have come early so as not to miss any of the sessions. Dr. A. E. Winship of Boston, editor of the Journal of Education, occupied forty minutes in a lecture, both morning and evening, on educational topics. Superintendent George E. Martin, of the Nebraska City schools, lectured in the forenoon on reading and in the afternoon on school management. Miss Edith Martin of the Omaha public schools, has charge of primary reading, language, number work and water colors; Miss Gertrude N. Rowan of Lincoln has charge of domestic science. The ladies of the city are invited to attend the lectures of Miss Rowan, the hour being from 10:45 to 11:45 a. m.

The teachers of the county are indeed fortunate in having so able a corps of institute workers to instruct them as they have this session.

The citizens of the city and county will have an opportunity to hear the distinguished Dr. Winship next Wednesday evening at the opera house, when he will deliver a lecture. He is considered one of the finest educators in the United States, and has been in the work for a number of years, and has edited one of the leading educational journals of the United States at Boston for some time. Dr. Winship lectured at the Epworth assembly at Lincoln last week. Those who fail to hear him will miss one of the best lectures ever delivered in the city. The following are the names and addresses of the teachers enrolled up to noon:

Omar Hatfield, Ashland.
Edith M. Johnson, Weeping Water.
Pearl Johnson, Weeping Water.
Daisy Johnson, Weeping Water.

George Sullivan Dead.

Judge A. N. Sullivan received a message yesterday afternoon from Lead, South Dakota, informing him of the death of his nephew, George Sullivan, of near that place, who died in a hospital at Lead, yesterday. The deceased was a son of Thomas Sullivan, deceased, and was born and reared in Cass county and resided here until about six years ago when he removed to South Dakota, settling on a farm near Lead.

George Sullivan was a most exemplary citizen, and leaves to mourn his death a wife and three children. His mother has been at his bedside for a month. Mr. Sullivan was about forty-six years of age at the time of his death. No arrangements have been made for the funeral, but the remains will arrive here tomorrow and the interment will take place at the Horning cemetery. The Journal hopes to be able to give a more concise obituary statement later.

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCH

Rev. Gade Delivered a Strong Sermon at the Presbyterian Church.

From Monday's Daily.
The subject of the discourse delivered yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church was one of deep interest to everyone—being from "Home Memories." Owing to the absence of Rev. Austin, pastor of the Methodist church, a number of his congregation were present to swell Rev. L. W. Gade's congregation.

Rev. Gade read for his lesson that touching story of Naomi and Ruth, the incidents of which occurred something over thirteen centuries before the dawn of the christian era. The discourse was listened to with the closest attention, the speaker prefacing his sermon with a beautiful word picture of the home of Naomi in the little Judean town of Bethlehem, then depicted the blight of the famine which caused the husband to remove his family to the country of Moab, where there was plenty. The speaker stated that troubles never came singly, but came like the billows rolling over the unfortunate.

In addition to having to leave the home of her childhood with her husband died, then to add to her distress Naomi's two sons died, leaving her quite alone. But for the faithfulness of her daughter Ruth, she would have been without an earthly friend. Naomi grew homesick and longed for the scenes of her childhood, then the speaker detailed the homecoming, passing from the ancient scene to the experience of nearly all of us, picturing the home one leaves in his early years with the surrounding shade and fruit trees and the flowers that mother used to cultivate in the garden near the old homestead. For the speaker, the old-fashioned rose and the English violet were far sweeter, and awakened fonder memories than any cut flower or potted plant. From the old-fashioned homestead with its pleasant memories, the speaker pleaded for the old-fashioned religion and urged on his listeners the importance of prayer in the home, if a real spiritual growth is to be made. He deprecated the rush off to business of the head of the family neglecting the duties of the home life and rendering the home susceptible to ruin and decay.

Rev. Gade will preach a sermon next Sunday morning on "the Judgment."

Returns From West.

Hilt Wescott and wife and daughter returned Saturday from a two week's vacation trip to Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Wescott visited with Harry Turner and family seven miles north-east of Denver, where they lived in a tent and enjoyed the mountain breeze. Mr. Wescott roamed over the half section of the Turner ranch and inhaled the ozone surrounding the foot hills of the Rockies. Mr. Turner has half of his land in wheat this year, and as the same is under the ditch will harvest a good crop of wheat. While at Denver Mr. and Mrs. Wescott took the Moffet trip over the continental divide and reached the highest point to which any standard gauge railway goes. This point was at the top of the divide. Corona is the town, or rather the lunch stand which marks the peak. While on the top of the ridge the party shoveled snow for a time, then boarding the train and went down the mountain on the western slope to Broken Arrow. The trip is one of grand and beautiful scenery and Mr. and Mrs. Wescott enjoyed their trip and outing hugely.

Study Human Nature.

