DR. WINSHOP OF BOSTON LECTURES
AT THE PARMELE THEATER

Talks Most Entertainingly on the New Uplift Movement That is Creating Better Conditions Throughout Country

Last evening Dr. Winshop of Boston, an educator and journalist of renown, delivered one of the best, if not the best lecture it has ever been the good fortune of the Plattsmouth people to hear. Before the lecture began a piano number was played by Miss Eva Allison after which County Superintendent Miss Mary Foster introduced the speaker who she said would deliver a lecture on "Rascals and Saints." Dr. Winshop's introductory got the attention of the audience and for nearly two hours he was listened to with the closest attention. There has never been a man on the lecture platform in Plattsmouth who was listened to with deeper interest than was the lecturer of last night.

He said in part: "That although the earth was said to be 55,000,000 years old, yet the origin of man can only be traced back 6,000 years, and it was difficult to trace civilization back over 400 years. That 100 years ago civilization was confined to the tidewaters of Europe and along the western shore of the Atlantic ocean. 150 years ago there was no machinery, the inventive genius of man, had not developed perceptibly, 100 years ago all hardware was made by hand. Not so many years ago the speaker visited at a house in Michigan, one of the newer states, and every nail in the building had been hand made. At that time the shingles and clapboards covering the houses were made by hand. While at the present day there were 44,000 articles scheduled in hardware alone, not made by hand.

"Further developing the thought of the world's progress and the rapid development in civilization, the speaker said, 'that his father had been dead twelve years, but that when he was born there were none of the modern utilities in use. When the speaker was born there was no Atlantic cable and no railway of any length. When his son was born there was no typewriter, and no telephone. When his other son was born there was no wireless telegraphy and no automobile.' Here the speaker referred to his lecture at the afternoon session of the institute in which he had spoken of the 'new boy,' and stated that the development of moral sentiment had witnessed as great strides forward within the past few years as had the material interests of the people. That rascals are the boys who have fallen short in moral development.

"In common parlance rascals are the other fellows and we are the saints. If you are a Democrat, then the Republicans are rascals, and vice versa; if you poor the rich are rascals; if rich, then the poor are rascals.

"The speaker then placed the investigations of Mr. Dugdale, an expert on criminology, before his audience. Reciting how he had found a member of the family of Max Duke in each of five prisons visited. And on tracing the ancestry back, there never had been a member of the family that got above the 6th grade in school and never one who had owned his own home. Many of the descendants of Max had been murderers, all of them more or less addicted to the use of liquor.

"The speaker, a member of the club, was assigned as a topic for an essay, 'Jonathan Edwards.' On investigation of his subject the speaker found that Jonathan Edwards was born in New England about the same time that Max Duke was born in New York. There was not a member of the family, either in Europe or in America but owned his own home. He found members of the Edwards' family at the head of governmental affairs wherever they were situated. 300 of the 1500 traced, had been college graduates and thirteen of them had been college presidents. He found that the cotton gin was the invention of a relative of Jonathan Edwards. After setting off these two families, one against the other, the speaker stated that thirty years ago it had not occurred to any one that conditions making the Dukes family possible, could be corrected.

"Today, on every hand, one hears of reforms for the betterment of moral conditions. Graft has not increased but the public conscience has been awakened. Graft is not more common now than at former periods of the world's history, but the conscience of the people is quickened. In the state of Massachusetts within the experience of the speaker, it had occurred a long time ago that a man would get into politics because he wanted to get his daughter into the schools as teacher. Less than twenty-five years ago a man in that locality who was a member of the board would not vote to employ a teacher unless she would board at a certain place at a designated price per week which was fifty cents more per week than the teacher could get it, at any good boarding house, and the school board man threatened to revoke the certificate of the teacher when she changed her boarding place on the ground that she was not of good moral character, because she did not keep her contract.

"The speaker then referred to the many movements for the improvement of conditions of criminal class. Referring to Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver, the greatest of the hundred or more reformers now seeking to improve society. Judge Lindsey was commended for his interpretation of the criminal law and for taking the derelict boy out of the criminal court and placing him in the probate court.

"Dr. Winshop also referred to the 'Junior Republic,' a movement started in New York which only deals with the 'toughest' boys in the city, where the government is wholly administered by the boys themselves, and their laws are made by their own lawmakers and the violators punished by the courts of the Republic. He gave specific examples where the 'toughest boys had come through and became the best of citizens.

