PLATTSMOUTH PEOPLE ENJOY DAY AT WHEELER HOME

Last Sunday a jolly party of Plattsmouth's gayest young people chartered a carryall and all drove out to W. D. Wheeler's palatial residence where they dined on fried chicken and other good things too numerous to mention. For amusement the young gentlemen and ladies strolled through the meadows, and plucked wild flowers by the brookside, and in the evening when the cows and pigs came home helped Mr. Wheeler to feed the pigs and milk the cow called "Speck." One of the young men who had been little in the country, accompanied Mr. Wheeler through the pig lot, and was attacked by the hungry pigs. The young man did not wait for an invitation to vamoose, but on the first onslaught of the squealing mob of porkers, made a break for the fence and did not stop until safe over on the other side. When the evening came the party were driven back to the city having spent one of the pleasantest days of the season.

The ladies of the party were: Miss Margaret Rennie, Miss Mia Gering, Miss Edna Peterson, Miss Barbara Gering, Miss Carrie Becker. The gentlemen were: Mr. Frank Clodt, Mr. Glen Rawls, Mr. Clayton Rosencrans and Mr. McPherson of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wheeler, also Rev. Harrol and wife and child.

WILLIAM L. PICKETT ANSWERS THE FINAL SUMMONS TO GREAT BEYOND

Never Rallies From the Stroke Suffered Tuesday Night and Sinks Into Eternal Sleep Despite Heroic Work of Physicians

Born in Rock Island, Illinois, August 25, 1860, died in Plattsmouth, Nebraska, September 15, 1910, aged 50 years and 21 days.

This morning about 7:15, Mr. W. L. Pickett passed away at his home in this city. At his bedside was his sister, Mrs. Edwin R. Gutherie of Lincoln and a few kind friends who have watched by the bedside of the stricken man during the thirty-six hours since the stroke of apoplexy first attacked him.

Mrs. Pickett, although speeding homeward as fast as the swiftest train could bring her, arrived too late to see her husband alive.

Mrs. Pickett did not arrive until shortly after eleven o'clock this morning. A car was sent to Pacific Junction to meet her and bring her to Plattsmouth. Mrs. A. E. Gass going with the coach to meet Mrs. Pickett at Pacific Junction.

Mr. Thomas J. Pickett, a brother of the deceased, and his wife of Wahoo, arrived this morning on No. 4, and were with Mr. Pickett's remains when Mrs. Pickett arrived.

William L. Pickett was born in Rock Island, Illinois, fifty years ago last month, and got his early education in the schools of that state, coming to Nebraska when a young man of sixteen with his father, who first settled in Nebraska City where he engaged in the newspaper business, the subject of this sketch assisting his father, filling the place as a compositor. A year later Mr. Pickett accompanied his father to Lincoln where his father bought out the Globe and published that paper for several years, during which time Mr. Pickett assisted his father in getting out the paper. Afterwards for a long time he was employed on the State Journal. Later he was offered and accepted a position as chief clerk in the Burlington freight department at Lincoln under Mr. Scott. From Lincoln Mr. Pickett was promoted from the freight department and given a station at Lyons, Col., which position he held until about sixteen years ago, he was assigned to the Plattsmouth station and since which time he has resided in this city. Since coming to this city he has identified himself with the city's interests in many ways, always advocating that which would serve most to promote the welfare of the public.

He was a consistent member of the Episcopal church, having been confirmed in that faith over twenty years ago. For many years he was the superintendent of St. Luke's Sunday school in this city, and his fondness for children made him a successful worker in that field, he having given up this branch of work only because of poor health some months ago. He was a member of the Modern Woodman, also the A. O. U. W. He was a valued member of the Masonic fraternity, having filled the position in that order of Worshipful Master for three years. Mr. Pickett was loved and respected by everyone who knew him, and as a citizen in this community he will be greatly missed.

Mr. Pickett was married in December of 1878, to Miss Susanna Rustin, at Evansville, Indiana, and his wife and three brothers and three sisters remain to mourn his demise. His brothers are: Mr. Thomas J. Pickett of Wahoo, editor of the Wahoo Wasp; Mr. Horace G. Pickett of Akron, Col., editor of the Akron Pioneer Free Press; Charles Y. Pickett of Missouri. His sisters are: Mrs. Edwin R. Gutherie of Lincoln; Mrs. Thomas Boswell and Mrs. Richard Terrell, both of Paducah, Kentucky.

Short funeral services will be held at the home at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon after which the body will be taken to Evansville, Ind., leaving here at 3 o'clock, where interment will be made. The Masonic Fraternity, Knights of Pythias and Modern Woodman lodges will attend the services at the house in a body.

Those desiring to view the remains may do so by calling at the residence between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock tomorrow morning.

MCMAKEN & SON WILL BE ON THE JOB ALSO

McMaken & Son, cement and concrete builders, have secured the contract from M. Ford for putting in the curbs for the paving to be done in the third paving district of this city. This popular firm will also furnish the sand and do the hauling necessary for all of the paving, in fact, furnish everything but the brick. Thus McMaken & Son will avoid the responsibility of the contract and yet enjoy the most of the benefit from it. The Plattsmouth citizens will be pleased to know that a home concern will do most of the work after all. H. C. McMaken informed the writer this morning that he would be ready to begin on the curbs next Monday morning and that his part of the work would be pushed right along.
