

CITY COUNCIL HAS LIVELY SESSION

Councilmen Indulge in Some Very Personal Remarks in Course of Evening.

From Tuesday's Daily
All councilmen were present last evening when Mayor Sattler's gavel fell except Mr. Dovey of the first ward. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved without comment. The minutes of the special meeting of August 31 were then read and only slight alterations were made and then approved as amended. A large amount of business was then disposed of, the session lasted for two hours, and at times the business was of such moment as to stir the emotions of the councilmen to an unusual degree, in fact more heat was manifested at last night's session than at any meeting for some time.

The regular order of business was pursued and on the call for petitions and communications, divers matters were presented for adjustment. The first item was a communication from F. R. Guthman, requesting the city to make good a washout on the south side of lots five and six in block fourteen. On motion the matter was referred to the proper committee with power to act.

Another petition with some fifty signers, asking that a cement walk be placed adjacent to lots fifty-five and fifty-six in section eighteen, town twelve, range fourteen, on motion of Mr. Bookmeyer was referred to the streets, alleys and bridges committee with power to act.

The petition of Mrs. Reece, H. A. Schneider, Jacob Tritsch and John McNurlin for leave to put in a private sewer connecting with the sewer from Masonic home was voted.

The petition of Mrs. McVicker for cement walk to be put in on west and south of lot seven, in block ninety-four, was granted on motion of Mr. Schulhof. Mr. Dwyer suggested that while the cement machine was there, it would be wise to construct the crossing south of this property and connect the walks up to the Gering residence, on the east side of the street. The suggestion was favorably acted on by the council and the crossing ordered in, when walk is built.

The finance committee was then instructed by a vote of the council to audit the books of the ex-city clerk and report at the next meeting.

The finance committee reported favorably on the following bills that had been referred to it at the former meeting: John Bauer & Son, $12.65; J. V. Egenberger, $16; Robert Will, $5; the first two for material and the last for labor.

Mr. Weber moved that the mayor be instructed to employ a city engineer. This, however, met with some opposition on the part of Messrs Dwyer and Neuman who suggested that the council ought to have a voice in the selection of the engineer. Mayor Sattler said there would be no difficulty along that line as the expense before had been about $100 per month, and that he thought the same man could be secured again for a couple of months which would be as long as an engineer would be needed.

Mr. Weber then suggested that the city ought to have a rattler so as to test the brick for the pavement, and that for the small amount of work to be done here it would hardly pay the city to buy one and it was suggested the city borrow one or hire it. This suggestion was approved by a vote of the council.

The treasurer's report was read and placed on file which showed a balance from former report of $8781.62; amount received during month of August was $1680.06, making a total of $10,461.70.

There had been paid out on warrants $986.63 which, with the overdrafts of $1222.44, reduced the amount in the city treasury at the end of August to the sum of $8406.66. Of this sum there is in the teacher's fund $3086.57, in lighting fund $1048.16, fire and hydrant rental fund $1111.04, the road fund $940.47, the balance scattered in the minor funds.

Under the head of unfinished business, the bond of the new city clerk was approved and he again took the oath which was in writing and attached to his bond.

Under the call for new business, Mr. Dwyer moved that the light company be instructed to make good the washout on Fourth street, which had been the result of a new excavation and the recent heavy rain, and that should the company neglect to repair the damage, to have the city do so at once and collect the cost from the company. The matter was so voted by the council. It was next considered that there should be some means of flushing the sewers, public and private, and the matter was referred to the city attorney to investigate the city's contract with the water company, and find out if there is not some specification along this line as the company had recently refused to flush one of the sewers near the V. V. Leonard property.

When the Second ward was reached, Councilman Weber opened a red hot discussion of the council's action in reconsidering at the last meeting, in his absence, a vote at its previous meeting on Weber's motion to expend $150 in the opening of Vine street between Eighth and Eleventh. Mr. Weber referred to the statement of the councilman who had moved to reconsider that $2,000 would not be sufficient to open the street and Mr. Weber branded the statement as absurd in no uncertain terms, and suggested that the council might have extended him the courtesy not to take action on the matter until he could be present to explain his position. Mr. Weber also stated that he had never bought a piece of property for a song and had the city expend a lot of money to fix up the property as had been done by members of the council. This insinuation appeared to arouse Mr. Neuman to action and he got the floor as soon as Mr. Weber had finished and made a red hot speech, occasionally emphasizing his remarks by swearing by the Deity that he was an honest man, and had never operated a booze joint in all his life or words to that effect.

When Mr. Neuman was seated, Councilman Bookmeyer got the floor and poured oil on the troubled waters, by asking for some minor matters to be attended to in his ward. The recent rain had made ditches on all of the inclined streets of the city and there was a general order made to have the street commissioner fill up the dangerous washouts at as little expense as possible. After which the council adjourned.