"He referred to the movement in Toledo where he delivered the dedicatory address a couple of years ago on the occasion of the completion of a building for the boys costing over $110,000. The speaker detailed a picnic of 2,000 of those boys which was given seventeen miles from Toledo at which there was not a policeman. True, the chief was present in citizens clothes and the superintendents of schools was there also, dressed similarly, but not anything occurred that could be construed as a violation of propriety. There was no smoking, no swearing; the boys were trusted to conduct themselves properly and they did so."

We regret that space will not permit us to give more details on the good points brought to the audience. The teacher who failed to hear this discourse missed an opportunity to catch a broader view of the problems coming up daily, that will not be given again this year. The lecture was replete with thought that would help parents as well as teachers.

Funeral Tomorrow.

Anton Nitka went to Omaha to arrange the funeral of William Mayall which will occur tomorrow. Mr. Nitka says the Journal was in error in stating that Mr. Mayall was tending bar as he had not done anything of the kind for over two years. At the time of his death, Mr. Mayall was employed as wood worker in a sash and door factory. The deceased leaves a father and mother and brothers and sisters in London, England, who will be notified of his death as soon as their address can be learned.

Mrs. W. S. Coates and daughter, Miss Rheda, arrived from Galesburg today and have made arrangements for the burial of Mr. Mayall's remains in the Coates family lot in Oak Hill cemetery tomorrow morning from the Burlington station at 8 o'clock. Canon Burgess of St. Luke's Episcopal church will conduct a short service at the grave. Mrs. Coates brought the remains of her mother here last February and interred them beside her father and Mr. Mayall having been an old friend of the family, and having no blood relatives here, Mrs. Coates and daughter have come to look after Mr. Mayall's funeral.

Killed a Dog.

This morning while D. C. Morgan and Dr. Cummins were making a flying trip over the county distributing the sample ballots for the primary, as they were coming out of Eagle shortly after breakfast, a small dog came bristling out and undertook to butt the doctor's touring car off the track. The owner of the dog stood in the yard and as far as the occupants of the car could tell made no effort to avoid the disaster which overtook the canine. On came the dog with bristles erected and mouth stretched wide open and as Theodore says "giving tongue," also on went the car and when the two met down went the dog. Dead! Well that is the report, though the hard-hearted occupants of the auto never hesitated to find out if they could be of any assistance to the owner of the fallen hero. Such accidents are apt to occur, and, though sad, have to be endured.

New Orchestra Organized.

A new orchestra had just been organized in the city which will be a musical aggregation hard to excel. Although the organization is new, the players are experts at the art. Mr. L. D. Hiatt is the manager of the new organization and he has just sent for $19 worth of new music covering all of the popular and up to date selections. There will be six pieces in the orchestra as follows: Frank Janda, Sr., double bass; Gus Burton, second violin; James Bird, cornet; Frank Janda, Jr., trombone; Cyril Janda, first violin; L. D. Hiatt, clarinet. The orchestra makes its initial appearance next Saturday evening at the Catholic Sokol hall. Those who wish to engage the orchestra should call on Mr. L. D. Hiatt.

Laundry Changes Hands.

A deal was carried out today which gives Tom Seagraves the ownership of the Plattsmouth Steam Laundry. He purchased the entire plant with the good will of the concern from Mr. Abbott. Mr. Seagraves is a live young business man and will put in some new machinery and whatever repairs are needed to make the plant first class in every particular. Mr. Seagraves is well known in the community and will be found an accommodating gentleman to deal with.

Paid Fire Loss.

J. P. Falter yesterday received from the Aetna Fire Insurance company a check for $200 in payment of fire loss on Max Duda's barn which burned some time ago. The loss was paid within a few days after receiving the notice of the loss. The policy was in the safe of Ed. Donat, and no one thought of the insurance for some time after the fire. The company also sent $2 for the carpenter who made the estimate.

Miss Carrie Oliver and Miss Catherine Shrack and Master Oliver Hallam went to South Omaha today where they will meet Mrs. Hallam and visit relatives for a few days. They will be joined Saturday by Mr. Hallam who has been spending a week at Detroit.

WAR OF FIGURES OVER RATES

Railroad Executives and Shippers in Statistical Row.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—The controversy between the railroads and the shippers over proposed advances in freight rates is developing a war of statistics. Some of these wander far from the direct question of the rates themselves and are being used on both sides as the basis of charges of unfairness. Railroad executives, after having had their statements and figures questioned for years, are adopting a new tack and are picking flaws in the statistics used against them.

