

ELECTION RETURNS STILL VERY UNSATISFACTORY FROM STATE

Everything However Indicates Mayor Dahlman's Undoubted Nomination, While Shallenberger Claims His Own Nomination by 11500.

The returns from Tuesday primaries come in very slowly, and the final result will not be known for several days, especially as to the governor. Dahlman's friends claim his nomination by at least 5,000, while Shallenberger claims that he will be nominated by 1,500. The fact is that if the returns have been as incomplete in other counties as they have appeared in Cass county up to the present time, no one is able to conjecture the result. It seems to be all guess work. From incomplete returns it appears that Dahlman is nominated by a good safe majority. On the Republican side of the house, Aldrich has undoubtedly defeated Cady for the Republican nomination for governor, although on the face of the returns, the result will be less than 1,000 difference in the vote. In fact, Cady concedes Aldrich's nomination. Will Hayward, for congress, has evidently carried every county in the district. The dirty attack made upon him in Lincoln by Tobey's friends, aided greatly in the sweeping victory for Hayward. This would denote that dirty politics will win nothing with intelligent voters. The race in the First district is now up to Maguire, Democrat, and present incumbent, and Mr. Hayward, Republican.

In the other five congressional districts it appears that C. O. Lobeck has been nominated in the Second, Latta renominated in the Third, Judge Good of Wahoo, in the Fourth, D. R. Sutherland in Fifth, and Judge Dean in the Sixth, all Democrats. Ralph Clark of Richardson has been nominated for lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket, while M. R. Hopewell, present incumbent, has been renominated. This is about all that can be gleaned from the returns up to the present time. It would seem that in getting the returns from the state at large, people lost all interest in everything except governor and United States senator, and the wonderful victory of G. M. Hitchcock over Metcalfe, is amazingly surprising, when such a strong effort was made by Mr. Bryan's friends to defeat him. Here is another instance where honesty would have been the best policy, even in politics. Below will be found the vote of Plattsmouth, which is all we are able to produce until we can get the returns from the county in full:

picture of her husband to the police. A traveling man standing near noticed the picture and said: "Madam, I know where you will find that man. He is in Weeping Water, Neb." They both started for this noted city and reached here Sunday about 7 a. m. She was not long in locating her truant spouse, whose health never was better. There was something doing for a time, but she said: "I will never leave until you go with me." He got his laundry, his grip and his wife and son stood on Ambler's corner to await his coming. Chug, chug, said the livery barn auto, it stopped and they entered, as he put in his suit case he smiled to his wife, she smiled in return, and going up Gospel Hill they were like two turtle doves. At the South Omaha street car line they parted from the driver, C. Bald win, and it is safe to say he will never return to claim his lady love.—Weeping Water Republican.

Wabash Depot Burns.
The electrical storm in the vicinity of Wabash was quite severe last night, the lightning striking the depot of the M. P. at that place, setting it on fire. The structure was burned to the ground before the fire could be extinguished. The rain at that place and Weeping Water took on the features of almost a flood, coming down in torrents and sweeping everything before it.

Henry Winkler of Petersburg, who has been visiting his father-in-law, John Rich and other relatives, departed for his home this afternoon. Mr. Winkler expects to move to this city this fall, after he gets his corn gathered. He will buy property here and make Plattsmouth his home.

During the storm Tuesday lightning struck the steeple of the M. E. church, tearing it off and passed into the center of the ceiling of the main part, following along the center pipe of the lighting plant through glass and tearing siding off below and above the window. The heavy rain following caused some plastering to become wet. While the church has just recently been papered, it is fortunate that the damage was not greater.

Labor Sunday.
On Sunday, September 4th, Rev. L. W. Gade will preach at the morning service a sermon to laboring men. In a number of states the Presbyterian church treat the Sunday before Labor day as Labor Sunday, and preach a special sermon for the occasion. The laboring men are especially invited to this service. Rev. Gade's special sermons have awakened much interest, and we bespeak for this service a sermon which will do all who hear it much good.

ALDRICH NOW IN THE LEAD

Cady Concedes His Nomination For Head of Ticket.

DAHLMAN MAKING GOOD RUN.

Burkett and Hitchcock Get Nomination for United States Senator—Candidates for Congress in the Several Districts Chosen—List of Winners on Both Tickets.

Omaha, Aug. 18.—Aldrich claims the state by over 10,000 over Cady. Cady, while practically conceding Aldrich's nomination, does not give out any figures.
Dahlman claims the state by 8,000. Shallenberger claims the state by 1,500.