About as good a way to study human nature is when you are driving on the public road. If a man is willing to observe the law and the courtesies of the road, he will duly give his share of it when meeting another and shows he is willing to do the gentlemanly thing about it. But when you meet one who takes every advantage of those he meets, and holds the road for his own selfish self, often to the great discomfort of those he meets, or will not allow them to pass, we are almost sure to think of park in connection with such drivers of teams.

Returns From Franklin.

Miss Jessie Robertson who has been taking a three weeks vacation visiting at Franklin, Neb., returned Saturday. Miss Jessie reports a splendid time with the Franklin relatives, and says the crops out there are in splendid condition. The small grain crops having been heavy, and every farmer seemed to be threshing or helping his neighbors to thresh. The corn crop looked fine, having had reasonable rains. Only a week ago Sunday one and a half inches of rain fell there, placing the corn almost safe.

PLAY AT ROD AND GUN CLUB

Number of Plattsmouth People Assist at Concert.

From Wednesday's Daily.
Mr. and Mrs. Dick Edwards, Mrs. Ulrich, Miss Winifred Parmele, Josie and Sophia Ulrich and John Frady were passengers to Omaha Sunday morning where Miss Winifred Parmele, Sophia and Josie Ulrich and John Frady played in a concert given at the Rod & Gun club at Cortland Beach by Prof. Glantz during the afternoon. These young people are members of the mandolin class with Prof. Glantz of Omaha as their instructor. Prof. Glantz has been coming down to this city once or twice a week for the purpose of meeting his pupils and recently it was arranged to have them come to Omaha and join his Omaha class and participate in this concert which was held at the Beach. Several selections were given by the two classes jointly and then some of the more advanced players of this city were selected who gave some very pleasing numbers after which some of the members of the Omaha class furnished a number. The young people of this city have developed marked talent on this instrument and with their numbers rendered at the Beach on last Sunday afternoon made a distinct impression. They showed much training and careful preparation on the part of both pupil and instructor.

Enjoy Instrumental Concert.

From Monday's Daily.
T. E. and Mrs. Todd who reside west of the city a few miles, entertained a company of fifty at dinner yesterday. A long table was set in the grassy yard under the shade of a huge maple tree and the entire company was served at one time.

After the dinner was served the piano was placed on the large porch and with five violins, formed an orchestra which gave a concert which lasted the whole of the afternoon. Ten of the small youngsters took the graphophone out to the woods where they had a mixed concert of vocal and instrumental selections. The persons present from Omaha were as follows: Miss Wilcox, Miss Book, Mr. Jones, Mr. Merriam, Mr. and Mrs. Clark and two children, and Richard Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd accompanied their guests to the station this morning when they departed for their homes at Omaha.

Motion to Dissolve Injunction Filed.

Martin L. Frederick, L. D. Switzer and C. R. Jordan by their attorney, Calvin H. Taylor, today filed a motion to dissolve the restraining order issued by the district court last Wednesday morning. The grounds for the motion are three; the first being "that the allegations of petition on which the order of injunction rests are untrue; 2nd; that the petition does not contain facts sufficient upon which to base or allow a temporary injunction or restraining order; 3rd; that the plaintiff did not comply with the notice of bids advertised and is therefor not injured. The motion will be argued and submitted to the court on next Wednesday, the 10th.

English Teacher Hired.

The school board at a recent meeting employed Miss Anderson of Minnesota as instructor in English at the Plattsmouth high school. The board wired her to telegraph if she accepted the position tendered her, and the same afternoon received a wire in reply that the position was accepted.

Jeff Brendel was up from Murray Tuesday evening on business, returning home the same night.

AN EXTENDED BUSINESS TRIP

G. R. Olson of the Olson Photo Machine Company, Visits the East.

G. R. Olson returned home Saturday evening from a month's trip in the interest of the Photographic Machine company, of which he is president and patentee. He left home a month ago for Milwaukee, Wis., where he attended a convention of the photographers of the United States, and had the pleasure of demonstrating his machine to the many present, and who were perfectly delighted with its working, and with prospects of disposing of a considerable number in the near future. From the city of Milwaukee he visited numerous eastern cities, including New York, Philadelphia, Boston and other cities of the east, and on the return trip, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Chicago. He met many of the greatest photographers of these cities, all of whom spoke in the highest terms of his invention. In introducing the printing machine he disposed of quite a number, with favorable prospects of disposing of more in the many cities he visited during his month's absence.

Mr. Olson says many of the leading photographers of the east seem greatly impressed with his invention, an all speak of it as being one of the very best and most up to date photographic printing machines they had ever seen. Mr. Olson did not make his eastern trip for the purpose of disposing of machines outright, but simply to introduce them. Yet he took several orders while gone, and expects more to follow in a very short time. The machine is evidently what every first class photographer needs, and in the introduction of the Olson invention, it seems to have met a long-felt want in making pictures swift and in large quantities. Mr. Olson expects to endeavor to fill orders now as fast as received, and will probably in a very short time make a trip to other sections of the country in its introduction.