Following a statement by B. L. Winchell, president of the Frisco system, that shippers were using figures to tell only half truths, President Darius Miller of the Burlington system gave out a statement denying a report from Washington accredited to experts of the commission that the roads have been juggling their accounts.

NERVOUS TRADE IN WHEAT

Heavy Receipts at Chicago Offset by Bullish Cable News.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—It was a nervous trade in wheat all day, with prices back and forth over a narrow range. Closing prices:

BLACK HAND THREAT ALLEGED

Italian Causes Arrest of Two Fellow Countrymen at Des Moines.

Des Moines, Aug. 11.—Detectives and police believe that cold blooded murder was prevented by a trap set by the police, resulting in the capture of two Italians, who are alleged to have been the principals in a plot to extort money under penalty of death. The names of the men captured are Graciano Gigliotte and Frank Chiodo.

Complaint was entered at police headquarters by an Italian boy of eighteen years, Frank Perry, who claimed he had been harassed during the past three or four days by two Italians, who demanded that he pay $20 cash initiation fee into what they called the "Lodge of the Black Hand," under penalty of death for refusal.

The inspection will consume three days.

21 YEARS IN ASYLUM, NOW IN RIGHT MIND

Mrs. Jacob Kreiger of Red Oak Reunited to Family.

Red Oak, Ia., Aug. 11.—Mrs. Jacob Kreiger, who for the last twenty-one years has been imolated in the Clarinda asylum among the incurably insane patients at that institution, is now fully recovered.

At the time of her being taken there she had been suffering from a form of religious dementia, and her husband thought a season at that place would restore her mind to its normal condition, but as time went on his hopes were doomed to disappointment and physicians gradually came to the conclusion that she was incurable.

Four young children, three girls and a little boy, were thus bereft of a mother's care, and as the years went by and the mother grew steadily worse, they came to think of her as almost lost to them. The family grew up, scattered and married. The eldest daughter, now Mrs. Edward Swiger, living near Red Oak, and a woman of middle age, has in her home the mother, fully restored to her right mind.

About a year ago the physicians at the Clarinda hospital notified that Mrs. Kreiger's mind showed periods of lucidity, and the periods gradually grew longer until finally the woman was placed in a probationary cottage, where she speedily recovered sanity. When the dazed woman began to pick up the broken threads of her life, it was gradually broken to her what changes had come to her family. When her two daughters living near Red Oak came to visit her for the first time after her recovery she met them timidly and with a strangeness born of the twenty-one years' separation, hardly able to believe they were the little girls she left so many years ago. Now she is the center of the household of her oldest daughter, and the aged husband is on his way from Washington to make the family circle complete.

NOT DELAYED BY STRIKE

Clerks Get Up Steam and Adriatic Picks Up Hundred Stokes Off Wight.

Southampton, England, Aug. 11.—The steamer Adriatic sailed for New York punctually at noon, somewhat to the surprise of the striking firemen, who were confident that the company would be unable to find stokers.

The White Star line officials used a bit of strategy. Office clerks and other shore employees were put aboard the ship to help get up steam, after which the Adriatic gently dropped down the Solent and picked up 100 firemen, who had been held in waiting off the Isle of Wight. The stoke hole complement was thus made complete and the steamer proceeded under normal conditions.

Thieves Steal Beer From Igil.

Linton, Ind., Aug. 11.—Thieves broke into the jail here and stole twelve barrels of bottled beer which had been confiscated by the city authorities in a blind tiger raid. This is the third time liquor confiscated in raids and stored in the jail has been stolen and Mayor Bennington ordered that all liquor confiscated in the future be emptied in the gutter at once.

Negroes Fail in Education Test.

Westville, Okla., Aug. 11.—Application of the "grandfather" clause for the first time in an election here proved to be hard on the negroes upon whom it was exercised. But three of 100 negroes passed the educational test which the clause requires.

Total Abstinence Union Meets.

Boston, Aug. 11.—A solemn military high mass at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross preceded the formal opening of the convention of the National Catholic Total Abstinence union in Faneuil hall. The cathedral was crowded by the delegates.

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous efficacy.

It Makes Weak Women Strong. It Makes Sick Women Well. Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good." Accept no secret nostrum in place of this non-secret remedy. It contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drugs. Is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.