Figures for 732 precincts on the vote cast at the primary election on Tuesday show the following totals on governor:
Aldrich 10,012
Cady 9,004
Dahlman 12,298
Shallenberger 14,112
Aldrich run well in the state and cut down the big lead that was given Cady in Douglas county. He will probably be nominated, but the final figures will not show a very wide spread between the winner and the loser. Dahlman went out of Douglas with a big lead, which he increased in Lancaster, and the Shallenberger precincts have not been sufficiently numerous to reduce the Dahlman advantage very much. At the rate the returns are showing Dahlman is safely ahead.

Senators and Congressmen.
Burkett is running far ahead of Whedon and the others for the endorsement for United States senator by the Republicans and Hitchcock has left Reed and Metcalfe far in the rear in the race on the Democratic side for the same position.

In the First district, William Hayward defeated Tobey for the nomination for congress, even carrying Tobey's home county, Lancaster. Congressman J. A. Maguire had no opposition for renomination on the Democratic ticket in the First. In the Second the Republicans nominate Judge A. L. Sutton and the Democrats nominate C. O. Lobeck. In the Third the race between J. F. Boyd and L. G. Brian for the Republican nomination has apparently been determined in favor of Boyd. Congressman James P. Latta was renominated without opposition. In the Fourth C. H. Sloan, Republican, was named without opposition, while the Democratic contest is close between Bailey and Good. On the Democratic side R. D. Sutherland has a lead over Harman in the Fifth, where Congressman Norris was renominated without opposition. In the Sixth contests are being fought on both sides, and the returns from there are very meager, but it is indicated that Congressman M. P. Kinkaid will be renominated by the Republicans.

D. T. Dudley in Town.

Dave Dudley who has been a Cass county citizen for the past twenty years was in the city this morning, having come in with the Weeping Water city returns. Mr. Dudley is not as robust as formerly, only now weighing 204 pounds, having fallen away 37 pounds within a few years. Mr. Dudley landed in Plattsmouth at the foot of Main street something over forty years ago and was a citizen of the village for twenty-four hours. There was not much of the town of Plattsmouth in sight at that time, only a few houses near the river. He went from here to Lincoln and remained a few days and renewed his journey, starting for Seward, but the hills west of Salt Creek were too much for him and he returned to Lincoln and later settled on a farm near Weeping Water. For the past twenty-five years he has resided in Weeping Water city proper, and has been in business there ever since.

T. J. Smith, one of the hustling farmers of near Murray, came up last evening to look after some business matters, returning this morning. Mr. Smith gave the Journal a pleasant call while here.

Jesse B. Strode Nominated.

J. B. Strode of Lincoln, formerly congressman from this district, was in the city today looking after the Samuel Johnson estate. Mr. Strode was a candidate for county attorney on the primary ballot Tuesday, and received the nomination by 200 votes. Mr. Strode says he cannot account for the way Republicans voted for Mr. Dahlman at Lincoln, unless it was that the 600 Republicans who supported Dahlman did it to show their resentment against the temperance waive that took the saloons out of Lincoln Mr. Strode thinks that some of the same Republicans will support Mr. Dahlman at the polls in case he receives the nomination, although he is of the opinion that not all of them will do so.

Staggers Skeptics.

That a clean, nice, fragrant compound like Bucklen's Arnica Salve will instantly relieve a bad burn, cut, scald, wound or piles, staggers skeptics. But great cures prove its a wonderful healer of the worst sores, ulcers, boils, felons, eczema, skin eruptions, as also chapped hands, corns and sprains. Try it. 25¢ at F. G. Fricke & Co.

The citizens residing west of 11th street are indebted to Cecil Crissinger who has kept the crossing over 11th street on both sides clean, as well as the one over Main street at the same place, since the rain. If Cecil's example were followed by more of the boys the crossings would be in fine shape.

MARRIED BUT FOOLING CUPID

J. C. Pressnel, a Smooth Traveling Man and Gallant Wooer.

Those who were out early enough last Sunday morning, might have seen a drama enacted in real life. The parties thereto were a traveling man who has made himself familiar to our citizens, while stopping at the Gibbon house. He has been here at various times, and for several days before his departure, had been keeping company with a charming widow lady. He has represented himself as a divorced husband, and through ardent wooing for several weeks had become engaged and even set the date of the wedding. The bride's clothes it is reported, were all ready for the propitious occasion, a wedding tour had been planned and all was seemingly going on swimmingly when a rude awakening occurred.

J. C. Pressnel, the traveling man referred to, represented a tea and coffee house. For some reason he saw fit to quit his job, lose sight of his wife, who resided in Chicago, and secure a job traveling for the Thomas Manufacturing company of Dayton, Ohio. In the meantime it seems he informed his wife that he could never return to her. This news, and failure to reach him by correspondence, or through the firm he was traveling with, induced the woman to search him out and at least find out his condition. She telegraphed her son to meet her, and together they journeyed to St. Louis, Mo. After several days search she was about to return, when she displayed the