The manufacture and invention of these machines in Plattsmouth is a big thing for our city, and when they are sent out in larger numbers it will prove a big advertisement for the town, as everyone will bear the imprint of Plattsmouth, Neb., thereon. Every citizen, who has the welfare of the city at heart should be proud that such an establishment is located in our midst, and should assist Mr. Olson in his efforts to "Make Plattsmouth Famous" in the manufacture of one of the greatest inventions of the present age.

Little Boy Injured.

Saturday evening the little three year old son of William Gravett was knocked down while standing with his parents near Gering's drug store and quite severely injured, by the prank of reckless boys. The boys secured a cur and fastened a tin can to its tail and released it on Fifth street. The frightened dog ran back and forth across the street, dodging first in one direction and then in another, finally darted toward the drug store, running directly against the little child. The child fell, striking his head against the cement pavement, injuring it seriously.

Mr. Gravett took the child into the drug store at once to examine its injuries, and seeing the bruises and cut on its head immediately carried it to a doctor where the little one had its wounds dressed. At last accounts the little fellow was doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Will Empty Standpipe.

From Monday's Daily.
Mr. F. C. Weber, manager of the Plattsmouth Water company informed the Journal this morning that he will empty the standpipe and drain the pipes tonight. The water in the settling vats is perfectly clear and Mr. Weber's idea is to drain out the pipes and standpipe so as to give the water users purer water. The water in the standpipe is apt to become stagnant during the heated season unless drained out occasionally. At midnight tonight the hydrants will all be opened and the water allowed to run out. Immediately after the pipes are drained the pumps will be set to work and the fresh water placed in the reservoir and pipes.

J. C. Johnson Here.

From Wednesday's Daily.
J. C. Johnson and wife who have been spending a few days in the city the guests of D. P. Jackson and wife, departed for their home at Peterson, Ia., this morning. Mr. Johnson says the crop prospect in his part of Iowa is good, sufficient rain having fallen to make the corn crop good. Mr. Johnson owns land in Texas and also in Frontier county, Neb., but expects very little returns from crops on Texas and Nebraska lands this year, the drought having been so severe in the locality as to ruin the corn crop on these lands.

UNITED IN THE HOLY BONDS OF WEDLOCK

Fred H. Speck and Miss Haze Belle Kuhney, Married This Morning in This City.

From Monday's Daily.
Mr. Fred H. Speck and Miss Haze Belle Kuhney were joined together in the holy bonds of wedlock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kuhney at 9 o'clock morning. Canon H. B. Burgess said the words that made the young couple happy. The ceremony was very impressive, and said in the presence of only a very few of the immediate friends and relatives. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple departed on the M. P. train for Weeping Water where the young people will make their future home. Mr. Speck being employed in the Republican office of that city.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kuhney of this city and a young lady highly respected by all who know her. The groom is a young man reared in Plattsmouth and a printer by profession, having at various times been employed in the Journal office. They have many young friends in this city who will receive the announcement of this marriage with surprise, although the young people have been in close communion for some time. The Journal force extends congratulations, and trusts that their pathway down the rugged road of time may be strewn with the choicest of flowers, and if troubles overtake them may they be little ones.

Enjoy Family Reunion.

From Monday's Daily.
For the first time in ten years, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Ruffner had the pleasure yesterday of having all of their children at home. The occasion was celebrated in due form at the Ruffner residence on north Seventh street.

The four sons and one daughter were all born in this city, and attended the public school here, being well known to the Plattsmouth young people. J. W. Ruffner, the oldest son, is located in St. Louis, and holds an important position with the Wabash Railway company; Sperry is in South Omaha, connected with the Cudahay Packing company; Horace is in Omaha with the H. R. Gering Pharmacy company, and Edwin J., at Duncan, Neb., in the lumber business. Dr. and Mrs. Dodge of Omaha also were present. The entire party departed for their homes on the M. P. yesterday afternoon, with the exception of W. J., who departed on the Burlington today.

Buys Fly Catcher.

From Wednesday's Daily.
J. E. McDaniel has expended $3 for a machine that will beat any the writer has ever seen to entrap the pestiferous house fly. The trap is made of wire screen in a round drum shape about three feet in diameter, and three feet high. Inside of the drum is a cone half as tall as the drum, this cone has a small aperture at the apex, large enough for the flies to fly through. There is a cup of liquid set at the center of the drum, which entices the flies to the floor at the bottom of the drum. The flies rush through the cone at the rate of one a second, never suspecting that there is no outlet to the drum. The drum is filled with the pests very rapidly. After twenty-four hours in the drum the dead ones can be shaken out at a small door at the bottom. Mr. McDaniel has the device setting inside his saloon and the flies from the entire room go to this corner and get into the trap. He purchased the new device in Kansas City.