Good Citizen Passes Away.
Elder Cyrus Alton, one of the most widely known and highly respected citizens of Cass county died at his home in this city Wednesday morning after a short illness from paralysis. Mr. Alton was taken with this dreaded affliction on Friday of last week. He was harnessing his team preparatory to going to his farm a short distance from town when, by some unforeseen power he was forced to the ground. He was found in an unconscious condition and removed to his bed chamber the last scene of his earthly existence. — Elmwood Leader-Echo.

Miss Trussler Writes.
Miss Etha Crabill has received a communication from Miss Mabel Trussler who has been touring Europe since June 15th. Miss Trussler landed in New York September 3 and is now at Falls City, Nebraska, and will visit Plattsmouth friends soon. Miss Trussler went to Europe with Dr. Leigh's party, sailing June 15th. She has visited Ireland, Scotland, England and Germany, and saw the Passion play at Ober Ammergan. Miss Trussler writes quite enthusiastically of her trip.

Remember the Convention.
All Sunday school workers should keep in mind that the county annual convention meets at Greenwood on the 28th and 29th of this month. The best speakers which could be obtained have been secured for the occasion. H. M. Hamill of Chattanooga, Tennessee, has signified his intention of being present. Also E. F. Dennison, superintendent of boys' work in the Omaha Sunday school, will be present and make an address each day.

FORMER PLATTSMOUTH PEOPLE RETURN FROM THE EAST

Mr. and Mrs. Dearing who have been in the east for the past few months consulting specialists in Detroit and Cleveland in regard to Mr. Dearing's health, arrived in Plattsmouth yesterday evening and will make their future home here for an indefinite time with the hope that the change may prove a benefit to Mr. Dearing. Mr. and Mrs. Dearing left Plattsmouth about three years ago and moved to Alliance where Mr. Dearing had employment in the Burlington shops but later entered into the contracting business in which line he prospered until his health failed him about seventeen months ago, and since which time he has been unable to pursue even the lightest labor. He has consulted many specialists without relief and has returned to Plattsmouth for treatment where they will remain until the change with a hope for the better is made. His condition appears much improved from a few months ago. The Journal and the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Dearing are glad to welcome them back to Plattsmouth, but are indeed, sorry that the ever changing events could not have been under more favorable circumstances, but we all hope that Mr. Dearing may soon recover his former health.

Wants Damages.
On April 10, 1910, Luke Foldker was arrested on charge of attempted rape and confined in the jail at Talmage and brought here, released on bail, the case was tried and the prisoner released. The charge was made by R. H. Meetz, who also assaulted the prisoner prior to his arrest, after hearing the story of his little daughter. This is all set forth in a petition filed by Luke Folkerson today through his attorneys, Matthew Gering and John C. Watson, against Reemer H. Meetz of Talmage. In the petition it is set forth that he was compelled to pay out $283 for attorney fees and other things in fighting the charge and he wants $2,500 damages for the alleged bad treatment and injury to his reputation. The case will probably be heard at the coming term of the district court. — Nebraska City News.

The readers of the Journal know that Hon. Matthew Gering of this city has been touring Europe for the past three months and taking in all the principal points. The following dispatch from Paris, France, gives a portion of an interview with the Russian philosopher:
Paris, Sept. 11.—Matthew Gering of Nebraska visited Count Tolstol ten days ago as the bearer of a letter of introduction from William Jennings Bryan. He saw a portrait of Mr. Bryan on the wall of the Russian philosopher's bed room—the only picture there. A French Journalist, who was recently with Tolstol, describes him as remarkably vigorous and as taking horseback rides every day, leading where a few younger men are not over desirous of following. Mr. Gering on the other hand, affirms that Tolstol exhibits obvious signs of increasing feebleness.

In conversation he criticised Bryan's advocacy of county option to regulate the liquor traffic.
"Why," he asked, "should there be any prohibition of the sale of alcoholic drink? Why should I not have the right to drink just what I like, provided I do it decently and not to excess? Because one person makes a fool of himself with liquor is no reason why the next person should be deprived of it."
"You people in America seem to be tending wholly in the wrong direction in this matter."

Tolstol opened his eyes very wide when told of the treating custom in America and how it was abused. It seemed to surprise him utterly. As to himself, he said that he took very little alcoholic liquor at a time, and that but rarely, because he deemed it his duty to set an example of extreme moderation to the people.
Turning to the political situation in Russia Tolstol said that the present czar was disposed to give the nation a genuine constitutional government, but that he could never do it because all the princes of his blood were opposed to it.
The Noble peace prize being mentioned, Tolstol said he had learned that it had been proposed to give it to him. He had written, however, to the Noble committee that he could not accept it, asking instead that it be given to the Doughobors of the Caucasus, who had refused to perform military service because of their hatred for war and had since established themselves, partly through his aid, in Canada.
